Justice Matthews was born in Cincinnati July 21, 1824. He was graduated at Kenyon college in 1840; studied law and was admitted to the bar, settling in Maury county, Tenn. He shortly afterward returned to Cincinnati. In 1846 he became editor of The Cincinnati Herald, the first daily anti-slavery paper in that city. He became judge of the court of common pleas in Hamilton county in 1851; was state senator in 1855, and in 1856-61 was United States attorney for the southern district of Ohio. He served with distinction in the Union army during the war but resigned his commission as colonel in 1863 to become judge of the superior court of Cincinnati. He was a presidential elector on the Lincoln-Johnson ticket in 1864 and on the Grant-Colfax ticket in 1868. He was defeated as the Republican candidate for congress in 1875 and in the next year was one of the counsel before the celebrated electoral commission, opening the argument in behalf of the Republican electors of Florida and making the principal argument in the Oregon case. In March, 1877, he was elected United States senator in place of John Sherman who had resigned. In 1881 he was appointed associate justice of the United States supreme court.

Divorce Statistics of New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., March 23.—The annual report of Dr. E. M. Hunt, secretary of the board of health, devotes considerable space to divorces, showing that during the past five years there have been 1,173 divorces granted in this state against 788 during the previous five years. Out of the total of 1,961 in ten years desertion was the complaint in 1,114, and adultery in 509, cruelty in 58, bigamy in 18, impotence in 7, and relationship in 1. The divorce rate is 20⅔ to each 1,000 marriages, or one in forty-nine. Dr. Hunt advises legislation restricting the number of officials authorized to perform marriages, requiring more witnesses, and discouraging marriages in cases of extreme youth.

The Rock Island, Ills., Dam.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 21.—A board of ordnance officers, to consist of Lieut. Col. A. R. Buffington, Capt. A. L. Varney, and Capt. Charles Shaler, has been appointed to meet at Rock Island arsenal, Illinois, next Friday, to examine and report on plans and material for reconstructing the government dam.

The Hungarian Premier Stoned.

We notice a new departure in the treatment of disease that promises to revolutionize the medicine business. It consists in the collection of the species used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance, the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained and prepared. The treatments of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh, were procured, and so on till these incomparable cures now include diseases of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism, nervous debility, and piles. Originated and used by specialists, being a positive cure for each disease, these preparations are the best remedies procurable. We advise all to send three two cent stamps to the Chase Medical Specialty Co., 179 West Adams St., Chicago, Ill., and receive by return mail their interesting hand book.

President's Proclamation.

SPECIAL.

Whereas, From day to day vast numbers are being stricken down with the fell disease Rheumatism, which seems to be greatly on the increase.

And whereas, The nation has within a short time been called upon to mourn the sudden loss of many of our public men, such as Vice President Hendricks, Gen. John A. Logan, Sec'y Daniel P. Manning, Gen. McClellan, and many others.

Now therefore, I do by virtue of the knowledge possessed by me, proclaim and recommend Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup to be a remedy of great merit both for Rheumatism and all Blood Diseases.

And further, That this medicine be adopted as a national remedy by all.

Signed by the President.

RHEUMATISM.

I was cut in the wrist by a broken bottle from which I suffered extreme pain. I called a doctor, who pronounced it sciatic rheumatism. My right side became paralyzed, leg and arm badly withered, and my joints were so stiff that there was but little action in them. About six weeks ago I began taking Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup with marvelous results. Since then I have left off the use of crutches entirely, and only use a cane, and for the past few days I often forget it and walk without any aid. To say that it has greatly benefited me but poorly expresses my idea of your Rheumatic Syrup.

C. D. DENIO,
Dealer in General Groceries,
Jackson, Mich.

C. D. DENIO is a man well known in this community, and was probably the worst crippled physically of any man this country ever saw. He was paralyzed from rheumatic poison, and no one ever expected he would recover. He is well, and it is simply marvelous. FRANK L. SMITH, Ex-Member State Legislature, Jackson, Mich.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

My daughter Maud had inflammatory rheumatism. Her limbs were badly swollen. She was in terrible agony. She has been taking Rheumatic Syrup and using your Plasters, which has broken it up. The Syrup corrected her indigestion, cleansed the rheumatic poison from her blood, and she is now able to be around the house. We consider Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and Plasters remedies of great merit. REV. J. ROBERTS,
Pastor First M. E. Church, Fremont, Mich.

Last winter and spring I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism in my left shoulder and arm, suffering the most excruciating pain. Two bottles of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup cured me. I can recommend it to all who are suffering with rheumatic difficulty. REV. JAMES BERRY,
Morley, Mich.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

The makers of the Ivory Soap have been engaged in the manufacture of Soaps for over fifty years, and the "Ivory" is the happy result of their long experience, and is unquestionably the soap to be used by all who value the advice (quoted below) of Ellen H. Richards, Instructor in Chemistry, Woman's Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who says, "In the purchase of soap, it is safest to choose the make of some well known and long established firm who have a reputation to lose if their product is not good."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

BELLA DONNA.

I never liked children much of any, the best of 'em bein' given to impish tricks of skeerin' a team of horses going down grade or a whoopin' onexpected at an elderly man that's some narvous from stage drivin' over twenty-five year; but she wa'n't never that er way. She was leetle, pale faced creatur', with the slimmest arms, the longest legs, and poor, shabby gowns allus too short fur her, she growed so fast, an' they wa'n't made with tucks to let down, as I told her they'd oughter be. She come to town—Miles Canon—that sets down at the foot of Mt. Snoffles like it was dropped there, along with her father, "Hard Luck" Stevens. He was drunk as usual, and she luggin' a big bundle done up in a red bandanna, a tiny sun bunnitted creatur' not more'n 5 years old.

"It's too bad," I says, "sissy, to let you lug that, and that old villain staggerin' as usual. What's he to you?"

"Just plain dad," she answers with a little sigh; "he's allus thater way, and they've put muver in the ground over to Leadville, and I've got ter live with him; but I'm goin' to be spectable allus, I promised my muver that."

"Bless yer heart," I cries, "if Mike Breen kin help you to the same he will. Them leetle old ways of yourn kinder chokes me up."

As they did every time I see her keepin' house fur that old reprobate, he pretendin' to be prospectin', but settin' around saloons loafin'. When she got to be knowed, there's was allus some one to lug him home 'fore he got too fur gone to be hateful, as he done when deep in licker. Their vittles somehow got paid for, though "Hard Luck" never airnt nawthin'. Missy would thank a feller so cute, with such a mite of a curtsy, it was wuth a dollar's buyin' of pork or meal just to see her. She wouldn't answer to anythin' but Miss Stevens, though her name was Bell, fearin' it wa'n't high toned.

My road lay by her cabin a half mile from town, an' I got in the habit of breathin' my horses there, fur it's a steep pull up the grade, an' out she'd come to say "How de do," and arter a time to ride a piece with me. I could swing her up over the wheel like a bird, fur she weighed nawthin', an' there she'd set aside me, her leetle sun bunnit hangin' by the strings, her yaller hair blowing, her pale cheeks tinted a bit, and them big, black, sorrerful eyes full of a child's delight. Land, how purty she was then!

One day she says:

"Mister Mike, you an' me is acquainted a long time."

"Five year, missy," I answers, flickin' the off horse with the whip; he allus shirked.

"I've bin thinking we're such real frens you needn't call me Missy enny more. That's just fur the camp, you know."

"Better not change—I'm used to Missy."

"But I kin be 'spectable just the same an' I want to make you think I care a heap about you. Now, Bell is so short it ain't fine ernuff, an' I shall be a way up lady some day, so I got me a name to the drug store that hitches onto mine."

"Gimme suthin' easy; I can't get over no jaw breaker, Missy."

"You wun't laff," lookin' at me with them big, serious eyes.

"Not a grin, even."

"Well," breathless like, "it's—it's Belladonner. Ain't it butiful?"

One day when she rid up with me she told me, as she was going to be a great lady, she ought to be eddicated.

"I can't go to school in the canon, fur father would set hisself a fire or suthin', an' I hev to git our meals; but I kin read some, muver teached me a little, an' I've picked up more, an' I want you to git me some books."

An' if she didn't put a silver quarter in my hand, warm from her tiny fist. I took it, fur she was that proud she'd bin mad, an' I've got it yit, an' I worrited all the way to Silver City what I'd git. I let her think her money paid fur all. She ain't some mendin' fur miners, fur she'd set a patch wonderful with them leetle claw fingers, an' as she growed big wouldn't take no more gifts of vittles. A pal an' me explored Silver City fur them books, an' I brought her a book called "Monter Christer," a Bible, a volume of plays by Shakerspear that I thought wouldn't do her no harm, a fust reader an' a 'rithmetic. She was tickled, I tell you, when I dropped them inter her aprin, an' arter that I allus see Belladonner (as I keerfully called her, though I hed to laff inwardly—but law! I'd called her a hull drug store to please her) with a volume under her thin arm, an' the words she used ev'ry day was reg'lar double deckers.

She jest soaked up larnin' like a sponge, till I used to wonder that leetle head could hold so much.

So time goes on, an' the leetle gowns fits better, is long ernuff, an' is neat, made by her own hands, an' she gets more flesh on her, an' our leetle maid is a young leddy, an' a young civil engineer surveying for a railroad comes often to the cottage—a good chap, Jack—an' I liked him. She growed so purty, too, with her golden hair, and shinin' eyes, an' the pink in her cheeks, an' the sorter light on her face as young love gives.

Wal, one day as I drove down grade, she come runnin' outer the cabin, her eyes sparklin', her lips parted, her face as rosy—an' she generally quiet and pale—an' that yaller hair flyin' about her shoulders. Jack was with me, an' I see him color up an' look at her sorter hungry, as a man does when hard hit, but she barely spoke to him.

"They say pa's struck it rich," she cries. "Take me down to the Canon, Mister Mike; I'm wild to know."

The young feller helped her up beside us, an' I see his face had growed white an' sad, but she talked like a wild creetur.

"I fold you I would be a great lady," she says.

"Hard Luck is one of them onery creetura," says I, "as falls inter a fortin', an' I'll take odds it's true."

It was. That play prospectin' of his had tumbled him inter a mine, that hard workin' men might have worked a lifetime fur, an' don't get, which is fate, if you're one of them fate cranks. Days passed inter weeks, an' cap'talists see the bait, an' flocked to the town, an' Belladonner was a match fur 'em. She never let the old man outer her sight, ruling him with a red of iron, an' as keen as a lawyer 'bout terms, so that 'rithmetic didn't go fur nawthin'. But she changed somehow; the pretty light faded from her face, there was a cold look in her eyes, an eagerness in her manner that crushed the youth out. But she never turned a cold shoulder to me, an' I drove her an' her father out of town when they went away never to come again. Hard Luck was inside, an' she out with me, them two the only passengers.

At a turn in the road Mister Jack was a waitin' on his bronco to say good-by, so I pulled up.

"Good-by and God bless you," he says, kinder chokin'; "I think if the mine had not proved a bonanza an' made you rich, you might have cared for me. I love you, an' shall all my life."

There were tears in his blue eyes, an' a man's tears means a sore heart wound.

"Good-by," she answers, holdin' out her hand that he took and put to his lips: an' there they parted, them two that loved each other, never in this world to meet again.

"Belladonner," I says, as I drives on, "you have given him his death blow."

"Hearts do not break," she says, sorter scornful; "he will soon forget me."

"The leetle gal I've loved fur fifteen year is dead," I says, sorrerful. "She ain't you, with that graspin' way, an' that hard, cold look; she's the leetle mite that wanted to be 'spectable an' that could keer fur one naterel an' frenly."

"Spare me," she cries, with a pitiful leetle sob. "Hearts do break, for mine is breakin' now."

She leaned her pretty head against my sleeve, as she used to years gone by, an' I couldn't speak no more. When I bid her good-by I asked her to send some leetle hopeful message to Jack.

"No, no," she cried, looking proud and firm, but white, too, as if it hurt her, "not a word. I mean to be a great lady, an' live in the life the books tell about."

"—— them wolumes," said I. "Ef I'd knowed what they was puttin' in your hed never one of 'em should you have had."

She turned an' flung her arms 'round my neck, an' kissed by bronzed old cheek, my gray beard mingling with her golden hair, and that one spot where her lips rested I would like to think the decay of nature will spare when I am in my grave.

"Farewell, you, my dear, dear friend, an' the old life," she cried, an' I saw her no more.

Life passes somehow even in our mountains where so leetle happens, an' I knowed I was growin' old by the brake bein' hard to set an' the horses pullin' stiff, an' so havin' money saved an' some good investments in mines, one day I drove the old team for the last time, an' left 'em with a sort of dimness in my eyes, for I'd been considerate of 'em allus as a good driver ought, an' went down to Denver to loaf like a gentleman.

Five years after she went from Miles Canon I see old Hard Luck in the hotel in Denver. He was in company with a wizened up creetur lookin' like a monkey an' signin' his name to the register as the Markee somet'ing in French, that I couldn't spell if I was a mind to write it out. They had stacks of trunks the porter was a-strugglin' with, an' he told me, with some swearin' at 'em, they was travelin' clean from Paris, an' he wondered they got along with all that truck an' some un didn't pulverize 'em—which, the travelers or trunks, I never knowed. Stevens knowed me an' introduced me to the Frenchman, an' we took champagne, the Frenchman growlin' at it, an' Stevens, who looked shaky an' old, agreein' with him, an' me laffin', knowin' Hard Luck's taste for ennythin' of old, even vinegar, of there wan't no better drinks; an' then Stevens says: "The markeese is up stairs an' would like to see you. This is her husband." He took me aside to whisper: "Away up nobility, Mike, an' cost us two hundred thousand in cash. They come high, them real aristocracy, I tell yer."

I confess I fixed up a bit afore I went up to the fine parlor where my lady waited to see me, the old stage driver she hadn't furgot. But in the hansum woman in the trailin' gown of black lace, the shinin' dimunts, the proud air, I couldn't see the leetle child I knowed. The beautiful eyes was as hard an' cold as the glitterin' dimunts, that seemed to mock all feelin' with their grandness. Only the golden hair was like hers, an' I looked at that an' sorter smiled, thinkin' of the sunlight stored up forever, as I used to say. She was frenly an' kind, an' we set an' talked of old times.

"Jack died of mountin fever a year arter you left," I says. "His last words was, 'I love her, I pray she will be happy.' He died more because he didn't want to live." I finished kinder cruel.

You are crying my lady, on that fine lace handkerchief, an' the dimunts rise an' fall on your bosom, an' glitter cruelly, but your tears are more beautiful to me. Ay, hearts do not break; they are only wounded unto death. But you killed a good man, my lady—that stands ever against you. Tears cannot blot out my memory of the poor lad who loved you.

"Good-by," I says, "can I say Belladonner?"

"Do not think too hard of me," she sobs. "Remember me as that queer little friendless child who loved you."

"I will, an' I have seen the Markee. I'm glad you've got to the summit of your ambition, but to me it's as gloomy an' forlorn as some storm torn mountain peak where no green thing will grow. I'll think only of the child that wanted to be spectable, that wanted to ride down grade with me, of the pale tiny thing with the wistful eyes an' the leetle hands claspin' my sleeve."

Is it any wonder that I could not see her then?—that the mists of my tears blotted out my last glimpse on earth of the Markeese Belladonner? — Patience Stapleton in Once a Week.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bamberidge, Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex. says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. I am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure Malarial Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50c. and $1. at

When Spring Comes

Why is it that of two horse blankets which look and feel equally well one won't wear at all, and the other wears well?

This 5/A Trade Mark shows why.

Horse Blankets which are strong and have a reputation are always imitated in poor qualities which look like them, but having fewer warp threads are not as strong.

Some dealers buy these poor imitations for a few cents less and by saying they are "just as good," sell them at the same price as the strong blankets to parties who do not know the difference.

You cannot tell whether horse blankets are strong by the look or feel, as the warp threads do not show on the face. How then are you to know?

In order that you can tell a strong blanket from a weak one, the manufacturer of 5/A Horse Blankets sews the above 5/A Trade Mark inside of each blanket. This is a guarantee that it is the strongest blanket made for the money and will wear well.

Many poor imitations have been sold as 5/A blankets. Remember none are genuine unless the 5/A Trade Mark is sewed inside.

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by every medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you. It will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it has been supplied, is the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Philander McDonald is the parson who's been heading revival meetings at Richmond. But he's of the opinion that some of the folks there are an ungodly set, since they introduced him to a lot of stale and unhealthy eggs.

The "Soo" is about to add a wheelbarow factory to her many accomplishments. But the barrows will need to be furnished with runners if they're to be of any use in that latitude for at least seven or eight months in the year.

R. Irving Latimer, the Jackson druggist now in jail charged with the murder of his mother, has sold his drug stock to obtain funds to meet the expenses of his forthcoming trial.

The teachers in the Mt. Clemens high school have been giving the one session per day system a trial and are gratified with the results of the experiment. But what would greatly tickle the average small boy would be a school with no session at all. Then he could play marbles, fly his kite and peel the jackets of the other "kids" all the live-long day and—be happy.

Heart disease overtook D. W. Smith as he was riding in his buggy near Leoni. Deceased was formerly master mechanic of the Fort Wayne & Jackson railway.

Not satisfied with a twelve-months' stretch of leap year, South Haven ladies recently gave a party at the Opera house, managing the affair and paying their own bills. Of course it was a great success. But if leap year is to become a perpetual fashion, how in sixty are the dear men to have an opportunity of asserting their rights.

Thomas Kelley, an Owasso cigarmaker, shot his brother-in-law, Stanley Graham, recently, killing him instantly. Kelley is in jail. The fatal affair is the outgrowth of a feud of long standing.

Straight-laced Jackson is to have another corset factory. She has more'n her share already.

Cheboygan mills have begun operations for the season, and now the sawdust will fly from 140,000,000 feet of logs in due and modern form.

Julia E. Chapman is a Detroit lady who thinks the Grand Trunk railway didn't do a gentlemanly thing when one of their engines boosted her buggy into the ditch, giving her a lively shaking up. Julia thinks the company should pay her $10,000, and has already invoked the aid of the courts to that end.

Heretofore passenger boats have had the right of way through the "Soo" canal, but if the order recently promulgated stands, they must hereafter take their turn with the freight crafts. This will delay them several hours each trip.

Jackson county people have been guilty of some mighty mean tricks, one of the latest being that of J. M. Vicar, who skipped out on the day of his marriage to a Minneapolis girl.

Mrs. S. G. Harris, the last of a family of sixteen children, died at Lansing at the advanced age of 80 years.

A "Bottle of Soothing Syrup" is the name of a musical comedy just written by F. Beaman, the Jackson play writer. The motherly countenance of the dear departed Lydia Pinkham ought to adorn the reverse side of the tickets for the entertainment.

A D. & M. freight train jumped the track near Birmingham, and wool, oil, lumber and charcoal were sown in a promiscuous manner for some distance along the track. The crop has already been harvested, but in a somewhat damaged condition.

A Detroit druggist has a $5,000 law suit on his hands because he sold a lady some sulphate of zinc for epsom salts.

The Bell Telephone company has full swing now in Michigan, the Cushman 'phones having evacuated from Escanaba, their last stronghold.

Congressman Wheeler, of West Bay City, is said to be making the necessary arrangements for engaging in the iron shipbuilding industry on a large scale.

A Matchwood hotel goes by the unique name of "Smoke house," but for all that it's said to be a tip-top place to get a square meal.

A Jackson doctor drove over to Leoni to see a patient and stabled his horse in an ancient and decrepit barn. Before the doctor was ready to return the floor had broken through and so had the neck of the $200 steed.

The Congregational parsons of the state will hold a convention at East Saginaw next month and talk over the outlook for Michigan Congregationalism.

A Lansing man is at work experimenting on a process for making condensed lager beer, so that the old toper can carry a supply of the beverage in his coat pocket. Great scheme.

A St. Ignace man caught a forty-pound trout, and, packing the "animal" in ice, sent it to New York to show the effete down-easters what the wild and wooly west can produce in the line of brain-producing food.

A Lapeer photographer seems to have caught on to a new wrinkle, for he boldly advertises that he can "extract photographs without pain."

Charter elections throughout the state clearly show a marked desire on the part of the "kids" to run municipal affairs, and in many cases the youthful tickets have been successful. But there are some towns that have not yet forgotten Adrian's experience with a "kid" mayor.

A Rockford youth named Wells became despondent because his father called him extravagant, and so took a dose of laudanum. If all the boys who are told such things should do likewise, there'd be a heap of funerals for the next few weeks.

Theodore Hunt, an Ionia county granger, had a fine span of horses stolen, and within three days the purloiners had been captured, tried, convicted and sentenced to a three-years' job at the state house of correction. The horses were also recovered. Ionia county justice made a record in this particular case.

Cadilac potato market is so overstocked that handsome looking tubers have been selling of late for 14 cents per bushel. One short year ago a poorer article sold readily for 90 cents.

Elwee & Moore, Big Rapids lumbermen, have contracted to furnish eastern parties with 1,000,000 bushels of charcoal. They have four years in which to do the work. The coal will be burned near Stanwood.

Among the other duties of governor of the great state of Michigan is the issuance of notary public commissions. Since January 1 Governor Luce has paid $3,120 to the state treasurer, the amount of fees received from this source. And yet this great commonwealth is content to pay the highest officer of the state a yearly salary of $1,000.

There's a growing suspicion at Bay City that Fred O. Liever, the chap who disappeared some time since, leaving his hat on the ice, didn't go down into the cold, damp drink at all, but that he's on terra firma somewhere. Domestic difficulties are supposed to have induced him to hie away. His life was abundantly insured.

A couple of Elk boys, brothers, went out to the woods to chop wood and took along their guns to while dull care away. While blazing away at some crows one of 'em got in the way of the other's gun and was fatally wounded.

An Imlay City man cut 110 cords of twenty-inch stove wood in just nine hours. Of course he had the assistance of a sawing machine to do it, but for all that 'twas a lively nine hours' work. May he always keep warm.

While out on a hunting expedition, a Leoni sportsman discovered a large quantity of watches, jewelry and revolvers. The lawful owner hasn't yet claimed the find.

Lansing police are supposed to be good sleepers, as a brutal prize fight that occurred within fifty feet of police headquarters on a recent night, failed to wake 'em up.

David A. Holmes, the first white child born in Armada, still lives near that village. The occurrence dates back fifty-four years, when the country roundabout was practically an unbroken wilderness.

Quite an exodus of Canadian people are just now surging into Lapeer county, which may be said to be one form of the "annexation" question.

The several state fish hatcheries have been turning out their annual spring crop of diminutive speckled trout, which has been planted in the various streams of that state. And the lonely fishermen looks longingly on and sadly exclaims, "Oh, what shall the harvest be!"

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., March 20.—The senate passed bills yesterday appropriating $5,000 for a monument on Gettysburg field and allowing the shooting of wild duck up to May 1. A resolution was adopted calling for a government survey of the Upper Peninsular Ship canal. The house passed bills fixing the lawful marriage age at 18 years for males and 16 for females, and incorporating the town of Benton Harbor as a city and giving it a strip of land the title of which has been in dispute between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. Ex-Governors Begole and Jerome assisted Governor Luce last night at a reception to the legislature.

LANSING, Mich., March 21.—The governor has signed the bill authorizing the inforcement in Detroit of the child-labor law by building inspectors. The bill appropriating $5,000 to dedicate the Gettyburg monument was passed by the house yesterday, and a bill incorporating the city of Ironwood, in the face of an adverse committee report.

LANSING, Mich., March 22.—The largest lobby of the season appeared here yesterday to work for and against the bill prohibiting Chicago dressed beef from being sold in Michigan. The leading hotel men of the state appeared in the afternoon to protest against the passage of the bill. At night an open session of the committee was held in the senate chamber. Fred A. Baker, a leading attorney of Detroit, appeared for the butchers and Edward F. Comely again argued against the passage of the bill. The house killed the bill incorporating Benton Harbor and giving that place the disputed strip of land. The soldiers' home appropriation was passed.

LANSING, Mich., March 23.—The only matter of importance attended to by the legislature yesterday was a bill increasing the limit of capital of incorporated companies. The bill was in the interests of the salt trust, and proposed to increase the limit to $100,000,000, the law now making it $5,000,000. The house defeated the measure by a vote of 59 noes to 20 ayes. The trust will have to organize in some other state.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

At the coming election to be held on Monday next, an amendment will be submitted to the voters increasing the Governor's salary from $1,000 to $4,000 per year. As this amendment is not tangled up with anything else it can be voted for on its own merits and it certainly ought to carry. We append some comments on the subject taken from the leading papers of both political parties:

From the Detroit Free Press, Dem.:

"The constitional amendment increasing the Governor's salary from $1,000 to $4,000 per year, to be voted on at the coming election, is one which should appeal to the pride and sense of justice of every Michigan voter

The question is one entirely outside of political difference, Michigan is seventh in rank of the states of the union in population and wealth, and has no equal in its natural resources, and it is the object of jeer by our sister states because of the parsimony in the treatment of its chief executive.

The average salary paid to the Governors of all the states is $4,200 per annum, and many of them are provided with executive mansions in addition.

The additional cost to the taxpayers of this state, should the amendment be adopted, would be so insignificant that no taxpayer would ever know the difference. The man who pays a tax on $2,500 valuation would have to pay less than one cent additional tax. The people of this state have long been asking for the submission of an amendment increasing the Governor's alone. The amount asked is far less than any of the states surrounding and bordering upon Michigan pay to their Governors. Pennsylvania pays $10,000 and provides a Governor's mansion; Ohio, $8,000 and a mansion; Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin, $5,000 each and Illinois, $6,000, a mansion and $3 000 additional for care of same.

The Governor of Michigan is required to and should give his whole time to the duties of the office, and the obligations imposed upon him cannot be delegated to others. By the Constitution and laws of the state he is prohibited from receiving any perquisites although his office now brings a very nice revenue to the state in the way of notary fees, etc. These are additional duties imposed upon the office, and all moneys received are turned over into the State Treasury and credited to the state, as required by law."

From the Detroit Tribune, Rep.

"The proposed amendment to the State Constitution increasing the salary of Governor from $1,000 to $4,000 a year certainly ought to be adopted, and will be if proper effort be made to carry it through. If the State Central Committees of the various political parties will unite in an appeal to the people for its adoption, and the press of the State supplement the appeal with earnest effort in its behalf, we think it would be approved by a large majority vote,

The amount fixed is certainly small enough. Four thousand a year is not an extravagant salary to pay the Governor of Michigan. When the present salary of $1,000 was fixed Michigan was an infant compared to its present stature and importance. Then the Governor was required to devote but a small portion of his time in interest of the State. Now practically his whole time is required and the responsibilities are immeasurably greater. It is no sense a partisan question: men of all parties agree that the present salary is disgracefully inadequate.

Earnest, well directed effort, as we have suggested, by the State committees of the various political organizations and by the press will secure the adoption of the amendment, and make the people feel more proud of their State than ever. Let such effort be made by all means."

From the Lansing Republican:

"We are glad to see the leading papers of all parties uniting in support of the proposed constitutional amendment to pay a fair salary to the Governor of the State hereafter. The present salary has long been a reproach to the State, causing Michigan to be sneered at by other States. Besides its practical effect has been to make none but rich men eligible to run for governor, because no poor man could afford it. The State now has a Governor who lives at the capitol during his term, and is always on hand to attend to business. This, however, is more than the State has any right to ask under the present small salary; but, under the fair salary proposed, the State will have a right to ask it. Besides the duties of the office are constantly growing, and are now much more than they were years ago, when the present salary was fixed. And they will continue to grow as the State grows. Further, wages for work have more that doubled. Now the janitor of the Capitol building receives a larger salary than the Governor. But, in 1850, when the Governor's salary was fixed at $1,000 per year, $500 would have been large wages for a janitor. Then $500 was good wages for a skilled mechanic, book-keeper, and in many other employments. Now almost all such are paid larger wages than the Governor.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-writer Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and sounder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is baize covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine in position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table is so balanced near its center on patent maleable iron arms, that when the machine is brought in place for use, it does not depend on ropes or hangers at rear of platform for support, but is held rigidly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be tumbled down an incline in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent slides which keeps the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk, well under the operator's hand.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as ridged as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a good type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT of payment having been made of a mortgage made by John C. O'Neil and Jennie O'Neil to the undersigned, Albert Hyde dated the 25th day of October, A.D., 1887, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Lenawee County Michigan in Liber 102, of Mortgages on pages 478 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and owing at the date hereof for principal and interest the sum of Seventy-seven and 23-100 with the further sum of Three Hundred Dollars of principal with interest thereon accruing at seven per cent per annum since the 27th day of October, 1888, hereafter to become due, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to recover the payment of the same

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power and provisions in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such case made and provided for the purpose of realizing the moneys so as aforesaid due and owing on said mortgage together with interest to accrue thereon, and costs of this foreclosure and sale, including also an attorney's fee as provided by law, subject to the lien of the said moneys hereafter to become due, I shall on the 22d day of June, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, Lenawee County, Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder all that parcel of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the southwest corner of lot five (5) on block ten (10) of Wm. A DRAMATIC TREAT.

Horace Lewis in "Monte Cristo."

The coming Alexander Dumas' masterpiece "The Count of Monte Cristo" with the sterling actor Horace Lewis as Edmund Dantes, promises to be a rare treat to our citizens and manager Sutton is to be congratulated in securing this first class company. They carry with them all the scenery, costumes accessories, etc., including calcium and magesium lights, of the original New York and London production and propose presenting Dumas' great drama here in all its perfection. Under all circumstances this will undoubtedly be the grandest dramatical treat ever offered our citizens and Tecumseh will certainly show their appreciation of manager Sutton's endeavor to bring first class attractions here, by greeting Mr. Lewis and his company with a packed house. Notwithstanding the expense connected with this production there will be no advance in prices the admission being 25, 35 and 50 cents, thus giving all an opportunity of seeing this grand production. Seats now on sale at Adamson's without extra charge.

Golden Wyandotte Fowls to the Front.

The Golden Wyandotte, the most popular and highest price, and the most beautiful as well as the most valuable bird bred in the country to-day. Its full plump breast, its bright yellow skin, its very small bone, makes the best market fowl of all. As layers they are the best of all varieties we ever bred. We introduced one more breeding pen last August; three of the hens have layed every day ever since all winter through and are l ying right along now, something our fowls never did before. After fifty years experience in breeding fancy poultry we have come to the conclusion that of all fowls the Golden Wyandottes for beauty and useful qualities beat them all. See our ad. Jones and Jackson, Tecumseh, Mich.

Miss Lillie E. Brown closed the winter term of her school in Dist. No. 2, Franklin, on Friday evening, March 15th, with a very interesting public exhibition, consisting of several dialogues, recitations, songs, etc. The school house was crowded and every one seemed to be very much pleased. Miss Brown will begin her next term, which makes the 7th consecutive one for this district, April 8th, and has gone to Chicago, Ill., and Louisville, Ky., for a short visit among relatives during her vacation.

One of the new improved Edison phonographs, or talking machines, will be one of the novelties at the Detroit Floral Exhibition. It will sing songs, tell stories, describe the floral booths, and will also contain and repeat the story of the Floral Exhibition in the voice of W. H. Brearley, of the Detroit Journal, who is the manager of the enterprise. The machines are so constructed that five persons can listen through the little rubber tubes at the same time.

Mr. Joseph Jefferson has been engaged for a number of years upon his autobiography, which will soon begin to appear in The Century. No more interesting record of a life upon the stage could be laid before the American public, and Mr. Jefferson's personality is perhaps more sympathetic to the people of this country than that of any actor we have had. He is the fourth in a generation of actors, and with his children and grand children upon the stage, there are six generations of actors among the Jeffersons. The record which he has made of the early days of the American stage is said to be peculiarly interesting, especially the stories of his travels as a boy in his father's company; when they would settle down for a season in a western town and extemporize their own theatre.

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE.

Wednesday, March 20th, was a red letter day in the life of Mr. and Mrs. William Bresie. On that day they celebrated their "Golden Wedding". The house in which they live must have been erected about the year 1833, not later than 1835, and was for many years the home of Gen. J. W. Brown. Since Gen. Brown vacated it, it has passed through several hands, and for the past ten years has been the hospitable home of Mr. Bresie. The house has been well kept up by repairs, but remains the same old fashioned family mansion as when first erected. Although capable of accommodating a large company, it was pretty well taxed on this occasion.

The afternoon gathering was attended by the "old folks" to the number of about seventy five, and we venture to say that a more enjoyable company never assembled within the walls of the mansion. Mrs. C. M. Tilton was among the guests and she has been a frequent visitor at the same house since the year of its erection over half a century ago. How many associations must have crowded upon her thoughts as she chatted with the company assembled in those parlors that afternoon. Samuel Bryan was there and told one of his droll stories that brought down the house. Among those present was Jacob G. Roberts who visited Michigan in 1831 and was a guest of Gen. Brown's family during his visit here. The General was then keeping the Peninsula House.

In the evening the company took the old house by storm. Over 250 guests were present and partook of refreshments. The house was very neatly decorated with plants and flowers, and the tables were loaded with all the delicacies of the season. The arrangements for serving refreshments were perfect in every detail. The host and hostess received the company in the South parlor, and the congratulations they received seemed to renew their age. Their snowy locks showed that the weight of years was upon them, but their hearty greetings showed that they were young still, and likely to remain among us for many years to come.

The City Band was present in the evening and enlivened the occasion with some of their choicest selections. Many guests were present from abroad among whom were W. R. Bresie and wife of Decatur Ill. Regrets from friends who were unable to attend came from far and near. Flowers were received from Cleveland Ohio, and St. Augustine, Fla. Although the cards of invitations said "No presents," many of their friends paid no heed to the little hint. Several fine gifts were presented among which was a purse of $25.00 in gold coin.

A golden wedding is an event which falls to the lot of but few married couples. Fifty years is a long time in these days of railroads and electricity. And the husband and wife who have traveled together down life's pathway for half a century, and are still favored with health and strength, owe it to their friends no less than to themselves to fitly commemmorate the anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Bresie did their best to honor the day, and their guests will long cherish the affair in rememberance as a red letter day in their social experience. As a sample of the letters of regret received we insert the following from Oscar Woodruff, Editor of the Dansville N. Y. Express.

MR. AND MRS. WM. BRESIE.

My dear friends—I received your kind invitation to attend the golden wedding but am unable to be present because of business and because of family cares. I see you have addressed the invitation to myself "and family," which seems very funny as I have no family except my father and mother, who celebrated their golden wedding five years ago and are now quite feeble, and it is the care of them that prevents my being with you on Wednesday. You certainly cannot remember me, but I have a fair recollection of Mr. Bresie as he was when living here "before the war," and I feel that I have a right to offer my congratulations, and the congratulations of the few old time acquaintances of yours now living, upon this happy occasion which I do with all my heart. It is an event that but few married people are permitted to celebrate and it should be made the most of. I trust that nothing may mar the pleasure of the occasion and that the entire day may be a reminder of that happy day so long ago when you led your young bride from out her father's home into the devious way that you have trod to the present.

I should be pleased to receive from you a city paper containing an account of the celebration so that I may give it or a portion of it to the readers of my paper, who, though they may not be personally acquainted with you, yet will be interested somewhat because of the fact that at one time in your lives you were residents of Dansville.

With hearty good wishes for long life to both of you. I remain.

Yours very truly.

OSCAR WOODRUFF.

Isabella county's black bear crop has been harvested in good shape, the complete returns showing twenty-five bruin specimens to have been properly cut and cured.

Michigan Equal Suffragists convene at Lansing March 19-21. 'Tis suspected that they have designs on the present legislature.

Detroit has spread her net for a permanent exposition, and it's more than probable that she'll land the project on the shore of solid success.

William Davis, an inmate of the Pontiac asylum, died recently from injuries received by being roughly handled by an attendant.

Governor Luce recently sold 200 chickens from his Gilead farm that averaged nearly seven pounds each. This will materially help out his meager salary, and if the crops pan out well next summer he'll doubtless manage to get through his gubernatorial term quite comfortably.

The annual reunion of the Third Michigan cavalry was held at Jackson on the 27th with 127 members present. A. Gates was chosen president, and O. W. Rowland secretary. The next reunion goes to Kalamazoo in February, 1890.

Kalamazoo feels sort o' proud because the arrests within her borders have fallen below one per day. Celery may turn out to be a great civilizer, after all.

Judge Bunce, Port Huron's centenarian, is moving along with the procession at the ripe old age of 102 years. He's still hale and hearty.

Last summer Nellie E. Porter, of Wyoming township, was crippled by being thrown from a Chicago & West Michigan passenger train, and now brings a $12,000 damage suit against the railway company as compensation for the injuries sustained.

Dr. M. E. Wadsworth has been re-engaged for the term of two years as state geologist.

Owing to the absence of the usual winter winds and the consequent windmill idleness, Jackson's milk supply is said to be nine-tenths pure.

Detroit Medical college has just turned another batch of full-fledged M. D.'s loose upon a long suffering public. Humanity has to contend with a great variety of epidemics, not the least fatal of which is that of the unskilled doctors.

It cost a Detroiter $50 and the costs of prosecution to try his hand at conducting a little lottery scheme on his own account. There's a Michigan law relating to lotteries that's likely to find out the sins of some other folks also.

The enterprising grocer is on hand with "spire maple sugar" made when the mercury was vainly trying to find a resting place below zero. The achievements of modern science are marvelous to contemplate.

If any of our readers are in pursuit of a wife let them try Saline. Sixteen young women of that town answered the advertisement of a Traverse City widower, and out of the lot the wife hunter found one that suited him, the marriage occurring last week. The pair met for the first time on their wedding day.

Tuesday last marked the date when all the township taxes in Van Buren county have all the township taxes been collected for many one year until Texas Jim Darby, of Porter township, performed such a feat the past winter. Daily must possess a financial persuasiveness specially his own.

A Clarkston farmer, who not lightly believes in [illegible] man, albeit the sale be a little, comparatively speaking, has failed $10,000 worth, with nominal assets of $6,000.

Lawrence & Chapin's extensive foundry at Kalamazoo was damaged by fire to the amount of $1,500 recently.

An Ithaca woman of 28 sunny summers has been married four times and is actually living with No. 4. One of the others sleeps in a lonely grave, one is in prison, and the other one is loose somewhere on the North American continent.

The state fish hatchery at Detroit will soon be ready to plant 65,000,000 baby whitefish for a future crop. That's right. Make ample provision for a generous supply of brain food.

Ionia's overall factory is being enlaarged and 150 hands will hereafter be employed in turning out that serviceable, though not handsome, article of wearing apparel.

Hanover business men complain of dull times, and the editor of the local paper knows the cause thereof. They paid him a total of less than $50 for advertising last year.

David Conklin is a Smith Creek citizen who recently had a little experience that ought to make him a wiser man. He went over to Port Huron with $40 in his trousers' pocket, took several big drinks of redeye at a saloon, was knocked down and robbed and afterward thrown out into the street and arrested by a policeman. If such a racket won't show a man the folly of fooling with firewater, then nothing will.

A Marshall man has paid a $25 assessment for the fun of spearing a pickerel contrary to law, because he could not very well avoid it.

The mid-winter revival still retains its grip on several towns of the state and bids fair to continue its march into April.

The annual meeting of the G. R. & I. railway was held at Grand Rapids recently, the old board of directors being reelected. The net earnings of the road show a decrease of $106,118.94 as compared with the previous year. It is probable that the Big Rapids "spur" of this line will be extended to Ludington during the present year.

Michigan salt blocks turned out 400,000 barrels of the same product during February, and with potatoes at 20 cents per bushel most anybody ought to be able to get something of a meal.

The action of a Byron school teacher has raised a fine point of law. The pedagogue in question confined a pupil after school hours, and now comes the question whether or not he had jurisdiction in the case at that time of day.

Prof. Hogan, the Jackson balloon parachuter, has so many calls for his aerial services booked for the season of '89 that he's increased his outfit and now has 12 balloons and four parachutes ready for business. The frequency of the professor's "drops" ought to make his pocketbook wax fat.

The Pinckney public schools have been engineered for the past seventeen years by the same principal. But this may be accounted for by the name—Sprout.

James Ruggles, a Bronson gentleman, lost the house, by fire recently, that had been his home for more than half a century. But it didn't leave him penniless, for he's just given $10,000 worth of land to his children and has more left than he knows what to do with.

Jackson is bound to be "in line" ere after. Her city library has been furnished with a new electric clock that runs a year without a single winding.

Kleinhans & Sappan, a couple of Detroit clerks who started in business ten years ago at Louisville with $3,000 capital, are the victims of a $40,000 fire. We'd like to take a squint at the newspaper business that can show a tithe of the financial accretion that the clothing venture of this firm has done.

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., March 13.—Damon's liquor bill to increase the tax on malt liquors from $300 to $800 and on alcoholic beverages from $500 to $1,000, was voted on yesterday in the house on amendments to reduce the tax, all of which were defeated, and it will evidently pass that chamber.

LANSING, Mich., March 14.—During the consideration yesterday in conference of legislative committees of the cattle inspection bill the friends of that bill roundly denounced the Chicago dressed meat men, characterizing them as robbers, etc. Both houses of the legislature adopted resolutions congratulating President Harrison on Palmer's appointment as minister to Spain. The house appointed a special committee to investigate the alleged atrocities at the Pontiac asylum. The bill allowing Detroit women to vote for school inspectors has been signed by the governor.

LANSING, Mich., March 15.—The house defeated the proposed Sunday observance law yesterday. A bill was passed by the legislature authorizing Grand Rapids to borrow $80,000 for waterworks.

LANSING, Mich., March 16.—The bill to revoke the special charter of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, under which it gets a special rate of taxation, was killed in the senate yesterday. The charter was considered irrevocable. Bill4 were passed prohibiting boards of registration from meeting in saloons (already passed by the house); declaring it a felony to ship or order shipped dynamite or nitro-glycerine by any transportation line on which passengers are carried. A bill to prevent the state industrial school farming out the labor of its girl inmates was killed.

Wants $10,000 for a Lacerated Heart.

JEFFERSON, Ind., March 16.—Miss Emma Karnes, of Charleston, brought suit Friday against Charles K. Boyer, a Pullman conductor, asking $10,000 damages. Boyer married Miss Mattie McCullough, daughter of one of the richest men in southern Indiana, Dec. 5. Miss Karnes alleges that he set the wedding day for marriage with her, engaged the bridesmaids and caused her to buy her trousseau. Later he obtained her letters from her by untrue representations, and then coolly told her that men were foolish to marry poor girls when they could get rich ones. Miss McCullough had been engaged to Dr. F. M. Harris, of New Albany, who broke off his engagement with her. All the parties are well known.

Dangerous Counterfeiters Arrested.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 16.—Chief Bell, of the secret service, has received information of the arrest in New York Friday night of Richard Fisher and wife, and Robert Zugler, well-known counterfeiters, who have lately been circulating a large amount of bogus silver dollars, which are the last imitations of the genuine dollar ever seen. Hundreds of these spurious dollars have lately been taken by merchants without suspicion. The secret service officers also captured the entire outfit of counterfeiting tools, molds, etc., used by Fisher and his associates. The arrest of these people is regarded as the most important capture effected by the secret service since the arrest of the notorious "Russo" gang last August.

Shot for Breaking a Street Lamp.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., March 16.—Carey Adams and John Gavin were passing along the street at 1 o'clock Saturday morning when one of them threw a stone which struck a street lamp. Night Policeman Scanlan ordered the boys to halt, but the order was not obeyed. Scanlan fired upon them, the ball from the revolver striking Adams in the back and producing a fatal wound. Adams is a printer, and foreman of The Jacksonian office. He has always borne a good character, but was drinking a little at the time. The indignation of the citizens is terribly aroused by the murder. Scanlan is in jail. His excuse, that he thought the young men were burglars, is believed to be an afterthought.

A Methodist Minister on Trial.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 16.—The Rev. T. J. Minehart, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, is on trial for improper conduct in his church at public worship. He is thought by some to be insane. He has had a revelation, and has new things to relate; he does not preach unless the spirit moves him. Members of the church then exhort. Some exciting and boisterous meetings were held. The testimony has a tendency to convict him of irregularities, but nothing very wrong.

A Grain Shovelers' Strike Imminent.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 16.—A strike of about 1,000 grain shovelers, employed in the elevators here is imminent. Last August the shovelers struck because they discovered fraud in the books of Michael Manley, the boss shoveler, and demanded his discharge. The demand was complied with and the men returned to work. Now Manley is seeking reinstatement with some prospect of success, and the shovelers declare they will strike if he is put back.

A Temperance Lecturer Killed by Whisky.

JUNCTION CITY, Ky., March 16.—J. E. Powell, a temperance lecturer from Missouri, died here Friday of delirium tremens. He came here about two weeks ago to lecture but got drunk and has not been sober since. Papers on his person show that he was once editor of The Philadelphia Star, and that he resigned the assistant cashiership of the Kansas City Savings bank to go on the road as a temperance lecturer.

Suits for Harrison and Morton.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., March 16.—A local manufacturing company have finished a piece of plain black cloth which is to be made into suits to be worn by President Harrison and Vice President Morton at the centennial celebration in New York next month. The cloth is considered by experts to be of the finest quality ever produced in this country and equaling any ever made elsewhere.

Collieries to Resume Work.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 16.—The eleven collieries operated by the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company in this region, which have been idle since Feb. 28, will resume work on Monday. This will again give employment to nearly 6,000 men and boys.

The Excitement Not Over.

The rush on the druggists still continues and daily scores of people call for a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Kemp's Balsam, the standard family remedy, is sold on a guarantee and never fails to give entire satisfaction. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free.

Those who desire that the half-fare excursion from this place to Detroit during Floral Exhibition week, April 2, 3, 4 and 5, should be so arranged that it will not be necessary to return the same day but allow of a two or three days stop over, should send a postal card to this effect at once to Mr. George E. King, the secretary of the R. R. Passenger Agents Association, at his office in the Adams Building, Chicago, Ill. This 4-days exhibition will be the most notable floral event that has ever occurred in Michigan. It is for the benefit of 21 of the city charities, who will share equally in the results.

To Make New Blood Good for Old People

Old and infirm persons need some mild tonic or gentle stimulant, especially in warm weather. The wine made in New Jersey by Alfred Speer, called Speer's Port Wines, makes new healthy blood by reason of the iron in it. It is used by the most eminent physicians and in hospitals as the best tonic wine known. Speer's Claret is also regarded as the purest.

Detroit Women Registering.

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—The utmost courtesy was shown to those women who turned out yesterday to register in order to be able to vote next month. In many registration places the judges prohibited smoking, two saloon keepers removed the place of registering from their saloons to respectable quarters near by, and no unseemly conduct was indulged in by any man while the women were registering. They did not turn out very numerously yesterday, however—probably 500—most of the women who intend to vote intending to register to-day.

Another Irish Editor Sent to Jail.

DUBLIN, March 21.—Mr. O'Mahony, editor of The Tipperary Nationalist, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment yesterday for intimidation.

She stood at the gate in the late Spring twilight, and when she said good-bye, she felt neuralgia kiss her rosy cheeks; but she only smiled, for she had Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain.

MORTGAGE SALE.

BY a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date the first day of February, A. D., 1886, made and executed by Charles Holtz, Sr. and Charles Holtz, Jr., of Ridgeway County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, to George Exelby, of the same town, county and state, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, on the 27th day of March, A.D. 1886, in liber 114 of Mortgages, on page 631, the said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr., mortgaged to the said George Exelby all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the township of Ridgeway in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan and described as follows, to wit: The south half of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section number ten (10), town six (6) south, of range five (5) east, containing twenty (20) acres of land more or less, being the same land this day conveyed by said George Exelby to said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr. Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, and there is claimed to be due and unpaid thereon at this date the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred and Sixty-seven and 57-100 Dollars ($1367 57) and no suit or proceedings at law or in chancery have been instituted to collect the same or any part thereof. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 8th day of May, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, said court house being the place of holding the circuit court for said county of Lenawee, to satisfy the amount now due, together with all legal costs and charges of this foreclosure.

Dated Feb. 1st, 1889.

GEORGE EXELBY, Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage (whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative) bearing date the 9th day of February A.D. 1887, executed and delivered by Thomas Savage to John Reiney and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lenawee County State of Michigan, on the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887 in Liber 117 of mortgages on page 430, upon which mortgage there remains due and unpaid at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Sixty six and 4-100 Dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to collect the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon and costs of this foreclosure and sale including an attorney fee as provided by law, I shall on the 15th day of June, A.D. 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is holden all those pieces or parcels of land situate and being in the city of Adrian, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known and described as follows, to wit: Lots forty-one (41) and forty-two (42) on the plat of Farmer's addition to the city of Adrian, Michigan. Also beginning at northeast corner of lot number thirty-one (31), on original plat of the village (now city) of Adrian; thence southwardly on the east line of said lot thirty-one (31) twenty-four (24) feet, nine (9) inches to the north line of land deeded by Lucy R. Kane [illegible] the north line of land of said Croswell sixty-seven (67) feet and six (6) inches to the east line of an alley; thence northwardly on the east line of said alley twenty-four and 1/2 (24½) feet to the north line of said lot, thirty-one (31); thence eastwardly on said line sixty-seven and one-half (67½) feet to the place of beginning.

ESTATE OF DAVID HATCH.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 19th day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of David Hatch, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Alfred Lewis, special administrator upon said estate, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid, that the heirs-at-law of said deceased have assigned and conveyed all their interest in the personal property belonging to said estate to Samuel Hatch, and that he has paid over to said Samuel Hatch all the property of every discription belonging to said estate that has come to his possession as such special administrator, and praying that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled, and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 15th day of April next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

KIDNEY F.E.C. REMEDY TRADE MARK

An interesting letter for Ladies:
Hastings Centre, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.
F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider it a letter impertinent, I remain,
MARY H. BEEMAN.

That dreaded backache can be Cured
Rochester, N. Y., August 2, 1886.
F. E. C. Medicine Co.—Dear Sir—Allow me to recommend your medicine to anyone suffering from backache and kidney trouble. It has cured me entirely, and I am quite sure will do the same for anyone who will give it a fair trial
Yours truly, MRS. A. W. KELLEY

REVIEW OF THE QUARTER

LESSON XIII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MARCH 31.

The Gospel of St. Mark—Who He Was. Character of His Gospel—Reasons for the Variations in Style of the Four Evangelists.

The first quarter of the present year is devoted to a study of Christ's life and teachings as recorded in the Gospel according to St. Mark. It is, therefore, most fitting to consider the peculiarities of this Gospel, and to at least glance at the oft debated question why there should be four distinct accounts of the Saviour's mission on earth, strangely varying in style and the subjects made prominent, and yet all agreeing in the essentials of Christian doctrine and ethics. It is evident even to the unlearned reader that each writer addressed a different class, but each sets forth the same eternal truths—the fatherhood of God and the helplessness of man, the divinity of Christ and His atoning death, the necessity of faith, repentance and baptism for the remission of sins, the moral government of the universe, grace, eternal life, the way of redemption, the possibility of eternal separation from God and all that is good.

First, it must be noted that the time of Christ's incarnation was divinely appointed for the only period in all history when the civilized world was under one government, when one written language was used by all scholars and statesmen, when the laws governing the empire were in general principles the same, and when the dignity of citizenship under one ruler was the citizen's protection, from the mountains of Scotland in the north to the Sahara in the south, and from the Pillars of Hercules to the river Euphrates. Never before the establishment of the Roman empire had this been the case. Never has it been the case since the overthrow of that empire. The Romans had conquered all the central belt of the known world; their civil war had ended in the establishment of an imperial line, and when all opposition to that line had ceased and the long peace under Augustus Cæsar had secured stability and order, Christ's earthly mission began.

In all the western half of the empire Latin was the vernacular, in all the eastern half Greek; both mingled, of course, with local dialects. In both sections the tavern keepers, merchants, sailors, travelers and scholars, as a rule, understood both languages; but while the Latin was official, Greek was the language of most writers, and the Roman rulers over each of the 120 provinces understood both, and in most cases knew something of the local dialect. Thus Pilate wrote the inscription over the cross written in Greek and Latin and Hebrew—not that the Jews of that day spoke Hebrew, for they did not, but it was their sacred or written language. The corrupt tongue they spoke, commonly called Caelo-Syriac, was not reduced to writing; but many of its words were necessarily quoted by some of the New Testament writers, and hence the reader will find the words, "which is by interpretation," etc., as they thought necessary to translate some phrases for the people they aimed to reach.

To a Jew of Palestine the empire was divided into "Jew and Gentile;" to a Roman, into "bond and free," and to a scholar, into Greek and barbarian." The last word meant, not necessarily, as now, a wild or uncivilized man, but merely one who could not speak Greek—that is, a "prattler," one whose talk was like "barbar" to a Greek ear. Thus the Greeks called the Persians "barbaroi," even when the latter were as civilized as themselves. With these hints the reader may see the force of many short suggestions, especially in Mark and Luke; but he should note that St. Paul, as the great apostle to the Gentiles, constantly endeavors to do away with such distinctions as between Christians. In these facts, too, we find the principal reason for the four Gospels.

It is, first, self evident that St. Matthew wrote for the Jews, and there is some evidence that his gospel was first composed in Hebrew, and not long after the crucifixion, but the Greek copy, as we now have it, did not appear till thirty years later. St. Mark, as evidently, wrote for a somewhat larger constituency, and one which needed a brief statement of facts rather than lengthy addresses, but still a people familiar with the local affairs of Palestine. In St. Luke we find from the start a remarkable difference. He begins by stating that many accounts have been written, and therefore he will present the exact facts as he received them from eye witnesses. Lastly, St. John wrote when heresies had begun to trouble the church, and some teachers were tainted with the fancies of Greek philosophy.

Mark may be called the strictly historical evangelist. He was the son of a woman named Mary, whose house at Jerusalem was a resort of the first Christians. He traveled with Paul and Barnabas to Antioch, and was afterwards an intimate associate of Paul as well as of Peter. The tradition of the early church was that he founded the church at Alexandria in Egypt and suffered martyrdom there. It is a long disputed question in the church whether Mark based his gospel on that of Matthew or obtained his facts directly from St. Peter, and a very large and respectable school maintains that all the later gospels, and perhaps that of Matthew, also, were compiled from an original work—a sort of memorabilia of the sayings and acts of Christ—which is no longer in existence. All agree that it was written in Rome, in the Greek language, and at some period between the deaths of Peter and Paul and the destruction of Jerusalem. I should be noted, however, that while all agree that St. John outlived all the other apostles, yet it is claimed that in their present form the gospels of Luke and John are contemporary. It is not important, however, as we have the unanimous testimony of the apostolic fathers (those whose youth was in apostolic times) that the four gospels were accepted by the entire church as the inspired record of Christ's mission. The point to be chiefly noted here is that the four accounts were in a sense neccessary to meet the wants of the different classes in the empire, and that St. Mark set down the facts detailed by all the others in a form suited for historic arrangement.

In London, at the East End, there are growing and bitter complaints at the enormous influx of German, Russian and Polish Jews, who, on landing, are almost totally destitute of means. These starving immigrants are willing to work for a crust of bread and shelter, and thus enter into a life struggle with London's destitute poor for the scantiest means of existence. There is also a large incursion in the class of gypsies who are a curse to every village or district where they congregate. The English government seems to be unable to cope with the danger, but in Germany stringent measures are to be passed to abate the nuisance. Indeed, complaints are heard from every part of Germany about the thieving propensities of these modern nomads, and, worse than this, a number of cases of children being kidnaped are reported from the Rhenish provinces and upper Silesia. It is intended to lay shortly an anti-gypsy law before the Federal council.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A DELUSION.

White as the breast of the swan is her skin,
With apple blossom's daintiest pink
Tinting her cheeks and her ears and her chin—
Hair brown as the fur of the mink;
White are her teeth as the robes of a saint;
Eyes hued like the summer's blue skies;
A seraphic form no limner can paint,
Though he tries and forever tries;
Voice like the laugh of the grass bordered brook;
In violet's time of the year,
Or song of the bird in some flow'r walled nook
Entrancing the mother mate near
Oh, ravishing creature! My joy, and my life,
But—holy horror! she eats with her knife!

Will A. Davis.

AN ARTIST'S IDYL.

Maurice strolled aimlessly through the umbrageous forest. The rain had ceased, but from the leaves drops of water still dripped with the light sound of a trickling fountain. At a distance the path he was following opened on a green glade. The trunks of the trees were dark, their branches darker still, and the spreading foliage of the chestnuts meeting above the head of the young artist, seemed like the vault of a cathedral at the hour when the declining sun sends through the many colored windows a mysterious light into the obscurity of the interior.

Maurice loved the hour when the day dies, when a gray tint falls upon all objects, confounding their contours, softening their angles and rounding their outlines. He walked slowly, each moment discovering in the forest some beauty he had not seen before, and filled with that tender admiration for nature which is a part of genius.

Having reached the glade, he looked about him. The grass was green and fresh; the delicate leaves of the trees glistened under the drops of rain which had fallen upon them. He paused that he might better observe the scene which seemed more impressive in the gathering shadows than in the full light of the sun.

He saw the pretty slight form of a girl advancing from a clump of beech trees. She walked with a supple step, without seeing Maurice, who, as motionless as the trunk of the tree near which he stood, looked at her intently. When a few paces from him the girl saw him, trembled, and let fall a small bundle of fagots she was carrying on her head.

"You frightened me," she said, smiling, and her large dark eyes sparkled gayly under her tangled yellow hair.

He looked at her a moment without replying. Complete harmony, which it is impossible to describe, existed between this pretty, smiling girl, the foliage of the glade and the tone of the landscape.

"Remain where you are," said the young man; "I want to sketch you."

She was about to brush back the locks that had fallen over her forehead, but he stopped her with a gesture.

"Stand just as you are."

He seated himself on a stone and rapidly sketched the face and form of his young model.

She was a peasant, but delicate and slight, as are these young girls before they complete development, which is often late. Her eyes were already those of a woman; her smile was still that of a child.

"How old are you?" asked the artist as he worked.

"I shall be sixteen soon."

"Is it possible! I thought you younger."

"I am small," she said, with a frank smile, "but I shall grow quickly, and by Saint John's Eve I shall have a lover."

"Why on Saint John's Eve?" asked the young man, pausing in his work and looking at her.

"Because then we shall dance around the bonfires."

So soon was this pure brow, these innocent eyes, this childish mouth to be profaned by the caresses of some stupid rustic! Maurice experienced a vague feeling of jealousy.

"Would you like to have me for your lover?" he asked, as he returned to his work.

"You? Ah! you are a gentleman, I am a peasant. Honest girls do not listen to gentlemen."

Such is the code of virtue among villagers. The young man made no reply to her words, but said:

"I can see no longer. Will you return here to-morrow a little earlier?"

"For my picture?"

"Yes."

"I will return. Good evening."

She took up her fagots, and, passing under the arching chestnuts, soon disappeared in the shades of evening.

Maurice returned home dreaming of the girl with the yellow hair. Although he had often before seen pretty peasants, whom he had regarded with an artist's eye, he seemed to look on this girl with the jealous eyes of a lover. That night and the next day seemed long to him, and some time before the appointed hour he was in the glade.

He worked by himself, and when, a little later, the young girl arrived, looking at the sketch, she exclaimed with an air of coquetry and surprise:

"Ah, it is I! Are you going to give it to me?"

"No, I will make a small picture for you."

"And this one, what are you going to do with it?"

"It is going to Paris, it will be put in a large frame, it will be hung in a grand salon and all the world will go to see it."

"Ah! yes, I know, at the exposition."

"You know what that is?"

"There have been artists here before who painted pictures for the exposition, as they said, but they never painted my portrait."

The day was drawing to a beautiful close. The atmosphere had the soft, delicate tones which had delighted Maurice on the previous evening, and his work advanced rapidly.

He painted on the picture afterward in his studio. He determined to make it his best work. Being already well known, it was no longer necessary for him to seek to make a name, nevertheless he was certain that this picture would set the seal on his reputation.

By the time he had finished the picture to his satisfaction, winter had come and Maurice was in love with his little model.

He loved her too much to tell her of his love, too much to tear from her native meadow this flower of maidenhood whom he could not make his wife, but enough to suffer at the thought of parting from her. She had naught that goes to the making of happiness in life, neither depth of sentiment, nor devotion which makes one forget all else, nor passion which excuses all things; she was simply a pretty flower of the field, a little vain, a little coquettish, without either grave faults or great virtues. Maurice knew that she could be nothing to him, yet he adored the beautiful outlines of her scarcely developed form, which the folds of her coarse gown chastely enveloped yet could not all conceal. He loved those deep eyes, that smiling mouth, those yellow tresses, always in disorder, the little handkerchief that crossed her bosom; all these he loved, and it was with pain he thought of parting from them. One always parts with pain from what he expects never again to see. It is so hard to leave behind one a bit of one's life that he has no right to keep.

He had carried off her picture, however, and before this he passed the best hours of the winter ceaselessly laboring to perfect a work already perfect.

The painting was greatly admired. The critics were unanimous in their enthusiasm, but they declared that such a face could not exist except in the mind of a poet or in the imagination of a painter. Maurice listened to all this with a smile and kept to himself the secret of the sweet face that had inspired him.

He received flattering offers for his picture; none of his previous paintings had commanded so high a price; he declined to sell it; he also refused to allow it to be engraved. As he was unable to possess the model of the picture he was determined to keep the latter.

It was autumn when he returned to the village where he had met the little maid with the yellow hair. Since he had painted her portrait, twice had the bonfires of St. John's Eve seen the bands of joyous peasants dancing about them, and as he thought of the young girl he smiled sadly, wondering which of the village rustics had made her his choice.

His first pilgrimage was to the forest of chestnuts. As darkness comes quickly on October evenings, he hastened along the forest walk; but it was not yet dark and rays of amber light still traversed the forest, falling upon the leaves that trembled on their branches and upon those that rustled under his feet. With the odor of dead leaves came a thousand regrets, sorrowful memories and bitter thoughts which filled him with unspeakable sadness, with a greater distaste for life than he had ever before experienced.

When he reached the glade he seated himself in the same place where two years before he had sketched the picture which had crowned his fame. The cold stone on which he sat seemed to mock all his tender feelings.

"A peasant! a coquette! She would have loved me had I wished it," he said to himself. "Others like her have loved artists and followed them to Paris, where they have disappeared beneath the foam of the sea of life which surges through the great city, without cumbering with bonds those who introduced them into the world of art and intellect. He is a fool who sacrifices to his dreams, to an idea, the good things of this world, the love of woman, the glory which talent brings, the opportunity which leads to success."

While he thus renounced the gods of his youth, he saw approaching him, over the well known path, the girl who had been his model,—now a large young woman. She was not alone; a peasant walked beside her, holding her by the hand: he was a handsome fellow, strong and well built, and well-to-do for one of his class. He leaned toward her, and from time to time kissed a tear from her cheek.

When they saw Maurice they paused, confused and surprised.

"And this," he thought, "is the girl of whom I have dreamed."

But he took pity on her when, in a voice of sighs, she said to him:

"They do not wish us to marry. I am poor, he is well off, and his mother does not want me for a daughter-in-law; she even talks of disinheriting him."

"And you, you do not wish to be disinherited," Maurice said ironically to the young man.

"Why, one must live!"

"That is true. I am sorry for you, my children."

They departed. Maurice, when left to himself, took his head between his hands and thought for a long time.

His ideal was destroyed. In this young peasant woman, still handsome, but about to develop into a commonplace matron, naught remained of his pretty model with the yellow hair.

"Thus it is with our dreams," he said, as he arose. "All that remains is the opportunity of doing a little good."

He wrote to Paris that same evening, and a few days afterward he presented himself at the house of the young woman.

"I have sold your portrait," he said to her in the presence of her astonished mother. "It has brought a large price, indeed a little fortune. I have brought the money to you in order that you may marry your lover."—Translated from the French of Henry Greville by A. R. Haven for The Epoch.

Library of Congress.

It is a remarkable fact that upon many subjects this library has every book that has ever come from any press for a century—books in twenty languages; books good, bad and indifferent. Files of the leading newspapers of the world for a century back are preserved. There are complete sets of The London Times since 1796, The London Gazette since 1665, and The Moniteur Universel since 1789, with nearly all the English and American reviews and magazines. Each state has been represented for many years in the library by two newspapers, one of each political party.

The imperial astrologers are very much opposed to the extension of the Chinese railroad toward Pekin.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

Strange and Startling

Curious Revelations of an Unclaimed Package.

IT UNEARTHS A SAD ROMANCE

In Which Faithful Love Sheds a Soft Light on Crookedness—An Indiana Farmer Tempts Fate with Dynamite and Fate Teaches Him a Terrible Lesson—A White Cap Gang Makes a Disastrous Call—Bleached Human Bones Found.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 25.—At the American Express company's sale of unclaimed property on Tuesday a toy trunk was sold for 50 cents. On opening it the purchaser discovered a large number of letters, and among them notes aggregating $8.00 in value. Two of the notes were outlawed just three days, one for a small amount and the other for $3.23. The others were pronounced good, and amount to something over $400. The trunk was addressed "Mrs. C. Merrilla, Corning (Hotel opposite depot)." The letters reveal a romance. Many were signed Mrs. C. W. McAllister, and that is the name that should no doubt have been on the trunk, and the reason why it found the way into the dusty limbo of an express company's collection.

Mrs. McAllister, whose maiden name was Miss Ida Miley, married C. W. McAllister, at Reading, Pa. He ran a collection bureau there, got crowded, collected money for people and did not pay it over, and finally skipped away suddenly, leaving his wife and creditors. The collection contained many letters from McAllister in his absence, and all breathed the greatest love for her. Her letters to him, of which she preserved duplicates, bespeak a wife faithful in her love to her husband through all his troubles, and she was always wishing to be with him. McAllister, in his letters, constantly speaks of eluding Pinkerton detectives. Finally a letter told Mrs. McAllister to join her husband in Harrisburg, where his father lived, and where a home was offered them. Whether they ever came together the letters do not indicate, as there are links missing in the chain. Mr McAllister had an uncle in Corning, and it is supposed she went there, and the trunk was sent there evidently addressed by a stranger who blundered in the address. The possessor of the letters, John A. Ward, 191 Main street, will return them to Mrs McAllister if she is alive and claims them. The notes belong to him, as the express company can legally give a clear title to goods sold in this way.

DYNAMITE DOESN'T DISCRIMINATE,

Or These Sticks Would Have Waited for the Head of the Family.

PERU, Ind., March 25.—An explosion of dynamite yesterday afternoon in the residence of Aaron York, a prominent farmer living five miles east of this city completely demolished the building and caused the death of Mrs. York and her eldest daughter. Another daughter and a son were severely but not fatally injured. Preparatory to Monday's work in blasting stumps York placed a number of frozen sticks of dynamite under the kitchen stove to thaw out, and then went to the stable to attend to his horses.

Shortly afterward a loud explosion occurred, and when the farmer turned to learn whence the report came he saw his house shattered to atoms, pieces of wood and stone being hurled great distances away. It was some time before the mangled bodies of the wife and eldest daughter were found. The former was an unformed gazaboo mass of flesh, and was frightfully lacerated. The girl had evidently been killed by the weight of timbers, under a great mass of which her body was found.

NOT WHAT THEY WENT FOR.

A Band of White Caps Find a Man Who Is Business from the Start.

ONANCOOK, Va., March 25.—A band of White Caps went to the home of William F. Kellam, near Locustville, Saturday, and informed him that they had come to horse-whip him. Without making any oral reply Kellam rushed upon the leader of the gang and knocked him down. Kellam's son, who was a short distance from the house, ran up and together with his father drubbed the regulators, who finally turned tail and fled as fast as their legs could carry them. Kellam has been in receipt of White Cap notices for the past three weeks.

Been Missing Seven Years.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 25.—Saturday J. Schultz, who was climbing Bear mountain, a mile north of Cumberland, came upon the bleached bones of a man covered with a few remnants of clothing, concealed in a crevice among the boulders. The coroner investigated the case yesterday, and no doubt exists that the remains are those of John Hodel, who disappeared from the city on March 21, 1882. Mrs. Hodel, who still resides here, has no doubt that the skeleton is that of her husband. She identifies the clothing as his. Two empty unlabelled bottles lying near the skeleton give color to the supposition that Hodel committed suicide. Hodel was the inventor of a wonderful clock, something similar to the Strasbourg clock, and traveled around the country exhibiting it.

A Brilliant Magistrate.

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., March 25.—Saturday five young men went to the house of a London doctor named Warden and gave him a terrible thrashing with whips for having assaulted a young colored girl whom he was attending professionally. The young fellows stripped the clothing from the negro's back and left him with a score of ugly welts on his skin. Warden swore out warrants for his assailants' arrest, and they were brought before a magistrate yesterday. The magistrate let the young men go with a nominal fine.

Will Put His Savings in Bank Hereafter.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 25.—John Norris, a thrifty Austrian, who has no faith in savings banks, entrusted $1,250 to his wife for safe keeping. She sewed the money up in her petticoat, which she wore during the day time, and at night placed under her pillow. During the absence of Norris from his home Saturday night three masked men entered the woman's bedroom, gagged her and stole the petticoat and the money, and made good their escape.

Shocking Death of a Little Girl.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 25.—Little Fannie Roy, aged three years, fell out of a third-story window yesterday at 1,514 West Mulberry street yesterday, and died an hour later. The little creature struck the pavement head foremost. Before she died her head had swollen to three times its natural size.

Fined $300 for Selling Cider.

WATERLOO, Ia., March 25.—Charles W. Schmidt, of Cedar Falls, was fined $300 in a justice court Saturday for selling cider. He was arraigned on six different counts.

A POINTER.

As every reader of this paper knows, it has become one of the fine arts to write attractive and interesting advertisements, especially medical ones.

Now it seems to us that if, for instance, the world wide advertisers of Warner's Safe Remedies would adapt a style whereby they could work in a startling story of, say—wolves, we believe the immense sales of their medicines could be still more largely increased. We give then the benefit of the idea at any event. Let it commence like this:

Patter! Patter! Patter!

There it is again. It is not fifty yds. from where he last halted. The steps are too light for those of an Indian. A grizzly would rush upon its victim with a roar of defiance and anger. A panther would hurl himself through thirty feet of space, with a scream to unnerve the hardest hunter.

"Wolves," whispers the hunter, as a howl suddenly bursts upon his ear.

Wolves! the gaunt grizzly wolves of the foot-hills—thin and poor and hungry and savage—the legs fireless—the mouth full of teeth which can crack the shoulder-bone of a buffalo. He can see their dark forms flitting from point to point—the patter of their feet upon the parched grass proves that he is surrounded—yet no more in danger, and no more effectually surrounded than he who trifles with symptoms of kidney diseases. And you, reader, know whether or not you are a victim to its insidious encroachment. If your backaches, if your eyesight is failing, if your appetite is fickle, if your urine is not clear and of a pale straw color, do not hesitate on the prairie of danger but flee to the nearest haven of safety, and resort to the only known cure of kidney and liver troubles, Warner's Safe Cure. It is a duty you owe, not only to yourself but to your family and society at large.

Had the travelers not been overtaken in the night, and unarmed, the wolves wou'd have had no terrors for him. We warn you just now, in broad daylight, before the wolves of diseases sink their poisoned fangs deeply into your flesh and the night of death settles down upon you, to stop your ears to prejudice and bigotry, and to fly to safety through the means we have pointed out.

The railroads of Michigan have all agreed to run two half-fare excursions to Detroit during the April 2, 3, 4 and 5 Floral Exhibition. The first will be upon April 3d, the tickets being good to return on the 4th. The second will be upon the 4th, to return the 5th of April. The tickets will contain a coupon for admission to the Floral Exhibition. The new exhibition at the Detroit Museum of Art, which opened March 18th, will also be open to visitors. Those desiring to keep posted as to the details of the Floral enterprise, will find daily installments of flower show gossip in the Detroit Journal, which public-spirited paper, we believe, originated and organized this novel and beautiful enterprise which promises such successful results.

SCRIBNER'S Magazine for April is notable for the variety of its contents, which include popular articles on railroad affairs, shipping, mountain climbing, and the anatomy of contortionists; literary reminiscences of Scott, DeQuincey, Burns, and Dr. John Brown; a paper on Ibsen, the great Norwegian dramatist; and one of the much-praised series of End Papers, the writer for this month being Walter Pater, author of "Marius the Epicurean." The illustrations show equal richness, variety, and interest.

WARNER'S LOG CABIN SARSAPARILLA,

"Hops and Buchu Remedy," Cough and "Consumption Remedy," "Hair Tonic," "Extract," for External and Internal Use, "Plasters," "Rose Cream," for Catarrh, and "Liver Pills." They are put up by H. H. Warner & Co., proprietors of Warner's Safe Remedies, and promise to equal the standard value of those great preparations. All druggists keep them.

On Thursday, April 4, we shall begin the publication of a new serial story entitled The Great War Syndicate, by Frank R. Stockton. It will be the best serial story ever published in these columns, and we consider ourselves very fortunate in having been able to obtain it.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local application, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is intirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

Spring Medicine

For a good spring medicine we confidently recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. By its use the blood is purified, enriched and vitalized, that tired feeling is entirely overcome and the whole body given strength and vigor. The appetite is restored and sharpened, the digestive organs are toned, the kidneys and liver invigorated. If you have never tried do so this season. It is a thoroughly honest and reliable preparation, purely vegetable, and contains no injurious ingredients whatever. Thousands who have taken it with benefit testify to its peculiar curative power.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring tonic, and I recommend it to all who have that miserable tired feeling." C. PARMELEE, 349 Bridge Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Makes the Weak Strong

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other preparation.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Juniper Berries, and other well known vegetable remedies, by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself, and by which the full medicinal value of all the ingredients used is secured. Hence it possesses superior and positive curative power.

Purifies the Blood

"Every spring for years I have made it a practice to take from three to five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I know it purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system of all impurities. That languid feeling, called 'spring fever,' will never visit the system that has been properly cared for by this never-failing remedy." W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor Agricultural Epitomist, Indianapolis, Ind.

FOUR NEW STATES

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana the Golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 10,000,000 head of live stock; profits in her fertile lands, producing a larger yield of crops than any other State or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta Route or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonists sleepers of its own to from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington—The country of tall timbers, bordered by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers can route for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific coast is the same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

The pleasant weather and fine roads have undergone a change for the past few days.

The papering of the east room of the school building makes a vast difference in appearance. Sink and Geo. Blessing did the work Monday.

The result of Monday's election reminds us of days gone by. History repeats itself, as it were.

You will observe by comparing the returns of the election Monday, that the Democrats are friends to the Prohibitionist, at least when a lady is in the race.

Several from Tecumseh were in attendance at the social Friday evening.

Church services on Sunday evening, also prayer meetings during the week, at 7:30 until further notice.

The L. S. C. will be held at the home of Mrs. G. P. Waring on Friday evening next week.

Several of the young ladies enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. J. Temple, on Thursday of last week.

The attendance at the social Friday night, held at the home of Mrs, W. R. Wilson, was as usual quite large and all seemed to enjoy a very pleasant evening. After a short program, refreshments consisting of hot coffee and doughnuts were served and the treasury was increased by a four dollar collection.

Uncle Wm. Pilbeam is moving his family and household effects to Tecumseh, where he expects to make his future home.

Mrs. Alfred Lucking and children are visiting at her old home, Dr. D. W. Loree's, at present.

Walter and Ethel Gripton of Britton, spent several days during their vacation with their grand parents, Mr. & Mrs. Barlow.

J. Y. Potter has sold his property on North street to W. J. Andrews.

L. Bannister, the junior partner of Harrison & Bannister of the North street meat market, has rented the house vacated by J. Y. Potter, and moved to our village last week.

Miss Grace Harrington and brother, Eugene, spent Saturday and Sunday with their brother Willie, and called on friends.

Willis Helm returned Saturday from Decatur, Ind., and reports his brother L. C. Helm improving slowly.

We are informed that Mrs. David Harrison wishes to sell her village property or exchange it for a smaller house and lot.

Arthur and Anna Reynolds of Lasell, were the guests of their sister, Mrs. F. J. Temple, Saturday and Sunday.

Fred Aten left for Elizabethtown, Ky., Monday, where he will work in the interest of the McCormick binder company the coming season.

Mrs. L. V. Miller and son, Voris, returned from a visit with relatives at White Hall, Mich., last week.

Prof. Daniels spent Saturday and Sunday at Adrian and Onsted.

Ida Greenman spent the Sabbath with Tecumseh friends.

Ella Hall left Friday for Brooklyn, N. Y. She expects Mr. & Mrs. Bush about the middle of the month to arrive from their tour around the world.

Owing to the storm the attendance at the church Sunday morning was not as large as was desired, Mrs. Corbin of Adrian, gave a talk in the interest of home missions. A society will be organized the present week in the interest of home missions.

The election Monday was held at the village of Britton, with the usual amount of hard work and spliting done. The whole number of votes cast were 324. Dem, 147; straight 47, split 100. Rep. 146; straight 47, split 99. Pro. 31. Miss Flora Borden, nominee for school inspector on the Prohibition ticket received 79 votes. The result was a hard fought victory for the democrats.

Mrs. Samuel Helm went to Decatur, Ind., Tuesday to visit her son Louis who is slowly recovering from a sick spell.

Fred Fagan, Joe Wiggins and Eugene Pilbeam went to Detroit Tuesday.

Emma Miller visited at Adrian, Tuesday.

Agent Hughs, of the Sea Green Slate Co., of Poultney, Vermont, was in the village Tuesday in the interest of the slate business Being an old acquaintance of H. J. Williams, gave him some points in regard to slate that is being sold in different localities as a first-class Sea Green slate is not what they are claimed to be, but a Vermont veriegated sea green. Mr. Williams gave his order for a car load of slate of the best sea green Vermont slate which will be here in a few days.

Our citizens were somewhat surprised Wednesday morning to hear that Coryell, senior partner of the hardware firm of Coryell & Williams, had sold his interest in the business to Mr. Williams the junior partner, who will continue the business as before, the only change being made that of Mr. Coryell retiring from the firm. Mr. Williams will make the slating business a specialty, and desires the patronage of all in need of anything in his line to give him a call and get prices before buying elsewhere.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

(Delayed Letter.)

School closes this week.

Everybody praying for rain, roads dusty, farmers sowing rye, plowing and fitting ground for oats.

Olds and Bacon have a sick cow from eating horse-raddish thrown over into the highway by a neighbor. Dr. Waldron was called by telegraph.

Macon Grange had a maple sugar festival Saturday evening, being the forfeit in the recent two-sided literary contest. They will give a public entertainment in the near future, embracing the best selections from their several winter contests, in connection with outside help—full particulars next week.

Will Easlick of Saline, is marketing his wheat at Ridgeway.

Mrs. M. Yates is able to ride out.

Joseph Spaulding and wife of Franklin, visited at A. Easlick's Saturday and Sunday.

The club meeting at Grange Hall Monday afternoon was well attended. The presiding officers took the constitutional oath in preparation for the caucus part of the meeting. The ladies were well represented. Isaac Pennington, President of the Macon W. C. T. U. made the opening speech on the subject of woman's work in the cause of prohibition, urging the necessity of every woman joining some one of the many organizations engaged in the temperance work, so as to be better prepared for the care of children, claiming that character was formed in youth. "Give her the training of children to ten years old and she would shape the destiny of the nation."

Mrs. E. Howell followed, enlarging on the same theme, both making pleasing digressions as to men's work. Dr. D. W. Loree of Ridgeway made the closing speech, of half an hour, on the rise and fall of nations from their support or opposition to great moral and physical questions that agitate the people in some form or other, during every decade, in our onward march to a better civilization.

COUGH! and COUGH!! and COUGH!!!

What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when BEGGS' CHERRY COUGH SYRUP will positively relieve your cough at once? This is no advertising scheme, but an actual fact, and we guarantee it. J. J. ORR, Druggist.

The popular blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla, is having a tremendous sale this season. Nearly everybody takes it. Try it yourself.

BRITTON BUDGET.

Everything was quiet here at town meeting on Monday, there was very little or no excitement. The town went democratic, with the exception of Ab. Palmer, republican for School Inspector, and one constable.

Lute Bannister has gone into partnership with Ed. Harrison in the meat business at Ridgeway and moved his family there last week. We are sorry to lose them.

Coller and Hendershot have a clerk now who is a graduated pharmacist, and prescriptions will be put up with accuracy and dispatch. Try them and see.

Ezra Sink of Tecumseh, is expecting to occupy the rooms over I. S. Osborne's store as soon as they are completed. He is a first-class painter and paper-hanger, and we are sure he will have all he can do.

John Exelby of Detroit, has been here for a number of days past

Lee Smith talks of moving his fami[illegible] Macon Center. They will be [illegible]sed in society here and we [illegible]ey will remain.

James Underwood's oldest son, Horatio, had a severe accident last week from which he narrowly escaped with his life, while helping saw wood at James Haight's. The engine had been shut off but the saw was still running, and he jumped on the belt to stop it but found that he was no match for the machine. If the pulley had not slipped he would most certainly have been killed. Both bones of the right arm were broken just below the elbow and he was badly bruised all over. Dr. Hendershot has charge of the case and he is getting along nicely.

Lura C. Daykin. The deceased was the daughter of George W. and Hannah Covell, and was born in Dundee, Mich., on the 29th day of April, 1835; moved with her father's family to this township in 1840, where she has resided ever since, except about five years she resided in Macon township, an adjoining town. In 1849 she connected herself with the First Christian Church of this place, thereby becoming one of the charter members, of which she has been a faithful member ever since. She was married to Joseph Daykin in the year 1856, and was the mother of five children, two of whom have passed on before her, and leaves to mourn her loss a dear husband, two sons and one daughter, namely. Edgar, Perley and Mary, all grown to man and womanhood. She also leaves four brothers and three sisters, who have all lived past the noonday of life, she being the first one to break the circle of eight children. She retained her faith in God until death, thereby closing on earth the life of a christian. Funeral services conducted from the church of which the deceased was a member, by the pastor, on Friday, March 29th, 1889, at 10:30 A. M., and the burial in Ridgeway cemetery.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

The time for spring work is now upon us and the most of our citizens have availed themselves of the opportunity and gone to work with a zeal; farm work is well on its way and house cleaning is in order, and Old Raisin has taken it into its head to clear out some of its worthy residents.

Len Carlton and family will move to Kansas this week, Len having exchanged his farm here for land in Kansas. Burt Holdridge now being the possessor of Len's old place here.

C. A. Satterthwaite will work for the Davis Platform Binder Co., this summer and goes to Cleveland this week for instructions and to learn the 'how' of the machine.

We understand that Elsie Wilson and Burt Blood expect to travel for the Brooks Hand Force and Spraying pump this summer, their field of labor being LaGrange and Elkhart counties, Indiana. They leave this week to take up their new work.

John Kopke has hired for the season to a gentleman in Dundee, and will henceforth follow his directions and teachings in the art of farming.

Maurice Nay and Walter Binns left for Auburn, Ind., Tuesday. They travel in their own interests as sales men for a brass force pump and fire extinguisher. With the foregoing named gentlemen and Will Begel, who has already departed from our midst, makes a decrease of population of at least eight, besides the families of Mr. Carlton and Mr. Begle.

At the residence of the bride's parents on the corner of Main St., and Lenawee Ave., April 3d. 1889, was solemnized the matrimonial ties between Mr. Geo. Whitmarsh and Miss Carrie Doty. Rev. Belden officiating.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breath. Some nights I could not sleep—had to walk the floor I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the one medicine above all others made to cure catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Con

The township elections were held last Monday and the country has been saved.

President Harrison wants two days of rest from the office seekers—Sunday to attend church, and Monday, to transact a little public business.

The breach between the President and the Senate on the confirmation of Halstead as Minister to Germany is a serious one. The distribution of the spoils is not an unmixed blessing after all.

The surplus in the U. S. treasury is leaping up at a rapid rate. President Harrison will soon be confronted with a condition and not a theory. What will he do about it?

The concealment and care of the bustle are ever a source of anxiety to women.—Boston Courier.

We dare say; but they might avoid it by leaving the bustles off. The worst trouble about the bustle, however, is when it gets on one side and the wearer does not know it. The effect is sometimes truly shocking.

The protectionist doctrine is take of the rich, and they will take care of the poor. The democratic doctrine is, give the poor a fair chance and let the rich take care of themselves.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

This is a model summing up of the situation. The monopolist is the object of the kindly solicitude and receives the tender care of the republican managers, who favor taxing the poor for the benefit of the rich, while the democracy insist on a lifting of burdens from the laborer, by reducing taxes to the lowest limit consistent with honest government.

The administration and the issue of the country remains right where Grover Cleveland drew the line. It is the question of taxation. High tax advocates will flourish for awhile but the cause of the people will ultimately triumph.

Harrison's election has not had a very stimulating effect on business, but it has aroused a demand for ballot reform that extends to every state in the union. It is queer that a triumph of the party of great moral ideas should have had this effect.

The law taxing mortgages will undoubtedly be repealed at this session of the legislature, as it has been discovered that the borrower has to pay the tax. It works just the same as the tariff; the borrower and the consumer in the end pay the tax.

Subscriber, Grand Rapids: The Free Press does not answer theological questions. If you wish to know the distinction between calling and election, address the editor of the Commercial Gazette, Cincinnati.—Detroit Free Press.

Editor Haltead knows now what it costs to be furnished with the "license of ink" and then to come before the public as an applicant for partisan rewards. Human nature is pretty much the same the world over. People who indulge in miscellaneous venom can't expect a meek and impartial forgiveness at the hands of their victims.—N. Y. Telegram.

We are inclined to believe that if President Harrison were called upon to write at the present time his views on the civil service reform question, his remarks would be much more forcible and pointed than those contained in his inaugural address, for he is not the man we take him to be if he has not before this discovered that government patronage is one of the greatest afflictions with which a public officer has to contend.—Boston Herald.

The Massachusetts Tariff Reform league, of Boston, is an example to follow. It is assisting to form local clubs in the state and is arranging for joint debates on the important topic. The league has historic names on its roll: Henry L. Pierce, president; Wm. Lloyd Garrison, treasurer; Josiah Quincy and John F. Andrew, chairman of the committees. These men were all identified with the republican party till the tariff issue came to the front. Massachusetts and Indiana are the two states which have best kept up their tariff reform societies.

OVER A MILLION IN ASHES.

A Warehouse Filled with Tea and Groceries Burned.

CHICAGO, March 27.—A very costly blaze broke out about 4 a. m. yesterday in Alderman Manierre's warehouse on the north side, and did not permit itself to be controlled until the large building, 125 by 100 feet and six stories high, was a complete ruin. The house was packed with tea and fine groceries, all of which is a total loss, and the value of it is variously estimated at from $900,000 to $1,250,000. The fire attained such serious proportions that at one time a general alarm was sent in, for fear that it would extend to other buildings, but that did not occur. The insurance is about $800,000. The building was worth $50,000 and insured for $40,000. Mr. Manierre declared that it was the work of an incendiary, as this was not the first time the building had been on fire, and he is sure that in both cases there had been no fire about the part of the structure where the blaze started. He will rebuild.

CHICAGO, March 30.—The six story brick building at 48 to 62 North Clinton street, occupied by several business firms, was entirely destroyed by fire last evening, entailing a loss of about $300,000. The building was valued at $75,000. The heaviest losers are S. A. Maxwell & Co., dealers in wall papers, $100,000; John Starr, mirror manufacturer, $75,000; J. S. Hare, printer and lithographer, $60,000; the Danville Stove company, $15,000, and the Dean Bamboo company, $10,000. Origin of the fire unknown.

Flames Swept the Town.

DIXON, Ills., March 29.—Nearly the whole of the business portion of Ashton, a town fifteen miles east of this city, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The burned buildings include the postoffice, the Ashton bank, the American house, and a dozen stores. A heavy wind rendered the efforts of the firemen, who went from here and other adjacent towns, completely useless until all the buildings in reach had been consumed. The exact amount of damage done is not yet known. Several accidents were reported during the fire, but the names of the injured can not be learned.

Fire at Jacksonville, Ills.

JACKSONVILLE, Ills., March 28.—Early Thursday morning the large livery and sale stable of Thompson & Springer, in this city, was burned, together with fifty head of horses and mules and a large quantity of hay and grain. The barn and contents were a total loss, amounting to nearly $40,000; insurance, $25,000. The senior partner is now in Chicago with a car-load of horses. The origin of the fire is a mystery, though Mr. Springer is sure it is the work of some incendiary.

Live Stock Burned to Death.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., March 29.—A fire at Bloomingburgh, Sullivan county, Thursday night destroyed the barn and outbuildings on the farm of N. C. Horton with contents, including four horses and fifty-two head of cattle. Loss not stated.

Furniture Factory Destroyed.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., March 30.—The Ring-Brady furniture manufactory was burned yesterday morning. Loss, $54,900; insurance, light.

Reduced the Rates on Lumber.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The Chicago and Alton road gave notice Saturday of its intention to reduce the rate on lumber between Chicago and Missouri river points to 10 cents per 100 pounds. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy promptly followed suit, filing a similar notice with the chairman of the Western Freight association. The present rate on lumber is 16 cents, so that the reduction is a heavy one. The reason given by the Chicago and Alton for taking this step is to meet the competition of the yellow pine lumber from the south, which of late has been gradually crowding the northern pine out of the market at southwestern Missouri river points because the difference in transportation charges has given it an advantage. But the result will probably be a row. The Wisconsin and Minnesota lumbermen will be indignant and there will be a great clamor for a reduction of rates from all northwestern points.

Mad Dog Scare in Indiana.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 1.—A gentleman living near French Lick, Orange county, who was in the city Friday gives a very graphic description of the slaughter of dogs in that vicinity which had been attacked with hydrophobia. He says that people are in a terrible state of excitement over the outbreak and in order to prevent a spread of the malady, the dogs are being killed by the dozen. Twenty-five were slain in one day. Horses, cows and hogs have been attacked and also a ram. The antics made by this animal were very peculiar. It finally butted out its brains. Citizens carry arms for fear of encountering a mad animal of some kind.

Death of Major Reno.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 1.—Maj. Marcus A. Reno, late of the U. S. A., who served with Gen. Custer in the Yellowstone Sioux massacre, died Friday night at Providence hospital. Maj. Reno, about three months ago, became afflicted with a cancer on the tongue. The cancerous portion was removed last week by Dr. John B. Hamilton. A few days ago erysipelas set in in the right hand, and Friday there was pneumonia of both lungs, which brought about his death in a few hours.

Ex-President Cleveland Returns.

NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—A special to the Picayune from Key West says: Ex-President Cleveland and party arrived here yesterday from Havana en route home. The steamer remained but two hours here and then proceeded to Tampa. A few citizens went aboard the steamer to pay their respects. Mr. Cleveland and party were lavish in praise of attentions shown them in Cuba.

Cleveland Lands a Blue Fish.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 1.—A special from Jupiter Inlet says ex-President Cleveland and party arrived there Saturday. An elegant dinner was awaiting them on the hotel ship Chattahoochie, which was gaily decorated. The whole party boarded small boats after dinner and spent the afternoon in fishing. Mr. Cleveland landed a ten pound blue fish. The party are all in excellent health.

To Increase the Coal Output.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—At the office of the Reading Coal company it was stated Thursday that the increase in the output of coal for the next two years would be at least 2,000,000 tons. This will be done through the four new collieries that are being sunk and the rehabilitation of old mines that have not been worked for several years.

Death of Zachariah Chaffee.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—Zachariah Chaffee, whose name has been widely known as trustee of the Sprague estate, died Saturday morning aged 74.

Great Naval Disaster

American and German Ships at Samoa Wrecked.

NEARLY 150 SAILORS DROWNED.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 1.—A cable dispatch received here via London and Auckland, states that all the American men-of-war together with the German squadron, at Apia, Samoan Islands, were driven ashore and wrecked by a terrible hurricane and over 100 officers and men of the two squadrons drowned. The following cable dispatch confirming the reported loss was received at the navy department Saturday morning from Auckland, signed by Rear Admiral Kimberly:

"A terrible hurricane occurred at Apia on March 15. Every vessel in the harbor was driven on shore except the English man-of-war Calliope which got to sea. The Trenton and Vandalia are total losses. The Nipsic is beached, rudder gone and may be saved, but chance is against it. Will send her to Auckland if possible.

"The names of the lost on the Vandalia are as follows: Officers—Capt. Shoonmaker, Paymaster Arms, Lieut. of Marines Sutton, Pay Clerk John Roche and Quartermaster Michael Cashen. Men—Henry Baker, W. Brisbane, Frank Jones, George Jorden, M. H. Joseph, John Kelly, Thomas Kelly, N. Kinsella, C. P. Kratzer, William Brown, Michael Craigin, Benjamin F. Davis, Thomas C. Downey, Magnus Ericksson, S. C. Ghring, Adolph Goldner, George Gorman, Nathan B. Green, Joseph Griffin, E. M. Hammar, John Hanchett, C. H. Hawkins, W. Howat, Charles Kraus, Frank Lessman, George Merrange, Aylmer Montgomery, Thomas Riley, H. P. Stalman, C. G. Stanford, John Sims, G. H. Wells, John Milford, Henry Wixted, Ah Kow, Ah Peck, Pendang, Techor.

"On the Nipsic—No officers, but the following men: George W. Callan, John Gill, Joshua Heap, Thomas Johnson, David Kellcher, Henry Pontsell, William Watson. All were saved from the Trenton. The Trenton's and Vandalia's crew are on shore; the Nipsic's on board. All the stores possible were saved. The ships Adler and Eber are total losses; the Olga is beached and may be saved. The German losses are ninety-six. It is important to send 300 men home at once. Shall I charter steamer. Can charter in Auckland. Lieut. Wilson will remain in Auckland to obey your orders. Further accounts by mail."

The news of the terrible disaster created consternation at the navy department. When it became known that the news was confirmed the excitement became greater. Naval officers on duty in this city hurried to the department and made anxious inquiries concerning the names of the lost, and letters and telegrams were received from other places asking for the same information. The naval officers at the navy department were too excited to work. They moved about the building talking with brother officers about the sad affair. All day long the corridors of the navy department were filled with anxious persons who had relatives or friends on board of the three wrecked vessels. They anxiously persued the list of names of the lost officers and men, and hurried away to tell others.

The officials of other departments were equally anxious with the naval people to learn the particulars of the affair. Mr. Walker Blaine sent to the navy department for the names of the officers, and when he received them immediately informed his father, the secretary.

Secretary Tracy, in answer to Admiral Kimberly's question as to whether a steamer should be chartered to send the 300 men to the wrecked vessels home, sent the following dispatch:

"Take such steps with regard to Nipsic and wrecks and sending men home as you deem proper. Full power given you. Monongahela sailed for Apia Feb. 21."

Secretary Tracy sent telegrams to the relatives of the dead officers of the Vandalia informing them of the sad affair. The dispatch concerning Capt. Schoonmaker was sent to his widow at Kingston, N. Y., where his brother Judge Schoonmaker, of the interstate commerce commission also resides. Capt. Schoonmaker entered the navy from New York as an acting midshipman, Sept. 28, 1854. He was made midshipman in June, 1859, and successively passed through the grades of passed midshipman, master, lieutenant, lieutenant commander and captain. He was promoted to the last named position on Oct. 7, 1886, and on Oct. 5, 1888, was placed in command of the Vandalia.

Lieut. Francis E. Sutton, the son of City Chamberlain Sutton, of Rome, N. Y., was one of the brightest men in the Marine corps. He entered the Naval academy as cadet midshipman on June 21, 1877, graduated in 1882, and was made a second lieutenant in the Marine corps on July 1, 1883. He was the junior first lieutenant of the corps, having been promoted on March 9, 1888. Lieut. Sutton was only engaged as temporary commander of marines on the Vandalia. He was detailed from the Mohican to the Vandalia until the regularly detailed commandant of marines could report. He expected to be transferred to the Mohican when the Vandalia fell in with that vessel.

Paymaster's clerk, John Roach, was the brother of James Jeffreys Roach, the poet, who is associated with John Boyle O'Reilly on The Boston Pilot. Mr. Roach's home is at Ilion, N. Y.

The wife and child of Paymaster Arms reside at the Crawford house, in New London, Conn. Paymaster Arms was born in Connecticut. He was appointed acting assistant paymaster in 1864. He served on the Tuscorora and Terror, and was commissioned paymaster in 1871.

Another Ocean Disaster.

LONDON, April 1.—The Ostend passenger steamer Comtesse Flanders was run into at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon off Dunkirk by the Belgian mail steamer Princesse Henriette. The captain, first lieutenant, nine of the crew and three passengers of the Comtesse Flanders were drowned. The Flanders was cut in halves and the forepart sank immediately. The Henrietta, after rescuing the remainder of the ill-fated vessel's crew and passengers, fastened a line to the afterpart of the ship and began towing it toward Ostend. It soon capsized, however, and sank. Among the rescued passengers of the Flanders was Prince Jerome Bonaparte. A dense fog prevailed at the time of the disaster.

When with some soap a salesman bold
Comes in your place to there unfold
His samples, and proceeds to say:
"This equals, sir, in every way
The IVORY; 'tis made in fact
By the same formula exact;
'Tis just as white, indeed the man
Who makes this soap by perfect plan,
Has made the IVORY o'er and o'er
For Procter & Gamble heretofore.
Besides, this soap brings to the till
More profit than the IVORY will"

He means to use by such a game,
Your reputation and good name
A fraud or counterfeit to sell
Of what is known and proven well.

This means his soap will never go
On its own merits fast or slow;
And you, like him, the truth must toss,
Clean overboard, or sell at loss. [land
It means still more, that throughout the
The IVORY SOAP'S in great demand,
For none chase with imitations frail
An article that has no sale.
And who for counterfeit will pay
The price of genuine goods to-day?
Then whence can the advantage flow
Or how can you "more profit" know?

Reply to all who do intend
To use you thus to gain their end;
"When you for your own soap create,
Upon its worth demand as great
As IVORY SOAP this day can claim,
I'll buy, should trade require the same:
But have no time, I tell you true,
To introduce your soap for you,
And customers perhaps offend
With goods I fear to recommend."

Don't buy the soap that salesmen say:
"Is like the IVORY every way,"
For grocers can this tale unfold
Of every hundred cakes they sold
On seventy-five a loss they bore,
Or else it ne'er had left their store.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and Insist upon getting it.

A Single Robber "Holds Up" a Bank President,

AND GETS CLEAR WITH $21,000

In Broad Daylight and in the Midst of the Bank Employes—Startling Nerve of the Perpetrator—He Forces the President to Do His Will at the Muzzle of the Revolver, Coolly Indicating the Kind of Money He Wants, and Then Disappears.

DENVER, March 30.—A robber entered the First National bank here at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, "held up" the officers and robbed the paying teller of $21,000. The cashier gives the following account of the robbery:

Thursday morning, just after the bank opened a well dressed man with light mustache and complexion, and of medium height, walked into the bank and asked Assistant Cashier Ross Lewin where he could see Mr. Merritt Moffatt, president of the bank. Mr. Lewin informed him that he could see Mr. Moffatt, who is also president of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, at the president's office in the Cheeseman block. Nothing more was seen or heard of the stranger till yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, when he entered the railroad office and asked to see Mr. Moffatt on important business. He was admitted to Mr. Moffatt's private room and briefly stated that he had discovered a conspiracy whereby the First National bank was to be robbed of a large amount of money. Mr. Moffatt told the man that he was very busy at that moment, but would be pleased to meet him at his private office in the bank at 1 o'clock. With this the man left the building.

A few minutes after the hour appointed he called at the bank and was shown into the president's office. While remaining standing he inquired if the cashier, S. N. Wood, was in and was told that he was at lunch. He then asked for a blank check for the purpose of showing how the robbery was to be perpetrated. The check was handed to him. He laid it upon the desk in front of Mr. Moffatt and said:

"I will have to do this myself," and pulling a large revolver from his coat placed it at Mr. Moffatt's head, and in a decidedly earnest but unexcited manner said:

"I want $21,000 and am going to have it; I have considered this matter and the chances I am running and the consequences if I fail and am arrested. I am penniless and a desperate man, and have been driven during the past week to that point where I have considered suicide as the only means of escape from the poverty and misery in which I exist. You have millions. I am determined to have what I have asked for. If you make a noise, call a man or ring a bell I will blow your brains out, and then blow up the building and myself with this bottle of nitroglycerine [pulling a bottle from his pocket]. Now take your choice."

Mr. Moffatt started to argue with the man, but was stopped with the information that it was useless, and that he had but two minutes to fill out the check before him for $21,000 if he desired to five. Mr. Moffatt, seeing no alternative, filled out the check, and was then ordered to take it to the paying teller and get it cashed. Mr. Moffatt left his office, and the man behind him with the revolver partially concealed under his overcoat and the muzzle almost against Mr. Moffatt's back, marched the president behind the counter and up to Paying Teller Keeley, with the request that the check be immediately cashed. They then remarched into Mr. Moffatt's office without attracting the attention of the fifteen or twenty clerks who were busy at work within two feet of where they passed.

After they had remained in the private office three or four minutes the robber informed Mr. Moffatt that they were wasting time, and that he had better step to the door and motion the paying teller to come to him, which he did. Mr. Moffatt ordered Keeley to bring the money into his office, and as Keeley turned to go away the robber told him he wanted twenty $1,000 bills and $1,000 in gold. The money was brought in and handed to the robber, who backed out of the room door, raising his hat as he reached the curbstone. He then walked around the corner and disappeared. The detectives have as yet been unable to find any trace of the man. Mr. Moffatt is prostrated by the shock.

The robber introduced himself as C. J. Wells. After the alarm was given a man who had been seen walking rapidly from the vicinity of the bank up Sixteenth street was followed to a room in the Hallock & Howard block, where he was arrested with two companions, but on seeing him Mr. Moffatt said that he was not the robber, and it was soon learned that the prisoner was a well known business man named Clark. He and his companions were released.

A reward of $2,500 has been offered by the police for the arrest of the robber, who is described as follows: Age, 32 years; height, 5 feet, 8 inches; complexion, swarthy; weight, 140 pounds; heavy brown mustache; badly sunburned; derby hat; light brown overcoat; long linked, plated watch-chain. There is much excitement over the affair.

Up to 11 p. m. yesterday there had been no developments in the case. The robber seems to have disappeared as if swallowed up by the earth. Cashier Wood and Teller Keeley can give no very clear description of the man or of what occurred, as they saw nothing to particularly attract their attention. The police have but slight clues to work on.

GET READY FOR OKLAHOMA.

The Two Million Acres To Be Opened for Settlement April 22.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 28.—The long-expected proclamation opening the lands in Oklahoma, which have been the cause of so much booming for the past few years, was issued by the president yesterday, but unless identification is impossible it will bring little comfort to those who have camped on claims, staked them out and taken other measures to make sure of their farms; for the last paragraph of the proclamation—in accordance with the act of congress under which it was issued—takes pains to call attention to the clause of the act with reference to boomers, in the following words:

"And warning is hereby again expressly given that no person entering upon and occupying said lands before said hour of 12 o'clock noon on the 22d day of April, 1889, hereinbefore fixed, will ever be permitted to enter any of said lands or acquire any rights thereto, and that the officers of the United States will be required to strictly enforce the provision of the act of congress to the above effect."

August Weineke, of Seymour, Ind., had his arm sawed in two Tuesday by falling on a circular saw.

THE TRIUMPHAL ENTRY.

LESSON I, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 7.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xi, 1-11—Commit Verses 8-10—Golden Text, Zech. ix, 9—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

1. "And when they came nigh to Jerusalem, unto Bethpage and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives." After healing the blind men as He passed through Jericho, He tarried at the house of Zaccheus, and spoke the parable of the nobleman and his servants, in which He taught them that the kingdom of God would be postponed till He should return from the far country. Arriving at Bethany we find Him at supper in the house of Simon the Leper, Martha, Mary and Lazarus all being present, and Mary anoints Him beforehand for His burial. (Luke xix, John xii.) Then follows this lesson, in which we see Him fulfilling the prophecy written in Zech. ix, 9, for He came to fulfill the law and the prophets, to fulfill all righteousness. (Matt. v, 17; iii, 15.) He is now in the last week of His earthly ministry, generally called Passion Week, and is about to present Himself to His people, the Jews, as their king, for the last time. As we see Him, anointed with the Holy Spirit, going about doing good, we are apt to think of Him only as Jesus our Saviour, on His way to the cross, showing forth in His life the love and power of God; but if we would understand the Scriptures we must not lose sight of this great fact that He is Israel's Messiah and as such is ever fulfilling before their eyes the Scriptures of their prophets, that they may be without excuse for rejecting Him; and that since their rejection of Him as their king, and His consequent setting them aside as His people for a time, He is now in the interim between Daniel's sixty-ninth and seventieth week gathering out from Jew and Gentile that new company, the one body, His church—a mystery kept secret from the foundation of the world, but revealed unto the apostles. (Eph. iii.)

2. "Go your way into the village over against you." Very often our work is just at our hand in our own house or town or village, or among those nearest to us, and if we are unwilling to do the next thing, or reject the opportunity nearest to us, because perhaps it is a small one, He may see fit to give us nothing else to do, and we stand idle or vainly seeking work agreeable to us, because we will not do that which He has appointed. When the workmen under Nehemiah rebuilt the walls of Jerusalem it is written again and again that certain ones repaired "by his house" or "over against his house or chamber." (Neh. iii, 10, 23, 28-30.) "As soon as ye be entered into it." How often it is that as soon as we start forth in His Name ready to do whatever our hands find to do, we find the work all ready for us and nearer to hand than we thought.

"Ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat; loose him and bring him." While Mark and Luke mention only the colt, Matthew mentions the two animals "an ass and a colt with her." Just as Samuel could, by the Spirit of God, tell Saul whom he would meet that day, and what each one would have, and say, and do (I Sam. x, 1-7), so the same Spirit in Jesus Christ knew just where those animals would be found tied; for the Spirit of God is perfect in knowledge (Job, xxxvi, 4) and He is in every true believer to teach us all things (John xiv, 17, 26).

3. "Say ye that the Lord hath need of him." In one sense He needs not anything, seeing that He giveth to all life, and breath, and all things (Acts xvii, 25), but he is pleased to use weak and foolish things in accomplishing His purposes if He only finds them willing and ready to His hand. Does not the readiness of the owner of these animals in surrendering them to the Lord so cheerfully, and the readiness of Simon to let Jesus have the use of his boat and to wait upon Him (Luke v, 1-10) rather rebuke us for our oft unwillingness to place ourselves and all that we are and have at His disposal?

4. "They went their way, and found the colt tied by the door without, in a place where two ways met." Luke says, "They found even as He had said unto them." (Luke xix.) We will always find it, both in this world and in the world to come, just as He says; and there is no way we can honor Him like believing and obeying His word without questioning. "I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me" (Acts xxvii, 25), is a grand life motto for every Christian, remembering also the blessings upon those who believe (Luke i, 45; John xx, 29).

5, 6. "They said unto them even as Jesus had commanded." Where the word of a king is there is power (Eccl. viii, 4), and when we go in His name bearing His message, we have only to speak His word faithfully, and it will not return to Him void. (Gen. xxiii, 28; Isa. lv, 11.) The results which He intends to accomplish are sure to come; the responsibility of the messenger is to get the message correctly and deliver it plainly and faithfully in His name. As these two men sought something for Jesus and for His use, so we are to seek souls and results, not for ourselves, but for Him whom we serve.

7. "They brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him; and He sat upon him." There were two animals and two men; why did the men not bring the asses riding upon them? That would have been appropriating to their own use that which they had obtained for their Lord.

8. "Garments—and branches—strewed in the way." These tokens of submission and adoration on the part of the people, which was so short lived, point us to the time when all things shall be subdued unto Him (I Cor. xv, 28), and they also seem to ask us, What does your submission and adoration amount to? Is it sincere, permanent and increasing?

9. "Hosanna; Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." These words are found in Ps. cxviii, 25, 26, the first word being made up of two Hebrew words signifying "Save now I beseech thee." In the same psalm we find it written, "The stone which the builders refused is become the headstone of the corner," and when the headstone shall be brought forth with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it (Zech. iv, 7), then shall this song of praise be sung, not as it was that day, but sincerely. His own words to them a little later in the week were "Behold, your house is left unto you desolate, for I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord" (Matt. xxi, 38, 39).

10. "Blessed be the kingdom of our father David, that cometh in the name of the Lord; hosanna in the highest." An everlasting kingdom had been promised to David (II Sam. vii, I Chron. xviii, and the promised messiah was to set upon his throne.

11. "And Jesus entered into Jerusalem, and into the temple." Matt. xxi, 14-16, tells us that the blind and lame came to Him and were healed, that the children sang His praise, and that the Scribes and Pharisees found fault. The little children and the poor and needy are those who receive blessing from Him, while the proud, self satisfied, fault finding religious ones get nothing. Let us come to Him, realizing our need and our utter helplessness, and coming thus as little children we shall know of His fullness and exceeding grace.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. For sale by

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector; the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is wrapped.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by druggists generally in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you. It will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

DR. RANSOM'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The recent spring-like temperature has thawed out the village loafer, who congregates on the street corners, painting the walks with tobacco juice and interjecting uncomplimentary remarks about the lady passers-by. The nuisance has already become so great in some sections of Detroit as bring many complaints to the police.

Port Austin has gently hinted at sundry and divers times in the past that she's an excellent site for a summer resort, but now she speaks right out loud to that effect and in a convincing manner. Ye seekers after a cool spot in dog days take due notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

Milford Johnston, a Grand Ledge gentleman who once spent a season at Andersonville, is the owner of a couple of horn combs which he made while an inmate of that prison. They are said to be nicely carved, and the work helped to while away many a weary and hungry hour.

While many of the cities and towns of the state are struggling along with that friend that sticketh closer than a brother—a big debt. Traverse City doesn't owe a dollar; but has 2,300 big round ones in her city treasury. Happy Traverse.

Since Brother Slussar, of Mancelona, wheeled his editorial self over the half of Europe last summer on a bicycle tour, the novelty of such a trip seems to be hitting the editorial fraternity amidships. J. C. Beal, of The Ann Arbor Courier, is the first Michigan editor to announce his intention of "following suit," this season.

A lady who has lived near Jackson for the past twenty-four years, recently made her first visit to a dry goods establishment in that city, having successfully resisted the temptation to do so for nearly a quarter of a century. Where, oh where, is Barnum and his curiosities gathered from the four quarters of the globe, compared to a woman like this.

A new scheme is being agitated in several sections of the state to determine the selection of postoffice aspirants. The plan is to let the patrons of each office decide by ballot whom they desire, the fellow getting the most votes to capture the prize. Several towns have already expressed their preferences in this manner.

John Jordon, a Shiawassee county ruralist, has twelve children, all of whom live at home. John evidently believes in having plenty of company of his own.

East Lawas public schools have been closed on account of scarlet fever.

The Manistee & Northwestern railway is being headed for Traverse City, which place will be reached some fine day in the sweet bye-and-bye.

Grand Rapids is bound to have water gas, the city council having passed an ordinance relating thereto over the mayor's veto.

Michigan has eighty-four prosecuting attorneys, but it is claimed the attorney for Wayne county and his two assistants handled more cases last year than the otuer eighty-three. Detroit's criminal business seems to be on the boom.

A Fort Gratiot chap has sought the balmy breezes of the "sunny south," accompanied by a neighbor's wife. Both left families of children behind them, and each a much better half. Such are some of the folks that go to make up a very funny world.

Gladstone is that phenomenal upper peninsula city of two years growth that has so far outgrown her swaddling clothes that she's got to have a street railway, and that, too, as soon as men and money can build it.

The clothing of a little child of Mrs. Andrew Bentley, of Tustin, caught fire while that lady was calling at a neighbors, death resulting before the mother returned. The house also narrowly escaped cremation.

A saw mill and lumber conflagration at Bay City wiped out $100,000 worth of property for Smith Bros., and $30,000 worth for Hill Bros., of East Saginaw.

The tramp that assaulted a Tekonsha woman made a slight mistake, but by quick work in footing it he succeeded to avoid the hickory club and kettle of boiling water that would have been his portion had he loitered around in that latitude a few seconds longer.

The cigarette fiend is said to infest Grand Rapids churches Sunday evenings. An alopathic dose of muscular Christianity might do 'em good.

Gen. Alger recently purchased 14,000 acres of Tennessee mineral and timber lands near Lookout mountain, paying $104,000 therefor.

A Detroit grand jury recently returned fifty-one true indictments, alleging criminal offenses. What's the matter with Detroit?

A Harrison man filled himself full of budge and then tumbled into a neighbor's well. When fished out several days later he was n. g., and that was the fix the water was in, too.

Detroit clergymen of the wet weather persuasion, recently met in conclave and solemnly declared against dancing, theater-going and "kindred dissipations." Now let's reform.

The auditor general's office of the Chicago and West Michigan Railroad company will be removed from Muskegon to Grand Rapids May 1, thus concentrating the general offices of the company at the latter city.

Samuel Havens, a Holly citizen, is in durance vile, charged with a criminal assault on a little school girl. There are Holly people who intimate that Samuel isn't quite as pure and spotless as an angel, albeit he's a fervent Methodist.

Fred Wilson was robbed in Port Huron by a couple of hack-drivers, and making complaint to the police, he was taken to the county jail, while the robbers were allowed to skip out unmolested. Is this the modern exemplification of justice by the power that be?

Middleville curiosity has been greatly exercised of late by the appearance in that rural retreat of a white-headed robin. But why in the world can't a robin have a white head as well as some specimens of the genus homo.

A couple of Battle Creek salesmen, who persisted in selling fanglefoot on Sunday, have taken a ninety-day recreative trip to the Detroit house of correction.

The trustees of St. Mark's church, Grand Rapids, are negotiating for the purchase of $12,000 worth of adjoining real estate to prevent the erection of a livery stable right under the eaves of the sanctuary.

A lamb with an owl's head is a freak of nature exhibited by G. W. Smith, a Woodstock gentleman. But, like the good little Sunday school boy, of whom we read, it died young.

Muskegon parties have organized a company for the purpose of working a marl bed near that city. How varied are the enterprises of life, engaging, as they do, the efforts and energies of men from a business like this to that of working a ward caucus.

It begins to look as if the East Saginaw street railway war would result in a permanent 3-cent rate, to which the people don't object in the least.

The estate of Ann Price, who died in Macomb county in 1855, is just being divided among her heirs, of whom there is a large number. The law granting the husband a life interest in a dead wife's property was repealed three days after her death which gave Mr. P. the use of the estate thirty-two years—hence the delay in the settlement.

A portion of a pail of butter that was lost in a Minden City well thirty-eight years ago, was recently recovered in a pretty fair state of preservation. For our own use, however, we'll take some Jersey creamery of the vintage of '89.

The Saginaws held out the largest bundle of financial inducements, and so captured the northeastern fair, which has had a home at Flint for several years past. Flint will now organize a fair association of her own and continue business at the old stand.

Gognac lake, the favorite summer resort for Battle Creek people, is to have an extensive sanitarium as soon as the necessary material can be put together.

The Michigan Millers' association, recently in session at Lansing, declared in favor of a law providing for a state grain inspector, and appointed a committee to make known their desires to the present legislature.

Reports from all portions of the state indicate an extremely short crop of maple sugar. But the great law of compensation will fly to our relief and enable the honest grocer to meet all demands for this healthful sweet.

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., March 27.—The single tax bill, based on Henry George's theories, was killed in the house yesterday by a vote of 68 to 10, and bills were passed incorporating the W. C. T. U. of this state and offering bounties for wolves killed. In the McElroy-Lindlow contested election case a report was made in favor of the Republican contestant, McElroy.

LANSING, Mich., March 28.—Yesterday in the senate was devoted to arguments in the Dickerson-Rentz election contest. No decision was reached. In the house the Lindlow-McElroy case was decided by giving the seat to the latter, a Republican. Both houses adjourned for a week to allow members to do election work.

Halstead Has Nothing to Say.

CINCINNATI, April 1.—A representative of the United Press called at the residence of Mr. Halstead Saturday afternoon and was told that Mr. Halstead was too ill to be seen. A message was sent him saying that news had been received from Washington that he might be interested to learn. The bearer of the message returned, saying that Mr. Halstead was not interested in any news from Washington. Then a note was sent to the sick-room stating that the senate had rejected Mr. Halstead's nomination. This answer was returned: "Mr. Halstead has nothing whatever to say about anything the senate has done."

Little Boy Mysteriously Killed.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Little Jimmie Jordan, only 4 years old, was given a penny by his mother Friday to buy some matches. He went out and was seen no more until the dead body was found in the wood shed with a 22-calibre bullet in his brain. It passed through a window in the shed and entered from the back. There is not the slightest clew to who did the dreadful work, but the opinion is that it was one of these didn't-know-it-was-loaded accidents, and that the perpetrator ran away when he saw the fatal result of his wicked idiocy.

Prairie Fires in Dakota.

HURON, D. T., April 1.—Terrible prairie fires are reported from all parts of the county between here and Cavour on the east and for several miles north of that place. The country is almost entirely burned over. Many farms have suffered the loss of houses, barns, hay, and grass. South and southwest of the city settlers have suffered equally as much. The velocity of the wind was forty miles an hour, driving the flames with fearful rapidity. It was the most destructive fire in the county for years, and it is feared the worst has not been learned.

Ashton Whips Lannon.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 1.—Jack Ashton and Joe Lannon fought at Burrelville, twenty-five miles from here, at an early hour Saturday morning. The fight resulted in a victory for Ashton. The articles called for only eighteen rounds, but through a misunderstanding another was called by the referee Frank Moran of Bridgeport, Conn. The battle was with two-ounce gloves for a purse of $1,000, all of which went to the winner. John L. Sullivan was present, alternating coaching both men.

All on Board, Except Two, Lost.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., April 1.—Letters from Capt. Dunham, of the whaling schooner W. A. Grossier, report her arrival at St. Vincent, W. I., having on board two sailors of the Boston bark Albert Russell, New York for Australia, which had been wrecked, the rest of the crew and the captain's wife and two little girls being lost. The two men rescued had been on a raft thirteen days with very scanty food. They had suffered terribly, and one of them will die.

Costly Blaze in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Originating in a six-story building on Clinton street, between Lake and Fulton streets, fire caused a loss of about $350,000 Friday night. The building was occupied by S. A. Maxwell & Co., manufacturers of wall paper; J. T. Hare & Co., printers and lithographers; the Dean Rattan company, the Illinois Watch company, the Danville Stove company, and J. T. Blatchford & Co., manufacturers of white lead and oils.

Japs on an Inspection Tour.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 1.—Prince Takihihito, Lieut. Yashi and Lieut. Baba, all of Japan, paid a visit to Cramp's ship yard Friday and inspected the Vesuvius. The visitors were greatly delighted with the visit, but though pleased expressed no surprise. The party goes to Washington next to visit their legation and call on President Harrison.

Big Blaze at Bay City, Mich.

BAY CITY, Mich., April 1.—In a fire here Friday afternoon 1,200,000 feet of lumber on the Myers mill dock was burned. The lumber was owned by Mosher & Fisher and Tously & Turrier jointly. One hundred and fifty feet of dock was also burned. Loss, nearly $30,000; well insured. An earlier fire burned Bertsche's extensive hog-pens, six miles east of here, with 100 large hogs and 2,000 bushels of corn. Loss over $5,000.

A Church and Hotel Burned.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 1.—A special to The Post-Express from Corning, N. Y., says: At 2:10 o'clock Saturday morning the American hotel, a three-story frame structure, was burned. The inmates escaped. Flying sparks an hour after caught on the roof of the Episcopal church, and in the morning only the walls and bell tower were standing. Loss $30,000; insured.

The treasury department at Washington City has decided that cold weather cannot be considered rainy or stormy weather within the meaning of the general regulations relating to time allowances in the discharge of cargoes of perishable merchandise.

Edwin H. Terrell, of Texas, to be minister to Belgium; John T. Abbott, of New Hampshire, to be minister to the Republic of Colombia.

BRITANNIA BEREAVED.

John Bright, the Friend of Liberty Called to His Rest.

LONDON, March 28.—John Bright died at 8:30 yesterday morning at Rochdale. His strength was so slight he was unable to rally from the relapse which began last week, and he continued to fail gradually until the end came, painlessly and quietly, as if he was sinking into a peaceful sleep. His four sons and three daughters, who had been hastily summoned when Mr Bright's alarming symptoms appeared Tuesday, were present at his death-bed.

JOHN BRIGHT.

The death of Mr. Bright leaves a vacancy in the parliamentary representation, for the central division of Birmingham. Mr. Bright was last returned as a Liberal Unionist, unopposed. The district, which was created in 1885, when Birmingham was split up into seven single-membered divisions, has never been polled on the home rule question.

Double Hanging in Tennessee.

LEBANON, Tenn., March 28.—Mack Francis and James Turner were hanged at 12:23 yesterday afternoon for the murder of Lew Martin last summer. They showed a great deal of bravado, and confessed their guilt after mounting the scaffold. Francis struggled much, but Turner died instantly, his neck being broken. The execution was private, but a large number of people stood around the gallows.

Received a White-Cap Warning.

GALENA, Ill., March 29.—A temperance revival under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance union has been in progress in this city during the past week. Thursday the orator, Jack Warburton, of Milwaukee, received a lurid notice signed "Galena White-Caps," giving him forty-eight hours to leave town in. Warburton announces his intention to stay and "see it out." The saloon keepers are not thought to be responsible for the outrage.

A Victory for the Jesuits.

OTTAWA, Can., March 29.—The Jesuit disallowance act has been rejected by a vote of 175 out of a house of 201 members, the largest majority secured on any measure since the confederation. It is regarded as a crushing defeat to the Orange party.

The Public Debt Reduction.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 1.—It is estimated at the treasury department that the reduction in the public debt for the month of March will be $12,500,000.

Ben Reynolds, auctioneer.

OLD HUTCH'S SECRET.

B. P. Hutchison, better known as Old Hutch, astonished the world by the manner in which he manipulated the Chicago wheat market—making, 'tis said, the enormous sum of $5,000,000, on his wheat deals, in less than a month. Eccentric; possessed of little education, his success seemed marvellous!

His friends and those who know him best were not surprised.

A prominent resident broker of Chicago, who knows him well, tersely sums up Hutchison in these words: "What he knows, he knows well, and that's Old Hutch's secret.

We once heard a prominent stock operator, speaking of Jay Gould, remark: "He knew a year ago what the balance of us are just finding out. Gould knows his business thoroughly and we don't, else we, too, would be Gould.

A noted manufacturer of certain medicinal remedies has achieved a world-wide reputation simply because he possesses a thorough knowledge of his business.

Enterprising and progressive, he was not disposed to rest content with the introduction of the only genuine remedy for the prevention and cure of all kidney and liver disorders, the name and character of Warner's Safe Cure being familiarly known in every household throughout the civilized world—but he concluded to further benefit the world and revive some old fashioned remedies which have, for a period, been lost.

Re-discovered, they are the oldest, the newest and the best.

Used when the Pilgrim Fathers landed, they have been much improved upon and are now known as "Warner's Log Cabin Remedies." Chief among them being "Log Cabin Sarsaparilla," for the blood, and "Log Cabin Hops and Buchu Remedy," a tonic and stomach remedy.

Old Hutch's secret is worth its millions of dollars to him, and millions of people in the United States will rejoice that they are now enabled to secure the best of those old-time Log Cabin Remedies through the use of which our grandparents attained and enjoyed rugged, healthy old age.

The result in Macon was mixed, both parties electing a portion of their ticket by small majorities.

The Misses Florence and Minnie Tompkins of Adrian, were the guests of Edith Ingersoll laft week.

The administrator of the Frank Silvers estate, Thos. R. Kyle, has fixed on Wednesday, April 10th, as the date of the auction sale of the stock and property belonging to the estate. The sale will begin at 10:00 o'clock A. M. and continue until all the property is disposed of.

On Thursday, April 4, we shall begin the publication of a new serial story entitled The Great War Syndicate, by Frank R. Stockton. It will be the best serial story ever published in these columns, and we consider ourselves very fortunate in having been able to obtain it.

"This is truly a horrible Mr. Hyde that the transformation of the moral and the physical man gives us, and while the outward appearance of this dwarfed and gnarled monster is repulsive and hideous to the extreme, the horror does not end here, for there is revealed as if by some psychic trick so black, so awful a picture of the moral man that one is glad when the end is come, and the curtain falls upon "the thing prone and dead upon the carpet."—New York Herald.

The demand for the portraits of President and Mrs. Harrison is unprecedented. Two very fine etched portraits on one plate, 16x22, of Gen. and Mrs. Harrison, published at the home of the president, by M. R. Hyman, publisher of the Indianapolis Herald, are meeting with especially large sales. Agents are wanted in every town in the Union. Send 25 cents for sample portraits and terms to agents to Any one desiring an office or house safe, both fire and burglar proof should examine into the merits of the Victor. Prices and discriptive circulars can be obtained by calling at the HERALD OFFICE.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH., APR. 4, 1889

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

J. W. Wightman was at Traverse City Monday.

Chas. Cummins of Chicago was in town over Sunday.

Miss Maude Eccles returned from Chicago Saturday.

For sale, a piano, cheap, terms easy.
A. W. SLAYTON.

J. W. Ayers has bought a farm in Clinton co., and moved his family there this week.

Frank Snedicor is nicely settled in his new quarters and would be pleased to have his friends give him a call.

The Presbyterian young folk's social last Thursday evening was largely attended and a very interesting program was given.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy C. Blood arrived in town Tuesday and will spend the balance of this week with old friends here.

The W. C. T. U. are now having a series of monthly socials at the houses of the members. The last one was held Friday afternoon at the residence of Dr. O. Q Jones, and was a very enjoyable affair.

All Fool's day proved a very happy one in Em. Doke's household. His wife presented him with a daughter that morning, and he got elected to the lucrative and honorable office of constable the same day.

Mrs. S. E. V. Emery, of Lansing, gave a lecture before the Union Labor Club last Thursday evening Mrs. Emery is a very pleasing speaker and she gave a vigorous lecture, touching on the financial and labor questions. Every voter in Tecumseh ought to have heard it.

The meeting of the M.E church Alliance last Saturday and Sunday proved to be a very interesting occasion. The unpropitious weather on Sunday interfered with the attendance somewhat, but the program as previously arranged was presented in full.

Chas. Keysor has employed F. A. Lakins and D. E. Lochlin of Jackson, to run the chairs in his barber rooms. They are both first-class tonsorial artists, and Charlie has been very fortunate in securing such good help. Mr. Lakins is a married man and has moved his family into one of A. W. Slayton's houses.

We call attention to the new card elsewhere of Lawrence & Co., who are putting a new stock of clothing into the vacant store west of Mark's drug store. Mr. Fred A. Lawrence, the managing member of the firm is interested in clothing stores at Toledo and Alpena. Mr. Lawrence proposes to carry a good stock and solicits his share of the public patronage.

We are indebted to S. E. Culbertson for a copy of the annual edition of the Aberdeen Daily News published at Aberdeen, Dakota. This is the principal railroad center of South Dakota and is making a big push for the capital of the new state. The paper is a 32 page six col. sheet and shows very fully the present wealth and future prospects of Aberdeen. It is a city that is bound to grow.

During the performance last Tuesday evening, Mr. Lewis took occasion to announce the coming of Mr. Geo. Ober in the the thrilling drama of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." It will be presented Wednesday evening, April 10, and Mr. Lewis assured our people, from a personal acquaintance, that Mr. Ober will not disappoint them He is the only one entitled to play that drama, except the noted Richard Mansfield, in this country.

Seldom has more interest been centered in a play in this village than the one of Tuesday night, and never was the play of Monte Cristo better presented at our opera house. Mr. Lewis in his triple role has a fine conception and a good voice, that held the audience throughout. If he ever returns to Tecumseh he will be greeted with a much larger house. The company carry their own scenery and the scene of the prisoner's escape into the sea was the most realistic one seen on our stage, the use of real water being a feature.

Frank Temple went to Saginaw Monday.

Mrs. Abbie Fisher and Gertrude went to Detroit last Tuesday.

L. H. Salsbury and W. H. Wiggins of Adrian were in town yesterday.

A. T. and M. telegraph instrument has been placed in the Lilley House.

Mrs. M. A. Freeman and Miss White started for Cleveland yesterday.

Will Bidwell and Al. Heesen attended a party at Britton Monday evening.

C. W. Hills of Jackson has lately placed two fine monuments in the village cemetery.

Claude VanTine started for Oscoda yesterday, where he has a position with a lumber firm.

A large crowd took the Lake Shore train for Detroit this morning to attend the flower show.

Phil Hendershot started for Omaha Neb, last Thursday to seek his fortune and grow up with the country.

The usual Baptist Social and Supper this week is omited, mainly on account of the Semi-Centennial exercises next week.

Burt Baker, Roy DeWolf, Claude VanTine and Lelma Stewart attended the Agasiz party, at Adrian Monday night.

Uncle Billy Nixon is probably the oldest voter in the village. Last Monday he completed his 58th consecutive year that he has voted in Tecumseh.

Dr. R. Stevenson of Adrian was in town Monday, in consultation with home physicians on the condition of Samuel McClure. He is very low and fears are entertained for his recovery.

Miss Minnie Pierson of North Adams, who has been visiting at Chas. Keysor's, started Wednesday for an extended trip through Canada and Northern Michigan.

Mrs. D. P. Spaulding is getting her green house in shape and now has a large stock of spring flowers in fine growing condition. She is better prepared than ever to furnish fine floral pieces for weddings, funerals and other special occasions.

On April 13th, at 7-30 P. M. there will be given an entertainment at Macon Grange Hall, consisting of music essays, recitations, dialogues and a wax figure show. The proceeds are to be used in buying paper and carpet for the Hall. Admission ten cents. All are invited.

The ladies of this place are cordially invited to attend the Mothers Meeting of the W. C. T. U. Friday Afternoon, April 5th, at 3 o'clock. Meeting will be held at their new room in the house known as the J. J. Adam place across the way from the Baptist Church, corner of Union and Chicago Streets.

Among those who attended the flower show at Detroit yesterday from this village were the following; Mrs. O. B. DeWolf and daughter. Mrs Jno, Jas. and Wm. Heck, Fred Rosacrans and wife, Mrs. I. C. Wolcott, Mrs. N. M. Sutton. Lucius Lilley, Mrs. L. P. Tribou, Jno. Orr and wife, Mrs. Al. Lawrence, Theodore Crane and wife.

The result in Raisin was mixed, but the Democrats got away with the principal offices. Below are the majorities:

Supervisor, Holdridge, D, 26.
Township Clerk, Chase, D, 18.
Township Treasurer, Holloway, D 3.
Justice, vacancy, Lester R, 4.
Justice, Spencer, R, 5.
High Com., Kainer, D, 19.
School Inspector, Rogers, R, 2.
Drain Com., Smith, D, no opposition, 350.

The play of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," that will be presented at the Opera House Wednesday evening differs from an ordinary dramatization in the fact that the story is so weird, so unnatural and withal so human that it is of absorbing interest. The changes made by Mr. Ober from the smooth polished Dr. Jekyll, a man of the world and gentleman, to Mr. Hyde, the nondescript image of humanity, is said to be worthy of the pencil of Dore.

We spent two hours at Dundee one day last week on a short business trip. Found Dr. J. B. Haynes hard at work leveling down the lawn in front of his new house. The new home is a beauty and he will have a fine place when completed. M. W. Goodrich has moved his restaurant and confectionery store into the old post office rooms below Gainsley's store, and is doing finely. Mr. Gainsley, also, is well located and seems to be building up a good trade. We made a brief call at Mrs. J. A. Stowell's and found the family all well. All the old Tecumseh residents in Dundee seem to be flourishing.

DR. FRED S. FULTON.

After a year of patient and heroic struggle against the advancing inroads of unrelenting disease, Dr. Fred S. Fulton in the very blossom of young manhood, surrendered to the Conqueror and sought the rest, that sooner or later is welcomed by us all. Tuesday afternoon the brave spirit fled the weary body and peace came to him. The sad news was announced in the last "Telegraph" and was read with sorrow by his many friends and acquaintances.

Dr. Fred S. Fulton was the son of Dr. S. J. and Mrs. Fulton, of this village, and was born in Toledo, Ohio, September 17th, 1857, and was therefore in his thirty-second year. He first came to Norwich in November, 1876, and soon made many friends among our young people. Having decided to pursue a liberal course of study, he prepared himself for college, without the aid of a tutor—an achievment that demonstrated his superior intellectual ability and power of application—and in the fall of 1878 entered Madison University, taking the Dodge prize for the best entrance examination. He won immediately a high rank in his class, which he maintained till he graduated in June, 1882, with the 3rd honor on the commencement scheme and a Phi Beta Kappa key.

After graduating, he decided to follow the practice of medicine and in the fall of 1882 entered the New York Homœopathic Medical College. He pursued his studies there with the same diligence and ability that he had shown in college, and graduated in 1885, taking the highest honors of his class and winning the one hundred dollar microscope prize, which is given to the student maintaining the best standing in his class during the whole course. Immediately after graduating from the medical school, he entered into a competitive examination and carried off the honor, which was the appointment of physician to the Hahneman hospital. He held this place successfully for a year and then resigned and opened an office on East 70th Street, New York. He soon was in the enjoyment of a large and lucrative practice. He won the esteem and confidence of the best medical men in the city and was regarded as one of the rising young physicians who would eventually stand in the front rank of the profession. His specialty was surgery; in this he showed great skill which was in demand not only in the city but in many adjacent places.

In the fall of 1886 when the Lanra Franklin Hospital was opened, he was appointed one of the surgeons. He gave it his faithful attention until one year ago. He also became connected with the North American Journal of Homœopathy and was elected one of its editors. A part of his duties as editor was to attend all medical society meetings, city, state and national, and make full reports of their procedings. He also won considerable fame by well written and exhaustive critiques and reviews of medical books and publications.

But in the midst of this useful activity and when the future seemed so bright and promising, indications of disease showed themselves. In the hope that rest would soon restore him to his wonted vigor, he gave up practice, severed his connection with the hospital, resigned his editorship and returned to Norwich, one year ago. For a time he seemed to improve, but as winter approached, he grew perceptibly weaker. As a last resort in January, accompanied by his brother, Rev. Charles A. Fulton, he took an ocean voyage to the island of Trinidad, stopping for a while at the island of Barbadoes. Upon the return voyage, acute Bright's disease developed. He arrived here on the 14th inst. and twelve days later closed his eyes on earthly scenes.

"God's finger touched him, and he slept."

In July, 1886, he was united in marriage with Bertrice J. Shattuck, daughter of John S. Shattuck, Esq., of this place, who survives him with two infant daughters.

The funeral was held from the residence of Mr. Shattuck, Thursday afternoon, and largely attended. The services were conducted by Prof. S. Burnham, D. D., of Madison University, one of his old professors and a warm personal friend. His remarks were peculiarly appropriate and were most consoling to the afflicted wife and the large circle of friends and relatives. The interment followed in our village cemetery.

THE TOWNSHIP ELECTION.

The annual town meeting, so far as Tecumseh was concerned, which occurred last Monday, was rather mixed. The introduction of a fourth ticket (the Union Labor) introduced a new element into the contest, and as this new organization changed the alignment of the old parties considerably, it produced a lively contest, for the result was extremely uncertain. There were several coalitions on the different tickets, the Republican ticket being the only one that contained no coalition candidate. The vote was unusually light, there being 630 votes cast against 705 one year ago. In the general shaking up the Prohibitionists and Democrats seemed to suffer the most loss, while the Republicans nearly held their own. This gave the Republicans comparatively a clean field and they elected their ticket except treasurer and one constable. Below we give the result in detail on both township and state tickets and the amendments. We have our own opinions as to what caused the remarkable shifting of party lines, and they are very decided too, but as every man has an equal privilege with ourselves in forming his opinions, we simply give the full figures and refrain from comment. Each voter can examine the returns and draw his own conclusions.

SEMI CENTENNIAL.

The Baptist church of Tecumseh will celebrate its Fiftieth Anniversary on Wednesday, April 10th, with appropriate services and social festivities. Public services will be held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock, and the program will embrace the following topics:

AFTERNOON.

Historical Sketch of the Church.
Historical Sketch of the Sunday School.
The Church in Mission Work.
The Church in Educational Work.
Reminiscences.

EVENING

Necrology.
Reminiscences.

It is hoped that several of the former pastors will be present. To all these exercises everybody is cordially invited.

The peculiar purifying and building up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla make it the very best medicine to take at this season.

D. R. GIBSON. TO THE FRONT.

I have them for sale: The following:

15 or 20 swarms of Bees, Italian; Hybrids and Black; in improved Langstroth Hives in fine condition and full of hatching brood; prices $4 to $6 per Colony with hives complete; also Eggs for hatching from four best Breeding Pens of Fancy Poultry in the State. Plymouth Rock's, Silver Spangled Wyandottes and two pens quadruple cross bred, crossed as follows: Langshan Plymouth Rock; Rose Comb Brown Leghorn, Black Spanish. These fowls are bright greenish black, iridescent, with mellow royal purple sheen; Rose Comb. Pen No. 1 have white ear lobes; pen No. 2, red ear lobes. Prettiest dark colored birds ever seen. Immense egg producers, have averaged 40 per cent more for last 2 years than any uncrossed breed that I ever tested. Eggs for hatching from all of above pens $1 for 15 eggs, now ready for delivery. This places thoroughbred poultry within the reach of all. Also a limited quantity of Strawberry, Raspberry and Blackberry Plants of the leading varieties, at lowest living rates. Also a fine double set of Carriage Harness, cheap has been used but a few times; also a good work horse (after April 20th), a good set work harness, a lumber wagon with box and rack, a pair of double and single bob sleighs. I will also furnish pure bred Italian queen bees during June, July and August at low prices; above my own rearing.

Cut this out for reference, as it will appear but twice. Call on or address D. R. Gibson, Proprietor Cold Spring Berry Farm, Apiary and Poultry yards Clinton, Mich., April 1st 1889.

MACON MUSIC.

The winter term of School closed on Friday last and there were a few exercises given by the scholars in the primary department. There will be a vacation of one week.

Will Smith of Chicago has been making his friends a short visit.

Persis Rymert returned from her visit to Bellevue last week.

Charles Morgan has been to Mason in search of a farm, but not finding any to suit him has decided to remain on the old homestead.

The monthly tea meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the home of the President, Mrs. Mary Pennington, on Friday last was largely attended and all present enjoyed a very pleasant time.

The L. T. L. will hold a social at the home of Mrs. R. Howell, one Friday evening of this week. There will be a program consisting of recitations and charades with plenty of music interspersed. All are cordially invited to attend. Coffee and doughnuts wil be served.

—Go to Harris & Hiteshu's for your spring hat.

—"B. and W." Ensilage or Fodder Corn should not be confused with the common southern corn that is usually sold as a fodder corn. "B. and W." corn is highly nutritious as well as enormously productive. There is no waste in feeding the well cured fodder to cattle and sheep. An eight acre crop of this corn ensiloed has been the principal food consumed by my herd of 30 to 50 Jerseys this winter, one-third of the ensilage yet unfed. It requires about three pecks of seed to the acre. Price $1.50 per bushel. For sale by John T. Clark, Clinton, M.

—Go to Harris & Hiteshu's to save money on all goods.

SONNET.

I saw her once, once only, long ago.
Yet now she often comes to me by night
Known by the hair, so silken soft and bright,
That veils warm cheeks where crimson roses throw
A tender flush o'er pallid lily snow.
She speaks not; only her golden head is light
Above my heart, that throbs with wild delight—
Dreaming she takes the love she cannot know.

Dear distant eyes, doth some sweet spirit voice
Breathe in thine ear, when slumber is most deep,
All I were fain to tell if we should meet?
And dost thou come, because the world is sweet,
By shadowy paths we tread not save in sleep,
To bid me trust the future and rejoice?

—Chambers' Journal.

ROBBERS' ROAD.

Way back, some thirty years agone, when our golden state was in a condition of lawlessness that has made it the scene of many a romance, in fact, in that epoch of California's history which corresponds closely with the Middle Age period in the history of the world, there was a stage route of some extent crossing an inland county, which had gained for itself the title of the "Robbers' Road." Like many another good old name and landmark, its appalling title has passed through a degenerative process, and now its origin lives only in the memory of a few white haired old pioneers, the remnants of the brave and doughty settlers, who cleave with the tenacity of despair to the tales of yore.

Important business complications necessitated my undertaking a journey through this portion of the state, where the depredations of highwaymen resembled the sudden swoop of feudal barons on itinerant hucksters and pilgrims, and where a heavy purse changed hands with the celerity with which the handkerchief of a puzzled spectator passes from his own pocket into that of the performing prestidigitator.

Though far from a coward, and inured to danger, as was any one who had made the perilous trip over mountain, plain and desert from east to west, I confess that it was with anything but pleasurable anticipations that I took my seat in the vehicle that carried the occasional mail.

I will digress here to say that my general habits are abstemious, while as to tobacco in particular—with the sole exception of the circumstance soon to be related—it has never in any form passed my lips, but I have found it by no means subversive of success with men to have always on hand a small supply of the article which constitutes the nectar and ambrosia of so many, and on this occasion, as on many others before and since, I had with me a pocket case of cigars and a large piece of what is called by the initiated, I believe, "navy plug," an article used for masticatory purposes, and recommended by its strength to the strongest palates. The position of the latter in my right hand lower waistcoat pocket is sufficiently important to the sequence of the narrative to warrant my particularity in asserting its exact location.

My only fellow traveler was a lady, to whom I had the felicity of an introduction previous to our departure, though the close proximity occasioned by the roughness of the road would have made that an entirely unnecessary formality. Truth compels me to state that she was neither young, pretty nor otherwise interesting, (all for the lovers of romance) and I, as I know that the good lady is now where no encomiums or their reverse could possibly affect her, I say this the more unrestrainedly.

To beguile the tedium of our journey, and for want of a better subject of conversation, I devoted my energies to blood curdling tales of bandits and highway outrages, partly true, but largely evolved from a fertile imagination, and told of "Three Fingered Jack" and "Bottle Nosed Billy," of their cruelty and cunning, and skillfully interlarded my stories with dark innuendoes and insinuations of our own peril.

I told how revolvers had been used as effective coercive agents in a variety of instances, and always as sufficiently "good considerations" in the transfer of property; how their horses outstripped the wind, and permitted them to take part in the stoppage of mail coaches miles apart; how their suspicion and greed prompted useless outrages; in a word, I succeeded in filling the wretched woman with the direst of forebodings, that worked her up to a pitch of terror that knew no bounds, and from thence on every shadow concealed for her some frightful shape, whose sole aim and object, she was firmly convinced, was her destruction, and these fears, try as I would, I was now unable to allay. Meanwhile our coach sped onward as rapidly as the nature of the road would allow, and we were soon plunged in entire darkness.

The only really valuable thing on my covoyager's person was a ring of brilliants of remarkable luster and purity, which would in itself have proved no mean prize to so particular a connoisseur in precious stones as Red Mike (for this was the euphonious appellation assumed by the chief unlicensed tax collector of those parts) was known to be—more particularly as it was darkly hinted that a well known San Francisco jeweler depended largely on this source for his supply of cut out unset jewels.

This ring Mrs. K— wore beneath her woolen gloves, but, affected by my tales of murder and robbery, the thing assumed in her eyes the shape of something that would goad men on to the commission of atrocities more dreadful even than those I had pictured.

Where to conceal the treasure she knew not; first she tried her boot, but recalled to mind my story of the party who had been hung up by the heels, and so considered that too insecure a hiding place; her pocket was equally unsatisfactory, though I believe that to the average man the mystery of the exact location of a woman's pocket is one no ages will reveal. At last, impelled thereto by the failure of all other means of concealment, she begged that I would find some method of preserving it, not so much on account of its intrinsic value and the fear of losing it, as lest tempted thereby our momentarily expected visitants might prosecute a too diligent search for further plunder, and finding nothing, revenge themselves on us for their disappointment. I verily believe that the idea of tossing it out of the stage window passed through her mind.

She had but just passed the ring to my hand, and I had involuntarily put my fingers with it into my right lower waistcoat pocket, when the ominous "Halt!" and that unmistakable steely "click click" of weapons sounded in our ears.

I suppose it must have been the fact of my fingers coming in contact with the tobacco in my pocket that begat within me the inspiration to convey to my mouth the ring and plug together, and bite from the latter a piece large enough to satisfy the most quid-loving of sailors. This I instantly began to masticate after the approved fashion of a backwoods justice, my cheek standing out as if affected with an acute attack of the mumps.

Both doors of our conveyance were opened simultaneously, and the lady shrieked amain as revolvers covered us on each side, and we were required to descend. But very few words passed.

Our assailants were four in number, not bad looking fellows on the whole, and while one kept his "gun" in too close proximity to my head for comfort, another ransacked my pockets and relieved me of the few valuables I carried. The same process would have been gone through with in the case of their other victim had her pockets been findable. As it was, she yielded up her pocketbook, ear rings and personal baggage with the docility of a tamed Katherine obeying the orders of her Petruchio. All the while I was expectorating with the vehemence of an engine vomiting forth smoke, but such a habit was too common in those parts to attract attention, and my cigars and tobacco had with the rest of my belongings already found their way into the possession of our warrantless searchers.

Perceiving that such documents as I carried were wholly valueless to them, and satisfying themselves that I carried no negotiable paper, they handed me back a cigar with an earnest admonition to forsake the tobacco habit (O, irony of fate!), and with the most courteous of apologies to the lady for the inconvenience they had been obliged to inflict, mounted and galloped off, leaving us not much poorer then they found us.

On regaining the stage, the feelings that had begun to creep over me during the search finally prevailed and overpowered me, and carefully conveying from my mouth to my pocket the filthy mass that concealed a jewel more precious than that supposed to be incased in the head of the fabled toad, I leaned my head far out of the window of the vehicle, now again on its journey, and regardless of everything, gave free vent to my pent up misery. Ye gods, how sick I was! My head seemed to be the crater of a volcano, and my stomach was the horrid interior which seethed and raged with a fury indescribable.

The rest of our way was pursued in quiet, but to this day I suffer at intervals and in fancy only, but with a wondertully natural vividness and poignancy, the agony and wretchedness of those few moments.

That constituted the only heroic deed of my life, and I am proud of it, yet I have since vowed that no tortures a highwayman could inflict could ever equal those occasioned by my first and only chew.—N. H. Castle in Overland Monthly.

Those Were Great Days.

An old time showman stood at the corner of Clark and Madison streets yesterday afternoon and gazed pensively at the big building across the way. To a friend who stopped and asked what he was looking at he said: "I used to run shows over where that building stands. It was a quarter of a century ago, too, and I can hardly realize the great change in such a comparatively short time. Old Trinity church, with its old fashioned porch and big pillars, used to stand there. Our first show was 'Solomon's Temple,' a model of that structure and its surroundings. During the war the old church was used as a barracks for the soldiers arriving and departing, and then we gave a wax works show of 'The Last Supper' and of John Brown and the conspirators. My partner and I were a little shabby at the time, having been in hard luck, and every morning we used to dress up in the clothes worn by Brown and the conspirators. At night we would dress up in the dummies for the show. John Brown used to get a different coat and vest every night, as we never remembered whose clothes we were wearing. Ah, those were great days!"—Chicago Herald.

Where Cow Bells are Made.

Collinsville, Ills., is a great place for cattle bells. That cow bells are made and do not grow on trees or elsewhere seems to surprise some people, but there are four establishments in the United States which are exclusively devoted to manufacture of that article, and two of these are in Collinsville. One hundred and fifty dozen are turned out daily and thousands of them dangle from the necks of unfortunate cows all over the prairies of North and South America. The manufacture of cow bells is entirely distinct from that of other bells. Instead of being molded the metal is rolled into sheets, cut into symmetrical polygons, which when folded are pressed into their well known form. Having been riveted they are next packed in clay and brought to a white heat. When suddenly cooled these steel bells are found to be not only tempered but also beautifully brazed.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Studying Nature.

"Ouida's" first work was sold for $250, and Mr. Tinsley says she was glad to get as much. He adds that how she obtained her close acquaintance with the manners and customs of those languid heroes, whose manners belong to the mess room, was by inviting young officers to her mother's house to dine and smoke. She would entreat them to "carry on" just as if no ladies were present, and while they took full advantage of her permission she noted their peculiarities for literary use in the future.—San Francisco Argonaut.

THE TREASURY SURPLUS.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 23.—The treasury surplus has been steadily increasing for several days past. It now amounts to $50,200,000, or $5,000,000 more than it was ten days ago. The increase is due to the great excess of receipts over disbursements since the first of the month. The receipts to date aggregate $23,200,000, while the expenditures during the same period amount to a little over $12,000,000, including about $2,000,000 paid out on account of pensions. Until recently the receipts and expenditures have been pretty well balanced by the purchase of bonds, but this method of applying the surplus has been considerably hampered of late by the light offering. The purchases have been confined to 4½ per cent. bonds, but this is partly due to the high price asked for the 4 per cents.

Secretary Windom has announced his purpose of continuing for the present at least the system of purchases adopted by his predecessor, and that he would willingly increase the purchases if the offers permitted it. He has been urged to resume the purchase of 4 per cents as a more profitable use of the surplus than the purchase of 4½ per cents. He declines, however, to make known his views on this subject beyond the statement that his policy as to the 4's must be determined by his treatment of the offers.

To Inspect Beef on the Hoof.

COLUMBUS, O., March 23.—The Braman house bill which provides for the inspection of beef on the hoof in this state passed Friday. Mr. Whittlessy of Portage county made a strong speech in opposition and wanted the bill amended. One of his amendments provided that the inspectors should be appointed by the township trustees and be required to give bond in $2,000 and another wanted the word "alive" stricken out. Mr. Reed wanted to make the duty of the inspector imperative and his amendment providing for this was adopted, as was also his amendment providing that the township trustees may appoint inspectors. The bill was passed by a vote of 56 yeas to 8 nays, the latter being Messrs. Buchanus, Countz, Forbes, Hart, Holcomb, Weems, Whitacre, Whittlessy.

Met Death While Traveling.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 23.—A passenger on an east bound Lake Shore train either jumped or fell from the train near Ripley Saturday morning. He was picked up dead and the body taken to Dunkirk. From papers found on him the man is believed to be Dr. Denison Tisdale, of east Des Moines, Iowa. He appeared to be about 60 years of age.

Spring Disorders

Shattered nerves, tired brain, impure blood, debilitated system, all are the natural outcome in the Spring. A medicine must be used, and nothing equals Paine's Celery Compound. We let others praise us—you cannot help believing a disinterested party.

Brigadier-General W. L. Greenleaf, Burlington, Vt., writes: "I have used Paine's Celery Compound on several occasions, and always with benefit. Last spring, being very much run down and debilitated, I commenced taking it. Two bottles made me feel like a new man. As a general tonic and spring medicine I do not know of its equal."

"I have used two bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound, and it has given entire satisfaction as an appetizer and blood purifier." T. L. Bassett, Watertown, Dakota.

MORTGAGE SALE.

BY a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date the first day of February, A. D., 1887, made and executed by Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr., of Ridgeway, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, to George Exelby of the same town, county, and state, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan on the 27th day of March, A. D. 1888, in liber 114 of Mortgages, on page 631, the said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr., mortgaged to the said George Exelby all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the township of Ridgeway in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan and described as follows, to wit: The south half of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section number ten (10), town six (6) south, of range five (5) east, containing twenty (20) acres of land more or less, being the same land this day conveyed by said George Exelby to said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr. Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage, whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, and there is claimed to be due and unpaid thereon at this date the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred and Sixty-seven and 57-100 Dollars ($1367. 57) and no suit or proceedings at law or in equity have been instituted to collect the same or any part thereof. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 6th day of May, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, said court house being the place of holding the circuit court for said county of Lenawee, to satisfy the amount now due, together with all legal costs and charges of this foreclosure.

Dated Feb. 1st, 1889.

GEORGE EXELBY, Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage (which become operative) bearing date the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887, executed and delivered by Thomas Savage to John Reiney and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lenawee County State of Michigan, on the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887 in Liber 117 of mortgages on page 430, upon which mortgage there remains due and unpaid at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Sixty six and 40-100 Dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to collect the same or any part thereof:

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon and costs of this foreclosure and sale including an attorney fee as provided by law, I shall on the 10th day of June, A.D. 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county is holden) all those pieces or parcels of land situate and being in the city of Adrian county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known and described as follows, to wit: Lots forty-one (41) and forty-two (42) on the plat of Farmer's addition to the city of Adrian, Michigan. Also beginning at northeast corner of lot number thirty-one (31), on original plat of the village (now city) of Adrian; thence southwardly on the east line of said lot thirty-one (31) twenty-four (24) feet, nine (9) inches to the north line of land deeded by Lucy E. Kase to Charles M. Croswell; thence westwardly on the north line of land of said Croswell sixty-seven (67) feet and six (6) inches to the east line of an alley; thence northwardly on the east line of said alley twenty-four and ½ (24½) feet to the north line of said lot thirty-one (31); thence eastwardly on said line sixty-seven and one-half (67½) feet to the place of beginning.

ESTATE OF DAVID HATCH.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 19th day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

On reading and filing the petition of Alfred Lewis, special administrator upon said estate, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid, that the heirs-at-law of said deceased have assigned and conveyed all their interest in the personal property belonging to said estate to Samuel Hatch, and that he has paid over to said Samuel Hatch all the property of every discription belonging to said estate that has come to his possession as such special administrator, and praying that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled, and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 15th day of April next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT of payment having been made of a mortgage made by John C. O'Neil and Jennie O'Neil to the undersigned, Albert Hyde dated the 25th day of October, A.D., 1887, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Lenawee County Michigan in Liber 102, of Mortgages on pag 676 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and owing at the date hereof for principal and interest the sum of Seventy-seven and 23-100 with the further sum of Three Hundred Dollars of principal with interest thereon accruing at seven per cent per annum since the 2nd day of October, 1888, hereafter to become due, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to recover the payment of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power and provisions in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such case made and provided for the purpose of realizing the moneys so as aforesaid due and owing on said mortgage together with interest to accrue thereon, and costs of this foreclosure and sale, including also an attorney's fee as provided by law subject to the lien of the said moneys hereafter to become due, I shall on the 22d day of June, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, Lenawee County, Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder all that parcel of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the southwest corner of lot five (5) on block ten (10) of Wm. H. Hoag's addition to the village of Tecumseh, running thence east on the south line of said block eighty-one and one-quarter feet; thence north parallel with the west line of said lot six (6) on said block ten (10) twelve rods to north line of said lot six (6); thence west on north line of said lots six and five to the northwest corner of said lot five; thence south on west line of said lot five twelve rods to place of beginning.

An interesting letter for Ladies:

Hastings Centre, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain,

MARY H. BEEMAN.

FRANK R. STOCKTON.

In the spring of a certain year, not far from the close of the Nineteenth century, when the political relations between the United States and Great Britain became so strained that careful observers on both sides of the Atlantic were forced to the belief that a serious break in those relations might be looked for at any time, the fishing schooner Eliza Drum sailed from a port in Maine for the banks of Newfoundland.

It was in this year that a new system of protection for American fishing vessels had been adopted in Washington. Every fleet of these vessels was accompanied by one or more United States cruisers, which remained on the fishing grounds, not only for the purpose of warning unwary American craft who might approach too near the three mile limit, but also to overlook the action of the British naval vessels on the coast, and to interfere, at least by protest, with such seizures of American fishing boats as might appear to be unjust. In the opinion of all persons of sober judgment there was nothing in the condition of affairs at this time so dangerous to the peace of the two countries as the presence of these American cruisers in the fishing waters.

The Eliza Drum was late in her arrival on the fishing grounds, and having, under orders from Washington, reported to the commander of the Lennehaha, the United States vessel in charge at that place, her captain and crew went vigorously to work to make up for lost time. They worked so vigorously and with eyes so single to the catching of fish, that on the morning of the day after their arrival they were hauling up cod at a point, which, according to the nationality of the calculator, might be two and three-quarters or three and one-quarter miles from the Canadian coast.

In consequence of this inattention to the apparent extent of the marine mile the Eliza Drum, a little before noon, was overhauled and seized by the British cruiser Dog Star. A few miles away the Lennehaha had perceived the dangerous position of the Eliza Drum, and had started toward her to warn her to take a less doubtful position. But before she arrived the capture had taken place. When he reached the spot where the Eliza Drum had been fishing the commander of the Lennehaha made an observation of the distance from the shore, and calculated it to be more than three miles. When he sent an officer in a boat to the Dog Star to state the result of his computations the captain of the British vessel replied that he was satisfied the distance was less than three miles, and hat he was now about to take the Eliza Drum into port.

On receiving this information, the commander of the Lennehaha steamed closer to the Dog Star and informed her captain by means of a speaking trumpet, that if he took the Eliza Drum into a Canadian port, he would first have to sail over his ship. To this the captain of the Dog Star replied that he did not in the least object to sail over the Lennehaha, and proceeded to put a prize crew on board the fishing vessel.

At this juncture the captain of the Eliza Drum ran up a large American flag; in five minutes afterward the captain of the prize crew hauled it down; in less than ten minutes after this the Lennehaha and the Dog Star were blazing at each other with their bow guns. The spark had been struck.

The contest was not a long one. The Dog Star was of much greater tonnage and heavier armament than her antagonist, and early in the afternoon she steamed for St. Johns, taking with her as prizes both the Eliza Drum and the Lennehaha.

All that night, at every point in the United States which was reached by telegraph, there burned a smothered fire; and the next morning, when the regular and extra editions of the newspapers were poured out upon the land, the fire burst into a roaring blaze. From lakes to gulf, from ocean to ocean, on mountain and plain, in city and prairie, it roared and blazed. Parties, sections, politics were all forgotten. Every American formed part of an electric system; the same fire flashed into every soul. No matter what might be thought on the morrow, or in the coming days which might bring better understanding, this day the unreasoning fire blazed and roared.

With morning newspapers in their hands men rushed from the breakfast tables into the streets to meet their fellow men. What was it that they should do?

Detailed accounts of the affair came rapidly, but there was nothing in them to quiet the national indignation. The American flag had been hauled down by Englishmen, an American naval vessel had been fired into and captured; that was enough! No matter whether the Eliza Drum was within the three mile limit or not! No matter which vessel fired first! If it were the Lennehaha, the more honor to her; she ought to have done it! From platform, pulpit, stump and editorial office came one vehement, passionate shout directed toward Washington.

Congress was in session, and in its halls the fire roared louder and blazed higher than on mountain or plain, in city or prairie. No member of the government, from president to page, ventured to oppose the tempestuous demands of the people. The day for argument upon the exciting question had been a long and weary one, and it had gone by. In less than a week the great shout of the people was answered by a declaration of war against Great Britain.

When this had been done those who demanded war breathed easier, but those who must direct the war breathed harder.

It was indeed a time for hard breathing, but the great mass of the people perceived no reason why this should be. Money there was in vast abundance; in every state well drilled men by thousands stood ready for the word to march, and the military experience and knowledge given by a great war was yet strong upon the nation.

To the people at large the plan of the war appeared a very obvious and a very simple one. Canada had given the offense, Canada should be made to pay the penalty. In a very short time 100,000, 200,000, 500,000 men, if necessary, could be made ready for the invasion of Canada. From platform, pulpit, stump and editorial office came the cry:

"On to Canada!"

At the seat of government, however, the plan of the war did not appear so obvious, so simple. Throwing a great army into Canada was all well enough, and that army would probably do well enough. But the question which produced hard breathing in the executive branch of the government was the immediate protection of the sea coast—Atlantic, Gulf, and even Pacific.

In a storm of national indignation war had been declared against a power which at this period of her history had brought up her naval forces to a point double in strength to that of any other country in the world. And this war had been declared by a nation which, comparatively speaking, possessed no naval strength at all.

For some years the United states navy had been steadily improving, but this improvement was not sufficient to make it worthy of reliance at this crisis. As has been said, there was money enough, and every ship yard in the country could be set to work to build ironclad men-of-war, but it takes a long time to build ships, and England's navy was afloat. It was the British keel that America had to fear.

By means of the continental cables it was known that many of the largest mail vessels of the British transatlantic lines, which had been withdrawn upon the declaration of war, were preparing in British ports to transport troops to Canada. It was not impossible that these great steamers might land an army in Canada before an American army could be organized and marched to that province. It might be that the United States would be forced to defend her borders, instead of invading those of the enemy.

In every fort and navy yard all was activity; the hammering of iron went on by day and by night, but what was to be done when the great ironclads of England hammered upon our defenses? How long would it be before the American flag would be seen no more upon the high seas?

It is not surprising that the government found its position one of perilous responsibility. A wrathful nation expected it more than it could perform.

All over the country, however, there were thoughtful men, not connected with the government, who saw the perilous features of the situation, and day by day these grew less afraid of being considered traitors and more willing to declare their convictions of the country's danger. Despite the continuance of the national enthusiasm, doubts, perplexities and fears began to show themselves.

In the states bordering upon Canada a reactionary feeling became evident. Unless the United States navy could prevent England from rapidly pouring into Canada, not only her own troops, but perhaps those of allied nations, these northern states might become the scene of warfare, and whatever the issue of the contest, their lands might be ravished, their people suffer.

From many quarters urgent demands were now pressed upon the government. From the interior there were clamors for troops to be massed on the northern frontier, and from the seaboard cities there came a cry for ships that were worthy to be called men-of-war; ships to defend the harbors and bays; ships to repel an invasion by sea. Suggestions were innumerable. There was no time to build, it was urged; the government could call upon friendly nations. But wise men smiled sadly at these suggestions; it was difficult to find a nation desirous of a war with England.

In the midst of the enthusiasms, the fears and the suggestions, came reports of the capture of American merchantmen by fast British cruisers. These reports made the American people more furious, the American government more anxious.

Almost from the beginning of this period of national turmoil, a party of gentlemen met daily in one of the large rooms in a hotel in New York. At first there were eleven of these men, all from the great Atlantic cities, but their number increased by arrivals from other parts of the country, until at last they numbered twenty-three. These gentlemen were all great capitalists, and accustomed to occupying themselves with great enterprises. By day and by night they met together with closed doors, until they had matured the scheme which they had been considering. As soon as this work was done, a committee was sent to Washington, to submit a plan to the government.

These twenty-three men had formed themselves into a syndicate, with the object of taking entire charge of the war between the United States and Great Britain.

This proposition was an astounding one, but the government was obliged to treat it with respectful consideration. The men who offered it were a power in the land, a power which no government could afford to disregard.

The plan of the syndicate was comprehensive, direct and simple. It offered to assume the entire control and expense of the war, and to effect a satisfactory peace within one year. As a guarantee that this contract would be properly performed, an immense sum of money would be deposited in the treasury at Washington. Should the syndicate be unsuccessful this sum would be forfeited, and it would receive no pay for anything it had done.

The sum to be paid by the government to the syndicate, should it bring the war to a satisfactory conclusion, would depend upon the duration of hostilities. That is to say, that as the shorter the duration of the war, the greater would be the benefit to the country, therefore, the larger must be the pay to the syndicate. According to the proposed contract, the syndicate would receive, if the war should continue for a year, one quarter the sum stipulated to be paid if peace should be declared in three months.

If at any time during the conduct of the war by the syndicate an American seaport should be taken by the enemy, or a British force landed on any point of the seacoast, the contract should be considered at an end, and security and payment forfeited. If any point on the northern boundary of the United States should be taken and occupied by the enemy, $1,000,000 of the deposited security should be forfeited for every such occupation, but the contract should continue.

It was stipulated that the land and naval forces of the United States should remain under the entire control of the government, but should be maintained as a defensive force and not brought into action unless any failure on the part of the syndicate should render such action necessary.

The state of feeling in governmental circles, and the evidences of alarm and distrust which were becoming apparent in congress and among the people, exerted an important influence in favor of the syndicate. The government caught at its proposition, not as if it were a straw but as if it were a life raft. The men who offered to relieve the executive departments of their perilous responsibilities were men of great ability, prominent positions, and vast resources, whose vast enterprises had already made them known all over the globe. Such men were not likely to jeopardize their reputations and fortunes in a case like this, unless they had well founded reasons for believing that they would be successful. Even the largest amount stipulated to be paid them in case of success would be less than the ordinary estimates for the military and naval operations which had been anticipated; and in case of failure, the amount forfeited would go far to repair the losses which might be sustained by the citizens of the various states.

At all events, should the syndicate be allowed to take immediate control of the war, there would be time to put the army and navy, especially the latter, in better condition to carry on the contest in case of the failure of the syndicate. Organization and construction might still go on, and, should it be necessary, the army and navy could step into the contest fresh and well prepared.

All branches of the government united in accepting the offer of the syndicate. The contract was signed, and the world waited to see what would happen next.

The influence which for years had been exerted by the interests controlled by the men composing the syndicate had its effect in producing a popular confidence in the power of the members of the syndicate to conduct a war as successfully as they had conducted other gigantic enterprises. Therefore, although predictions of disaster came from many quarters, the American public appeared willing to wait with but moderate impatience for the result of this novel undertaking.

The government now proceeded to mass troops at important points on the northern frontier; forts were supplied with men and armaments; all coast defenses were put in the best possible condition; the navy was stationed at important ports, and work at the ship yards went on. But, without reference to all this, the work of the syndicate immediately began.

This body of men were of various politics and of various pursuits in life. But politics were no more regarded in the work they had undertaken than they would have been in the purchase of land or of railroad iron. No manifestoes of motives and intentions were issued to the public. The syndicate simply went to work. There could be no doubt that early success would be a direct profit to it, but there could also be no doubt that its success would be a vast benefit and profit, not only to the business enterprises in which these men were severally engaged, but to the business of the whole country. To save the United States from a dragging war, and to save themselves from the effects of it, were the prompting motives for the formation of the syndicate.

Without hesitation, the syndicate determined that the war in which it was about to engage should be one of defense by means of offense. Such a war must necessarily be quick and effective; and with all the force of their fortunes, their minds and their bodies, its members went to work to wage this war quickly and effectively.

All known inventions and improvements in the art of war had been thoroughly considered by the syndicate and by the eminent specialists whom it had enlisted in its service. Certain recently perfected engines of war, novel in nature, were the exclusive property of the syndicate. It was known or surmised in certain quarters that the syndicate had secured possession of important warlike inventions, but what they were and how they acted was a secret carefully guarded and protected.

The first step of the syndicate was to purchase from the United States government ten war vessels. These were of medium size and in good condition, but they were of an old fashioned type, and it had not been considered expedient to put them in commission. This action caused surprise and disappointment in many quarters. It had been supposed that the syndicate, through its agents, scattered all over the world, would immediately acquire, by purchase or lease, a fleet of fine ironclads culled from various maritime powers. But the syndicate having no intention of involving, or attempting to involve, other countries in this quarrel, paid no attention to public opinion, and went to work in its own

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought untill we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Type-writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-writer Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and sounder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is baize covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine in position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table is so balanced near its center on patent malleable iron arms, that when the machine brought in place for use, it does not depend on ropes or hangers at rear of platform for support, but is held rigidly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be tumbled down an incline in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent slides which keeps the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk, well under the operator's hand.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustment makes the desk as rigid as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

Dinners and Manners 100 Years Ago.

As to our dinners and cookery: a century ago merchants and the middle classes generally dined at 3; "society" an hour later; but the artisan's chief meal still hung back at 1 o'clock.

Where a Frenchman ate—and still eats—more bread than meat, the Englishman naturally gave himself greater, perhaps because a more northerly, latitude in the matter of flesh. Our strictly island cookery, then as now, was simpler, admitted of less disguise than the French; and few cosmopolitans will, even in these modern days of wide and eclectic travel, withhold the suffrage of their palates from the London chop or steak off the ever-multiplying grid, or cry Oh! at the roast beef of England, except indeed it be in the chorus of Fielding's song.

Made dishes were unknown; and the pot, the gridiron, and the spit were almost the sole stock in trade of the women cooks. A ceremonious dinner rarely went beyond a couple of joints and some assiettes volantes, presumably what we used to call side dishes, consisting of vegetables, and (Yorkshire?) puddings; removed by a dessert of cheese or fruit according to the season.

The philanthropist praises enigmatically, the "whiteness" of the butcher's meat, which, for all that, was not so nutritive as that of Paris. Careme, no mean judge, thought differently; but the so much vaunted roast beef, the idol of the English, was easier of digestion than the French, being less compact. What he wanted to express, no doubt, was that it was not so tough.

The vegetables, fruit and salads were tasteless, and the cabbages, turnips and spinach near London tasted of the coal smoke which filled the air. Game, too, although abundant at 30 miles distant from London, was eaten on the spot in the country; that of Picardy being preferred in the capital; and we can quite believe it when we see the way in which the English farmer of the present day still allows himself to be driven to the wall by the fowls, eggs, dairy produce, and vegetables and fruits of the Continent.

Our dinner furniture included "round-handled two-pronged steel forks for carrying solid morsels to the mouth with the left hand, directly after each such morsel was cut with the right, which was constantly armed with a knife, and that knife broad and round-pointed, for use like a trowel, in taking up sauces, &c." For the Englishman did not ply his good knife and fork by awkwardly passing those weapons from hand to hand like other nations, and could thus be detected anywhere in Europe before he opened his mouth, at all events to speak.

The constant use of the knife in the right hand might, however, suggest to the ethnologist milder social manners in a race which could tolerate the custom without the apprehensions it would naturally evoke in a country where another and a lethal "use of the knife" was more common.—Westminster Review.

IT NEVER DID RUN SMOOTH.

An Unexpected Obstacle Interferes with Love's Young Dream.

"What did papa say when you asked him for my hand, Paul?"

"He didn't say anything, Annabel," replied the young man, nervously; "he didn't say a word. He just looked at me in a cold, hard way, and got down off the high stool and began to slide around the end of his desk. That's all he said, and I came away."

"But he would have spoken had you remained, Paul?"

"I mistrusted that he would, Annabel, and for that reason I fled. I am foolishly sensitive, and cannot endure harshness."

"I fear, dear Paul," said the girl tenderly, but with a weary sigh, "that you do not love me; that your heart has tired of me and grown cold, or that you have no sand. Pa is always on the bluff. He acted just that way to Will Kilburn, and when he came out from behind the desk Will landed one on his neck and taught him more sense. You weaken too easily, Paul. You have more guff than business."

And rising to her feet the girl passed away from his sight, a dreamy vision of summer loveliness and grace, fair as the morning, and all that day the heaviness of the young man's heart threw a melancholy cadence into his voice as he stood among the threads and sung at intervals plaintive snatches from the old, old song, "Ca-ish!"—Brooklyn Eagle.

ABSENT-MINDEDNESS.

A story used to be told many years ago of a merchant who was peculiarly subject to fits of absent-mindedness.

Once he was writing a letter, and thought, absent-mindedly, that he had forgotten his correspondent's first name. Turning to one of his clerks he said:

"What's John Jackson's first name?"

The clerk, accustomed to his employer's peculiarity, replied:

"John, sir."

The merchant wrote the letter, put it in an envelope and was again at a loss. To the same clerk he said:

A gentleman was met by a friend one morning recently hurrying back from the station toward his home.

"What's the matter?" the friend asked.

"Oh, I've left my watch under my pillow, and I'm going home to get it."

"You'll miss your train."

"Oh, no," was the reply; "see, I've got four minutes yet," and he pulled out his watch to enforce the statement.

The Folly of It.

"You want a position in my store, do you, Miss?" said the kind-hearted merchant. "You don't look as if you had had much experience in selling goods. I have only one place vacant now. It's in the soap department, in the basement, and the salary is only $1.75 a week. But my wife informed me this morning she needed another girl in her kitchen. If you would like that place she will give you $4 a week and a good home. Which would you prefer?"

"I'll take the soaplady position, sir," was the haughty reply.—Chicago Tribune.

The Foolish Virgins.

A Sunday-school teacher was explaining the parable of the ten virgins to her class, who were mostly boys.

When she had finished, she asked:

"Now, why were five of them foolish?"

"Because they didn't get married," said one of the boys.

A GREAT MAGAZINE.

The Century for 1889.

THE question has often been asked, "to what does The Century owe its great circulation?" The Christian Union once answered this by the statement that "it has been fairly won, not by advertising schemes, but by the excellence which characterizes it in every department." In their announcements for the coming year the publishers state that it has always been their desire to make The Century the one indispensable periodical of its class, so that whatever other publication might be desirable in the family, The Century could not be neglected by those who wish to keep abreast of the times in all matters pertaining to culture. And the unprecedented circulation of the magazine would seem to be the response of the public to this intention.

With the November number The Century begins its thirty-seventh volume. Two great features of the magazine which are to continue throughout the new volume are already well known to the public, the Lincoln history and the papers on "Siberia and the Exile System." The first of these, written by Messrs. Nicolay and Hay, President Lincoln's private secretaries, contains the inside history of the dark days of the war, as seen from the White House.

by George Kennan, are attracting the attention of the civilized world. The Chicago Tribune says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitally interests all thoughtful people in Europe and America and Asia." As is already known, copies of The Century entering Russia have these articles torn out by the customs officials on the frontier.

DURING 1889

The Century will publish the most important art feature that has yet found place in its pages. It is the result of four years' work of Mr. Timothy Cole, the leading magazine engraver of the world, in the galleries of Europe, engraving from the originals the greatest pictures by the old masters. A series of papers on Ireland, its customs, landscapes, etc., will appear, and there are to be illustrated articles on Bible scenes, treating especially the subjects of the International Sunday-School Lessons. George W. Cable will write "Strange, True Stories of Louisiana." There will be novelettes and short stories by leading writers, occasional articles on war subjects (supplemental to the famous "War Papers" by General Grant and others, which have been appearing in The Century), etc., etc.

The Century costs four dollars a year, and it is published by The Century Co., of New York, who will send a copy of the full prospectus to any one on request.

St. Nicholas for 1889.

PEOPLE who have the idea that St. Nicholas Magazine is only for young children should look over the prospectus of that magazine for 1889, and they will discover that it is for children of all ages, "from five to eighty-five," as some one recently said of it. Indeed, while St. Nicholas is designed for girls and boys, it might almost be called a "family magazine," for the grown-up members of a household will find much to interest them in every number.

The editor, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, calls the next volume an "all-round-the-world year," because it is to contain so many illustrated papers about the world in general—not dry geographical papers, but stories and sketches and tales of travel and adventure by land and sea—and all illustrated by the best artists. The features will include a serial story, "How We Made the Farthest North," by Gen. A. W. Greely, the well-known commander of the Greely Expedition; a serial about Canada, by Mrs. Catherwood, who is writing a serial story for The Century this year; "Indians of the Amazon," by Mrs. Frank R. Stockton. There are many papers about Europe, including a Christmas story of life in Norway, by H. H. Boyesen; articles on Holland and the Dutch, by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge; "The Queen's Navy," by Lieut. F. Harrison Smith, R. N., with illustrations of many of England's finest war ships; "The Winchester School," illustrated by Joseph Pennell; "English Railway Trains," by Wm. H. Rideing, etc., etc. The French papers include "Ferdinand de Lesseps and his two Ship Canals," and there are several interesting contributions on German, Italian and Russian subjects.

Under "Asia," comes "Boys and Girls in China," by Yan Phou Lee (a recent graduate of Yale); "Home Life in the East," by Mrs Holman Hunt, and a number of papers about Japan. Under "Africa" there is a sketch of Henry M. Stanley, by Noah Brooks, and several stories about Egypt. Australia is not forgotten, nor the islands of the sea, and there are even to be stories of under the sea.

Of course the bulk of the contents will relate to American subjects, as usual. Mrs. Burnett, the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," contributes a story of New York called "Little Saint Elizabeth." There will be papers describing how the government offices are conducted, papers about athletics, amateur photography, etc. The full prospectus will be sent free to any one who wishes to see it, by the publishers, The Century Co., of New York.

WARNER'S LOG CABIN COUGH AND CONSUMPTION REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists. 50c. and $1.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

DISEASE is the center of weariness. Use

WARNER'S LOG CABIN HOPS AND BUCHU REMEDY

Long-Standing

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alterative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured."—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. Tyron, (of Fernandina, Fla.,) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. I did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

A Model Newspaper

THE NEW YORK

MAIL AND EXPRESS

The Advocate of the Best Interests of the Home—The Enemy of the Saloon. The Friend of American Labor. The Favorite Newspaper of People of Refined Tastes Everywhere.

The New York MAIL AND EXPRESS, the favorite American newspaper of many people of intelligent and cultivated tastes, has recently made some noteworthy improvements, materially increasing its general excellence. It is in the broadest sense most carefully edited, and adapted to the wants and tastes of intelligent readers throughout the entire country—North, South, East and West. It is a thoroughly clean paper, free from the corrupting, sensational and demoralizing trash, miscalled news, which defiles the pages of too many city papers.

A National Newspaper,

OUR POLITICS.

We believe the Republican party to be the true instrument of the POLITICAL PROGRESS of the American people; and holding that the honest enforcement of its principles is the best guarantee of the national welfare, we shall support them with all our might; but we shall always treat opposing parties with consideration and fair play.

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The MAIL AND EXPRESS is the recognized National organ of the great Anti-Saloon Republican movement. It believes that the liquor traffic as it exists to-day in the United States is the enemy of society, a fruitful source of corruption in politics, the ally of anarchy, a school of crime, and, with its avowed purpose of seeking to corruptly control elections and legislation, is a menace to the public welfare and deserves the condemnation of all good men.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota—The great Prairie State, in which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three lines, reaching Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate produces the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. The Magnificent Dining Car in service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana the Golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 6,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile lands, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta Route or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonists sleepers of its own to from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington—The country of rail timbers, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers enroute for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Portland, Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific coast is the same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. I. Whitney Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt. St. P., M. & M. Ry., St Paul, Minn.

A. J. Monigan and sister Nellie, of Springville, were in attendance during the institute last week.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Clack of Pinkney, are visiting their sons, Will and Chas, and old acquaintances at present writing.

The ship timber teamsters completed drawing ship timber Tuesday, and have put upwards of 300 pieces in the depot yard ready for shipping.

Jennie Osgood began her spring term of school in the Chas. Henry district in Macon, on Monday morning.

Miss Franc Farrah took charge of the primary department of the school, Monday.

The attendance of candidates for examination at the Institute last week numbered upwards of forty, and a good interest manifested both days. There was a large attendance of visitors present, who were well pleased with the management and interest taken by all. Music was furnished by Miss Grayson of Tecumseh and Prof. J. T. Pugh of Adrian College, which did much to make everything pass off interesting and cheerful. On Thursday afternoon Prof. Brown of Brown's University, Adrian, gave an address on penmanship, that was highly appreciated by all.

On Wednesday of last week, the schoolhouse with all its fixtures, etc., in Dist. No. 5, were sold at auction and the district is remembered as a thing of the past.

While in Toledo last week we enjoyed a very pleasant visit with Frank Allen and wife. He has a very comfortable place for a home, on Huron street, and has his heart and hand in his work and is faithful to his trust. We, with his many friends are pleased at his success.

Notwithstanding the stormy night there was a large attendance at the entertainment given in connection with the institute last week. The program was carried out with success by all taking part, each rendering their selection with an ability worthy of much praise. In addition to those who were on the program, Miss Daniels of Onsted, gave a recitation with fine elocution ability. Prof. J. T. Pugh of Adrian College furnished a selection of choice vocal solos that received a hearty encore. Mr. Pugh is one of the finest soloists of the College. Owing to the length of the program, and lateness of the evening, Prof. Coddington asked to be excused from reading his paper, and read it at the examination on Thursday. The receipts amounted to $28. Taking everything in consideration it was one of the best entertainments that has been presented here in a long time.

ANNIVERSARY.

April 6th was the occasion of a pleasant reunion of the friends and relatives of James and Lydia Noble, at their home in Macon, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage. To them it was a complete surprise, as the invitations sent out and the preparations made by the eldest daughter, Louise, had been so successfully carried out that they had not suspected anything. The family of four sons and two daughters were all present save one, a son in the west. When friend after friend kept coming and our host and hostess, who always entertain right royally, began to lament that they had made no preparation for company. But when they saw the girls and boys all go over to the nearest neighbor and return carrying a plenty of the good things necessary to supply all present, it began to dawn upon them why said neighbor had lately been needing so much assistance. All gathered around the board and did ample justice to the same, and after having set out upon the center table a nice set of gold-lined dishes and other articles, the company left for their respective homes wishing them a pleasant and prosperous voyage over the next twenty-five years.

THE LATE DR. J. G. HOLLAND, the eminent writer and physician, wrote and published in Scribners Magazine: "It is a fact that many of the best proprietary medicines of the days are more successful than many physicians, and most of them are first discovered and used in actual medical practice. When, however, any shrewd person knowing their virtue, forseeing their popularity, secures and advertises them, then, in the opinion of the bigoted, all virtue went out of them.

The late Dr. Dio Lewis, in speaking of Warner's Safe Cure, says: "If I found myself the victem of a serious kidney troudle, I would use your preparation. Dr. R. A. Gunn, M. The celebrated Dr. Thompson of the University of the city of New York, says: "More adults are carried of by chronic kidney disease than by any other one malady except consumption.

If the record is correct, Uncle Dutcher, of Addison, who died last week, was doubtless the oldest man in the state. There appears to be some little uncertainty as to his exact age, but those who have traced the events of his life, place his age at the date of his death, at not less than 110 years. The old man came west from New York at a very remote period. He was born in Duchess county. During his last illness, he was cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Terpening, at whose residence he passed to the end of his life. He had been eight months confined to his room, a great sufferer.—Adrian Press.

R. A. Beach, our township clerk, has at his store a "Michigan ballot box," manufactured at Lawrence, Mich., which is rather a novel affair. The sides are heavy plate glass. The ballot passes between cylinders, which leave a punch mark, and a bell rings for each vote deposited, which is registered by an automatic counting machine. It is claimed that when a Republican ticket goes into the box the bell has a clear, sharp ring; a Democratic ticket causes the bell to give forth a dull, hopeless sort of a ring, and a Prohibition ticket causes a dry sound, but we do not think this is true.—Hudson Post.

Four generations gather around the board at the White House: Great-grand father Scott, President Harrison, the President's two children and their children.

During the first three months of the year the number of business failures in the country was 500 in excess of those for the same time last year. The business boom promised on the election of Gen. Harrison is setting in strongly.

President Harrison is gaining quite a reputation as a dry joker. When informed that Chicago a d St. Louis had gone heavily Democratic he replied that he was not surprised, for all the leading Republican residents of those cities were in Washington after office.

It is said that this Administration is the first since the inauguration of a hundred years ago when a reputed descendant of Ham couldn't drop around to the sub-domestic part of the White House and meet a link of the same human sausage.

Four years ago the Republican Postmaster of New York, who had shown himself exceptionally efficient, was reappointed by the Democratic administration. So far as the Rhode Island election touches on national questions, a majority of the people have decided in favor of the principle of tariff reform as put forward in the Democratic platform and diametrically opposed in the Republican platform, and the vote indicates the growth of the sentiment among others than the newly enfranchised voters, in spite of the influence that might have been expected to be exerted by the recent national success of the party favoring high tariffs and restrictive protection. So far as this issue is concerned Rhode Island is a tariff-reform state.—Providence Journal.

Since the Record printed in full the tariff act that Gen. Washington signed we do not hear anything more about celebrating the centennial of the signing. To rejoice over an 8 per cent tariff, after tearing their hair because the Democrats wanted to reduce the present tariff to an average of 42 per cent., would look a trifle ridiculous on the part of Pennsylvania protectionists. George Washington was a good enough man, but his tariff views were 39 per cent below par. The time of celebrating the George Washington tariff will have come when we shall have gotten back to George Washington's ideas of honesty and economy in the management of public affairs.—Philadelphia Record.

"The Center," the recognized state organ of the prohibitionists in Michigan, talks right out in meeting. It says: "The appointment to high positions of men like Clarkson, proved guilty of a flagrant criminal offense, and known to have been a leader in a campaign reeking with bribery, slander and deceit, is an insult to every honest man, and an affront to every mother, to every teacher, to every minister of the gospel who is trying to inculcate principles of morality and probity in the minds of the rising generation. The triumph of such men as Quay and Clarkson is an object lesson in successful villainy, the influence of which will be hard to counteract."

BINDER TWINE TRUST.

To the Editor of the Detroit Free Press:

I beg through your columns to call the attention of the Democratic press of the state to the affect of the binders' twine trust to double the price of twine for the season of 1889, and so levy upon the farmers of Michigan an extra tax of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Protected by a tariff of 35 per cent, the manufacturers and speculators have organized a pool to put the price of twine to twenty cents a pound at wholesale, formerly less than ten cents. This means at least twenty-five cents per acre additional expense upon the 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 acres for the Michigan harvest of 1889.

The farmers of the country who installed the fetich of protection among their household gods in November last may well inquire how many pounds of hard earned grain they must give to fill the enormous maw of their heathen deity. I say heathen, for there is no more sense in the tribute paid to protection than in the bestowal of corn and wine to the dead in their Egyptian tombs.

Protection alone is responsible for most of the trusts, Mr. Blaine to the contrary notwithstanding. This high-minded public man, scenting the rich flavor of roasted pig, all the more appetizing that it cannot be had in its superior excellence except that somebody else's house must burn to cook it, offers himself as an apologist for trusts, and says that "free trade England is plastered all over with them." Is this candid? Is it honest? English manufacturers sustain trusts for the reason that no outside country can compete. Non-competition is the necessary condition of trusts, and it makes no difference from what cause the non-competition comes; whether from ability to manufacture cheaper or from a tax that shuts out the labor of others. England competing with the world, and the United States shutting out the world's competition, are alike congenial ground on which trusts can flourish. It is true that the whole world may combine upon the price of some one article, as has been done in the case of copper, but the broader the territory the more difficult the task.—[That this is true is shown in the case of this same copper trust which has callapsed since this letter was written.

The farmers of Iowa are moving against the binders' twine trust, but the most effectual work would have been the storming of the protection citadel on the 6th of November last. Having voted for 35 per cent duty on twine, 66 per cent duty upon linseed oil and 50 per cent protection upon paints, they should not now complain of twine trusts. High twine takes only two cents from the price of a bushel of wheat. What farmer is so niggerly as to grudge such a trifling boon to somebody who has been to the trouble of getting up a monopoly? Ten cents extra on twine means only a little more sweat and muscle in the harvest field. Ten cents additional profit on linseed oil and two cents per pound on white lead can all be saved by letting your houses, barns and fences go unpainted till the democracy return to power in 1892.

Twine, 20 cents per pound, linseed oil 60 cents, and white lead, 7½ cents—on these three articles the farmers of the country are paying, not to the government but to trusts, a greater profit than the farmers themselves receive from the entire schedule of tariff protection. We say, down with the fraud. BYRON G. STOUT.

Last year the cotton growers of the South were obliged to pay enormously to the manufacturers of bagging for baling purposes. This year the screws are to be put to the farmers of the North, South and West by a binding twine trust. A Minneapolis dispatch says that slowly but surely the trust is tightening the coil about the farmers, and the effect of it is seen in that city, where all the twine in store has been quietly bought up for the trusts, and the price has been materially advanced.

An agent of the Dakota Farmers' Alliance, which last year bought its twine direct from the factories, was sent east to contract for this year's supply. He discovered that the whole output had been bought up by the trust. Further he discovered that twine which last year could be bought for 6 cents per pound would cost 25 cents this year. It will cost the grain growers a few million dollars extra for twine this season. They must buy of the trust or pay $135 for $100 worth if they purchase twine made in Canada or anywhere else outside of the United States.

How does the prospect look to the farmer with a declining market for wheat and a fair crop in prospect while the expense of harvesting it is increased by several millions of dollars! Of corse, the farmer prefers that the tax should be taken off from tobacco and whiskey, those necessities of human life and comfort, rather than have the tariff tax reduced or removed, as it might very properly be in some cases, in the interest of American industry.—Coldwater Republican.

Facts to Think Over

For Those Afflicted with the Oklahoma Fever.

SCARCELY 2,000,000 ACRES OF LAND.

Good, Bad and Indifferent, and Already 50,000 Men on the Border Ready to Jump In—The Original Boomers Desperate and Threatening to Burn Bridges—A Troublous Time Ahead—The Iowa River-Landers in a Dangerous Mood.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 8.—A well-authenticated report is current here that the boomers, hundreds of whom are hid in the thickets and brush on the many streams, have combined on a plan to burn all the bridges of the Santa Fe on the night of April 21, or sooner, so that no trains can get into Oklahoma on the 22d, and the officials of the railways which propose to take people from the east to the alleged Eldorado are investigating the story.

It appears that the boomers in hiding are desperate. They have selected and watched their claims for years, and they now fear that the newcomers, with the assistance of rapid transit, may get the best of them. There was a meeting of these boomers held in the timber near Oklahoma City last Thursday and they canvassed the situation. After the meeting adjourned the Santa Fe agent received notice that the bridges would be burned and the trains stopped on April 22, as the old boomers did not propose to jeopardize their chances by allowing a flood of tenderfeet to drop in on the land they had picked out. Detectives have been sent along the line through the country, and every precaution will be taken to prevent railway obstruction. There are twice as many people now on the borders as can be accommodated under the homestead act in Oklahoma. Yesterday morning fully 300 passengers arrived in this city, all bound for Oklahoma. Many of them represent colonies, and are here as advance agents. Among them was Fred Severs, of East Saginaw, Mich. He represents a colony of fifty people, all of whom will arrive in this city on or before the 21st. Some of them will locate here; others, the majority, will go into Oklahoma. C. Alger, a nephew of Gen. Alger, is a member of this colony. There are men here representing colonies from Washington, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Alabama.

The crowd has increased here to such proportions that persons who get their mail at the free delivery window at the postoffice are compelled to form into a procession, and then it is frequently five or six hours before they can get to call for their mail.

HEALTHY SENSE IN CHICAGO.

Would-Be Colonists Warned of the Difficulties in the Way.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The Chicago Oklahoma Colony association held a meeting at 208 Blue Island avenue yesterday and completed arrangements to move upward of 100 of its members into the new by opened territory April 22.

Phil Sunfield was the presiding officer. Mr. Higgins, in a brief speech, recited a few of the difficulties settlers will have to surmount in order to obtain possession of homesteads. He said that there are already 5,000 men massed on the Indian territory line, waiting for the signal to march, and as they consider themselves entitled to the first claims on the land they are ready to fight for their rights.

Passenger Agent Robinson, of the Santa Fe road, assured the colonists that there will be a sufficient force of United States troops in the territory to protect every man's rights. He also claimed that the Chicago colonists will have a better chance to secure homesteads than the boomers on the border. The former can, by leaving Chicago April 19, reach the Indian territory line at noon of the 22d, and from there can travel to Oklahoma many times faster than the settlers who will travel the trails.

Frank Luce, who claims to have traveled through the territory, said that less than one-half the land is fit for agricultural purposes. The rest is rocky and salty, and its water is so permeated with alkali that cattle can not drink it and live. He said the Payne boomers, numbering thousands, are splendidly organized and equipped, and as they consider themselves the pioneers in the movement to open the country to settlement they are ready to fight for the lands. "The fact is," Mr. Luce added, "that there is land for 12,000 settlers there, and there are now 50,000 men on the line ready to claim it. As many more are organizing in the cities, just as you are here, to start for the territory in time to get there April 22."

Frank Van Alstine cautioned the members of the colony to consider all the risk they will have to run, the hardships they will have to endure. "The most of the people," said he, "who are going to Oklahoma are poor. They do not realize that after they get there they will have to work six months for nothing, and wait that length of time for their first crops."

IOWA RIVER-LANDERS.

As Desperate as Oklahoma Boomers—A Seceder Threatened.

FORT DODGE, Ia., April 8.—Numerous parties connected with the prosecution of the settlers received threatening letters Saturday warning them to desist. This greatly intensifies the present excitement. Chauncey Pigman, the prosecuting witness in the conspiracy cases against the settlers, and whose farm has been seized by them, has received the following letter:

"DEAR SIR:—For the course you have been pursuing of meddling, if you continue, you had better make your peace with God, as you will never raise a crop where you are. This is sufficient notice to you. Beware, or hell will be your fate.

[Signed] SETTERS.

Pigman was formerly a member of the Settlers' union, and they evidently are afraid he will make public some of their secrets. The settlers' organization is now thoroughly perfected. The settlers announce their readiness to die in defense of their homes, but say they will sell their lives as dearly as possible. In view of the impending trouble evictions have been abandoned for the present.

Strangers going into the disturbed districts are stopped by armed men well armed and made to explain their business before they are allowed to proceed. Maj. J. C. Farsey, of the interior department, while out on swamp land business experienced some difficulty, and hurriedly returned to this city to await a time of peace.

We notice a new departure in the treatment of disease that promises to revolutionize the medicine business. It consists in the collection of the species used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance, the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained and prepared. The treatments of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh, were procured, and so on till these incomparable cures now include diseases of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism, nervous debility, and piles. Originated and used by specialists, being a positive cure for each disease, these preparations are the best remedies procurable. We advise all to send three two cent stamps to the Chase Medical Specialty Co 179 West Adams St., Chicago, Ill., and receive by return mail their interesting hand book.

Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before I had finished one bottle, found relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rodney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

AN EASTERN TALE.

A king once summoned his three sons,
And thus addressed the anxious ones:
"Go forth, my sons, through all the earth
And search for articles of worth,
Then he who brings the choicest thing,
Shall in my stead be crowned as king.

In one year's time again they meet,
And kneel before the sovereign's feet:
And as with gracious outstretched hand,
He welcomed home the youthful band,
He natural eagerness expressed,
To see the objects of their quest.
The first such lustrous pearls displays,
That every tongue is loud in praise.
So white, the snow-flakes on their way
Compared to them are dull and gray.
The next a diamond more pure,
And larger than the Koh-i-noor,
That shone with such a brilliant light,
The sunbeams, shamed, withdrew from sight.

'Twas hard to choose between the two,
The monarch knew not what to do.
The third is standing calmly there;
Now, with a half triumphant air
And smile of confidence and hope,
He shows a cake of Ivory Soap,
So peerless in its purity,
That dirt, alarmed, takes wings to fly.
The old king, as it meets his sight,
Grasps it, and cries in wild delight:
"No more confusion or dismay,
No more cold meals on washing day.
Subjects! my youngest son obey,
The Ivory Soap has won the day."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Improved Champion Mower

The MOST PERFECT and PRACTICAL Piece of Farm Machinery

THAT HAS EVER BEEN INTRODUCED.

The mechanical principles embodied in this Mower are entirely new, and have made it possible to remedy the defects that are well known to exist on the old style machines. It will pay any farmer who is in need of a Mower to examine the IMPROVED CHAMPION—the most perfect and practical of machines—

AND IT IS SO WARRANTED!

The DRIVE WHEELS are high and wide apart, insuring steadiness of motion and light draft. There is NO FRAME WORK hanging down in front to bunch up the cut grass or run into obstructions. There is NO FLY WHEEL LOW DOWN on which the grass can wind. This is a serious objection to the old-style mowers. The POWER IS APPLIED DIRECTLY and without a joint from the main gear to the pitman, and ALL OF THE POWER is used in cutting the grass,—none is wasted on loose joints and fast-running gearing. THE PITMAN WORKS ON A STRAIGHT LINE, AND THE POWER APPLIED AT ONE END IS ALL TRANSFERRED TO THE KNIFE. The CUTTER BAR can be folded while the knife is in motion, which is very important where there are stumps or trees. The Cutter Bar may raise or lower at either end, and yet the knife will work perfectly free without binding or extra friction or wear. This in a measure explains why there are no broken knife heels and no broken pitmans on the CHAMPION Mowers.

REMEMBER that the parts that have given the most trouble on the old-style mowers ARE WARRANTED NOT TO BREAK NOR WEAR OUT on this wonderful mower.

Too Zealous by Half.

A Government Official Goes a Little Too Fast

IN IMPROVING THE MAIL SERVICE.

A Little Arrangement by the Illinois People Slightly Embarrassed by Superintendent Bell's Work—Definite Statement of Harrison's Southern Policy—A Thanksgiving Proclaimed—That Fishing Trip Postponed—National Capital News Notes.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—Robert Wilbanks was removed a few days ago from the position of superintendent of mails in the Chicago postoffice and thereby hangs a little story: Several days before the senate adjourned the Illinois delegation held a caucus and discussed the distribution of federal prizes. It was agreed that Capt. McGrath, ex-superintendent of mails, should be given his old job just as soon as the department bounced Wilbanks. A recommendation to this effect was left with Mr. Wanamaker before Senator Farwell went home.

Thursday night, just as the clock struck 12, First Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson received a telegram from Senator Farwell saying that Wilbanks had been turned out and J. A. Montgomery put in his place. Mr. Farwell wanted to know what it meant, but Mr. Clarkson was unable to tell him, as he had heard nothing about the change. Yesterday morning Senator Cullom received a similar dispatch from Chicago. He was mad enough to fight when he read it. Down to the postoffice department he went with a rush and demanded an explanation from Mr. Wanamaker. But Mr. Wanamaker had none to give. The removal of Wilbanks was as much of a surprise to him as to anybody, and had been done without him knowing anything about it.

Who was responsible then? Why, a subordinate, a Mr. Bell, who does business under the high sounding title of general superintendent of railway mail service. His explanation is that he has received so many complaints of the loose manner in which the mails of the Chicago postoffice are handled that for the good of the service he decided to make a change. Wilbanks, he says, he knew was incompetent, for once before he caused his removal and through political pressure was obliged to reinstate him. This influence passed away with the old administration and there was no longer any reason for retaining an incompetent man in so responsible a position. Montgomery had been in the railway mail service for twenty years, was thoroughly capable of satisfactorily discharging the duties of the office, and consequently was entitled to promotion.

And who recommended Montgomery? Jim White, whom the Illinois delegation had also determined should be turned out. Everybody agrees that in his zeal to improve the service Mr. Bell has, in a political sense, made a bad mess of it. Mr. Wanamaker, however, has promised to arrange matters satisfactorily, which means that Montgomery will be transferred back to his old job and Capt. McGrath will get the plum.

A CENTENNIAL THANKSGIVING.

Religious Services at 9 a. m., April 30, Recommended by the President.

A hundred years have passed since the government which our forefathers founded was formally organized. At noon on the 30th day of April, 1789, in the city of New York, and in the presence of an assemblage of the heroic men whose patriotic devotion had led the colonies to victory and independence, George Washington took the oath of office as chief magistrate of the new born republic. This impressive act was preceded, at 9 o'clock in the morning, in all the churches of the city, by prayer for God's blessing on the government and its first president. The centennial of this illustrious event in our history has been declared a general holiday by act of congress, to the end that the people of the whole country may join in commemorative exercises appropriate to the day.

In order that the joy of the occasion may be associated with a deep thankfulness in the minds of the people for our blessings in the past, and a devout supplication to God for their gracious continuance in the future, the representatives of the religious creeds, both Christian and Hebrew, have memorialized the government to designate an hour for prayer and thanksgiving on that day.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, in response to this pious and reasonable request, do recommend that on Tuesday, April 30, at the hour of 9 o'clock in the morning, the people of the entire country repair to their respective places of divine worship to implore the favor of God that the blessings of liberty, prosperity and peace may abide with us as a people, and that his hand may lead us in the paths of righteousness and good deeds.

HARRISON'S NEW DEPARTURE.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—It is asserted that President Harrison has plainly given colored office-seekers of the south, who are here, to understand that they have very little to expect from him. He proposes to recognize the protectionists of the south, and to try in this way to make the dividing line of the parties, not upon color, but upon the economic policy. The south is full of protectionists who have been always working with the Democrats because of the race situation in that section. It is said that many of these have signified their desire to join hands with the Republican protectionists, making that the issue, if they can come into the party with the proper recognition. The men who belong to this class are wealthy and intelligent—the active, progressive men of the south. It is asserted that Mr. Harrison proposes to ease the way for them into the Republican party by eradicating the race question as an issue and recognizing eminent protectionists, former Democrats as well as Republicans.

Pearson's Successor Named.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—President Harrison yesterday made one appointment that will bring down upon him the condemnation of the radical civil service reformers. It was that of Cornelius Van Cott, of New York, to be postmaster of that city in place of Pearson, whom, though a Republican, Mr. Cleveland retained. The president also appointed Joel B. Erhardt, late Republican candidate for New York, and the man who so promptly dealt with the draft riots during the war, collector of customs at New York.

The Proposed Armored Defense Ship.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—It is generally thought at the navy department that the contract for building the new armored coast defense vessel, for which bids were opened on Monday, will be awarded to the Union Iron works, of San Francisco. Mr. Scott's bid was for about $1,628,000, guaranteeing all that the specifications required, against a bid of $1,614,000 from the Cramps, making several modifications, and refusing to guarantee the horse-power specified in the contract.

Our Lack of Commerce with Chili.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—James W. Romeyn, consul at Valparaiso, in reporting to the department of state upon the trade and commerce of Chili, comments upon the fact that, while the imports into Chili in 1887 amounted to $48,630,000, but $3,200,000 came from the United States, and that while over 15,000 vessels entered and cleared at Chilian ports, the American flag waved over only 231 of them.

Will Not Go Fishing Just Yet.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—President Harrison, it is understood, has abandoned his contemplated fishing trip down the Potomac. There is no revenue cutter here just at present, and his grandson ("Baby McKee") is not in the best of health, so the president has about concluded to forego, at least for the present, a much needed vacation and rest of a few days.

About Equal to All Three.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—The German corvette "Sophie" which sailed from Zanzibar to Samoa yesterday is far superior to either the Richmond, the Adams or the Alert, the United States vessels ordered to Apia. She carries fourteen heavy modern guns, uses forced draught and has a speed of fifteen knots.

DEVASTATING PRAIRIE FIRES.

They Have Their Way in Dakota—Much Property Destroyed—Loss of Life.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Reports from Minnesota and Dakota tell a terrible tale of destruction by prairie fires. The fires were fanned by the wind, and were not to be stopped by human power. Lesterville, Mount Vernon and Leola are nearly swept out of existence, the loss at the former two places reaching $300,000, and at the latter $200,000. Two hundred people are destitute in Mount Vernon and several lives are reported lost. A great number of cattle and sheep were cremated.

Around Blount, D. T., the whole country is devastated and six miles west of Marshall, Minn., several farms were burned over. Half a dozen farmers near Huron, D. T., lost their houses, barns, and stock. A girl was lost in the flames at Highmore, and a man was burned to death near St. Lawrence.

EX-GOV. PORTER SERIOUSLY ILL.

Attacked by a Disease Similar to That Which Afflicted Hendricks.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 6.—Ex-Governor Porter, recently appointed minister to Italy, is quite ill at his residence in this city, and his physicians will not permit any one except members of his family to see him. Three days ago he took a long walk, and when he returned his feet were so swollen that he could hardly remove his shoes. The next morning the skin began to peel off, and great and continuous pain followed. Dr. Jamieson was called, but so far he has not been able to make a satisfactory diagnosis of the disease. The patient suffers greatly, and it is claimed that his affliction is identical with that which attacked Hendricks some three years before his death, and eventually resulted in paralysis of the heart. Dr. Jamison refuses to talk about Governor Porter's condition.

Thieving Indiana Farmers.

WINAMAC, Ind., April 6.—Calvin Harless, August Newman, Charles Kring, Wellington Harmon, Peter Harmon, and Charles F. Hanniger, prominent farmers, were found guilty Friday of grand larceny and each sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary. The goods were pillaged from way freights on the Nickel Plate railroad, and consisted of articles of merchandise of every conceivable description. They amounted in value to between $3,000 and $4,000. The jail at Knox was deemed unsafe, and the sheriff thought it proper to remove them at once to Michigan City. They were accompanied to the train by their wives and children, who pleaded eagerly for their release.

Must Admit Colored Children.

ALTON, Ills., April 6.—A dispatch was received here Friday announcing that the long-pending suit between the colored people of Upper Alton and the school board of that place has been settled at last, the supreme court of Illinois issuing a mandamus compelling the school board to admit colored children to the new school building. The decision is an important one, as it sustains mixed schools and pronounces as illegal the practice of maintaining separate schools for colored children based merely on race distinction.

Big Seizure of Logs.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 6.—United States Marshall Cambell returned Friday from Cloquet, where he went last Monday to look up matters connected with the replevin suit brought by the government against the C. N. Nelson Lumber company, the Cloquet Lumber company, Patrick Hynes, and Andrew Gowan for lumber cut on the Indian reservations. Mr. Cambell formally seized the logs in the name of the government. The amount involved is large, the seizure amounting to 11,000,000 feet of logs which are thus tied up.

Robbers Put to Flight.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 6.—The Journal's Winnipeg special says: Masked robbers entered the office of the Canadian Pacific and Dominion Express company at Indian Head at midnight Friday night, placed a revolver at the head of W. H. Ross, the operator in charge, and demanded the money in his keeping. Ross suddenly blew out the light and opened fire with his own revolver. The robbers made off without getting any booty.

A Sad Accident.

CHICAGO, April 6.—While going from one depot to another in a hansom cab, Effie Filler, aged 10 years, was thrown from the vehicle and run over. The victim, accompanied by her mother and sister, was on the way to Columbus, Ohio, from Arkansas, to meet her father. At the time of the accident she was sitting on her mother's lap. The horse stumbled and she was thrown under the wheels, death resulting in a few minutes.

Wheelock Will Wait.

WORCESTER, Mass., April 6.—Wheelock has received a dispatch from the Detroit manager ordering him to report with that team at once. The Detroit man said the board of arbitration was so long in making its decision that he was willing to take chances. Wheelock replied that he preferred to await the final decision before reporting in Detroit. Meanwhile he will play with the Worcesters in their practice games.

Injured by an Explosion of Gas.

DUQUOIN, Ills., April 6.—Several men and boys were severely wounded by an explosion of gas in the new Muddy Valley coal mine a short distance from here Friday night. Two men of those injured received fatal burns.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind. testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament, is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

VISIT TO TECUMSEH SEPTEMBER 18th, 1871.

"I've been there and still would go
'Tis like a little heaven below."—WATTS.

In youthful days, when science shed,
Her vital rays upon my head;
The muse at each propitous hour,
Would visit oft my lonely bow'r,
And condescend to aid my song,
To her who had my vows so long,
Since toil and care, have been my lot,
By you I've almost been forgot;
Altho' I'm lying here supine,
My claim on you I can't resign;
So now, as oft in days of yore,
Thy willing aid, I would implore.,
September eighteen seventy one,
As Post meridian had begun;
I thought I would be off to see,
Attractions witness'd oft by me;
So Kate was harness'd in a second,
And on a speedy ride I reckon'd.
Our western course we then pursued,
Soon did the spires appear in view;
The Raisin river, reach'd at last,
Which Kate and I have often pass'd;
"Still hast'ning on to meet the sea
Like life to meet Eternity."
She slacks her thirst, while sadly I,
Reflect upon the days gone by,—
This stream shall live in histry's page;
As near to Frenchtown—now Monroe:
How almost sixty years ago,
A foe to honor, justice, truth;
The dupe of Monarchy forsooth;
In war, in carnage, and in strife,
The fam'd Tecumseh lost his life.
Ascending westward, up the hill:
We pass'd by honest Hayden's mill:
Whose flour is fam'd throughout the land,
And does the highest price command;
Who lately got to crown his gains,
A silver medal for his pains.
Arriv'd now at the public square.
I find a place and hitch my mare;
And now behold the motely throng,
Of farmers; as they pass along:
Each to his wonted favorite store,
Dispensing produce, at the door;
Officious shop boys, helping still,
Their wants and wishes to fulfill.
While trav'ling thro' each rural street,
The sound of music oft you meet;
Each fav'rite daughter coming o'er,
The notes that she had learn'd before;
In pleasing contrast all around,
Is vulcan's hammer heard to sound.
And click of each revolving wheel,
That aptly forms the iron and steel.
Delightful village all around.
The marks of industry, are found:—
The num'rous shade trees, add a grace.
And very much adorn the place:
The shopkeepers are all a class,
In modesty that none surpass.
Our Editor, we often meet;
Compell'd to saunter on the street.
In hopes to find delinquent men,
And get a dollar, now and then.
Can this be right, Ah! no I say,
Poor Editors should have their pay,
To science's path, there's no privation,
All have the means of education;
The churches, schools and works of Art,
A pleasing lesson, does impart;
And as the place augments in size,
Proclaim the people's enterprise.
Here once the red man roamed at will,
His wants are few and little still:
His Tomahawk, his bow, and quiver,
Were almost all he needed ever:
These made his riches mighty scant,
For luxury he did not want.
The screech-owl, made his mighty wail
To aught that might his haunts assail:
Still yet the splendor of the place,
Times' devastations, may deface;
Babylon and Balbec, once so fair,
Leaves not a trace, of where they were:
And Nineveh has fared the same,
Remembered only, by the name.
By these reflections overcome,
I thought now of returning home.
As I turn homeward, let me tell:
Two sons of Esculapius dwell,
Well known to all not far apart,
Both skillful, in the healing art.
I owe no matter, this or that
My compliments to Dr. Pat;
That guileless man devoid of pride,
But with the graces, all suppli'd;
A pattern to all men of sense,
The beacon light of temperance.
And coming East, now let me say,
I thought of Baxter by-the-way,
I met him on the afternoon,
And thought he'd be returning soon,
I like to meet him—always cherry:
Of laughing, he is never weary,—
He laughs because his heart is good,
He laughs, as every person should:—
How much this hour, wo'd be perplexed,
If we but could divine the next,
While passing Mr. Britton's door,
A savage cur with spiteful roar.
Came out and bit the heels of Kate,
She kick'd and flung at fearful rate;
I tried my best her to restrain,
But all my trials, were in vain:
She pitch'd me out, and broke my limb,
So restraints were then but slim;
Away she went, and left me there,
In Mr. Britton's friendly care.
Some dogs are social, good and right,
While others will devour and bite:
Just so is man, by nature's rule.
See BIVENS, and see VANDERPOOL.
The Dr. came with right good will,
To set my leg with all his skill;
They brought me safely to my home,
Where all such victims wish to come.
The Stars were twinkling in th' west,
Like pearls upon a lady's breast:
The night was calm, the air serene,
With naught but hope to intervene,
My lamp's now tapering to a close,
Like life divested of its woes—
I'll turn it down and end my song,
Which is already much too long.

GETTY.

THE WEST END MARKET.

Friends, Romans, and country men! Lend us your ears. Listen to the voice of wisdom. We are here to serve you. We are now nicely settled in our new and commodious quarters, one door west of the old stand, where we have plenty of room to keep in good condition a large stock of fresh meats of all kinds. Salt meats and sausage are always in stock. A full line of canned goods will be kept. We take extra care in making our purchases and hence our fresh meats are always popular with the best cooks. We give full measure, sell at the lowest living rate. In short our aim is to please our customers. Give us a call and be convinced.

BIRDSALL, GLENN & Co.

WARNER'S Safe Cure cures both malaria and kidney diseases by taking out of the blood the poisonous malaria germs, and by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition.

D. R. GIBSON. TO THE FRONT.

I have them for sale: The following:

15 or 20 swarms of Bees, Italian; Hybrids and Black; in improved Langstroth Hives in fine condition and full of hatching brood; prices $4 to $6 per Colony with hives complete; also Eggs for hatching from four best Breeding Pens of Fancy Poultry in the State. Plymouth Rock's, Silver Spangled Wyandottes, and two pens quadruple cross bred, crossed as follows: Langshan Plymouth Rock; Rose Comb Brown Leghorn, Black Spanish. These fowls are bright greenish black, iridescent, with mellow royal purple sheen; Rose Comb. Pen No. 1 have white ear lobes; pen No 2 red ear lobes. Prettiest dark colored birds ever seen. Immense egg producers, have averaged 40 per cent more for last 2 years than any uncrossed breed that I ever tested. Eggs for hatching from all of above pens 50c for 13 eggs, now ready for delivery. This places thoroughbred poultry within the reach of all. Also a limited quantity of Strawberry, Raspberry and Blackberry Plants of the leading varieties, at lowest living rates. Also a fine double set of Carriage Harness, cheap has been used but a few times; also a good work horse (after April 20th), a good set work harness, a lumber wagon with box and rack, a pair of double and single bob sleighs. I will also furnish pure bred Italian queen bees during June, July and August at low prices; above my own rearing.

Cut this out for reference, as it will appear but twice. Call on or address D. R. Gibson, Proprietor Cold Spring Berry Farm, Apiary and Poultry yards Clinton, Mich., April 1st 1889.

—"B. and W" Ensilage or Fodder Corn should not be confused with the common southern corn that is usually sold as a fodder corn. "B. and W." corn is highly nutritious as well as enormously productive. There is no waste in feeding the well cured fodder to cattle and sheep. An eight acre crop of this corn ensiloed has been the principal food consumed by my herd of 30 to 50 Jerseys this winter, one-third of the ensilage yet unfed. It requires about three pecks of seed to the acre. Price $1.50 per bushel. For sale by John T. Clark, Clinton, M.

THE X D—R A WEDDING.

The fourth wedding this spring has been solemnized on the (as you might say) Commercial Telegraph Line. When one stops to think of advantages attained in being "on the line," and of the number of young people there is in this part of the county, he is at once impressed with the truly great future financially and otherwise awaiting that company; (this is no ad.) But to return to the weddings. The last one was duly celebrated last evening at the residence of D. P. Anthony in Raisin. The contracting parties were Miss Dora Anthony and the genial manager of the C. T. Co., R. J. W. Bowen. The house was filled with a pleasant company to witness the ceremony, which was performed at 8:15 by the Rev. L. M. Belden in a few pleasant words. The bride looked handsome in a suit of white henrietta and silk, and the groom was attired in the usual black. Congratulations and supper followed the ceremony.

The presents received by the bride were handsome and included silver knives and forks from her mother, and $100 in gold from her father. There were also an easy chair, three center tables, French clock, etc. The couple will immediately go to housekeeping in the home of the groom west of the village, and will take with them the best wishes of a host of friends. May their lines fall in pleasant places and be free from "crosses" and may their lives be so "adjusted" that the "sound"-er of the trumpet will find them ready to write "O. K."

THE SILVER'S AUCTION.

There was a tremendous crowd present at the Silver's sale yesterday. It was without doubt the largest auction sale ever held in Tecumseh. Promptly at twelve o'clock Ben Reynolds opened the music and for nearly five hours he was saying, going going, gone. The entire list of personal property was disposed of and most of it sold at fair prices. Horsemen were present from all points of the compass and the bidding on the best horses was lively. These are the principal sales.

C. D. Bills of Tecumseh took Banker at $1350.

J. O. Perras of Montreal Canada—Bulletin at $1,800.

Ben Reynolds—Mary Lee at $130

C. J. Brimley of Ohio—Molly B. at $175.

R. Schermerhorn of Detroit—Jess at $160.

V. J. Newton of Toledo—Topsy at $50.

R. Schemerhorn—Wood Dawn at $250.

Thos. Alexander of Toledo—Bennett at $150.

Ben Reynolds.—Olga at $220.

James Colvin of Raisin—Naomie at $140.

H. Howd of Rollin—Preston $160.

All lovers of good horses will be glad to know that Banker will remain in Tecumseh, but Bulletin will feed on Kanuck hay and oats hereafter. It was a cash sale and the luckly bidders planked down the stamps. At noon to day most of the property had been delivered and paid for.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS.

A number of pupils attended the Institute at Ridgeway last week.

We are glad to welcome Miss Katie Tallman back in her old place again.

Miss Hattie Conklin spent a portion of her vacation in Ypsilanti, and Miss Gertrude Fisher in Detroit.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH., APR. 11, 1889

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Geo. Tansley, of Addison, was in the village Monday.

Dr. L. G. North visited the county metropolis Monday.

John W. Bowen, of Palmyra, gave us a call yesterday afternoon.

Will Meyers of Nashville, Tenn., is visiting at Geo. Heesan's this week.

J. B. Rue, of Battle Creek, was the guest of Mrs. Abbie Fisher Sunday.

Fred Brow returned from a two year's stay in California, last Saturday.

W. R. Bresie, of Decatur, Ill., was visiting his father the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet. Haynes, of Adrian, visited friends in town over Sunday.

A large delegation of Adrian people was present at the Baptist anniversary yesterday.

Mrs. F. Adkins suffered a slight stroke of paralysis last Saturday, but is now improving.

Capt. Cairns was up town yesterday afternoon enjoying the balmy air. We are glad to see him out again.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co. are having a big run on the St John's plow. Read what they say about it in their new card.

Yesterday resembled a circus day in Tecumseh. The sale of the Frank Silvers property drew a large crowd from abroad.

The village assessors have completed their roll. The aggregate assessment is a trifle less than it was last year.

Rev. John Cashman, late of Toronto, was in town last Friday. He now fills the pulpit of the Baptist church at Manchester.

The proper fitting of spectacles and eye glasses requires the knowledge of an expert. S. P. Hosmer fills the bill. Read his new card.

Gov. Luce has appointed Saturday, April 20, as Arbor day, in this section of the state. May 4th is the date fixed for northern Michigan.

Among our new advertisers this week Joe Wilson and Son represent the boot and shoe trade. 'Nuf said. Go there for your foot wear.

The Ladies Social of the Universalist Church will be held at the Parsonage Friday April, 19th, Supper from 5 to 7 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

Anderson & Co have cut a wide opening in the partition between their two east stores. It adds much to both the appearance and convenience of the rooms.

Jas. Lowry has a new card in today's HERALD. "Lowry, the grocer," is becoming a familiar name among good house keepers. They say he beats them all on tea.

Satterthwaite Bros & Boyd, add their card to our list of new advertisements this week. Their stock of general hardware comprises everything known in that line.

Rev. James McLeod, and wife, of Laingsburg, were in attendance upon the Baptist semi-centennial yesterday. Mr. McLeod was a former pastor of the Tecumseh Baptist church.

The bill to exempt the Commercial Telegraph Co. from state taxation passed the Senate last week, and went to the House. It will probably go through that body without a hitch. At least it ought to.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church will convene for the regular monthly meeting on Wed April 17th. Business meeting at 4 P. M. Supper will be served from 5½ till 6½ by Mrs. Smeltzer's Committee.

Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde was played to a fair house last evening. Mr. Geo. Ober carried the title role in an admirable manner and all the parts were well sustained. The audience was thoroughly pleased with the entertainment from first to last.

Wm. Bresie and C. K. Spafford shipped a car load of lumber to Devils Lake last Friday, with which to erect two cottages at the new village. Mr. Bresie will use his for a summer residence, and "Uncle Charlie" contemplates running an ice cream room the coming season. The carpenter work on the buildings will be under the direction of A. L. Millis.

A quiet little wedding took place last evening at the residence of Samuel McClure, when Jennie McClure became Mrs. Mont V. Bangs. None but relatives and a few intimate friends were present, as the nuptials were hastened by reason of Mr. McClure's serious illness. We are glad to know that he is now convalescing. Mont and Jennie fill a large niche in the esteem of their friends, whose prayers and kind wishes will follow the young couple as they embark on the stern realities of life. The HERALD begs leave to add a kind word of its own, which is no less sincere and hearty, than it would have been, had the affair permitted a more elaborate notice.

Mrs. Libbie Crowell is visiting at Cleveland, O.

Lawrence & Co. will open their store next Saturday.

Ed. Silvers, of Pittsford, was in town yesterday.

New advertisements are coming in lively this week.

Ab. Usborn has bought 40 acres of the old James V. DePuy farm.

R. Morrison left home Tuesday for a business trip to White Cloud.

[illegible] was visited by a heavy conflagration last Sunday. Loss over $20,000.

John F. Hicks departed for New York last week on a business trip and returned Tuesday.

Dr. Hills, of Petoskey, a student at the University, visited Dr. C. M. Woodward last Saturday.

F. R. Stebbins, the veteran furniture dealer of Adrian, has a new card in to-day's issue of the HERALD.

Minnie Westcott began teaching her third term of school in the fractional district No. 1, Raisin, Monday.

C. S Brown who is traveling for the Chicago Newspaper Union favored us with a call this morning.

Re[illegible] Babbitt and A. D. Hall atte[illegible] meeting of the Monroe Pres[illegible] Hillsdale this week.

Sta[illegible]ator Gilmore was at home over Sunday last. He returned to Lansing on the Jackson train Monday evening.

J. S. Kinney has a big stock of furniture on hand, and he makes his formal business announcement in this week's paper. Read it.

We call attention to the new card in this issue of the Champion Binder Co. Farmers should not fail to examine into the merits of this machine.

Misses Mabel Hayden and Belle Barlow were among the visitors who attended the floral exhibition at Detroit last week from this section.

Extra copies of the HERALD containing the account of the Silvers tragedy are still in demand. We have received three orders within the past week.

Joe Richley, a resident of Tecumseh about 20 years ago, is now a conductor on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R R. His home is at Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Jas. P. Campbell, of Maple Rapids, has been visiting friends in Ridgeway and Raisin for the past week. Mr. Campbell worked for Zack Cook before the war.

D. T Hall went to Detroit Tuesday to attend the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum as representative of Tecumseh Council No. 634. He returned last evening.

Dr. E. S. Cleveland and wife, Mrs. Kate Cleveland, of Detroit, are refitting their residence on Maumee Ave., with a view of passing the summer months in Tecumseh.

Wm. McCowen has rented the store just vacated by Birdsall, Glenn & Co., and will use it to store furniture in, as his present store although a large one is greatly overcrowded.

Dr. C. H. Conklin, of Saline was in town Tuesday, and favored us with a call. His Indian Vegetable Ointment is a valuable remedy, and as it becomes introduced, will have a large sale.

There is a rival to the pig puzzle—"Chickens in the Dooryard"—with the motto, "Drive them in the coop if you can," and the person who gets to work on it will rejoice that the flock is not a larger one.

Wm. Heck has vacated his dwelling house on Chicago st., and the masons and carpenters have already begun the work of remodeling the same. The house will be rebuilt throughout and modernized.

We received a letter the other day from Joe Wooden, of Battle Creek, which stated that he is doing finely there, and likes his location very much. His friends here are glad to know that he is prospering.

Yesterday was quite an important day locally considered. The Baptist church Semi-centennial, the Frank Silvers auction, the Dr. Jekyll show and at least two weddings were on the calendar, and the reports not all in yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rector, Alfred James, Misses Elida James, Kate Anderson, and May DeWolf returned from Detroit Monday evening, all of whom went out last week to visit friends and attend the flower show.

Mrs. Eliza R. Sunderland, of Ann Arbor, the wife of Rev. J. F. Sunderland, pastor of the Ann Arbor Unitarian church, will speak in the Universalist church for Rev. J. M. Getchell next Sunday, April 14th, morning at 10:30 and in the evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Sunderland is a gifted women and a fine speaker. Our people may congratulate themselves on having an opportunity to hear her speak.

For sale, a piano, cheap, terms easy.
A. W. SLAYTON.

Tecumseh was well represented at the floral exhibition in Detroit last week.

Geo. W. Stacy returned to East Buffalo Saturday, after a few days' visit at his old home.

Tit for tat. We are having March weather in April to pay for having April weather in March.

Birdsall, Glenn & Co. moved into their new quarters last Saturday. They have a neat market now.

The Commercial Telegraph line is still growing. Manager Bowen has put in new instruments lately on the Adrian and Clinton extensions.

James W. Patterson came down from Elkhart last Saturday to spend the Sabbath with his family. He says he is getting rich out there.

The Semi—Centennial of the Baptist church held yesterday was a most enjoyable gathering. A full report will appear in our next issue.

Spayde Bros. do not believe in hiding their light under a bushel. Their display of clothing is first-class, and they tell the people about it elsewhere.

We repeat the initial chapers of our new serial story this week and issue a large extra edition for sample copies. Now is the time for new subscribers to begin.

John Freeman is now fairly settled in his new quarters in the Cheever block. He has large commodious rooms and ought to be able to enlarge his business considerably this season.

The County Canvass shows a majority of 947 for the Republican Candidate for Supreme Court Justice. Prof Cocker for regent has a majority of 1338. All the amendments carry by good majorities.

The Rhines voting machine lately patented by a St. Paul printer is a very ingenious contrivance, and its adoption may be the true solution of the question of ballot reform. Legislators should examine into its merits at all events.

Wanted—A lady in each city, town, and township to procure subscribers for the Home Magazine, conducted by Mrs. John A. Logan. Special inducements offered. References required. Address the Brodix Publishing Co., Washington, D. C.

The Tecumseh Rack Co. took possession of the rink building Monday morning, and the room is being put into shape as fast as possible to manufacture their racks. A full force of hands will be at work there by next week.

While at Detroit last Friday we spent about an hour to good advantage visiting the floral exhibition. It was the most magnificent display of the kind we ever witnessed. It was a grand conception, most elaborately and successfully carried out.

The Hudson Gazette has been enlarged and changed to an eight page quarto sheet, the same size as the HERALD. The Gazette is a model country newspaper, neatly printed, and ably edited and a credit to the profession. "Our Jim" is getting there at a lively pace and he has our best wishes for his continued prosperity and success.

An interesting portrait of John Burroughs at twenty opens the April Wide Awake, as frontispiece; this engraving accompanies Mr. Burroughs' own story of his boyhood, "The Boy John Burroughs: a Glance Backward," telling how he had to struggle for his "schooling." Another excellent piece of biographical and historical work is by an English writer—Mrs. Blathwayt, entitled "Raleigh and the Potato."

D. E. Soper, Esq., of Newaygo, is in town to day. "Dan" says that he hopes to become a resident of this city before long—he has lived in the suburbs long enough. He was the first Democratic Federal official in Michigan to be relieved of office—a distinction he enjoys. He says he takes the Newaygo postoffice right back across the street where he found it with the remark of the man who had borrowed, "Jim, here's your fish line."

The above clipping from the Grand Rapids Eagle seems to verify the suspicion which we expressed two weeks ago.

The Art Amateur for April has for one of its colored supplements a superb study of red apples on a bough. Full directions are given for copying this plate. The other colored supplement is for china painting—a fern design for cup and saucer. Professor Ernest Knaufft gives the second of his series of profusely illustrated papers on "Pen Drawing for Photo-Engraving," invaluable for the student who aspires to be an illustrator of books and magazines. Directions are given as usual for painting the wild flowers of the month. The excellent series of monograms is resumed, and china painting and other designs are given with the usual profusion. Price 35 cents. Montague Marks, publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.

Optical Science

Has made great strides in the past few years. A knowledge of optics is indispensable to the proper fitting of spectacles. I have the latest and most approved appliances for testing the eye, and can guarantee an exact fit to the eyes of any person with impaired or imperfect vision. Eyes tested free of charge. My increasing trade in spectacles and eye-glasses I attribute to the fact that I never fail to perfectly fit the eye.

THE REJECTED SON.

LESSON II, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 14.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xii, 1-12—Commit Verses 6-8—Golden Text, John i, 11—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

1. "And He began to speak unto them by parables." This is one of many parables and discourses which he spoke in the temple and on the Mount of Olives on Wednesday, the fourth day in Passion week. It will greatly help us in our study of the Bible if we remember that God is represented as dealing chiefly with two classes of people, the Jews or nation of Israel, and the church or called out company from Jews and Gentiles, that through them He may in due time bring blessing to the whole earth. The greater part of the Old Testament and the Gospels in the New Testament tell us of God and His dealings with Israel through priests, kings and prophets, and finally through His Son; the calling out of the church and her present relation to the world is told in the Acts of the apostles and in the Epistles: while the Revelation of Jesus Christ gathers together and shews the consummation of the history of Israel and the church resulting in blessing to the whole earth.

"A certain man planted a vineyard," so say Mark and Luke, while Matthew calls him "a certain householder" (Matt. xxi, 33). From Ps. lx xx, 8-19; Isa. v, 1-7 we, learn that "the vineyard of the Lord of Hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah His plant."

2. "He sent a servant that He might receive the fruit." Surely this was reasonable, after He had bestowed such loving care upon them. The servants were the prophets, as it is written, "I sent unto you all my servants, the prophets" (Jer. xliv, 4); and the fruit He expected was righteousness and obedience and some gratitude for mercies bestowed.

3. "They caught and beat him and sent him away empty." Micaiah was smitten, imprisoned, and fed on bread and water (II Chron. xviii, 23, 26); Jeremiah was smitten and put in the stocks (Jer. xx, 2), and was told that he spoke falsely and that God had not sent him (Jer. xliii, 2).

4. "Again He sent unto them another servant." We would think that the ill treatment of one servant would lead the owner of the vineyard to punish the husbandmen and remove them from the care of the vineyard, but the name of the owner is "the Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth"

5. Yet another He sends in His love and long suffering, only to be treated worse than the former ones; "they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword; they wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented; of whom the world was not worthy; they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth." (Heb. xi, 37, 38.)

6. "Having yet, therefore, one son, His well beloved, He sent Him also last unto them, saying they will reverence my son." Now He speaks of Himself as the only begotten of the Father, the prophet like unto Moses, the antitype of all priests and prophets, the true servant of Jehovah (Isa xlii, 1).

7, 8. "This is the heir, come let us kill him." Instead of reverence and respect for the only son of their gracious and loving Lord, this is their language.

9. "He will come and destroy the husbandmen, and will give the vineyard unto others." This is their answer to His question. What shall the Lord do unto the husbandmen? Matt. xxi, 41. Jesus also adds, "Therefore I say unto you, the Kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof." (Matt. xxi, 43.) In order to understand this we must distinguish between the covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, which still holds good and shall be fulfilled [illegible] their disobedience (Ne. vii, 30, Jer. xxxi, 35-37), and the special covenant with Israel at Horeb, to make them a kingdom of priests, an holy nation, a peculiar treasure, if they would only be obedient and keep God's covenant (Ex. xix, 5, 6. This last covenant was not made with their fathers, but with them as a nation at Horeb (Deut. v, 2, 3), and it is this which "by the rejection of their messiah is now lost to them and given to the called out ones from Jews and Gentiles, the church, which Peter calls "a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar or purchased people."

10. "Have ye not read this Scripture?" No doubt they had read it, but they had not observed it, they had not received it, they had read it blindly, just as we so often read the Scriptures, from a sense of duty, without stopping to think what they mean or what they say to us individually. If Jesus should ask us this question concerning very much of the Old Testament, how ashamed many would be as they replied, "No, Lord, we never read that; we liked the New Testament better."

"The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner." This is found in Ps. cxviii, 22, the same one from which He quoted in our last week's lesson when He said, "Ye shall not see me henceforth till ye shall say, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." (Matt xxiii, 39; Ps. cxviii, 26.) It points us forward to the day of the Lord when He shall return as both foundation and top stone of His temple, the church, bringing His completed body with Him; when He shall return with all His saints for vengeance upon his enemies and redemption for Israel. (Isa. xxxiv, 8; lxiii, 4.) Then shall Israel see that the stone which they as builders rejected is indeed, after all, their own Messiah, King of Kings and Lord of Lords; they shall mourn because of their cruel treatment of Him, saying: "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for Him and He will save us; this is the Lord, we have waited for Him, we will be glad and rejoice in His salvation"; Then will He swallow up death in victory, wipe away tears from off all faces, and take away the rebuke of His people from off all the earth." (Isa. xxv, 8, 9.)

11. "This was the Lord's doings, and it is marvelous in our eyes." God is quietly but surely working out His eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus (Eph. i, 9-11; iii, 11), and when it is all complete we shall say concerning it all, "This is the Lord's doing," and not only shall it be wonderful in the eyes of the church and in the eyes of Israel, but also in the eyes of the whole world. His name is Wonderful, and if we would but let the government of ourselves and all our affairs be upon His shoulders day by day, we would have constant occasion to say, "This is the Lord's doings, is it not marvelous?" The forgiveness of our sins, the being saved from besetting sin, the rest and peace instead of fret and worry, the quietness and confidence, are all His doing from beginning to end; our part is to yield fully to Him and just be willing and obedient.

12. "They sought to lay hold on Him, but feared the people." His hour had not quite fully come to give Himself up to them, and therefore they could not touch him. No one can touch a child of God or harm a hair of their head without His permission; and if we are found in the way of duty we need fear no evil, for we shall surely stay in this mortal body till our work is done; then glorious rest with Christ in Paradise, and at the resurrection of the just a body just like Jesus' body and glory indescribable.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA

These twin diseases cause untold suffering. Doctors admit that they are difficult to cure—so do their patients. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of rheumatism and neuralgia—so say those who have used it.

"Having been troubled with rheumatism at the knee and foot for five years, I was almost unable to get around, and was very often confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I used only one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and was perfectly cured. I can now jump around, and be as lively as a boy." FRANK [illegible] Ida.

MORTGAGE SALE.

BY a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date the first day of February, A. D., 188., made and executed by Charles Holtz, Sr. and Charles Holtz, Jr., of Ridgeway, County of Lenawee and state of Michigan, to George Exelby, of he same town, county, and state, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan on the 27th day of March, A.D. 188., in liber 114 of Mortgages, on page 631, the said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr., mortgaged to the said George Exelby all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the township of Ridgeway in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan and described as follows, to wit: The south half of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section number ten (10), town six (6) south, of range five (5) east, containing twenty (20) acres of land more or less, being the same land this day conveyed by said George Exelby to said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr. Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage, whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, and there is claimed to be due and unpaid thereon at this date the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred and Sixty-seven and 57-100 Dollars ($1367.57) and no suit or proceedings at law or in chancery have been instituted to collect the same or any part thereof. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 6th day of May, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, said court house being the place of holding the circuit court for said county of Lenawee, to satisfy the amount now due, together with all legal costs and charges of this foreclosure.

Dated Feb. 1st, 1889.

GEORGE EXELBY, Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage (whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative) bearing date the 9th day of February A.D. 1887, executed and delivered by Thomas Savage to John Reiney and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lenawee County State of Michigan, on the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887 in Liber 117 of mortgages on page 430, upon which mortgage there remains due and unpaid at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Sixty six and 41-100 Dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to collect the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon and costs of this foreclosure and sale including an attorney fee as provided by law, I shall on the 14th day of June, A.D. 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county is holden) all those pieces or parcels of land situate and being in the city of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known and described as follows, to wit: Lots forty-one (41) and forty-two (42) on the part of Palmer's addition to the city of Adrian, Michigan. Also beginning at northeast corner of lot number thirty-one (31), on original plat of the village (now city) of Adrian; thence southwardly on the east line of said lot thirty-one (31) twenty-four (24) feet, nine (9) inches to the north line of land decided by Lucy E. Kane to Charles M. Croswell; thence westwardly on the north line of land of said Croswell sixty-seven (67) feet and six (6) inches to the east line of an alley; thence northwardly on the east line of said alley twenty-four (24) feet to the north line of said lot thirty-one (31); thence eastwardly on said line sixty-seven and one-half (67½) feet to the place of beginning.

ESTATE OF DAVID HATCH.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 19th day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of David Hatch, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Alfred Lewis, special administrator upon said estate, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid, that the heirs-at-law of said deceased have assigned and conveyed all their interest in the personal property belonging to said estate to Samuel Hatch, and that he has paid over to said Samuel Hatch all the property of every discription belonging to said estate that has come to his possession as such special administrator, and praying that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled, and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 15th day of April next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT of payment having been made of a mortgage made by John C. O'Neil and Jennie O'Neil to the undersigned, Albert Hyde dated the 25th day of October, A.D., 1887, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Lenawee County Michigan in Liber 102, of Mortgages on page 676 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and owing at the date hereof for principal and interest the sum of Seventy-seven and 22-100 with the further sum of Three Hundred Dollars of principal with interest thereon accruing at seven per cent per annum since the 25th day of October, 1888, hereafter to become due, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to recover the payment of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power and provisions in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such case made and provided for the purpose of realizing the moneys so as aforesaid due and owing on said mortgage together with interest to accrue thereon, and costs of this foreclosure and sale, including also an attorney's fee as provided by law, subject to the lien of the said moneys hereafter to become due, I shall on the 22d day of June, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, Lenawee County, Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder all that parcel of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the southwest corner of lot five (5) on block ten (10) of Wm. H. Hoag's addition to the village of Tecumseh, running thence east on the south line of said block eighty-one and one-quarter feet; thence north parallel with the west line of said lot six (6) on said block ten (10) twelve rods to north line of said lot six (6); thence west on north line of said lots six and five to the northwest corner of said lot five; thente south on west line of said lot five twelve rods to place of beginning.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted, and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain,

MARY H. BEEMAN.

That dreaded backache can be Cured

Rochester, N. Y., August 2, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co.—Dear Sir—Allow me to recommend your medicine to anyone suffering from backache and kidney trouble. It has cured me entirely, and I am quite sure will do the same for anyone who will give it a fair trial.

Yours truly, MRS. A. W. KELLEY. 59 Courtland st., N. Y.

FRANK R. STOCKTON.

In the spring of a certain year, not far from the close of the Nineteenth century, when the political relations between the United States and Great Britain became so strained that careful observers on both sides of the Atlantic were forced to the belief that a serious break in those relations might be looked for at any time, the fishing schooner Eliza Drum sailed from a port in Maine for the banks of Newfoundland.

It was in this year that a new system of protection for American fishing vessels had been adopted in Washington. Every fleet of these vessels was accompanied by one or more United States cruisers, which remained on the fishing grounds, not only for the purpose of warning unwary American craft who might approach too near the three mile limit, but also to overlook the action of the British naval vessels on the coast, and to interfere, at least by protest, with such seizures of American fishing boats as might appear to be unjust. In the opinion of all persons of sober judgment there was nothing in the condition of affairs at this time so dangerous to the peace of the two countries as the presence of these American cruisers in the fishing waters.

The Eliza Drum was late in her arrival on the fishing grounds, and having, under orders from Washington, reported to the commander of the Lennehaha, the United States vessel in charge at that place, her captain and crew went vigorously to work to make up for lost time. They worked so vigorously and with eyes so single to the catching of fish, that on the morning of the day after their arrival they were hauling up cod at a point which, according to the nationality of the calculator, might be two and three-quarters or three and one-quarter miles from the Canadian coast.

In consequence of this inattention to the apparent extent of the marine mile the Eliza Drum, a little before noon, was overhauled and seized by the British cruiser Dog Star. A few miles away the Lennehaha had perceived the dangerous position of the Eliza Drum, and had started toward her to warn her to take a less doubtful position. But before she arrived the capture had taken place. When he reached the spot where the Eliza Drum had been fishing the commander of the Lennehaha made an observation of the distance from the shore, and calculated it to be more than three miles. When he sent an officer in a boat to the Dog Star to state the result of his computations the captain of the British vessel replied that he was satisfied the distance was less than three miles, and hat he was now about to take the Eliza Drum into port.

On receiving this information, the commander of the Lennehaha steamed closer to the Dog Star and informed her captain by means of a speaking trumpet, that if he took the Eliza Drum into a Canadian port, he would first have to sail over his ship. To this the captain of the Dog Star replied that he did not in the least object to sail over the Lennehaha, and proceeded to put a prize crew on board the fishing vessel.

At this juncture the captain of the Eliza Drum ran up a large American flag; in five minutes afterward the captain of the prize crew hauled it down; in less than ten minutes after this the Lennehaha and the Dog Star were blazing at each other with their bow guns. The spark had been struck.

The contest was not a long one. The Dog Star was of much greater tonnage and heavier armament than her antagonist, and early in the afternoon she steamed for St. Johns, taking with her as prizes both the Eliza Drum and the Lennehaha.

All that night, at every point in the United States which was reached by telegraph, there burned a smothered fire; and the next morning, when the regular and extra editions of the newspapers were poured out upon the land, the fire burst into a roaring blaze. From lakes to gulf, from ocean to ocean, on mountain and plain, in city and prairie, it roared and blazed. Parties, sections, politics were all forgotten. Every American formed part of an electric system; the same fire flashed into every soul. No matter what might be thought on the morrow, or in the coming days which might bring better understanding, this day the unreasoning fire blazed and roared.

With morning newspapers in their hands men rushed from the breakfast tables into the streets to meet their fellow men. What was it that they should do?

Detailed accounts of the affair came rapidly, but there was nothing in them to quiet the national indignation. The American flag had been hauled down by Englishmen, an American naval vessel had been [illegible] into and captured; that was e[illegible] matter whether the Eliza D[illegible] was within the three mile limit or not! No matter which vessel fired first! If it were the Lennehaha, the more honor to her; she ought to have done it! From platform, pulpit, stump and editorial office came one vehement, passionate shout directed toward Washington.

Congress was in session, and in its halls the fire roared louder and [illegible] higher than on mountain or plain, in city or prairie. No member of the government, from president to page, ventured to oppose the tempestuous demands of the people. The day for argument upon the exciting question had been a long and weary one, and it had gone by. In less than a week the great shout of the people was answered by a declaration of war against Great Britain.

When this had been done those who demanded war breathed easier, but those who must direct the war breathed harder.

It was indeed a time for hard breathing, but the great mass of the people perceived no reason why this should be. Money there was in vast abundance; in every state well drilled men by thousands stood ready for the word to march, and the military experience and knowledge given by a great war was yet strong upon the nation.

To the people at large the plan of the war appeared a very obvious and a very simple one. Canada had given the offense, Canada should be made to pay the penalty. In a very short time 100,000, 200,000, 500,000 men, if necessary, could be made ready for the invasion of Canada. From platform, pulpit, stump and editorial office came the cry:

"On to Canada!"

At the seat of government, however, the plan of the war did not appear so obvious, so simple. Throwing a great army into Canada was all well enough, and that army would probably do well enough. But the question which produced hard breathing in the executive branch of the government was the immediate protection of the sea coast—Atlantic, Gulf, and even Pacific.

In a storm of national indignation war had been declared against a power which at this period of her history had brought up her naval forces to a point double in strength to that of any other country in the world. And this war had been declared by a nation which, comparatively speaking, possessed no naval strength at all.

For some years the United states navy had been steadily improving, but this improvement was not sufficient to make it worthy of reliance at this crisis. As has been said, there was money enough, and every ship yard in the country could be set to work to build ironclad men-of-war, but it takes a long time to build ships, and England's navy was afloat. It was the British keel that America had to fear.

By means of the continental cables it was known that many of the largest mail vessels of the British transatlantic lines, which had been withdrawn upon the declaration of war, were preparing in British ports to transport troops to Canada. It was not impossible that these great steamers might land an army in Canada before an American army could be organized and marched to that province. It might be that the United States would be forced to defend her borders, instead of invading those of the enemy.

In every fort and navy yard all was activity; the hammering of iron went on by day and by night, but what was to be done when the great ironclads of England hammered upon our defenses? How long would it be before the American flag would be seen no more upon the high seas?

It is not surprising that the government found its position one of perilous responsibility. A wrathful nation expected of it more than it could perform.

All over the country, however, there were thoughtful men, not connected with the government, who saw the perilous features of the situation, and day by day these grew less afraid of being considered traitors and more willing to declare their convictions of the country's danger. Despite the continuance of the national enthusiasm, doubts, perplexities and fears began to show themselves.

In the states bordering upon Canada a reactionary feeling became evident. Unless the United States navy could prevent England from rapidly pouring into Canada, not only her own troops, but perhaps those of allied nations, these northern states might become the scene of warfare, and whatever the issue of the contest, their lands might be ravished, their people suffer.

From many quarters urgent demands were now pressed upon the government. From the interior there were clamors for troops to be massed on the northern frontier, and from the seaboard cities there came a cry for ships that were worthy to be called men-of-war; ships to defend the harbors and bays; ships to repel an invasion by sea. Suggestions were innumerable. There was no time to build, it was urged; the government could call upon friendly nations. But wise men smiled sadly at these suggestions; it was difficult to find a nation desirous of a war with England.

In the midst of the enthusiasms, the fears and the suggestions, came reports of the capture of American merchantmen by fast British cruisers. These reports made the American people more furious, the American government more anxious.

Almost from the beginning of this period of national turmoil, a party of gentlemen met daily in one of the large rooms in a hotel in New York. At first there were eleven of these men, all from the great Atlantic cities, but their number increased by arrivals from other parts of the country, until at last they numbered twenty-three. These gentlemen were all great capitalists, and accustomed to occupying themselves with great enterprises. By day and by night they met together with closed doors, until they had matured the scheme which they had been considering. As soon as this work was done, a committee was sent to Washington, to submit a plan to the government.

These twenty-three men had formed themselves into a syndicate, with the object of taking entire charge of the war between the United States and Great Britain.

This proposition was an astounding one, but the government was obliged to treat it with respectful consideration. The men who offered it were a power in the land, a power which no government could afford to disregard.

The plan of the syndicate was comprehensive, direct and simple. It offered to assume the entire control and expense of the war, and to effect a satisfactory peace within one year. As a guarantee that this contract would be properly performed, an immense sum of money would be deposited in the treasury at Washington. Should the syndicate be unsuccessful this sum would be forfeited, and it would receive no pay for anything it had done.

The sum to be paid by the government to the syndicate, should it bring the war to a satisfactory conclusion, would depend upon the duration of hostilities. That is to say, that as the shorter the duration of the war, the greater would be the benefit to the country, therefore, the larger must be the pay to the syndicate. According to the proposed contract, the syndicate would receive, if the war should continue for a year, one quarter the sum stipulated to be paid if peace should be declared in three months.

If at any time during the conduct of the war by the syndicate an American seaport should be taken by the enemy, or a British force landed on any point of the seacoast, the contract should be considered at an end, and security and payment forfeited. If any point on the northern boundary of the United States should be taken and occupied by the enemy, $1,000,000 of the deposited security should be forfeited for every such occupation, but the contract should continue.

It was stipulated that the land and naval forces of the United States should remain under the entire control of the government, but should be maintained as a defensive force and not brought into action unless any failure on the part of the syndicate should render such action necessary.

The state of feeling in governmental circles, and the evidences of alarm and distrust which were becoming apparent in congress and among the people, exerted an important influence in favor of the syndicate. The government caught at its proposition, not as if it were a straw but as if it were a life raft. The men who offered to relieve the executive departments of their perilous responsibilities were men of great ability, prominent positions, and vast resources, whose vast enterprises had already made them known all over the globe. Such men were not likely to jeopardize their reputations and fortunes in a case like this, unless they had well founded reasons for believing that they would be successful. Even the largest amount stipulated to be paid them in case of success would be less than the ordinary estimates for the military and naval operations which had been anticipated; and in case of failure, the amount forfeited would go far to repair the losses which might be sustained by the citizens of the various states.

At all events, should the syndicate be allowed to take immediate control of the war, there would be time to put the army and navy, especially the latter, in better condition to carry on the contest in case of the failure of the syndicate. Organization and construction might still go on, and, should it be necessary, the army and navy could step into the contest fresh and well prepared.

All branches of the government united in accepting the offer of the syndicate. The contract was signed, and the world waited to see what would happen next.

The influence which for years had been exerted by the interests controlled by the men composing the syndicate had its effect in producing a popular confidence in the power of the members of the syndicate to conduct a war as successfully as they had conducted other gigantic enterprises. Therefore, although predictions of disaster came from many quarters, the American public appeared willing to wait with but moderate impatience for the result of this novel undertaking.

The government now proceeded to mass troops at important points on the northern frontier; forts were supplied with men and armaments; all coast defenses were put in the best possible condition; the navy was stationed at important ports, and work at the ship yards went on. But, without reference to all this, the work of the syndicate immediately began.

This body of men were of various politics and of various pursuits in life. But politics were no more regarded in the work they had undertaken than they would have been in the purchase of land or of railroad iron. No manifestoes of motives and intentions were issued to the public. The syndicate simply went to work. There could be no doubt that early success would be a direct profit to it, but there could also be no doubt that its success would be a vast benefit and profit, not only to the business enterprises in which these men were severally engaged, but to the business of the whole country. To save the United States from a dragging war, and to save themselves from the effects of it, were the prompting motives for the formation of the syndicate.

Without hesitation, the syndicate determined that the war in which it was about to engage should be one of defense by means of offense. Such a war must necessarily be quick and effective; and with all the force of their fortunes, their minds and their bodies, its members went to work to wage this war quickly and effectively.

All known inventions and improvements in the art of war had been thoroughly considered by the syndicate and by the eminent specialists whom it had enlisted in its service. Certain recently perfected engines of war, novel in nature, were the exclusive property of the syndicate. It was known or surmised in certain quarters that the syndicate had secured possession of important warlike inventions, but what they were and how they acted was a secret carefully guarded and protected.

The first step of the syndicate was to purchase from the United States government ten war vessels. These were of medium size and in good condition, but they were of an old fashioned type, and it had not been considered expedient to put them in commission. This action caused surprise and disappointment in many quarters. It had been supposed that the syndicate, through its agents, scattered all over the world, would immediately acquire, by purchase or lease, a fleet of fine ironclads culled from various maritime powers. But the syndicate having no intention of involving, or attempting to involve, other countries in this quarrel, paid no attention to public opinion, and went to work in its own

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought untill we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-writer Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and sounder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is beautiful covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine in position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table is so balanced near its center on patent maleable iron arms, that when the machine brought in place for use, it does not depend on rears or hangers at rear of platform for support, but is held rigidly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be tumbled down an incline in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent slides which keeps the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk, well under the operator's hand.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its borders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as rigid as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

ANSON'S BABIES AT GOTHAM.

The Great Circumnavigators Finish Their Round-the-World Home Run.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The steamer Strain, with 200 people on board, and the tug Wood, with Nat Goodwin and members of the Natural Gas company, were early on their way, Saturday morning down the bay to release the heroes of a round-the-world base ball tour from the confinement of an ocean steamer and land them on "their native heath" once more.

There was much cheering when the boats ran alongside the Adriatic and the base ballists were seen gathered aud ships waiting for their release, which was soon accomplished, with the bands playing "Home, Sweet Home." The only member of the combined attraction not present was Williamson, who hurt his knee in Paris, and, with his wife to take care of him, had to remain in London for a time yet.

The unanimous declaration of "the boys" was that they had been treated right royally abroad and had a splendid time, but nevertheless America was good enough for them, and they wanted no more of foreign shores. They had traveled 32,000 miles and never had a sick man in the party; it will have been six months to a day when the last game is played in Chicago, and so far All-America is just seven games ahead.

Upon landing the party was taken at once to the Fifth Avenue hotel. Mr. Spalding said the trip had been financially a success. The teams were present at Palmer's theater Saturday night, occupying the gaily decorated stage boxes. The play was "The May Queen," and when De Wolf Hopper in his topical song, "Do You Catch the Idea," alluded to "globe trotters," and a transparency was shown with the words "Welcome Home," the densely packed audience rose en masse and yelled themselves hoarse. The returned players received the ovation meekly, and expressed themselves gratified at the warm reception of their countrymen.

FOUR COACHES DERAILED.

One Man Killed and a Number Hurt on the Baltimore and Ohio.

CHICAGO, April 8.—A defective switch derailed the four rear coaches of an inward-bound Baltimore and Ohio passenger train between Colehour and South Chicago about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The coaches were thrown with terrific violence against several coal-oil tank cars standing on the side-tracks and broken to pieces.

One man was instantly killed. He was James Hanna, of Smith's Basin, N. Y., and was found with an iron rod thrust through his head, buried under a pile of timbers.

The wounded were: Henry Houk, farmer of Adamsville, Ia., left leg broken twice below the knee and other injuries. Frank Shelton, Smith's Basin, N. Y., leg broken, right hand injured, and general bruises. John H. McDonald, Antigonish, N. S., flesh scraped from left leg; B. O. Rambo, farmer, of Shelby, O., contusion on back of head and temple; John E. Wood, Cuba, N. Y., severely bruised about the ribs and hurt internally; Alexander Wood, 12 years old, Cuba, N. Y., abrasion of legs and several cuts. There were several others slightly hurt.

A little girl who was in charge of Conductor Dunn was in the wrecked coach and was buried out of sight beneath the debris. The conductor had taken a great fancy to his little charge and when he found her missing after the crash he broke out in tears, lamenting loudly her supposed fate. The child, who was uninjured save a few scratches, heard his anxious inquiries for her, and cried out from the wreckage that she was all right. She was brought to the city and turned over to her friends.

WICKEDNESS AND A WOMAN

Are Generally Too Much for a Bank Cashier, as the Following Proves.

ANOKA, Minn., April 8.—The doors of the First National bank closed Saturday evening. The cashier is in Canada. The matter has been kept quiet, but the facts show that the cashier, P. F. Pratt, has got away with about $100,000. Much of it is overdrafts and much was obtained by getting the indorsement of customers of the bank to paper which he cashed and appropriated. One of the losers is Mrs. Nell, who has been mulcted in about $35,000 by obtaining her indorsement to notes. She is 80 years old, a widow, and looked upon Pratt almost as a son.

It is but another of those cases in which fair and frail woman plays a part. Last summer the good people of Anoka were shocked and horrified to learn that Pratt had been on dangerously intimate terms with a handsome young woman of doubtful antecedents, and who, it is said, was supported by Pratt. The scandal became public property when his wife, a highly esteemed lady, took her two children and removed to Boston, where her brother resided. Soon after the wife left the grass widow disappeared, but knowing ones said she was in Minneapolis, and soon a bright-eyed little stranger appeared on the scene. Pratt made weekly visits to Minneapolis, and there is every reason to believe that the woman and their child are now receiving a brevet husband's and father's care in some Canadian retreat.

President H. L. Sicknor said last night that the depositors would be paid in full, whether it left the stock worthless or not.

SAVANNAH SWEPT BY FIRE.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 8.—At 7 o'clock Saturday night, while a man was lighting the show window in D. H. Hogan's three-story brick dry goods store, at the corner of Broughton and Barnard streets, in the heart of the business portion of the city, the inflammable material suddenly burst into flames. A high wind prevailed, and in five minutes the fire had run through every part of the building. Those in the store had barely time to escape with their lives. Hogan's store and stock were totally consumed, as was also the crockery and household stock of James Douglas & Co., who occupied a store adjoining.

The fire in the meantime had leaped across Barnard street to the corner of State and quickly consumed the four-story brick building occupied by the Young Men's Christian association. Loss, over $100,000. Two three-story and basement brick dwellings, immediately west of this building, were also reduced to ruins. Other buildings burned before the fire was gotten under control were the Independent Presbyterian church, Handler's four story painted brick, builders' supply store, the fine arsenal of the Savannah Guards battalion and a dozen or twenty fine residences, and a number of tenements of little value.

No loss of life has been reported and no serious casualties. Neighboring cities promptly sent fire companies, but all were turned back before reaching here. The best estimates of the total loss place it at $750,000.

Failure at Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, April 6.—The Worswick Manufacturing company made a voluntary assignment Saturday afternoon. The assets and liabilities have not yet been made known, but they will be large.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH, Mich.
Council room, April 2, 1889, 7:30 p. m.

Adjourned session.

Present the President, Ames, Smith, James, Kennedy, Elliott and the recorder. Absent Heck.

The minutes of preceding meetings were read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The chairman of the finance committee reported that he had engaged E. Prichard to sink a drive well and put in a good force pump in the engine room of the council building at an expense of $25.00. Report accepted and the recorder directed to draw an order in favor of E. Prichard for $20.00, the balance of his account to be applied to his credit on his indebtedness to the village for a cemetery lot.

The chairman of the street committee reported that he had hired Wm. Bennett as teamster for the ensuring year at a salary of $381.00.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The sexton reported three adult and one infant interment for the month of March. Accepted and filed.

The Street commissioner reported 16 days team and 8 days hand labor for Mar., the corporation team working 5½ days and the street commissioner 9½ days. Accepted and filed.

PETITIONS AND APPLICATIONS.

An application from Whitenack, Bordine & Co. was received, asking the privilege to erect a platform in front of their store for the purpose of showing implements, etc. until July 1st, 1889. After some discussion the petition was laid on the table.

C. W. Brownson requested permission to draw surface dirt from the gravel pit. The petition was laid on the table until the next meeting and the recorder was instructed to hunt up the deed of the gravel pit given by A. A. Kennedy to the village and report at the next meeting.

NEW BUSINESS.

The following bills were presented and referred to the Finance Committee:—

Jehiel Davidson, assessor, $15; T. R. Kyle, marshal, $6.50; A. James, supplies, etc., $29.19; Jones & Underhill $37.10; M. I. Wilcox Cordage and Supply Co., $21.74; American Road Machine Co. $8; E. A. Hodges, street commissioner, $19; and the following for street labor:—E. Renwoldt $1.25; C. F. Skinner $1.25; A. Kent $1.25; E. A. Doke $1.88; S. F. Morse $1.25; James Patterson $1.25; H. Westcott $2.50; L. Youngs $3.75.

On motion the penalty of the treasurer's bond was fixed at $8,000.

The treasurer presented his bond in the penal sum of $8,000, with two sureties and it was duly approved and accepted.

On motion the sum of $500 was appropriated to pay the sexton's salary and the recorder was instructed to draw orders monthly in twelve equal instalments to pay the sexton and teamster their respective salaries.

On motion the penalty of the liquor bonds for the ensuing year was fixed at $4,000.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The Finance Committee reported favorably upon all above claims. Accepted and adopted and orders directed drawn for the several amounts.

The report of Ordiance Committee on the adoption of an ordinance amending an ordinance relative to licences was taken from the table and on suggestion of the President referred to the Ordinance committee, with instructions to add a clause exempting churches holding entertainments in their own buildings from the provisions of said ordinance.

Adjourned until Monday evening April 15th, 1889.

CHAS. F. FIELD,
Recorder.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The Toledo Ice Co. have just erected an ice house at Devil's Lake which is 150 feet long and 90 feet wide.

WHO climbs too high goes to fall. If you let your cough run too long it may run into consumption and cause your death. Use and you will never reach that stage. Two sizes, 50c. and $1. All druggists.

Exempting the C. T. C.

The following measure interests a great many of the citizens of this county, especially the intelligent farmers throughout the central and northern section, who are experiencing benefits of the enterprise. The bill was introduced in the Senate, and thanks to the intelligent advocacy of Lenawee's popular Senator, Hon. A. D. Gilmore, passed that body on the 4th, and was transmitted to the House, for its approval:

A BILL to exemp the Commercial Telegraph Company from the provisions of act No. 168 of the public acts of 1881, approved May 26, 1881.

SECTION 1. The people of the State of Michigan enact, That the Commercial Telegraph company shall be exempt from the provisions of act No. 168 of the public acts of 1881, entitled "An act to provide for the assessment and taxation of telegraph and telephone lines within the State of Michigan, and to repeal act number seventy-seven of the session laws of eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, approved May twentieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-nine," so long as it shall be used for purely educational purposes.

ILL health modifies all possible goodness. Who can enjoy good fellowship with a racking pain that eats one's life away?

WARNER'S LOG CABIN EXTRACT will ease the pain and make you happy. Try it." All druggists.

OBITUARY.

Died in Clinton township on Wednesday March 27th, 1889, after a brief illness Mrs. Jane, relict of the late John Boyce, aged 86 years. In about the year 1846, Mr. Boyce's people immigrated from Ireland and settled in Baltimore, Md., where they resided until 1855, when they removed to Tecumseh which has since been their home. In the long and eventful experience of the life of her of whom we speak, there were ever shown marks of generous hospitality and kindness. Ever kind in her nature she was always ready to bestow sympathy and assistance as far as possible. Her husband preceded her to the spirit land about five years ago. As the old couple advanced in years their mutual dependence for sympathy and protection increased, until it seemed as if the preservation of the life of one depended upon the other. But when the head and stay was taken, the breach was made which time could not heal. From that time her life was a lonely one, but the bright hope which she had so long cherished of Salvation in Christ, supported and cheered her, ever pointing to that reunion which she would have in the eternal world with the dear ones gone before. And now our Heavenly Father has kindly taken her, and we humbly trust she is reunited to the dear ones, where they will eternally praise God and the Lamb to go no more out. Funeral services were held at the family residence on Friday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Borden of the Reformed church.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in the sickness and death of our dear mother. Also to the choir who assisted at the funeral.

MRS. BOYCE'S FAMILY.

The popular blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla, is having a tremendous sale this season. Nearly everybody takes it. Try it yourself.

THE bird that flutters least in the air remains longest on the wing. The effects of are lasting because it puts the stomache in good working order, and thus the whole system is restored to its normal healthy condition. All druggists.

COUGH! and COUGH!! and COUGH!!!

What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when BEGGS' CHERRY COUGH SYRUP will positively relieve your cough at once? This is no advertising scheme, but an actual fact, and we guarantee it. J. J. ORR, Druggist.

DR. WM. H. THOMPSON of the University of the city of New York says: "The symptoms of diseased kidneys will first appear in the extremely different organs of the body." Treat the kidneys and for the effects of kidney diseases, by using Warner's Safe Cure.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

FOUR NEW STATES

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous and brainy children on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the country whose fertile prairies invite the plow; where the sons of the Nile, where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily in service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana the Golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 40,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile lands, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth; to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta Route or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonists sleepers of its own to from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington—The country of tall timbers, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers enroute for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass thro' Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific coast is the same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

The carpenters began Monday repairing and overhauling the store recently purchased by A. J. Williams, of G. W. Clark, in the way of putting in a new front. etc., and when completed will make a very pleasant place for his hardware business.

Cleaning house and hunting carpet bugs is the present occupation of several of our citizens.

What is the matter of the remaining few lengths of sidewalk on the West side of South street being put down.

Next Sabbath being Easter the pastor will present a discourse in the morning appropriate for the occasion and in the evening the Sabbath school will furnish a very instructive and interesting exercise.

Several from the village attended the sale of the Silvers' property at Tecumseh last week.

Quite a number attended the entertainment at Grange Hall in Macon, on Saturday night given by the Macon Grange, and report a very pleasant time.

George Brothers of Saline have rented Mary Arner's house and will manufacture laundry tables.

Walter Arner, who has been at Augusta for several months past returned home on Thursday of last week. The handle factory he has been at work in has closed for the season.

Chas. Clack left for Indiana, Monday morning to try the realities of a Hoosier's life.

The attendance at the social on Friday evening held at Mrs. G. P. Warings was very encourageing considering the stormy night.

Jesse Potter, having secured a position as clerk in a ready made clothing house at New London Wis. with a better salary than that offered him by the Detroit parties, started for his new place of employment Monday.

Mrs. C. T. B teman of Toledo. O. spent the Sab ath as the guest of Mrs. John Arner.

Clara McNeil of Dundee visited relatives from Saturday until Tuesday.

Ella Miller who has been with her sister Mrs. B. J. Coller of Detroit for several months past returned home Monday.

The L. C. S. will be held at the home of Mrs. Samuel Barlow, on Friday evening of next week. A literary and musical program will be furnished.

Mr. Letsmer and May Bodine of Manchester spent the Sabbath with Lou Arner.

Wm. Riggs, wife and daughter, visited Saline friends Saturday returning Sunday accompanied by her father.

A good many of our young ladies have been having their fortunes told of late, and without an exception they all will sooner or later leave their present state for that of matrimony; wonder who will be first.

Mrs. David Harrison and family desire their friends and neighbors to know that their assistance and kindness during the past few weeks has been much appreciated and worthy of sincere gratitude upon the part of the afflicted family.

MACON MUSIC.

David Howell of Lansing spent last Sunday with friends here.

Organist—Hattie Osgood.

Sugar Will Be High.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Sugar will be high. The sugar trust has advanced the price and the indications are there will be further advances. A prominent broker in raw sugars said Friday that there are many cargoes of raw sugar afloat. The vessels have been detained by many storms that have recently occurred. He did not think that there is a corner in raw sugars but said that the abundance of money to loan in Cuba had enabled many of the planters to hold their crops back.

Strawberries and Coal Ashes.

At the New York experimental station, three years ago, a bed of Sharpless strawberries was planted out and heavily mulched with coal ashes. The object was to see if this material would not act beneficially in keeping down weeds. According to Prof. E. S. Goff's report on the same, it has done this in a marked degree, but this is not all. The yield from the plant has been more abundant than from another bed of the same variety that has received excellent culture of the ordinary kind. The plants have been almost entirely free from blight, tho' the Sharpless blights badly here when grown in the ordinary way. The bed has received no culture since the mulching, except to remove the weeds, that were strong enough to grow through the three inches of coal ashes.

What you need is a medicine which is pure, efficient, reliable. Such is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It posesses peculiar curative powers.

BRITTON BUDGET.

Another scribe at Britton makes a bow and asks the many readers of the HERALD to kindly overlook the numerous mistakes and graciously accord a place in the legions of "pencil pushers."

To an occasional attendant at the church here and Ridgeway the seeming levity, and bad behavior of some of the attendants looks bad for the reputation of their places. Perhaps if it was told of the silly giggle of some young lady and a young man courting his best girl during service it would not sound pretty. Then you young folks put on your best behaviour while at church.

The feed mill owed by Osgood Bros. is doing a rushing business just now, they are having all they can do to supply the demand.

The Exelby House is undergoing repairs of papering and painting and when completed will be a great improvement.

Richard Millson and Pearly Daykin have opened a meat market in the corner store owned by H. Allen. Meat should be cheap in Britton now.

Smith and Ackley have sold their meat market to Lewis Miller and Joseph Thackary; they will continue the business at the old stand.

Jesse Potter took the Wabash Train Monday at Britton for his new home in the West. The best wishes of his many friends here go with him.

The entertainment given at G. A. R. Hall by the Dundee Band was quite well attended there being a grand attendance. We do not pride ourselves on being any thing of an artist but do think there should be some improvement made.

Surprise.

Friday afternoon April 5th, 1889, about 4 o'clock P. M. began to be organized from the Christian Parsonage, one mile east of Britton, a procession of the following families named. Mr. and Mrs Samuel Kniffin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dubois. Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Mr. and Mrs James Wright, Mr. and Mrs Charles Gripton, Mr. and Mrs. John Zeluff, Mr. and Mrs. George Gripton, Mr. and Mrs. George Olver, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kniffin, Mr. and Mrs John Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morrel and daughter Lilley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Hause, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoagland, Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Price. The home of the surprised, James and Delia Haight, was reached about 5 P. M. when Samuel Kniffin, twitched the old John horse, through the gate way and by the house, others following in the procession, while, those of the home stood with astonished gaze as to what all this coming should mean.

But the secret of all this movement was, it, being, their fifteeth weding anniversary, so, it became a good time for those friends to manifest somewhat of an appreciation, for Delia's long and faithful service as a sweet singer in the choir of the first Christian Church of Ridgeway Michigan. Just before the guests were about to prepare a sumptuons tea in the home they had taken possession of, the pastor was invited to present to Delia a set of gilt-band dishes.

It was an evening enjoyed in social intercourse, but Oh the roads! how tedious to drive over. J. W.

Richard Caldwell, of Franklin, is the inventor of a kind of mutable wagon-box, so contrived as to be "pig or puppy," just as you want it. Now it is a simple, honest every-day wagon box; again it is a hay rack. A kind of incantation uttered in connection with a "simple twist of the wrist," and the transformation takes place. A company has been formed at Tecumseh and have rented the rink building as the place to manufacture this contrivance. It is called "The Tecumseh Rack Company." It is thought that the rack can also be made to serve as an incubator, a bee-hive, a photograh gallery, a row-boat and several other useful things, among which is a wood-hauler, whereby half a cord of green water elm can be made to sell in Adrian for a cord of seasoned hickory there being an optical illusion attachment.—Adrian Press.

FOUR MEN SHOT IN A QUARREL.

One Killed and Another Fatally Wounded Over a Claim—A Number of Women on Hand Ready for the Rush—Peace To Be Kept by the Troopers—Rustlers from Texas Who Depend on Their "Guns"—The Lands Surrounded.

WICHITA, Kan., April 15.—A Wichita man came in Saturday evening from the western part of Oklahoma and brings news of a bloody feud over a claim between two Texans and two brothers from Kiowa, Kan. Guns were freely used and one man was killed, one of the opposing force also being mortally wounded. The two remaining men patched up a truce. Finally the fight was renewed, and later in the day the entire party was discovered by cowboys stretched on the prairie, the two last contestants having been wounded. The dead man and three wounded were taken to Buffalo Springs, a stage station.

An arrival from Fort Worth, Tex., says the Oklahoma excitement there is as great as in southern Kansas, and that thousands of people will enter the country from that side, adding that "Texas boys carry little but shooting-irons," and include many hard cases who will cause peaceable settlers much trouble.

Mrs. Polly Young, of Quincy, Ill., widow of a union soldier came in Saturday en route for Oklahoma. She says she wants no escort, and declares her ability to take care of herself. She is determined to have a claim. Miss Nan Minnitta Daisey, well known in Louisville newspaper circles, is also here. She has just come from Purcell, I. T., and says she has located a claim and proposes to occupy it on the 22d. Purcell, she says, is given over to gamblers and fakirs of all kinds. Besides these there are a party of young Kansas "marms" in charge of Miss Bruce, who were driven out by the soldiers, and a party of eight young ladies from Purcell who will battle for a quarter section each.

Some fifty or more families of negroes have left Fort Smith, Ark., for the vicinity of Guthrie, Oklahoma, where they and numerous other colored people will establish a colony.

THE TROOPS AS POLICE.

A Very Wise Measure Adopted by the War Department.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., April 15.—The war department is making extensive preparations to police Oklahoma with mounted troops, and in order to do it as thoroughly as possible is relieving of garrison duty cavalry commands all over the Indian territory. Infantry is being brought in from the garrisons of the east to man the forts, and the troopers will be detailed to act as escorts through the new Eldorado in squads of three and four. The object of this is to prevent disorder and bloodshed. The department has received advices through officers who have passed through the Oklahoma campaign that serious conflicts over homesteads are liable to be of daily occurrence unless the strictest vigilance is maintained.

Every part of ground from the Canadian to the Cherokee strip will be patrolled. Prescribed beats or sections will be assigned to the different commands, and each officer will be held strictly accountable for what happens in his particular territory. It is the first time in many years that the United States army or any portion of it has been converted into a police force. But in this case Secretary Proctor thinks it absolutely necessary to furnish as full protection as possible to all the settlers. It will be weeks before they can organize their town and county governments and appoint officers of their own, hence without the restraining influence of troops, or some other instrument of the law, the better class of settlers would become the legitimate prey of the hundreds of rascals and cutthroats who will flock into the territory for plunder only.

The Border Alive with People.

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 15.—The entire western Arkansas border is a scene of bustling activity. People are striving to get into Oklahoma by the southeastern entrance, which opens by far the richest portion of the new territory. Capt. S. H. Scott, a prominent lawyer of this city, has organized a large colony and proposes to lay out a town site near Kickapoo reservation. Government officials from the Pottawatomie and Iowa reservations report that the neighborhood is fairly alive with a heterogeneous mass of people. Old forty-niners say the scene rivals anything in the old California days. If the present rush continues until the 22nd more than twice as many will be on the southern border of Oklahoma as can be accommodated.

There's a Booming River to Cross.

WICHITA, Kan., April 15.—It is reported that the Cimarron is rising rapidly, threatening the boomers with a new danger, as the river must be crossed to reach Oklahoma and there are no bridges. The ford near Guthrie is the only one now available. A boomer named Gordon is said to have been caught in a quick-sand near King Fisher and drowned, while his team was carried down the river. Two railroad employes are also reported to have been drowned at Guthrie.

Gone to Plead for Oscar Neebe.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Louis Neebe left for Springfield last night and will lay before Gov. Fifer the papers and documents which he has prepared, asking for a pardon for his brother, Oscar Neebe, one of the convicted Anarchists now serving a penitentiary sentence in Joliet. The petition which he carries with him bears the names of Chicago's best-known citizens, among them that of Senator Farwell, who not only signed the petition but agreed to go to Springfield himself and make a personal plea with the governor for the imprisoned man.

LOST.—"I don't know where I can't tell when, I don't how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz: a good appetite."

FOUND.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetit like that of a wolf, regular digstion, all by taking that popular and peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

HERBERT BEECHER IN TROUBLE.

He, with Other Parties, Is Charged with Robbing the Government.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., April 13.—Herbert F. Beecher, the son of the late Henry Ward Beecher; William Harned, and G. A. Brooks, respectively ex-treasury agent, ex-deputy collector, and private citizen, are under indictment here for robbing the government by over charging for clearance and entrance papers and pocketing the overcharge. The case was worked up by special treasury agents and the government is out about $50,000. So far as known the indicted officials Friday filed bonds of $5,000 each to appear for trial next October.

Harned's bondsmen are James Jones, Frank and Albert Bartlett. Beecher's sureties are F. W. Pettygrove, C. W. Hunt, James Jones, and R. K. Labmer. The latter three were on the grand jury that indicted Beecher and Harned. Harned has received a number of sympathizing messages from all over the coast, asserting confidence in his innocence. Beecher has purchased the steamer Libby and will commence steamboating again next week on his old route, down among the lower sound islands. The accused refused to make any statements. The best legal talent in the territory has been procured for the defense. Harned was reported as saying that he could prove his superior officers instigated the deficiencies and were financially benefited by them.

TWIN CITIES ON A TRAMP

Street Car Lines at St. Paul Tied Up Now—Situation at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 13.—Not a wheel was turned on any of the street car lines until 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At that hour a car was started under police protection, but after a run of two or three blocks the conductor ordered the driver to pull back to the barn. It was said that the men gave the conductor $10 to turn back. A second attempt at 2:30 p. m. proved more successful. About a block away from the barn the strikers threw the car from the track, but it was soon put on the rails again and successfully accomplished a round trip. No further attempts were made to run out cars.

The strike of the St. Paul Street Car company's employes was inaugurated on the Lafayette avenue line shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At 4 o'clock all the cars had been run into their respective barns except three on the University avenue line. The latter made trips at intervals in charge of non-union men, but ceased running at 4 o'clock. So far the cattle men have refused to join in the strike, but they will hold a secret meeting, and probably conclude to go out.

IMPORTANT PENSION DECISION.

A Former Decision Rejecting a Claim Reversed and Pension Allowed.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 15.—Assistant Secretary Bussey Friday rendered an important pension decision in the case of Nancy Brooks, mother of Isaac D. Brooks, late private company H, Sixth Ohio volunteers. While the soldier was bathing in Wheeling creek, near West Virginia, July 5, 1865, he was drowned. The application was rejected upon the ground that the death of the soldier had no direct connection with his military duty. The assistant secretary says: "I am of the opinion that the soldier was acting in accordance with and in furtherance of the regulations of the service and the orders of his superior officers requiring him to keep himself in a cleanly condition and the season of the year rendered bathing in the creek the most natural, reasonable and practicable method of complying with his orders. Unless it appears, therefore, that the soldier met his death by drowning, under such circumstances, by reason of his own contributory negligence, or reckless conduct, he would, in my opinion unquestionably be in line of duty." There being no evidence of this character the former decision rejecting the claim is reversed and the pension allowed.

The Loyal Legion in Session.

CINCINNATI, April 11.—The sixth quadrennial congress of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States was called to order at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Commander-in-Chief Rutherford B. Hayes. Among the distinguished officers of the late war present were: Ex-President Hayes, Gen. Lew Wallace, Gen. Albert Ordway, Gen. Cochran, Gen. McMahon, Gen. Carleton, Gen. A. McD. McCook, Gen. D. M. Gregg, and Gen. Lewis Merrill. A banquet at the Gibson house last night was tendered to the visiting delegates by the Ohio commandery.

War on the Binding Twine Trust.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 15.—The Farmers' Alliance throughout southern Indiana is making war upon the monopoly prices of binding twine. A tri-county convention of Warrick, Spencer, and Dubois was held at Boonville Friday and resolutions passed that no member of the alliance would pay more than 12 cents per pound for the twine, and that rather than submit to the combine, as now constructed, they would bind wheat in the old-fashioned way with straw. This action is said to meet the approval of Gibson, Pike, and Posey county farmers, who will meet in convention to pass similar resolutions. The alliance in this district embraces over 6,000 farmers, and they are all indignant at the twine syndicate.

SIGHTED IN A SINKING CONDITION

And Not a Soul on Board—The Boats All Gone and No Signs of the Crew and Passengers, Numbering Nearly 800—The Fate of Her Load of Emigrants Unknown, but Hopes Entertained That They May Have Been Picked Up—The Ship's Name the Danmark, of the Thingvalla Line.

QUEENSTOWN, April 13.—The Inman line steamer City of Chester, Capt. Bond, from New York April 2 for Liverpool, arrived here yesterday. She reports that on April 8, in latitude 48 north, longitude 37 west, she passed the Danish steamer Danmark, from Christiansand, Copenhagen, etc., for New York. The Danmark had been abandoned by her crew.

The Chester sighted her from a distance, and had been struck by the apparent absence of any life on board. She drew near and investigated, and afterward made sure there was no one on board the abandoned wreck. The Chester lay to for several hours. The The stern of the Danmark was on a level with the sea. Her bow was far out of the water in the air.

There were no visible signs of a collision and no wreckage was floating about. The boats were all gone from their davits, and nothing indicating haste and panic was noticeable. After lying near the wreck for some little time the City of Chester proceeded.

The Denmark belonged to the Thingvalla line of steamers plying between New York and Copenhagen. She was formerly the Jan Breydel, of the White Cross line. She is said to have had 700 passengers on board, mostly Scandinavians.

The Denmark was a vessel of 2,260 tons. She was commanded by Capt. Koudsen, was a bark-rigged vessel, and was 340 feet long, 40 feet in breadth and 26 feet deep. She was built at Newcastle, England, in 1880.

NEW YORK, April 15.—None of the vessels which arrived in port yesterday brought any news of the fate of the passengers of the abandoned steamer Danmark. The Amsterdam, from Rotterdam, and La Champagne, from Havre, both reported heavy weather. The Amsterdam passed the spot where the City of Chester had the day before sighted the Danmark, but nothing was then visible.

The steamer Servia and the Polaria, from Hamburg, arrived off Quarantine last evening. Neither bring any news of the Danmark, though they followed about the same course that the Danmark took. They experienced reasonably good weather. The agents of the Thingvalla line hope that the Helvetia or Servia, which are expected to arrive Monday, will bring the Danmark's passengers. It is also possible that some ship has picked up the Danmark's people and made for the Azores, 450 miles from the locality where the Danmark is supposed to have become disabled. There is no telegraphic communication with the Azores.

INDIANA ELECTION CASES.

An Attorney Declares That the Court Is Run on a Partisan Basis.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11.—William Williams, on trial in the federal court for bribery, was acquitted yesterday, and the indictment against John Joyce for assaulting a United States officer on election day was nolled. The case of Martin Dodin, a Democrat of Henry county, was then called, and he was placed on trial for illegal voting. In the argument in the case Attorney Cooper declared that had Dolin been a Republican the indictment, like the rest against nearly all of the Republicans, would have been quashed by the judge. In closing he was careful to make a statement to impress upon the jury that they were not bound to bring a verdict in harmony with the judge's charge. In his embellishment of this statement he also used these words: "I know that the love of party in most men's hearts is stronger than the love of their religion." Judge Woods turned red in the face, but said nothing. The district attorney gave the judge a very elaborate defense in presenting the case for the government.

A FILIBUSTERING SCHEME.

Lower California To Be the Scene of Operations of a Secret Order.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 15.—There is a scheme on foot to capture Lower California. A reporter Saturday found two men who had been asked to join in the undertaking. One of them occupies an official position in this city, and the other is a well known capitalist. To the reporter one said: "The scheme is being worked up throughout a secret order which has a large membership through the south, and they are well organized and number over 1,000 men in the military department, while the civil department takes in many prominent and influential men. I refused to have anything to do with the scheme, but expect to hear from it before long. Any one who has watched the progress of things on the peninsula during the past year, and has known of the existence of this society, can easily see that trouble is brewing.

The Champion Jumper.

CINCINNATI, April 12.—Meredith Stanley, aged 23, who jumped off a suspension bridge here last fall, made a successful jump Thursday afternoon from High bridge, on the Cincinnati Southern railroad, the distance being [illegible] feet. Stanley now claims to be champion of the world and will jump with Steve Brodie or any one else who is worth a challenge. There was no money on the jump, but he has friends who will back him for $500 to $5,000; among them is the father of two young ladies that Stanley saved from drowning in the Ohio river some time ago.

Didn't Break Any Records.

PITTSBURG, April 15.—A six days' go-as you please walking match was begun here April 7 and closed Saturday with Noremac in the lead, he having made 501 miles, 9 laps. There were twelve contestants, and the lowest was Williams—819 miles, 1 lap. Hegleman was second with 487 miles, 1 lap, and Connor third with 486 miles, 1 lap.

WEALTHY TOURISTS KILLED.

Frightful Fate of a Party of Bostonians—Four Persons Dead.

CHICAGO, April 11.—At a little after 4 a. m. yesterday morning, while a dense fog prevailed, an extra freight train on the Atchison, Santa Fe and California railway, following a passenger train, near Lorenzo, Ills., took the 11 in its teeth in a down grade and before the engineer could have the brakes applied it crashed into the rear of the passenger train and wrecked a special palace car in which were a party of wealthy Boston people who were returning home after a visit at Los Angeles, Cal. The persons in the car were R. H. Hart, Miss Alice Winslow, W. H. Hart, and wife and Henry W. Lamb, who comprised the Boston party, Harry, the porter, and Thomas Smith, the cook, both of Los Angeles.

Of these R. H. Hart, Miss Winslow, Harry and Smith were instantly killed; H. W. Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. Hart were severely wounded and scalded, as were Engineer Converse, Brakeman Palmer, and the fireman of the freight train. The wounded were all brought here and taken to the hospital, where the doctors say they are not necessarily fatally wounded, but will be a long time recovering, the principal danger being the scalds on the bodies which may be complicated with pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Hart each have one arm broken.

One of the saddest features of the shocking affair is that Miss Alice Winslow was killed within a few feet of the man who was soon to be her husband. She was engaged to be married to Henry W. Lamb, and the young couple were on their way east to be married when the accident occurred. Lamb himself was badly scalded, but he will recover. The news of his sweetheart's death has not yet been told to him, and it will not be until he has somewhat recovered.

THE HARRISON-CROSBY TROUBLE.

The President's Son Arrested in New York on the Charge of Libel.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Russell Harrison was arrested Thursday afternoon in the Potter building on the charge of having published in his paper, The Montana Live Stock Journal, an article taken from a Buffalo paper accusing ex-Governor John Schuyler Crosby, of Montana, of having stolen jewels from a Washington lady. Mr. Harrison came on from Washington for the purpose of having the papers in the suit served on him. The warrant was issued by Judge Beach, of the supreme court, who fixed bail at $5,000. Stephen B. Elkins and W. J. Arkell became Mr. Harrison's bondsmen. Judge L. Ameraux is Mr. Harrison's counsel and W. A. Sweetzer his attorney.

Mr. Harrison claims that he was not in charge of his paper at the time the article was published and knew nothing about it. When his attention was drawn to the fact that the Buffalo paper had not told the truth he offered to publish a retraction. This, however, Mr. Crosby would not accept. He demanded that Mr. Harrison should write him a personal letter of apology, and also print the same. Mr. Harrison declined.

When asked if he had anything to say regarding his arrest Mr. Harrison replied: "I have nothing to say at the present time. The facts and evidence in the matter will be given to the public in the court proceedings in due time. I will then be able to show absolutely and conclusively that I had nothing to do with the instigation of the story published in the paper and I did not learn of it until the 30th day of April, 1887, six weeks after its publication in The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

SWEPT BY A SEVERE STORM.

CLEVELAND, O., April 13.—A special from New Philadelphia, Ohio, says a cyclone struck the mining town of Beidler yesterday, demolishing six dwellings. William Lewis' 12-year-old daughter was caught in the ruins and fatally injured. Others were badly hurt. Particulars are meager.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 13.—The country along the Ohio from this city for thirty miles, and westward through Belmont county, Ohio, was visited at 6 o'clock last evening by a very heavy storm of rain, wind, and hail, which did great damage to property at a number of places. Half a dozen houses and other building were struck by lightning, and two or three of them were burned.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 13.—A storm yesterday extended over portions of western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and Maryland. At Elk Gorden, Md., lightning killed Farmer John Wetzell. At Franklin, Pa., a large iron tank containing 3,000 barrels of naptha at the Union refinery was struck and destroyed. At Masontown, Pa., the roof of the new $10,000 school building was lifted off, plate-glass windows were broken, and store fronts blown in. At Steubenville, O., hail-stones as large as eggs fell, breaking skylights and windows.

KILLED HER OWN CHILD.

Result of Leaving Fire-Arms Where Children Can Get Them.

CHICAGO, April 13.—While wresting a revolver from the hands of her 11-year-old son Edward, Mrs. Gallory, of No. 3054 Ashland avenue, accidentally put her finger on the trigger of the weapon, and, pulling it, shot her child dead. The weapon was in the chamber of the lad's father, and it is supposed that curiosity prompted him to go there and examine it. His mother followed her son into the room, and urged him to put the gun aside. He did not heed the advice, and his mother, fearing that some fatality would happen to her boy, approached him with the intention of taking away the revolver. A little struggle ensued, the revolver was the central point of the struggle, and the next instant the lad lay dying. When the poor mother realized what her over-precaution had accomplished she swooned away, and on recovering consciousness her grief and lamentations were of the most heartrending character. The ball penetrated the brain, having entered the right eye. Death resulted within half an hour after the shot was fired.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 149 Powers block, Rochester, N. Y.

Actual and Probable Appointments.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 15.—Saturday the president appointed Thomas B. Coulter, of Ohio, auditor of the treasury for the postoffice department; Harrison Geer, collector of customs at Port Huron, Mich.; C. C. Schreeder, postmaster at Huntingburg, Ind. It is said on first class authority that E. S. Lacy, of Michigan, ex representative in congress, will be made comptroller of the currency, and John R. Thomas, of Illinois, first comptroller of the treasury. Charles F. Curtis, of Iowa, has been appointed state agent of the department of agriculture for that state.

Women Are Ineligible.

LONDON, April 13.—The judges of the court of queen's bench Saturday handed down a decision that women are ineligible to serve as members of the London county council. This decision renders the election of Lady Sandhurst to the council void. The county council has taken an appeal to the higher court against the decision.

Friends, Washerwomen, Housekeepers,
Lend me your ears, and hear me for my cause.
The Soap I come to speak about is the Great Santa Claus.
'Tis good for every purpose,
For which a soap is needed,
And joy will bring to every one
Who has wise counsel heeded
And spent a nickel, just to prove
What wonders it will do;
To lighten labor, save expense
And make things bright and new.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR SKIN DISEASES

Of diseases of the skin there are some 12 or 15 classes, in each class from two to four varieties. These are marked according to the particular condition of the blood, for disease of the skin is an effect of the blood. These are either the result of stomach, liver or kidney difficulties, and for a cure must be upon a healthy action of these organs.

My little boy has been troubled with a severe type of Skin Disease, with intense itching and burning, which constantly grew worse until his face was covered with sores. Seeing Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup advertised to cure skin and blood diseases, we tried it, and to our great relief skin was as clear as ever. We believe Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup is a positive cure for Skin and Blood Diseases. MRS. EDMOND PARKER, 55 Summit St., Rochester, N. Y.

SALT RHEUM

I have been troubled with Rheumatism for years, and Salt Rheum have been nearly all over my body. I have used nearly every remedy but found no relief except from Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup. I could not sleep at night. Have been bitter, and never well many years. It is truly a great blood purifier. NELSON MOORE, Wolcott, N. Y.

HIBBARD'S RHEUMATIC SYRUP, BURDOCK, MANDRAKE, [illegible]

A Whole Family Cured

ALTONA, Mich., March 1, 1887. My wife, and baby four of them old, and boy 7 years old, have suffered with Scrofula or King's Evil, it being in their blood. They would at times break out in sores. I have employed the best physicians, but got no lasting benefit. We have used four bottles of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, and to my astonishment they are as well. Words cannot describe how highly we value your medicine. JOHN MUELLERWEISS, Jr., Dealer in groceries and provisions.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The sight of thousands of wild ducks and geese on the Monroe marshes causes a strange inward unrest in the breast of the local sportsman, while outwardly there cometh quick, hot words respecting the prohibitive features of the state game law that rhymeth with the lamb that frisketh on the sod.

Inventors are said to be almost invariably poor men, and Frank Robb, a St. Johns citizen, was no exception to the rule. But he he kept pegging away at his experiments and finally devised a new cross-head for engines, for which eastern parties have just paid him $15,000 for a fourth interest in the patent, and also receiving a royalty on all that are manufactured. He's now at work on two other devices that give promise of making his over lasting fortune.

A South Haven man has just ascertained the whereabouts of a York state sister from whom he hadn't heard in thirty years, although for eight years of that time she lived in an adjoining county.

Bob Anderson is a Port Huron man who earns his bread by making the dust fly with a circular saw. One day the saw had a "fit" and "acted up" as only a circular is capable of doing, and Bob caressed it with his left hand and lost a thumb. Then the saw seemed satisfied and worked beautifully for a time, but one day recently the lumber chewer was taken with a second spell and Bob petted it with the other hand. Now he's the owner of a pair of thumbless hands.

Foreign residents of St. Clair county are getting ready for the spring election, forty-three of 'em having been naturalized in one week.

Port Huron's shipping interests are larger than that of many of the more pretentious cities on the chain of great lakes, and is steadily increasing.

Thomas Kibble, a Fort Gratiot 9-year-old, died recently from the effects of an injury received last fall by the kick of a schoolmate.

During the past twenty-four years, six daily and fifteen weekly newspapers were started in Muskegon, that found untimely graves. Some of the newspaper epitaphs in the local cemetery are very pathetic.

An Iosco county jury that had been locked up for the night or until a verdict was reached, made their escape to a neighboring restaurant and filled up, when they returned to the place from whence they came and promptly disagreed.

Everybody and their cousins, uncles and aunts ought to be able to ride in a road cart—if they so desire—as factories are springing up all over the state. Romeo's new factory has orders for several thousand carts and the necessary buildings aren't yet completed.

Walbman & Grip, Ishpeming contractors, have assigned with $150,000 worth of liabilities. Over 300 men are thrown out of employment thereby.

An Osceola county parson invited a neighboring lady to spend the night at his home and then attempted to take improper liberties with her person. Many of the people of Potts village—where the event occurred—thought a minister ought not to follow the ways of the world so closely, and going to his house, a few days afterward, they treated him to a ride on a rail and other kindred and harrowing exhibitions. He's promised to reform.

The D. and M. Railway company has commenced locking up the fellows who steal rides on its freight trains, as a sort of inducement to make 'em patronize their passenger service or take a tie trip instead.

While digging a well, an Ionia farmer found a chunk of stove-wood forty-nine feet beneath the earth's surface. The probabilities are that it dove down out of sight some blizzardly winter's day to avoid being cremated in the parlor stove, while "sweet sixteen" was listening to charming tales from an ardent wooer.

Port Huron has building and loan association that's not yet six month's old, that has 1,700 shars of live stock, and has already loaned $8,000. The value of these associations to people of small means has been demonstrated over and over again.

Michigan horticulturists assembled at Lansing on the 26th to canvass matters of mutual interest and look at each others big apples that had been successfully wintered.

The beacons of Michigan lighthouses have agains been started for the season, while the life saving crews have been ordered to their respective stations, to be in readiness to rescue perishing seamen from a cold and watery grave.

Soo clergymen seem to have an eye out for the main chance. Rev. S. H. Thompson, of that city, has come out victorious in a law suit that gives him a third interest in $90,000 worth of property, one-half of which has been sold for spot cash.

President Nillits, in his new position of assistant secretary of agriculture, will have charge of disbursements amounting to $1,000,000 annually, his own salary being $4,500. He will direct the movements of the scientific portion of the department.

Ring & Brady's furniture factory at East Saginaw was burned. Loss about $70,000; insurance less than one-half that sum.

Five stores were burned at Mayville involving a loss of $12,500 all of which were insured.

No matter what the temptation may be, don't eat wild parsnips. They're not at all conducive to great longevity. Will Tonser and John Dietz, Lansing boys, both tried it, and Johnny is an angel now, while Will wished he was, also, before the griping pains let up on their deadly work.

Chesaning citizens are unanimous in the desire to get out of Saginaw county and into Shiawassee, and the latter doesn't object to the union, so far as known.

It cost a Shelby man $10 to use naughty language on the streets of that town and if he repeats the experiment the fine may be doubled next time. Served him about right.

The salaries of the professors and employes of the State university foot up a total of $148,000 per year. Like all good things, an education costs money.

The Utica and Oxford M. E. churches are each the recipients of a 1,000-pound bell, presents from wealthy parishioners.

One of those omnipresent fellows—the mining expert—who's roamed about this planet and cast a weather eye at nearly all the principal gold mines of the world, avers that the mines of northern Michigan are the finest on the globe.

By the bursting of a jointer machine in Morgan's shingle mill at Hungerford, Edward and Charles Stewart, brothers, were killed, and several others more or less injured.

A. F. Fellows, an Escanaba gentleman, is the owner of a copper cent that's 103 years old, having been coined in 1786. He believes it to be the oldest United States coin extant.

A recent revival made a Sears woman so happy and communicative that she admitted to having blackmailed a citizen of the town $300 worth. But public indignation became so great that she prudently skipped out to avoid being decorated with a robe of tar and feathers.

Ira Bronson and Elihu Leech, a couple of Calhoun county farmers, got into a squabble over the ownership of a $40 cow and invoked the aid of the courts to solve the problem. The case was first tried in a justice court and worked its way up to the supreme court of the state. It has also worked a nice wad of money out of the pockets of the contestants into those of the lawyers employed to steer it through the breakers.

Frank LaLonde got full of Au Train booze—a very pernicious beverage—and falling under a moving passenger train had his dear young life ground away. Alcohol may have its proper place but that place doesn't seem to be in a man's stomach.

George Murray, the law student at the state university charged with arson, was tried recently in the Washtenaw circuit court and acquitted, the jury rendering a verdict without leaving their seats.

Some cracking good pedagogue, with an authenticated pedigree, can get a job at Oxford, the former principal having resigned to take a government job that failed to come his way.

Fred Ripley was an Au Sable man who was arrested on a charge of bigamy, but was allowed to go unattended in pursuit of a bondsman. The presumption is that bondsmen are scarce in that region, as Fred hasn't yet returned.

Kalamazoo insane asylum has a lady physician—Miss Bertha Van Hoosan, of Ann Arbor. Miss Van Hoosan was instructor of anatomy at the State university when she received her appointment. Gradually women are being recognized in the professions.

An Author as Well as a Journalist.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—Mr. Walter P. Phillips, the general manager of the United Press, while in the city this week disclosed a secret he has hitherto kept from his many friends here. It is that he is writing an elaborate historical work which is to be published early in the coming fall by a prominent New York house. The work is to be finely illustrated, and in every particular a beautiful specimen of typography. Mr. Phillips has a great deal of literary talent as well as business ability, and there is no doubt he will produce a very interesting and attractive work, and one likely to be popular. In the field of fiction he has done considerable high class work all of his stories showing remarkable skill, brilliancy and originality, and as a historian it is likely he will be as successful.

Maggie Mitchell Gets a Divorce.

TRENTON, N. J., April 6.—Maggie Mitchell's petition for a divorce from Henry T. Paddock has been granted. Chancellor McGill signed the decree several days ago upon the conclusions of Col. S. M. Dickinson, advisory master in chancery. She accused her husband of infidelity with Miss Minnie C. Moore, on two occasions, both times in Syracuse, while she and her company were playing there. Paddock denied the charges. He did not appear on the witness stand but agreed to submit the case without argument. The testimony was taken quietly in Jersey City, and Rochester. Mrs. Paddock testified that a letter from Miss Moore to Mr. Paddock and Miss Moore's personal confession that she had been intimate with him were the grounds of her charges.

Capt. Beecher Dismissed.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—The collector of customs at Port Townsend, W. T., has been notified by telegraph to drop Capt. Herbert Beecher from the rolls from the 15th inst. Capt. Beecher is a son of the late Henry Ward Beecher. Secretary Manning appointed him a special agent of the treasury department, with headquarters at Port Townsend. When Gardner, the alleged opium smuggler, was arrested at Ogdensburg, N. Y., a year ago, certain papers in connection with Capt. Beecher were found in his possession. This and other matters were brought to Secretary Windom's attention shortly after he resumed control of the treasury department, and after a full investigation he decided upon Capt. Beecher's dismissal.

Hepburn on Another Tack.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—Congressman Adams went over to the White House Friday to recommend ex-Congressman Hepburn as solicitor of the treasury. Hepburn has given up the idea of being made an inter-state commerce commissioner, and not without reason. As soon as it became known he was after the place some of the other applicants hunted up The Congressional Records that were issued during the time Hepburn was a member of the house, and discovered that he fought the inter-state commerce bill from the time it was introduced. The records would have been used against him had he persisted in his efforts to be made a commissioner, so he wisely withdrew his papers and started out on another tack.

French Patriots Fined.

PARIS, April 6.—Seven members of the Patriotic league have been fined 100 francs each. The members who were fined were Senator Naquet, Deputies Laguerre, Laisant and Turquet, and three others. They were acquitted of the charge of belonging to a secret society, but were fined for belonging to a society not authorized by law. The announcement of the result of the trial was received with cheers for the league and its members. Cries of "Vive Boulanger" were also heard.

Threatened Strike at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 6.—A strike is threatened on the street railway lines unless a discharged conductor on the motor line is reinstated. Supt. Goodrich refused to treat with a committee of the union who waited on him and there will be a meeting of the union to take action. The men claim that the conductor was discharged for making a statement disproving the assertion of the company that they (the company) were not making expenses.

Rabbi Wise's 70th Birthday.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 6.—Plum Street temple was magnificently decorated Saturday afternoon in honor of the 70th birthday of Rev. Dr. I. M. Wise. The programme was very elaborate, including a new composition by Professor Newlinch especially written for the celebration; also a cantata by Rev. Goldstein. The distinguished rabbi was presented with a house and lot valued at $10,400 by his congregation and other presents from personal friends.

Difficult Navigation.

DETROIT, April 4.—The steamer Atlantic got through the ice in the St. Clair river Tuesday night and left for Port Huron yesterday morning. The ice in the river from Harsen's island down to Lake St. Clair almost reaches to the bottom of the river, which perhaps explains the low water in Lake St. Clair. The Flora will not leave until next Tuesday. The City of Alpena left for upper lake ports yesterday morning.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—The president made the following appointments Saturday: Eben E. Rand, of Maine, to be appraiser of merchandise in the district of Portland and Falmouth, Me.; George C. Sturgiss, of West Virginia, to be attorney of the United States for the district of West Virginia.

Epoch

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a common tion to the worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It redlieves in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions to cure, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by every druggist in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you and it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

DR. A. FRASER'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

BAPTIST SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

CELEBRATION OF THEIR FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY BY THE BAPTIST CHURCH OF TECUMSEH.

An Interesting Program of Exercises Presented—Historical Sketches Read—Old Pioneers in Attendance—Personal Reminiscences.

Wednesday, April 10th, marked an even fifty years from the date of the establishment of the Baptist Church of Tecumseh, and on that day the Baptists and their friends gathered together from far and near to appropriately celebrate the event. It was a beautiful day outside and artistic hands, with pictures and flowers, made it a beautiful day inside the church edifice as well. A large collection of portraits of deceased and early members of the church decorated the windows and every available space about the pulpit rostrum and choir patform. Floral ornaments and potted plants adorned the pulpit. The interior of the church, which is attractive at any time, was made doubly so for this special occasion.

At two o'clock in the afternoon a large audience had assembled which was called to order by Rev. F. Adkins. Below we give an outline of the afternoon's exercises.

Singing—Bles be the tie that binds.
Scripture reading by Rev. Garrett, of Morenci.
Prayer by Rev. McLeod, of Laingsburg.
Singing—Zion stands by hills surrounded.
Historical sketch of the church by O. B. Finch.
Singing—Sowing and reaping.
History of the Sunday school by Dr. L. G. North.
History of Missions in the church, by Mrs. Jas. Heck.
Singing—From Greenland's icy mountains.
History of the Ladies' Society, by Miss Carrie Osborn.

Under the head of "Reminiscences" Rev. M. E. Hayne, a former pastor, gave a very pleasing talk, calling to recollection the old times when the church was small and poor compared with its present condition. A letter was read from Mrs. Isaac Adams, who is the only surviving constituent member of the church. A paper by Mrs. Snyder was read by Miss Carrie Colvin. A fine letter was presented from Rev. C. S. Lester, of Benton Harbor. Mrs. O. B. De Wolf and Mrs. Marsh, of Detroit, favored the audience with short talks about the olden times. These personal talks were the most interesting feature of the afternoon's exercises.

Singing—I love Thy kingdom, Lord.
Prayer and benediction by the Pastor closed the program for the afternoon. The meeting then resolved itself into a social gathering and congratulations and hand shaking by old acquaintances were the order until supper was announced.

Bountiful refreshments were provided for all in attendance, both visitors and present members. At 7 o'clock the assemblage was again called to order and the evening program was presented, as follows:

7 p.m.—Hymn, Hail to the Brightness.
Scriptures and prayer by Rev. M. E. Hayne.
Hymn—Blow ye the trumpet, blow.

Rev. Jas. McLeod, of Laingsburg, pastor 1851-55, gave a facetious account of his first introduction to Tecumseh, and of the formidable difficulties encountered. Spoke feelingly of the spiritual blessings enjoyed, rewarding the faith exercised by willing workers.

Rev. M. E. Hayne, pastor 1871-78, made felicitous reference to the varied experiences of his pastorate, and said that such was his attachment to Tecumseh that he would, in common no doubt with other pastors, like to return to it, when able to "retire from business."

Rev. F. Adkins, present incumbent, said that he felt like a hyphen or a dash, connecting the illustrious past with the promising future, and felt very important, as belonging to both epochs. He warned Bro. Hayne and other retiring pastors who proposed to return to Tecumseh to do nothing, that they would in that case be carefully set to work to help forward the enlarging enterprises of the younger generation.

A letter was read from Rev. J. Fletcher, of Plainwell, acting pastor in 1857-8. Also congratulatory letter from Rev. W. H. Babbitt, Presbyterian pastor of Tecumseh.

Hymn—Always with us, always with us.
Necrology—J. H. Osborn.
Hymn—Asleep in Jesus.
Reminiscences—John Fisher, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Marsh and others.
Hymn—Come, let us anew our journey pursue.
Closing prayer and benediction by Rev. Jas. McLeod.

Thus closed a meeting which will long be remembered by our Baptist friends in Tecumseh. Such an occasion happens but once in a life time and it is highly appropriate that it should be observed with music and feasting and prayer. The Sunday school history read by Dr. North we append in full. Some of the other papers read during the meeting will be published hereafter.

Historical Sketch of the Sunday School.

BY DR. L. G. NORTH.

Though Christianity is over 1800 years old it has evidence of vigorous youth. Though men, states, dynasties and civilizations have within that time developed, grown old, decayed and died, it is still young. For a moment I will call your attention to a single evidence of this fact. In their old age men instinctively cling to old objects and to old methods, but christianity at once seizes every advance in science or art, in social life or political affairs, in territorial development and educational improvements and turns them to its own use in advancing the kingdom of our divine Redeemer. So ever abreast of the time, while men and generations fail, the cause goes ever onward and upward. The first complete book ever printed was a bible. For once the Devil was caught napping and the printing press instead of doing its first work in Satan's cause was made to help on the cause of Jesus. I said, "once caught napping," but I said untrue, for when the church is awake and in earnest, the evil one often has been, often is and often will be, by God's help, out-witted and defeated. Robert Raikes organized his first Sunday school because he was a philanthropist, not as a church work, but the church saw its opportunity and turned it to its own transcendent use. Thus the Sunday school is an evidence of the eternal vitality of the church and also an evidence of its divine origin, for what is ever vital must come of divinity. From that time till the present the church has had no more efficient engine than the Sunday school in prosecuting its work. By the side of the fact of the appropriation of the Sunday school by the church to its own noble work lies another important fact that should not be misunderstood or forgotten, viz: The Sunday school should not be an organization separate from the church, or independent of the church, but as our government is of the people, by the people and for the people, so the Sunday school should be of the church, by the church and for the church.

In view of these facts I need make no apology for at this time presenting a history for the Sunday school of this church. I would that full records were at hand from which to draft this history and that an abler pen was to be historian. The records go back but a few years, and back of that I am dependent upon the few now living of the first Sunday school for facts of that early and interesting period. If the facts be not now gathered and put in permanent form they will be lost, for when our centennial comes it will be too late. During forty years the records of the school were separate from the church, and being in fragmentary form were lost. Now that the church elects the officers of the school, the records of the former will contain the records of the latter, and he who writes the centennial history of the school will not be dependent on memory alone for facts. Strange to say Deacon Adam's history of the church contains no allusion to the Sunday school whatever; an omission doubly strange when it is remembered that he was for many years its superintendent.

HISTORY.

The First Baptist Sunday School of Tecumseh was organized in the spring of 1839, within a few weeks of the organization of the church. The meetings were that summer, (the church having no meeting house,) held in the house east of the present east branch school house, on the north-east corner of Chicago and Maumee streets. The building was then owned by the late Perley Bills' father, and in one part of it the former taught a school, the school room being the meeting place of the Sunday school. Of the members of that first school only four now belong to the church, viz: John Fisher, Mrs. Janet Snyder, Mrs. Margaret J. McConnell, and Mrs. Horace Baker. The school was closed during the winter, but it is not now known how long the custom was kept up. As the church records show that there was no stove in the church the latter part of 1841, it is safe to assume that for at least three winters no Sunday school was held. The first school had no singing books, no maps, no library, no lesson helps, no bell, no organ, and Bro. Fisher and Sister Baker remember no officers except Superintendent. Deacon Isaac Adams was the first superintendent and held the office for many years. He led the singing in the church and Sunday school services for years, and this is the tuning-fork which gave the key no one can tell how many hundred times. It is now the property of Deacon Adam's daughter, Mrs. O. B. DeWolf. School was opened by singing from memory mostly, as few had even a church singing book, by prayer and by reciting or reading portions of scripture. Concert scripture reading was not practiced. For a long time, at the

RAISIN VALLEY SEMINARY.

Two students from Elkhart, Ind., arrived the latter part of the week.

The essay classes have been organized. They consist of two divisions. Miss Parker's division will review the seven American Classics. Mr. White Burrough's, Birds and Bees.

The boys have organized a ball nine and are ready to receive challenges.

Two smash ups Tuesday. Frank Judson's horse stumbled and smashed the shafts of his buggy. Charles Skinner met with a similar disaster.

We should judge that the correspondent of the Hudson Gazette received his information a little indirect or exaggerated matters to make them worth reporting. Concerning any such affray as he reported last week, we know nothing about, for we have not had a runaway for a year past, although we have had several smash-ups. Probably the one he refers to, occured the latter part of last term. Three girls wishing to take a ride got into a carriage and went sailing across the lawn. All of a sudden one of their wheels came in contact with a large maple tree, and of course they came to a sudden standstill. The horse was somewhat frightened and some boys who stood near, instead of rushing up and making a bad matter worse, stole cautiously up, and one of them succeeded in catching and holding the horse by a broken tug until the girls had dismounted. No one was able to get hold of the bits as was reported. The buggy was somewhat demoralized, but outside of this no serious damage was done. We fancy our Hudson friend would have made a great display of his gallantry and heroism before the fair sex, and imagine we see him sailing after a runaway horse.

OBITUARY.

Died, March 30, 1889, aged 26 years, 10 months, Kate Lilian Southworth, daughter of Albert and Antoinette Southworth. Her health was delicate all her life, until about a year and a half ago she seemed for a time much better, and she had good hopes of permanent recovery. While visiting in Iowa last year, she fell and broke one of the ligaments of her knee. Since that time she gradually declined till her death. She was a great sufferer for months before her death, and bore it patiently until finally the extreme pain brought on delirium. Kate was a girl of fine appearance, and of a pleasant disposition, and was much loved by all who knew her intimately. She had never made a public profession of religion, but while in Iowa, had decided to unite with the Methodist Episcopal church on her return home, and would have done so had her health permitted. I think she was a Christian and she expressed herself as ready to die if it was God's will, tho' she had a natural desire to live. Her family and friends mourn their loss, but they cannot but think her death a sweet release to her from a pain greater than falls to the lot of most.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Next Sunday is Easter.

Gertie Sweet is sick with pneumonia.

The Common Sense rack has been photographed.

S. P. Hosmer is building a new barn on his village lot.

Mrs. C. T. Cummins returned to Chicago on Tuesday.

Easter comes unusually late this year, but at a very pleasant season.

Chas. Temple has taken a position as clerk at Heesen's clothing store.

Mrs. Fanny Thorpe, of Milan, is spending a few days at Theo. Crane's.

A band concert and dance will be given at the opera house Monday evening, April 29th.

Last week A. W. Slayton advertised his piano and sold it. He now wants to sell an office desk and safe very cheap.

Mrs. L. M. VanTine started for Oscoda last Monday, having been summoned by the sudden illness of her sister, Mrs. Hicks.

A Sabbath school concert will be given at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. Program appropriate to Easter season.

We call attention to the card of E. W. Freese & Son, of Clinton, which appears on our first page this week. They are making great preparations for a big sale on Saturday.

Mrs. Kate Cleveland, clairvoyant and medium, can be consulted at her residence corner Maumee and Shawnee sts., Tecumseh, Monday, Apr. 22, for one week. Hours from 1 to 8 p.m.

The next regular meeting of Macon Grange will be held Saturday eve., April 20. All members are requested to be present, as there is important business to come before the meeting.

The Michigan State Gazateer for 1889 is at hand, and is by all odds the most complete number of that compilation yet issued. Every business man ought to have one in his counting room.

The Tecumseh Rack Co. have a large force of hands at work this week. Several large orders have already been booked and the business has opened up beyond their most sanguine expectations.

The Library association will give a public entertainment at the opera house Friday evening, April 26. The program will consist of a fan drill by a company of handsome young ladies, music, ice cream and cake. Admission 10c.

The Farmer's Union will hold a special meeting Friday evening, April 26, at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Minor Davidson, for the purpose of transacting some important business concerning the central organization. By order of the Pres., M. Davidson.
EMMA BROWN, Sec.

It seems like old times to see B. L. Baxter occupying his old home once more. He has been a resident of our village almost continuously since 1831, when his father, Levi Baxter came here, except a period from 1883 to '89, when he resided at Battle Creek. He held the ownership of his family homestead however and has now returned to the old domicile.

H. V. C. Hart has started a wood yard. How it happened is this: Last fall a friend of our worthy cashier, who was visiting here, promised to send down some kindling from Saginaw. To day sure enough, a carlord came, and with it a bill for $18 freight. Don't forget to call on Herm. if you are in need of kindling.—Adrian Times.

Services in St. Peter's church during holy week and Easter day. Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and every day thereafter through the week. On Good Friday there will be services both morning and evening and a sermon on each occasion. Rev. Mr. Peters will assist the Rector in the evening and preach the sermon. On Easter Day the usual early service will be at 6 o'clock and the second service at 10:30 a.m., when a sermon will be preached, and the two sacraments administered by the Rector.

John H. Gordon and Miss Eugenia Church were married on April 8th by Rev. Wm. H. Babbitt. The groom has been for several years a faithful employee in the family of the late Judge Stacy, and the bride is well known in this community. They began the duties of married life by commencing housekeeping at once in a neat little home in the western part of the village. John has waited a good while, but to his own good fortune, and to the verification of the old adage that "patient waiters are no losers." The HERALD extends its hearty congratulations.

Mrs. L. M. Jones is on the sick list.

Dr. Wm. Burtless of Pontiac, was in town over Sunday.

Mrs. J. Davidson visited friends at Jackson the first of the week.

A number of Knights Templar visited the Adrian lodge Tuesday evening.

The Tecumseh Bi. club are preparing for a May party.

P. W. Adams got home from his Delaware trip day before yesterday.

A. D. Hall went to St. Louis last Saturday to attend the funeral of a nephew.

Hats till you can't rest. Look at the show of hats in Strong & McNair's corner window.

Dr. Trask of White Cloud, who has been the guest of R. Morrison during the past week, returned home on Monday.

Hudson Conkling has sold out his interest in Brewer's foundry to P. S. McKinnon and will retire from business.

Wm. Smith's family have moved back into his own house, west of Abner Wilson's, on the north side of the street.

Mont Trask rode down on his bicycle from White Cloud yesterday and will spend a few days with R. Morrison and family.

Roy DeWolf and Bert Baker went to Sand Lake last Saturday to inspect the DeWolf cottage in anticipation of the coming season.

Miss Mamie Osborn returned from the Normal school Saturday, being compelled to give up her studies from sickness.

Work was commenced on Brunt Knapp's new residence last Saturday, and the cellar is nearly ready for the foundation walls.

Jennie Root has got just twenty pupils in her music class—an even twenty. There ought to be luck in even numbers in this case.

C. A. Howard, representing the firm of H. H. Warner & Co., of Rochester, N. Y. was in town yesterday and paid his respects at the HERALD office.

Lost in this village, a silver cross bearing the initials H. I. N., with a pin attached. The finder will please leave it at the HERALD office.

Fire was started in the cemetery last Sunday by boys throwing cigar stubs in the grass, and several graves were badly mutilated before it was put out.

There will be a special meeting of the Union Labor Club at K. of L. hall Thursday eve'g, April 18th, at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

The Michigan "Red Book" for 1889 has arrived. This book is one of the most useful statistical compendiums that comes to our sanctum. It fills a soft corner in the office library.

The entertainment given by Macon Grange on Saturday evening, the 13th inst., was a decided success. The program was good and well sustained in all its parts. The evening was fine and the roads good. The hall was packed to overflowing—Receipts, $16.

Co. C. underwent inspection Tuesday night, Gen. F. D. Newberry of Coldwater, being present. The boys turned out 37 strong and were complimented on their fine appearance. The company will be supplied with new uniforms which will be patterned after the regular army dress.

M. E. Conklin is getting started on his spring campaign for the Walter A. Wood machines. There are many improvements this year, among which a single canvass for the binder. Met says he is going to eclipse the record and sell more machines than ever this year.

Milo Dole, the foreman of the Adrian Press job rooms for the past few years, has accepted a position in the composing room of the Detroit Free Press. Mr. Dole has many acquaintances in Tecumseh and Raisin who will wish him much success in his new field of labor.

Fills the bill in every respect, can be asserted of the May number of "Peterson." The New York Tribune well says: "A proof that excellence and cheapness can be united is found in 'Peterson.' This popular periodical cannot be too highly recommended." Terms, $2 00 a year. Address Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, Pa.

A flag social will be given at the Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening, April 23d, '89, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Admission 15c. Program:

Overture—Medley of National airs.
Columbia's tea party by 50 children.
Song—Star Spangled Banner.
The American Trio—Duet and chorus.
Recitation and chorus from Yankee Doodle.
The Red, White and Blue—Solo and chorus with grand march.

PROCLAMATION—ARBOR DAY.

An old proverb tells us "That he who plants a tree loves others besides himself."

The voices of Spring again remind us of life and lives to come, and of duties to others, that only the recurring seasons can ripen for enjoyment. In glad accord with a happy custom, I designate as Arbor Day, for all that portion of the State lying south of the north line of Mason, Lake, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin and Arenac counties, Saturday, April 20th, and for all that portion of the State lying north of such line, Saturday, May 4th.

The axe and saw are fast disrobing our fertile State of her native green, and only those who are willing to plant and wait their reward, can give back to her and her rich soil the blessings she would preserve to our children.

The blazed and crooked path, thro' the dark forest, a few years since, has changed to the now dusty and shadeless highway.

Looking to the beauty, comfort and good of Michigan in days to come, wisely do our laws invite the adornment of highways, by providing that:

"Shade trees shall be planted along both sides of the public highways at the uniform distance, as near as may be, of sixty feet apart, and not less than twenty-three nor more than twenty-five feet from the center of the highway," and that, "Any person planting shade trees along the highways, adjacent to property owned or occupied by such person, shall be entitled to be credited twenty five cents upon his highway tax for every tree so planted, but not to exceed in the aggregate twenty-five per cent. of such person's highway tax in any one year."

On the Arbor Days appointed, let the tree planting be in such appropriate spot or place as the judgment may select, but more especially would I urge, that this year, our roadsides and thoroughfares be remembered.

To the loyalty of a State, that has ever been true,
And "builded better than it knew."

CYRUS G. LUCE.
G. R. OSMUN, Secy' of State.

THE WEST END MARKET.

Friends, Romans, and country men! Lend us your ears. Listen to the voice of wisdom. We are here to serve you. We are now nicely settled in our new and commodious quarters, one door west of the old stand, where we have plenty of room to keep in good condition a large stock of fresh meats of all kinds. Salt meats and sausage are always in stock. A full line of canned goods will be kept. We take extra care in making our purchases and hence our fresh meats are always popular with the best cooks. We give full measure, sell at the lowest living rate. In short our aim is to please our customers. Give us a call and be convinced.

I have been a sufferer from catarrh for the past eight years. Have tried a number of remedies advertised as "sure cures" without obtaining any relief. I had resolved never to take any other patent medicine, when a friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm. I did so with great reluctance, but can now testify with pleasure that after using it for six weeks I believe myself cured. It is a most agreeable remedy—an invaluable Balm.—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Av., Brooklyn.

CONSUMPTION

THE TWO COMMANDMENTS.

LESSON III, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 21.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xii, 28-34—Commit Verses 30, 31—Golden Text, Rom. xiii, 10—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Let us bear in mind that we are in these lessons in the last week of our Saviour's life on earth, and only two or three days before His crucifixion. He is speaking His last words to them, and every word is weightier than they imagined, and of more importance than even we have yet seen.

28. "And one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, and perceiving that He had answered them well, asked Him, Which is the first commandment of all?" From Matt. xxii, 34, 35, we learn that this scribe was a lawyer and a Pharisee, [illegible] Him. That any man or company of men should think that they could entangle Jesus in His talk, or catch Him in His words, and to that end feign themselves just men (Matt. xxii, 15; Mark xii, 13; Luke xx, 20), seems to us very foolish indeed; but we must remember that they did not know Jesus and were blinded because of their unbelief. What seems more strange is, that even now in our day there is just the same spirit that was manifest in these unbelieving questioners. Any one who has much to do with teaching Bible classes knows that there are everywhere men and women who seem to delight in argument, and in asking questions that have no profit in them, and happy is that teacher who can reply to each with a "Thus saith the Lord." Not only the Scribes and Pharisees, but also the disciples, were often found reasoning in their hearts (Mark ii, 6, 8; viii, 16, 17) instead of meekly sitting like Mary at Jesus' feet to hear and receive His word (Luke x, 39; Jas. i, 21).

29. "Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; the Lord our God is one Lord." In this and the next verse of our lesson Jesus quotes from Deut. vi, 4, 5; the word dwelt in Him richly and He had an answer for every one from it. When tempted by Satan He overcame him by quoting from this book of the law, and how often we find Him saying "It is written," or "Have ye never read in the scriptures?" It is the sword of the Spirit with which we must become familiar if we would be soldiers of Christ, and use it skillfully both for our own defense and for the overthrow of the enemy.

30. "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is the first commandment." When God spoke from the smoking, quaking, cloud covered Mount Sinai, out of the midst of the fire, the words of the ten commandments, of which the Saviour here gives the sum, He prefaced them with these words: "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage" (Ex. xx, 1-3), and more than eighty times this fact is mentioned in the law, the prophets and the psalms, either as an evidence of His great love or as a reason why they should obey Him.

31. "And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these." As love to God comprehends the first four of the 10 commandments, so love to man comprehends the other six, and is our golden text. "Love is the fulfilling of the law" (Rom. xiii, 10). The apostle Paul says: "Now abideth faith, hope, love, these three, and the greatest of these is love" (1 Corinthians xiii, 13).

Faith, Hope and Love are the three cords
Are twisted by the angels
Of all they touch
Hope shall to full fruition rise,
And faith be sight above,
These are the angels' [illegible]
For saints forever [illegible]

These very words, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," are another quotation from the law of Moses, and are found in Lev. xix, 18. When we think of the full significance of this love as defined in 1 Cor. xiii, 4-7, long suffering, kind, free from envy, not vaunting itself, not puffed up nor behaving unseemly, seeking not her own, not provoked, thinking no evil, etc., where can we look for any illustration of it except in Him who in our lesson has thus replied to this scribe? It is as if He said to him, In Moses you find the law, but in me you find the law fulfilled, for that law is in my heart, and I came to fulfill all righteousness, receive me, poor, helpless sinner, and I will be to you the end of the law for righteousness; yea, I will be your righteousness. (Ps. xl, 8; Matt. iii, 15; Rom. x, 4; 1 Cor. i, 30.)

32. "And the scribe said unto Him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth: for there is one God; and there is none other but He." The scribe believed in one God and thus far accepted the truth, but he was blind to the fact that the Truth stood before him in human form, God manifest in the flesh. He knew that the God of Israel once tabernacled in a tent in the wilderness, and also at Gilgal and Shiloh in the Holy land, and afterwards in Solomon's temple at Jerusalem, but he did not know that at the same God had now come and had already tabernacled among them more than thirty years in the body prepared for Him (John i, 14; Heb. x, 5) and that it was He that talked with him. Oh if his eyes could only have been opened, what blessings eternal might have been his, and all within his reach that moment.

33. "And to love Him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbor as himself, is more than whole burnt offerings and sacrifices." Truly this man seems enlightened, he not only knew the truth when he heard it, but he seemed to understand it, and to know the difference between outward, formal worship and real heart service; he seemed to understand that no amount of burnt offering or sacrifice would avail unless there was on the part of the offerer a spirit of true obedience and a grateful sense of the love of God.

34. "And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, He said unto him, Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God." He knew the truth, he understood the truth, he spoke well of the truth, but he did not receive the truth. He was very near entering in, just at the door, and the door was open, but we do not read that he entered in. He was in a measure convicted, but not converted. How near one may be to the Kingdom without entering in is made awfully clear in Heb. vi, 4-6, R. V., where we are told of some who were enlightened, tasted the heavenly gift, were made partakers of the Holy Ghost, tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the age to come, and yet fell away. (John x, 27-29; 1 John ii, 19; Phil. i, 6, and other passages make it unmistakably clear that the truly saved are forever saved; but Heb. vi, 4-6; x, 26-29; II Pet. ii, 20-22, tell us how much one may know and enjoy, and yet be lost; how very near one may be and yet not enter in. "The Lord Jesus Christ is the only Saviour, and the only saved ones are those who are truly in Him.

MORTGAGE SALE.

By a certain indenture of mortgage bearing date the first day of February, A. D., 1886, made and executed by Charles Holtz, Sr. and Charles Holtz, Jr., of Ridgeway, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, to George Exelby of the same town, county, and state, and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan on the 27th day of March, A. D. 1886, in liber 114 of Mortgages, on page 681, the said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr., mortgaged to the said George Exelby all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the township of Ridgeway in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan and described as follows, to wit: The south half of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section number ten (10), town six (6) south, of range five (5) east, containing twenty (20) acres of land more or less, being the same land this day conveyed by said George Exelby to said Charles Holtz, Sr., and Charles Holtz, Jr. Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage, whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative, and there is claimed to be due and unpaid thereon at this date the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred and Sixty-seven and 57-100 Dollars ($1367.57) and no suit or proceedings at law or in chancery have been instituted to collect the same or any part thereof. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgaged premises will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on the 6th day of May, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian in said county of Lenawee, said court house being the place of holding the circuit court for said county of Lenawee, to satisfy the amount now due, together with all legal costs and charges of this foreclosure.

Dated Feb. 1st, 1889.

GEORGE EXELBY,
feb7 Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage (whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative) bearing date the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887, executed and delivered by Thomas Savage to John Reiney and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lenawee County State of Michigan, on the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887, in Liber 117 of mortgages on page 420, upon which mortgage there remains due and unpaid at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Sixty Six and 1-2-100 Dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to collect the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon and costs of this foreclosure and sale including the attorney fee as provided by law, I shall on the 1st day of June, A.D. 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan (that being the place where the circuit court for said county is holden) all those pieces or parcels of land [illegible] JOHN REINEY, Mortgagee. [illegible] Attorneys for Mortgagee. [illegible]

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage made by John C. O'Neil to Jennie O'Neil, the undersigned, Albert Hyde, dated the 29th day of October, A.D., 1887, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Lenawee County, Michigan, in Liber 102, of Mortgages on page [illegible] on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and owing at the date hereof for principal and interest the sum of Seventy-seven and 22-100 with the further sum of Three Hundred Dollars of principal with interest thereon accruing at seven per cent per annum since the 29th day of October, 1888, hereafter to become due, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to recover the payment of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power and provisions in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such case made and provided for the purpose of realizing the moneys so as aforesaid due and owing on said mortgage together with interest to accrue thereon, and costs of this foreclosure and sale including also an attorney's fee as provided by law, subject to the lien of the said moneys hereafter to become due, I shall on the 22d day of June, A.D., 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, Lenawee County, Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for said County of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder all that parcel of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the southwest corner of lot five (5) on block ten (10) of Wm. H. An interesting letter for Ladies:

Hastings Centre, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted, and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain, MARY H. BEEMAN.

That dreaded backache can be Cured

Rochester, N. Y., August 2, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co.—Dear Sir—Allow me to recommend your medicine to anyone suffering from backache and kidney trouble. It has cured me entirely, and I am quite sure will do the same for anyone who will give it a fair trial. Yours truly, MRS. A. W. KELLEY, 59 Courtland st., N. Y.

The Great War Syndicate.

Its vessels, eight of which were on the Atlantic coast and two on the Pacific, were rapidly prepared for the peculiar service in which they were to be engaged. The resources of the syndicate were great, and in a very short time several of their vessels, already heavily plated with steel, were furnished with an additional outside armor, formed of strips of elastic steel, each reaching from the gunwales nearly to the surface of the water. These strips, about a foot wide, and placed an inch or two apart, were each backed by several powerful air buffers, so that a ball striking one or more of them would be deprived of much of its momentum. The experiments upon the steel spring and buffers adopted by the syndicate showed that the force of the heaviest cannonading was almost deadened by the powerful elasticity of this armor.

SECTIONAL VIEW OF SIDE OF REPELLER NO. 1.

The armament of each vessel consisted of but one gun, of large caliber, placed on the forward deck, and protected by a bomb proof covering. Each vessel was manned by a captain and crew from the merchant service, from whom no warlike duties were expected. The fighting operations were in charge of a small body of men, composed of two or three scientific specialists and some practical gunners and their assistants. A few bomb proof canopies and a curved steel deck completed the defenses of the vessel.

Besides equipping this little navy, the syndicate set about the construction of certain sea going vessels of an extraordinary kind. So great were the facilities at its command, and so thorough and complete its methods, that ten or a dozen shipyards and foundries were set to work simultaneously to build one of these ships. In a marvelously short time the syndicate possessed several of them ready for action.

These vessels became technically known as "crabs." They were not large, and the only part of them which projected above the water, was the middle of an elliptical deck, slightly convex, and heavily mailed with ribs of steel. These vessels were fitted with electric engines of extraordinary power, and were capable of great speed. At their bows, fully protected by the overhanging deck, was the machinery by which their peculiar work was to be accomplished. The syndicate intended to confine itself to marine operations, and for the present it was contented with these two classes of vessels.

The armament for each of the large vessels, as has been said before, consisted of a single gun of long range, and the ammunition was confined entirely to a new style of projectile, which had never yet been used in warfare. The material and construction of this projectile were known only to three members of the syndicate, who had invented and perfected it, and it was on account of their possession of this secret that they had been invited to join that body.

SECTIONAL VIEW OF REPELLER'S BOW, SHOWING:

A, gigantic gun used in projecting the instantaneous motor; BB, incline elevator used in loading gun; C, loading chamber; D, bomb proof hood to gun.

This projectile was not, in the ordinary sense of the word, an explosive, and was named by its inventors "The Instantaneous Motor." It was discharged from an ordinary cannon, but no gunpowder or other explosive compound was used to propel it. The bomb possessed in itself the necessary power of propulsion, and the gun was used merely to give it the proper direction.

These bombs were cylindrical in form, and pointed at the outer end. They were filled with hundreds of small tubes, each radiating outward from a central line. Those in the middle third of the bomb pointed directly outward, while those in its front portion were inclined forward at a slight angle, and those in the rear portion backward at the same angle. One tube at the end of the bomb, and pointing directly backward, furnished the motive power.

Each of these tubes could exert a force sufficient to move an ordinary train of passenger cars one mile, and this power could be exerted instantaneously, so that the difference in time in the starting of a train at one end of the mile and its arrival at the other would not be appreciable. The difference in concussionary force between a train moving at the rate of a mile in two minutes, or even one minute, and another train which moves a mile in an instant, can easily be imagined.

In these bombs those tubes which might direct their powers downward or laterally upon the earth were capable of instantaneously propelling every portion of solid ground or rock to a distance of two or three hundred yards, while the particles of objects on the surface of the earth were instantaneously removed to a far greater distance. The tube which propelled the bomb was of a force graduated according to circumstances, and it would carry a bomb to as great a distance as accurate observation for purposes of aim could be made. Its force was brought into action while in the cannon by means of electricity, while the same effect was produced in the other tubes by the concussion of the steel head against the object aimed at.

The method of aiming was as novel as the bomb itself. In this process nothing depended on the eyesight of the gunner; the personal equation was entirely eliminated. The gun was so mounted that its direction was accurately indicated by graduated scales; there was an instrument which was acted upon by the dip, rise or roll of the vessel, and which showed at any moment the position of the gun with reference to the plane of the sea surface.

Before the discharge of the cannon an observation was taken by one of the scientific men which accurately determined the distance to the object to be aimed at, and reference to a carefully prepared mathematical table showed to what points on the graduated scales the gun should be adjusted; and the instant that the muzzle of the cannon was in the position that it was when the observation was taken a button was touched, and the bomb was instantaneously placed on the spot aimed at. The exactness with which the propelling force of the bomb could be determined was an important factor in this method of aiming.

As soon as three of the spring armored vessels and five "crabs" were completed, the syndicate felt itself ready to begin operations. It was indeed time. The seas had been covered with American and British merchantmen hastening homeward, or to friendly ports, before the actual commencement of hostilities. But all had not been fortunate enough to reach safety within the limits of time allowed, and several American merchantmen had been already captured by fast British cruisers.

The members of the syndicate well understood that if a war was to be carried on as they desired, they must strike the first real blow. Comparatively speaking, a very short time had elapsed since the declaration of war, and the opportunity to take the initiative was still open.

It was in order to take this initiative that, in the early hours of a July morning, two of the syndicate's armored vessels, each accompanied by a crab, steamed out of a New England port, and headed for the point on the Canadian coast where it had been decided to open the campaign.

The vessels of the syndicate had no individual names. The spring armored ships were termed "repellers," and were numbered, and the crabs were known by the letters of the alphabet. Each repeller was in charge of a director of naval operations; and the whole naval force of the syndicate was under the command of a director-in-chief. On this momentous occasion this officer was on board of Repeller No. 1, and commanded the little fleet.

The repellers had never been vessels of great speed, and their present armor of steel strips, the lower portion of which was frequently under water, considerably retarded their progress, but each of them was taken in tow by one of the swift and powerful crabs, and with this assistance they made very good time, reaching their destination on the morning of the second day.

It was on a breezy day, with a cloudy sky, and the sea moderately smooth, that the little fleet of the syndicate lay to off the harbor of one of the principal Canadian seaports. About five miles away the headlands on either side of the mouth of the harbor could plainly be seen. It had been decided that Repeller No. 1 should begin operations. Accordingly, that vessel steamed about a mile nearer the harbor, accompanied by Crab A. The other repeller and crab remained in their first position, ready to act in case they should be needed.

The approach of two vessels, evidently men-of-war, and carrying the American flag, was perceived from the forts and redoubts at the mouth of the harbor, and the news quickly spread to the city and to the vessels in port. Intense excitement ensued on land and water, among the citizens of the place as well as its defenders. Every man who had a post of duty was instantly at it; and in less than half an hour the British man-of-war Scarabæus, which had been lying at anchor a short distance outside the harbor, came steaming out to meet the enemy. There were other naval vessels in port, but they required more time to be put in readiness for action.

As soon as the approach of Scarabæus was perceived by Repeller No. 1, a boat bearing a white flag was lowered from that vessel and was rapidly rowed toward the British ship. When the latter saw the boat coming she lay to, and waited its arrival. A note was delivered to the captain of the Scarabæus, in which it was stated that the syndicate, which had undertaken on the part of the United States the conduct of the war between that country and Great Britain, was now prepared to demand the surrender of this city, with its forts and defenses, and all vessels within its harbor; and, as a first step, the immediate surrender of the vessel to the commander of which this note was delivered.

The overwhelming effrontery of this demand caused the commander of the Scarabæus to doubt whether he had to deal with a raving lunatic or a blustering fool; but he informed the person in charge of the flag of truce boat that he would give him fifteen minutes in which to get back to his vessel, and that he would then open fire upon that craft.

The men who rowed the little boat were not men-of-war's men, and were unaccustomed to duties of this kind. In eight minutes they had reached their vessel and were safe on board.

Just seven minutes afterward the first shot came from the Scarabæus. It passed over Repeller No. 1, and that vessel, instead of replying, immediately steamed nearer her adversary. The director-in-chief desired to determine the effect of an active cannonade upon the new armor, and therefore ordered the vessel placed in such a position that the Englishman might have the best opportunity for using it as a target.

The Scarabæus lost no time in availing herself of the facilities offered. She was a large and powerful ship, with a heavy armament; and, soon getting the range of the syndicate's vessel, she hurled ball after ball upon her striped side. Repeller No. 1 made no reply, but quietly submitted to the terrible bombardment. Some of the great shot jarred her from bow to stern, but not one of them broke a steel spring, nor penetrated the heavy inside plates.

After half an hour of this work the director-in-chief became satisfied that the new armor had well acquitted itself in the severe trial to which it had been subjected. Some of the air buffers had been disabled, probably on account of faults in their construction, but these could readily be replaced, and no further injury had been done the vessel. It was not necessary, therefore, to continue the experiment any longer, and besides there was danger that the Englishman perceiving that his antagonist did not appear to be affected by his fire, would approach closer and endeavor to ram her. This was to be avoided, for the Scarabæus was a much larger vessel than Repeller No. 1, and able to run into the latter and sink her by mere preponderance of weight.

It was, therefore, decided to now test the powers of the crabs. Signals were made from Repeller No. 1 to Crab A, which had been lying with the larger vessel between it and the enemy. These signals were made by jets of dense black smoke, which were ejected from a small pipe on the repeller. These slender columns of smoke preserved their cylindrical forms for some moments, and were visible at a great distance by day or night, being illuminated in the latter case by electric light. The length and frequency of these jets were regulated by an instrument in the director's room. Thus, by means of long and short puffs, with the proper use of intervals, a message could be projected into the air as a telegraphic instrument would mark it upon paper.

In this manner Crab A was ordered to immediately proceed to the attack of the Scarabæus. The almost submerged vessel steamed rapidly from behind her consort, and made for the British man-of-war.

When the latter vessel perceived the approach of this turtle backed object, squirting little jets of black smoke as she replied to the orders from the repeller, there was great amazement on board. The crab had not been seen before, but as it came rapidly on there was no time for curiosity or discussion, and several heavy guns were brought to bear upon it. It was difficult to hit a rapidly moving flat object scarcely above the surface of the water; and although several shot struck the crab, they glanced off without in the least interfering with its progress.

Crab A soon came so near the Scarabæus that it was impossible to depress the guns of the latter so as to strike her. The great vessel was, therefore headed toward its assailant, and under a full head of steam dashed directly at it to run it down. But the crab could turn as upon a pivot, and shooting to one side allowed the surging man-of-war to pass it.

Perceiving instantly that it would be difficult to strike this nimble and almost submerged adversary, the commander of the Scarabæus thought it well to let it alone for the present, and to bear down with all speed upon the repeller. But it was easier to hit the crab than to leave it behind. It was capable of great speed, and, following the British vessel, it quickly came up with her.

The course of the Scarabæus was instantly changed, and every effort was made to get the vessel into a position to run down the crab. But this was not easy for so large a ship, and Crab A seemed to have no difficulty in keeping close to her stern.

Several machine guns especially adapted for firing at torpedo boats, or any hostile craft which might be discovered close to a vessel, were now brought to bear upon the crab, and ball after ball was hurled at her. Some of these struck, but glanced off, without penetrating her tough armor.

These maneuvers had not continued long when the crew of the crab was ready to bring into action the peculiar apparatus of that peculiar craft. An enormous pair of iron forceps, each massive limb of which measured twelve feet or more in length, was run out in front of the crab at a depth of six or eight feet below the surface. These forceps were acted upon by an electric engine of immense power, by which they could be shut, opened, projected, withdrawn or turned and twisted.

The crab darted forward, and in the next instant the great teeth of her pincers were fastened with a tremendous grip upon the rudder and rudder post of the Scarabæus.

Then followed a sudden twist, which sent a thrill through both vessels, a crash, a backward jerk, the snapping of a chain, and in a moment the great rudder, with half of the rudder port attached, was torn from the vessel, and as the forceps opened it dropped to leeward and hung dangling by one chain.

Again the forceps opened wide; again there was a rush, and this time the huge jaws closed upon the rapidly revolving screw propeller. There was a tremendous crash, and the small but massive crab turned over so far that for an instant one of its sides was plainly visible above the water. The blades of the propeller were crushed and shivered; those parts of the steamer's engines connecting with the propeller shaft were snapped and rent apart, while the propeller shaft itself was broken by the violent stoppage.

The crab, which had quickly righted, now backed, still holding the crushed propeller in its iron grasp, and as it moved away from the Scarabæus, it extracted about forty feet of its propeller shaft; then, opening its massive jaws, it allowed the useless mass of iron to drop to the bottom of the sea.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

Are You Taking It?

"Are you taking the F. E. C. Kidney Remedy?" is becoming a common inquiry. The F. E. C. is known to be an honest remedy and is doing a world of good. J. J. Orr sells it.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Caligraph Type Writers.

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Typewriter Table. This change is effected by lifting the lid covering the machine back in the cabinet—it being a roller top—removing the machine from sight, thus covering it, and pushing it back and sounding in front of the desk proper. The lid or top is perfectly flat, so that it is converted into a nice writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is supported by our patent adjustable arm, which can be moved with the touch of a button, to bring the machine to any position desired.

Second.—The table is so [illegible] that it will not get out of order. The table is [illegible] of heavy cast iron arms, that will not get out of order, and are so constructed that they can be brought into place for use, [illegible] or hangers at most of present [illegible] rapidly in place or vice versa. [illegible] the table for the machine to be [illegible] back of the table [illegible] machine rests on [illegible] shelves [illegible] in place, and can be moved easily [illegible] under the cover [illegible] card.

Third.—The [illegible] of the machine space makes it [illegible] ing felt around its business [illegible] machine from dust.

Fourth.—The feet are [illegible] the table adjustments in [illegible] desk [illegible] though the top was one [illegible] of great importance where a good typewriter is required. No operator can do good work on a [illegible] machine.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of [illegible] work. We manufacture them in Walnut, [illegible] Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry [illegible] Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell [illegible] our works at wholesale prices.

BAPTIST SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

opening, each one present was expected to recite a verse of scripture, each verse beginning with the same letter; a being taken for one Sunday, b for the next, c for the next, and so on all summer. For many years each week's lesson consisted of just seven verses, one verse for each day of the week. Each week's lesson was the seven verses next following the lesson of the week before. A plan that helped them materially in knowing where to find the lesson without a quarterly. I remember going through the whole book of Acts in that way, a way that was convenient but was wasteful of valuable time, for many lessons were historical and quite dry of valuable spiritual truth when compared with the feast of spiritual food given us weekly in the international lessons. For more than twenty years all were expected to commit the lesson to memory, a requirement that was very generally complied with, and the strongest argument that I know of against our international lessons is the fact that the long lessons are not memorized. In the early times no lesson help was thought of, each child had a testament and the grown people generally had a bible. The lessons were almost always in the new testament. It is impossible to give all the names of the members of the first school, but the following were members.

Sarah A. Fisher, oldest daughter of Deacon Fisher and sister to Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Millis, was the first member of the school to join the church. She was also the first person to join the church. So we can say truthfully, from the first the school has prepared human hearts for the truth, and been an efficient helper of the church, preparing the way as it were, being a sort of a John the Baptist to the church. That this help has continued to the present time I think all will admit. During the whole 50 years the hour of meeting has been uniformly the hour of noon. During many years the school was held at noon, between the usual morning and afternoon service, no evening service being held, whether the lunch brought along came before or after the Sunday school, I am not informed. When and how the first Sunday school library was obtained can not now be ascertained, but it was not long delayed. In fact Bro. Fisher thought they had books from the beginning, but others are quite positive they did not. The time and way of getting the first organ is equally uncertain, but it probably was about 20 years before one was put into the church. The first pic nic that I can get any trace of was a union pic nic held on the ground of the old Presbyterian, north-west corner of Chicago and Maumee streets, on a 4th of July, 25 or 30 years ago. The next was held at Evan's Lake, some years later. No Sunday school concert was attempted till the church occupied this building. The first was produced under the late Dr. W. C. Fisher's superintendence. The first Sunday school paper was the Young Reaper, but when it was first taken I am not able to learn. The first member of the school to go over the river to the better home and to the house not made with hands, is forgotten. How blessed the thought that while we forget God does not, and that his record up in Heaven is never incomplete, never lost. In the early days of the school funds for the school were very seldom raised. The members were too poor and the needs of the church too great to allow much for the Sunday school. Fine clothing was very rare, and home made garments the rule. One of the deacons of the church, made caps for each of his several boys with his own hands, making one cap in a winter evening. The last part of the job was to cover a button with cloth and put it on top, whereby we can see that "books" had something to do with the feelings of the deacons in the early days. Human nature was the same then as now. To prove it I will tell you a true story of an occurence in the family of a member that took place in 1845. I will use fictitious names for obvious reasons. "Jane's Bonnett"

Though the times were very hard, Tecumseh was a thriving village and regard for the amenities of life were observed, so it is said that barefooted children were never common in the school. The writer remembers attending an Ingham county Sunday school in 1860, where nearly all the children came barefoot, but that was a country school. Referring again to the matter of funds: No regular system of raising money for school expenses was adopted till in the winter of 1867-8, when the box now in use was started on its penny gathering career. During the 21 years that it has been in use it has gathered about 15 or 16 hundred dollars a most forcible illustration of the consequence of "little things."

The following is a list of the Superintendents as far as can be learned. It must not be forgotten that for the first 25 years we have no record to go by and are dependent on the memory of the few now with us who belonged to the first school.

1839. Isaac Adams, 2 years.
F. O. Marsh, 2 years.
Isaac Adams, 6 years.
E. L. Burton, 1 year.
Dr. I. S. Hamilton, 1 year.
Isaac Adams, 8 years.
John Osborn, 1 year.
O. H. Kellogg, 1 year.
W. C. Fisher, 7 years.
J. Moxom, 1.
W. C. Fisher, 2 years.
John Finch, only few months.
H. M. Fish, 3 years.
W. C. Fisher, 3 years.
B. F. Steinhoff, 3 years.
L. G. North, 9 years.

The total number of Superintendents is 16. The memory of the writer extends over the past 21 years.

The first really good library was purchased in the early part of 1868. John Fisher was librarian, an office that he held for over a quarter of a century, his labors in that direction terminating 3 years ago. The international lessons were adopted about the year 1867. I am unable to give a list of assistant Superintendents or Treasurers, but can give a reasonably correct list of Secretaries. Beginning in 1868 they were, W. E. Burtless, Ella Fulton, L. G. North, Chas. Eisher, Henry Tindall O. B. Finch, Sarah Swartout, Geo. Henderson, Wm. F. Fisher.

Sister DeWolf says she can remember no Superintendent except Dr. Fulton and myself who did not lead the singing. I would be glad to give a full list of the teachers of the school during its whole history, but it is impossible. In my own opinion they are worthy of most honorable place in our sacred memories. Almost without exception those that I have known, led worthy lives, and thus gave with precept goodly practice. Of those now with us, John Fisher has been in attendance most. He has been a constant attendant for the full half century. Mrs. Baker has taught longest, having been a teacher about years. Deacon Isaac Adams was Superintendent most of any, his services extending 16 years. Dr. Fisher comes next with a service of 12 years. Each of them was Chorister as well Superintendent, an increased responsibility that does not rest upon the present incumbent. The following list of present members who have been here 21 full years will I hope be of interst.

1839. John Fisher.
Miss Betty Fisher—now Baker.
Miss Janet Colvin—now Snyder.
Miss Margaret J. Colvin—now McConnell.
1844. Miss Cordelia Adams—now DeWolf
Dr. I. S. Hamilton.
Miss Harriet Scofield—now Lester.
1845. Miss Carrie Colvin.
1847. Miss Emma Fisher—now Millis.
1848. Mrs. Yawger.
1849. John H. Osborn.
Miss Jane Kishpaugh—now Waldron
1850. Jehiel H. Bramble.
Mrs. Bramble.
1851. John B. Garlinghouse.
Mrs. Garlinghouse.
1852. Miss Anna Whitemore—now Osborn.
1854. John Benedict.
Mrs. Benedict
Mrs P. R. Adams.
1856. P. C. Temple.
Mrs. Temple.
1858. Delia Wood.
1859. Geo. S. Lester.
1860. Mrs. Z Hood—now Fisher.
A. L. Millis.
1861. Mrs. Abbie Fisher.
1863. Mr. S. Bryan.
Mrs. S. Bryan.
Delila Bryan—now Finch.
1864. Horace Baker.
Miss Sarah Swartout—now Wolcott.
Miss Ida Stevens—now North.
Miss Laura Bryan—now Scofield.
1865. John Margeson.
Mrs Margeson.
1866 Mrs Ann Finch.
Orvin B. Finch.
1867. Miss Carrie Wolcott—now Garlinghouse.
Isaac C. Wolcott.
Miss Ella Jones—now Adams.
Miss E. A. White—now Hamilton.
Lawrence Bauer.
Mrs. Lawrence Bauer.
Miss Mary Mathews—now VanValkenburg.
Miss Ella Chase—now Burlingame.
Mrs. Abby J. North.
L. G. North.

The oldest member of the school and church is Sister Treat, aged 86, who became a member in 1869. The above list omits quite a number of our most efficient young people whose lives have been spent in the school. I have been compelled to omit them in the above list because their ages are unknown to me. The following have been, as it were, born into the school:

William Fisher.
Eben Fisher.
Bert Baker.
May DeWolf.
Spencer Lester.
Carrie Osborn.
Mamie Osborn.
Clement H. Bramble
Rhoda Benedict.
Frank Temple.
Frank Bauer.
Ada VanValkenburg.
Effie Yawger.
Gurdon Garlinghouse.
Alice Wood—now VanHooten.
Metta Adams.

That the above lists are inaccurate and incomplete, I am well aware. I want to ask any who are omitted, or incorrectly reported, to so notify me that I may make corrections. I have done the best I was able with the lists trying to slight or misrepresent no one. In the hope that this history may fall into the hands of the Sunday School historian of 1989, I shall add a full list of the officers and teachers, but as this paper is already too long I shall not read it now. My thanks are due you for your patience.

OVER THE CATARACT.

When the brave Stanley and his tireless followers were pushing their way into Central Africa, they came one day, to the banks of a mighty river. Footsore and weary they quickly launch their boats, and find rest and change floating upon the smooth surface of the stream.

Soon, however, the watchful eye of the great explorer sees unmistakable signs of the near presence of a cataract. The current grows swift, tiny bubbles float by. The signal is given to land, and the party seeks safety on the low, shelving bank.

One daring spirit, however, pushes his little canoe into the middle of the stream and goes resolutely forward, with the seeming intention of finding whether the river is navigable.

In vain his comrades shout and gesticulate, rushing wildly along the river bank in pursuit. Not until the loud thunder of falling water breaks upon his ear does he attempt to turn.

Alas, it is to late.

The oars are wrenched from his hands, the boat is tossed wildly about, a mere atom in seething waters, and in a brief moment, which seems an age to the lookers on, it is dashed to pieces against a huge bowlder on the brink of a frightful precipice.

In vain our comrades are kindly warning us of our danger. Columns have often portrayed the fearful scourage that surrounds us. Often we hear the expression "Is this scourge more prevalent than in olden times?"

We say "No."

In Brutus and Julus Cesar's time, in the dark ages, we read of powerful men being struck down. The same obstacles are met. The victim succombs to the disease. The recent discoveries of the microscope has developed the real cause of so many terrible fatalities and brought out the fact that many of the symptoms which are called diseases are but symptoms of kidney disorder.

People do not die because of the kidneys ulcerating and destroying their spinal column, but because the poisonous waste matter is not extracted from the blood purifying organs, but remains, forcing its way through the system, attacking the weakest organ.

The doctors call this a disease, when in reality it is but a symptom.

Understanding this, the reason why Warner's Safe Cure cures so many common diseases is plain. It removes the cause of disease by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition; enables them to perform their functions and remove the poisonous acids from the blood; purifies the blood and prevents the poisonous matter coursing through the system and attacking the weaker organs and producing a malady which the unsuspected victim fears is, and the heartless practitioner pronounces, a disease, because of his inability to remove thr cause.

Time to set out shade trees; now see who will do so.

The cleaning of houses and the clearing up of yards are now in order.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F.J. Cheney & Co. FOUR NEW STATES

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate secures the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily in service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana the Golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 4,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile land, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta Route or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonists sleepers of its own to from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington—The country of tall timbers, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers enroute for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass thro' Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific coast is the same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

ESTATE OF JOHN HOUSEMAN

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Lenawee, in the City of Adrian, on the 15th day of April, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, [illegible]

In the matter of the estate of John Houseman, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Agnes [illegible] and praying that administration of said estate be granted to [illegible] or to some other suitable person, and that the residue of said estate be assigned to the persons entitled thereto, [illegible] John Houseman, deceased.

It is ordered that Monday, the 20th day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

FRANKLIN FACTS.

Mrs. James Allen has been the guest of Mrs. Sim Whelan for several days. Her health is not apparantly materially improved. Mrs. Whelan has been suffering from an attack of neuralgia.

Clarence Wisner has been quite sick for more than a week, but is now improving.

Seventy dozen eggs per week is the tune G. W. Allen's hens are cackling these days; and they cackle all the louder especially when the egg-man meandereth through the land.

The Franklin Union Literary and Lyceum met at the house of E. J. Whelan April 13th. This being the night appointed for presenting the literary programe no discussion occured. The exercises were not long. A good dialogue was presented by Alton Whelan, Charles Morseman, Leon Allen, Cecil Billington and Howard Whelan. At the next meeting at Mr. Lambkin, May 4th. the discussion of the question. Resolved. that America does not lead in science art and improvement, will take place. No literary exercises will be offered.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

The carpenters finished their work on H. J. William's store Tuesday and the painters are putting on the finishing touch this week.

H. J. Williams received a car load of slate from Vermont, which contained 70 square feet or 42,000 pounds. They were unloaded Tuesday in four hours and drawn on an average of a quarter of a mile. It may not appear to be anything very remarkable, but those who think it is not had better try it and see.

W. L. Jones raised the addition to his horse barn Friday, and when completed will be one of as fine horse and carriage barns as there is in the county. It is 26x60, with 18 foot posts.

H. J. Williams began slating W. L. Jones' horse-barn Tuesday afternoon; the quality used is the best Vermont sea green.

The third quarterly meeting for the present conference year will be held next week Saturday and Sunday.

For the past two weeks several of the Sabbath school scholars have been circulating cards for missionary contributions, and reported on Sunday evening at the close of the exercises given by the school, the amount was $38.56. At the close of the morning service a collection was taken amounting to $53.23, making a total for the year, $104.25, the largest amount raised for a number of years.

Remember the L. C. S, will be held on Friday evening of the present week at the home of Miss Belle Barlow; a short literary and musical program will be furnished for the evening and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

James Haight lost a valuable work horse Saturday, after but a few hours sickness

Rev. Peter Sharp, was nearly suffocated with coal gas on Thursday night, by the top of the coal stove being partly off. Doctors Loree and Nelson, assisted by the neighbors, worked over him nearly all day Friday before he was restored to conciousness; he is slowly recovering and went to Tecumseh Tuesday to stay with his daughter, Mrs. D. McNair.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. and Clara Temple and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Foot, Dr. R H. Nelson, Fred. Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Rappleye, were Adrian visitors last week Thursday.

Mrs. Ed. Freer of Mason, is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. E. Pocklington, at present.

W. J. Helm and wife spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at Tipton.

Gertie Kniffin was the guest of Flota Smith, over the Sabbath.

Samuel Sharp of Benton Harbor, and C. A. Sharp of Columbus, Ohio, were called home by the sudden illness of their father last week.

Walter Fowler of Ann Arbor called on friends Thursday of last week.

A. J. Monagin was in the village over Sunday.

Harry Smith and Miss Mary Anderson were united in marriage by Rev. James Wright, at the Christian parsonage, Britton, on Sunday afternoon and enjoyed a very bountiful repast at the home of Mrs. Gibson. They expect to begin keeping house in a few days. Tink says as long as the boys are smoking at his expense the girls may as well eat oranges. We, in behalf of their many friends, extend our congratulations and wish for them a happy, prosperous future.

We have received a copy of a new song entitled, "Put your arms around me, dear." Any young lady may try it by calling after office hours.

Uncle Ned Broadbent of Holloway, called on friends in the village Sunday.

Bertie and Eugene Harrington of Blissfield, drove over Sunday and spent the day with their brother Willie.

Daniel Allen returned Saturday from a week's visit with his brother Ed., of Ithaca, and reports everything lively.

Anna and Edith Smith of Pennington's corner's visited their sister, Mrs. Ed. Harrison, several days last week.

F. N. Miller left on Saturday evening for a few days stay at Homer and Grand Rapids.

Now, Give Attention.

To the purification of your blood, for at no season is the body so susceptible to the benefits to be delivered from a medicine, as in March, April and May. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the people's favorate spring medicine. It stands unequaled for purifying the blood, curing scrofula, salt rheum, etc., regulating the kidneys and liver, repairing nerve tissues, strengthening and invigorating the whole body, as well as checking the progress of acute and chronic disease, and restoring the afflicted parts to a natural, healthy condition. If you have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla for your "spring medicine," do so this season.

POINTS ABOUT NEBRASKA.

OMEGA NEB, April 10th, 1889.

Editor HERALD—As I receive your paper from my friends in Franklin the thought came to me that it would be by your permision, a good idea to answer the many letters which I receive from people in Michigan through the columns of your valuable paper.

I have received no less than forty one letters in the last two weeks. Each writer asking many questions in regard to the climate, soil, water etc Below I give some of the questions and the answers which I write to each.

1st. What kind of soil have you in your vacinity? Ans.—The soil is sand loam, very rich and productive. The more it is tilled the darker it becomes.

2nd. Is the water good and how deep do you have to bore to obtain it? Ans.—The water in this locality is excellent soft and clear. It is obtained at depths from 20 feet to 130.

3d. Can you raise all kinds of grain? Ans.—We can raise all kinds of grain grown in the Northern States.

4th. Can you raise a crop on newly broke ground? Ans.—We can raise Corn, Potatoes, Beans, Buckwheat, Turnips, Melons, and squashes on newly broke prairie.

5th. Are you troubled with Alkali in your section of Neb? Ans.—We are not.

6th. What kind of buildings do you construct? Ans.—We use sod for all kinds of farm buildings.

7th. How far are you from a market and R. R? Ans.—We are 35 miles from North Platte on the Union Pacific R. R.

8th. Are there any good claims to be taken under the Homestead or Preemption laws, near you? Ans.—There are a great many in this vicinity.

9th. Can you get wood to burn and to use in building sheds? Ans.—Wood is to be obtained on the Dismal River 17 miles North of here.

10th. Is the climate a healthy one in your section of Neb. Ans.—During the two years which I have spent in this section of Neb. I have never known of a case of Malaria. Hay-fever, Lung troubles or even a severe cold.

Indeed this is a very healthy country and every one seems to enjoy themselves even though they are nearly all in very moderate circumstances.

I would say to those who are renting land in the East come West and secure a farm of your own and have all you raise, instead of having to divide with a landlord.

We have our gardens made and have had peas, lettuce and other truck up for two weeks. How is that for The Wild West.?

Any person desiring information further than I have given here can obtain the same by enclosing self addressed and stamped envelope to me, or the Post Master, at Omega McPherson Co. Neb.

Yours Very Truly
E. E. Wisner.

THE ENGINEER KILLED AT HIS POST

By the Accident That Disabled the Vessel—The Engines Break Down and the Passengers and Crew Are Taken Off by the Missouri, Which Throws Her Cargo Overboard to Make Room for the Ship-Wrecked Hundreds—A Brief but Satisfactory Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The agents of the steamer Danmark received the following cablegram from Lisbon yesterday afternoon: "Passengers and crew of steamship Danmark landed at the Azores. Three hundred and forty of the passengers are on the steamer Missouri, bound for Philadelphia. Rest to follow by the next steamer."

Excitement in London.

LONDON, April 22.—Although there were no English passengers on board the Danmark public interest in the fate of those on board that unfortunate vessel has been intense here. At 7:30 o'clock last evening the afternoon papers got out extras containing special dispatches announcing the safety of the Danmark's passengers and crew and their sale was enormous. Bulletins were displayed in front of the various newspaper offices and the crowds which surrounded them blocked the streets

THE STORY OF THE WRECK

Told Briefly by the Third Mate—Human Life vs. Freight.

LISBON, April 22.—In an interview with a newspaper representative Peter Rabsen, third mate of the steamship Danmark, related the circumstances of the loss of that vessel. Her engines, he stated, broke down on April 4, while the vessel was 800 miles from Newfoundland. Engineer Knas was found lying dead on the floor of the engine-room, and the cause of the accident could not be ascertained. On April 5 the Danmark was spoken by the Missouri, which towed the Danmark until April 6. "The Danmark was then settling down," Rabsen states, "and we asked the Missouri to take our passengers. The Missouri as she was loaded had room for only twenty additional persons, but she jettisoned her cargo and took us all on board—800 of us—landing us at Azores. She then proceeded for Philadelphia, taking 340 of the passengers besides the captain and sailors. Three of the engineers proceeded to London on board the Demerara steamer. The first and second mates are still at Azores, and the remaining passengers and forty-two sailors sailed for Lisbon on the steamer Acor."

Arrivals at Lisbon.

LISBON, April 22.—Forty-two of the crew of the Danmark and all of the passengers not taken to Philadelphia on the Missouri have arrived here on the steamship Acor.

The Engineer's Death.

The death of the Danmark's engineer was due to the bursting of an engine pipe. The engineer was killed on the spot, and the ship was badly damaged. In consequence of this damage together with the breaking of the shaft, the vessel was helpless in the heavy seas.

The Two Dakotas South and North.

Public attention is now, more than ever, directed to these two new states of the Union. Climate, soil and opportunities for investment of capital, are unexcelled by any other section of the Great West. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co., which has lines of its own in both South and North Dakota, has just issued an illustrated pamphlet entitled "Plain Facts about Dakota" containing numerous letters from farmers and others which are well worth reading, as they show the results of each writer's personal experience in the North-West, and convey a great deal of valuable and reliable information which will be of benefit for those seeking new homes in South and North Dakota.

For a free copy of this pamphlet address A. V. H. Carpenter, General Passenger Agent, Milwaukee, Wis.

THE WEST END MARKET.

Friends, Romans, and country men! Lend us your ears. Listen to the voice of wisdom. We are here to serve you. We are now nicely settled in our new and commodious quarters, one door west of the old stand, where we have plenty of room to keep in good condition a large stock of fresh meats of all kinds. Salt meats and sausage are always in stock. A full line of canned goods will be kept. We take extra care in making our purchases and hence our fresh meats are always popular with the best cooks. We give full measure, sell at the lowest living rate. In short our aim is to please our customers. Give us a call and be convinced.

BIRDSALL, GLENN & CO.

THE PRIDE of WOMAN.

A clear pearly and transparent skin is always a sign of pure blood, and all persons troubled with dark, greasy, yellow or blotched skin can rest assured that their blood is out of order. A few doses of BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER will remove the causes and the skin will become clear and transparent. Try it, and if satisfaction is not given it will cost you nothing. It is fully warranted.

J. J. Orr, Druggist.

TO THE PUBLIC.—I have gone to work at my trade again this spring and am now in the field to execute all kinds of painting, kalsomining, paper hanging, etc. My long experience in this line of work enables me to compete with any workman that plys a brush. I am on the war path this spring. Hand in your orders.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, APR. 25.

TWO WISCONSIN TOWNS WIPED OUT.

Half a Million Dollars Reduced to Cinders and Ashes.

DEPERE, Wis., April 22.—At 4 p. m. Saturday the Meisenwinkle Woodenware company's factory caught fire, burning the sheds containing staves and stock, and in fact everything in the town. While it was burning, a heavy wind set in, and blew sparks and coals of fire on to neighboring houses, and making the largest fire ever seen in this city. Twenty dwelling houses were burned. The Meisenwinkle works, where the fire originated, have a loss of about $150,000, with an insurance of $60,000.

Two Fire Engines Abandoned.

When the fire first started the Green Bay fire engine was sent for and arrived shortly after the fire started. The Green Bay and the De Pere steamers were set in the middle of the burning district and were doing good work, when the wind changed suddenly and hemmed the engines in, driving the fire all to that immediate vicinity. The firemen had to abandon the engines and they were ruined. The steamers from Oshkosh and Appleton arrived at 11 p. m. and succeeded in getting the fire under control.

De Pere is a city composed of two parts, East and West De Pere. West De Pere is the part which caught fire and there is not enough left of it to be identified. The people who were burned out have nearly all been taken under shelter by their neighbors of the east side. The full loss is estimated to be over a half million dollars, and not one-fourth is covered by insurance.

FOUL MURDERS AVENGED.

The Slayer of a Young Girl Gets His Just Reward.

VINCENNES, Ind., April 20.—The people of this section of Indiana heaved a sigh of satisfaction yesterday when the announcement was made that Sylvester Grubb had been strangled at the hands of the law. The execution took place in the county jail at 11:05. He had been attended for his spiritual benefit by Mrs. Denny and Rev. Mr. Keith, and declared he was ready to meet his God. When asked if he had anything to say, he replied, "I have a heap to say, but dasn't open my mouth on account of the newspapers. I am ready, better put on your rope."

His crime was the murder of Miss Gertrude Dewney at the county fair at Princeton, Ind., Sept. 13, 1885. He had been engaged to the girl, but her mother did not like him and prevailed upon her to discard him. Meeting her at the fair he asked her to go with him, and upon her refusal he shot her three times and tried to shoot himself, but his pistol snapped. It was hard work to save him from being hung by a mob, but he was whisked off to Evansville and when the [illegible] was not there.

HOVEY WINS AND LOSES.

Two Cases Arising from Legislative Action Decided by the Supreme Court.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 22.—The supreme court handed down two important opinions Saturday on the questions raised by Governor Hovey during the last session of the legislature. The first related to Trustee Carson, who was elected by the legislature, and to whom the governor refused a commission on the ground that the legislature had no right to elect an officer under a law of its own creation. The decision is unanimous, and upholds the right of the law making body to elect, in this particular instance, but is silent as to the other offices filled by the same body in a similar way.

The second case was that of the supreme court commission, and the decision was also unanimous, the court holding that the legislature can not create a court, and that, though obscured in this way, the commission is in fact a body that is designed to exercise judicial functions. In this case the position of the governor is fully sustained.

Fatal Wreck on the Central Iowa.

ABINGDON, Ills., April 22.—A wreck occurred on the Central Iowa railway, four miles west of this place, Saturday evening, by which Conductor George Colville, of Peoria, and Ed Savage, a passenger of Berwick, this state, were killed and the following wounded: Express Messenger Rogers, limbs broken; Robt. Simpson, mail agent, shoulder blade broken, and injured internally; Clifton Reed, brakeman, badly injured. One other passenger was slightly hurt. The train was a mixed one, the twelve last cars being freight cars. The rear car broke the flange of one wheel, which caused the accident, which occurred on a bridge and as the wreck took fire six spans of the bridge were burned.

Live Stock Schedule Revised.

DES MOINES, April 20.—The board of railway commissioners adopted a revision of their live stock schedule to take effect May 1. The thirty-one-foot car is adopted as a standard. Twenty-eight-foot cars are estimated at 90 per cent. of the standard, and thirty-three-foot six-inch cars at 108 per cent. The minimum weights per car adopted are: Horses and cattle, 20,000 pounds, thirty-one-foot cars; hogs, 15,000 pounds; sheep, 12,000 pounds. A 75 per cent. rate of fat cattle is adopted for stock cattle and feeders. Otherwise the difference made by the new rates is only slight. Compared with the old they are slightly higher on cattle and lower on short distances on hogs.

The Winchester Talks

Down in the Promised Land of Oklahoma.

TWO FIGHTS AND A FEW CORPSES.

Deputy Marshals Get on the Trail of Trespassers and Have a Pitched Battle, the Result Being Seven Badly Wounded Men—An Ambuscade That Belched a Shower of Bullets—Another Fight Reported.

CHICAGO, April 20.—The following dispatch is published here this morning:

PURCELL, I. T., April 18.—There has been a battle between United States officers and boomers and thirty boomers were taken prisoners. Seven of them were sevely wounded and one deputy marshal was slightly hurt.

A raid was made by United States deputy marshals this afternoon on boomers who had disregarded the law, and taken up claims in Oklahoma. For several days men on horseback and in wagons have been seen fording the South Canadian north of Purcell and disappearing in the timber to the eastward, and the feeling against the trespassers was given expression in an indignation meeting in the Methodist church at which several fiery speeches were made. The chief deputy marshal thereupon determined to make a raid on the trespassers, and made up a party and started out. He picked up fifteen on the road and started them back to the border, and then cautiously proceeded several miles.

Suddenly a shot was heard on the left, and a bullet clipped a leaf above the head of one of the party. A minute later a volley rang out in front, and the pony ridden by one of the deputies sank to the ground with a bullet in the head. The chief of the deputies is noted for his bravery, and he called out for his men to "charge." Each had unslung his Winchester, and all surged forward. They fired into the thicket and shouted like madmen. There was no response for several minutes, and the men began to think they had dispersed the assailants.

They soon discovered their mistake. A man popped from behind a log and fired at them, and this was the signal for another fusillade from his friends. He retreated down a ravine just in time to escape the fire of the deputies, who continued to advance and pump their repeaters. Half way down the ravine the deputies discovered a rough barricade of logs and brush across the entrance, and simultaneously a voice exclaimed: "Now give it to them, boys." A sheet of flame poured from the face of the barrier, and another shower of bullets sped toward the officers. They had been sufficiently warned, however, and but one of their number was hit, and his wound was not serious.

The chief deputy ordered a retreat and gathered his men about him for a council of war. It was evident that the barricade was quite heavily manned, and that a direct assault would proved disastrous, therefore it was decided to divide the party and attack the flanks of the enemy. This movement brought the deputies directly above the barricade. At a given signal they began shooting from the top of the ravine right into the midst of the boomers, who were utterly unable to defend themselves from such an attack.

Ten minutes of rapid firing ensued and then a cry for quarter went up from the barricade. "We surrender," shouted a man when the firing ceased. The blood pouring from a wound in his forehead attested that he knew he had enough. A hasty advance to the fort and the officers were in charge of thirty prisoners, seven of whom were severely wounded.

Two of these, Thomas Mullins and David Winship, will probably die. Mullins has a bullet in his left lung and Winship one in his abdomen. Martin Fallon, of Gainesville, Tex., received a ball in his left thigh; John T. White, of Fort Worth, was struck on the shoulder; Samuel Dodd, of North Carolina, has a deep gash in his forehead; Edward Frabishey, of Texas, suffers a shattered arm; John Young, of Louisiana, is shot through the shoulder.

The prisoners, all of whom had rifles and revolvers and plenty of ammunition, were disarmed, the wounded cared for as well as possible under the circumstances, and the march to Purcell was taken up. The wagons and personal property of the boomers were destroyed. The gang were all southerners, mostly from Texas, and presented a forlorn appearance. Their captain, Edwin McIntosh, said he had been concealed in a ravine for three days, and that the party was only the advance guard of a body of more than 400, who, through agents sent ahead, had selected their claims and proposed to hold them with Winchesters against all comers.

DESPERADOES ON THE GROUND.

They Propose to Get Their Share by a Raid for Plunder.

ARKANSAS CITY, April 20.—A detachment of troopers from Fort Reno arrived yesterday morning and will join Capt. Hayes at the Ponca reservation this afternoon. The sergeant in charge says that a gang of desperadoes from No Man's Land, armed to the teeth, is camped in the Arapahoe and Cheyenne reservation, near the border of Oklahoma. It is believed they will rove through the territory and plunder settlers, who are beyond the protection of the United States marshals.

Why Not Let 'Em Alone.

The rival factions of gamblers at Purcell came together Thursday night and exchanged several shots, but without doing any injury. The Indian policemen threatened to empty their Winchesters right and left without regard to consequences, and the fighting soon ceased and the crowd dispersed.

Progress of the Boomers.

A courier rider who came in from the Cherokee strip last evening, reported that the boomers were making good progress. Thursday night they camped on the north bank of Willow Springs, and last night they pitched their tents near the south line of the Ponca reservation. To-night they will be in sight of the land for which they have endured so many hardships. Every train arriving here leaves hundreds of men who are all bound for the promised land. They are camping on the prairies, living in tents, or any place they can find rest or shelter. The hotels can not accommodate one-tenth of them.

Illinois Municipal Elections.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Municipal elections were held in a number of towns in this state yesterday. License and no-license were the issues in many places. Warren, Galesburg, Jonesboro, Wenona, Virginia, Princeton and Greenville went for license; Capron, Ania, Kirkwood, Auburn, Paxton, Knoxville, Illiopolis, and Marion, no license; and Woodstock and Marshall, high license. The Republicans carried Urbana, Champaign, Paris, and Tuscola; and the Democrats Galena, Hillsboro, Effingham, Petersburg, and Carlinville.

GREAT BLAZE AT NEW YORK.

About $4,000,000 Worth of Property Destroyed—One Man Killed.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The biggest and fiercest fire New Yorkers have witnessed in this generation swept the east bank of the North river Friday clear from Fifty-ninth street to what would be Sixty fifth street if that street ran to the river. It destroyed more than $2,500,000 worth of property belonging to the New York Central railroad and about $1,300,000 worth of lard, flour, and the like belonging to other persons, mostly N. K. Fairbank, the great Chicago lard merchant.

Big Elevators Destroyed.

The flames destroyed the two big elevators "A" and "B" of the Vanderbilt system, a big brick building stretching from Fifty-ninth street to Sixtieth street and occupied jointly by the Fairbank lard refinery and the Rossiter stores, and swiped out considerable property of the New York Central railroad system from Fifty-ninth to past Sixty-fifth street. One man was killed in his headlong flight from the fire at the first outbreak. A number were injured in jumping from windows of the burning building, but in the wild terror of the conflagration no account was kept of them.

The Killed and Injured.

The police have a record of the following casualties: Henry Benning, single, 634 Tenth avenue, a workman in Fairbank's refinery, killed by jumping from a third-story window; John Johnson, 517 West Forty-third street, likewise a workman in Fairbank's, severely injured on the back by jumping from a window; Charles Brown, 603 West Forty-third street, severe injuries about the head from the same cause; William J. Noble, fireman of engine No. 2, prostrated by heat while at work at the foot of Fifty-ninth street; Edward H. Tobin, fireman, also prostrated by the heat.

TEARING UP THE TRACK.

Rioters in Possession of the Streets of Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 22.—There was a vicious riot here Sunday, in which the participants stoned the loaded street cars and police and a number of people were hurt, but none seriously. The policemen charged on the rioters, who were mostly Scandinavians, and dispersed them, after which the company was ordered to cease running cars. The strikers disclaim any connection with the riot.

Later—Tearing Up the Track.

At 9 p. m. the strikers and their sympathizers were tearing up the tracks all along the lines in the outlying districts. As fast as the police could assemble to protect the company's property at one point the mob sought another, and continued the work of destruction. The police force is wholly inadequate to the protection of the street railway property.

Latest Official Appointments.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 18.—E. C. Lacey, of Michigan, has been appointed comptroller of the currency. The appointment was decided on after a long conference between the president and Secretary Windom yesterday. Mr. Lacey was unofficially informed of his appointment as soon as it was made.

The only other important appointments were those of W. H. Calkins, late of Indiana, to be associate justice of the supreme court of Washington territory and Robert P. Porter to be superintendent of the census.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 20.—The president's appointments yesterday included Solon W. Stocking, of Onandaga, N. Y., to be an examiner in chief in the patent office; Ralph W. Wheelock, of Mitchell, D. T., receiver of public moneys at Mitchell, D. T.; Laban J. Miles, of West Branch, Ia., agent for the Indians of the Osage agency, in the Indian territory, and a few others to positions as registers, receivers, etc.

Injured in a Rear-End Collision.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 20.—By a rear-end collision on the Short-Line division of the Louisville and Nashville railway near Glenoe, this state, yesterday, the sleeping car of a passenger train was telescoped by a freight train and the following persons hurt: Mrs. Raymond, right arm sprained; Charles M. Norton, of Colverts, Tex., left arm and side badly bruised; Mrs. S. Kripps, of Allegheny City, Pa., scalp wound; A. J. Dovel, of Manistee, Mich., left arm sprained and head slightly cut; J. B. Dovel, of Pinkney, O., bruised on right side and arm; William Kepper, fireman of freight, right arm broken and scalp wound; Adolph Messier, flagman of passenger, left leg badly bruised; John Walker, brakeman, freight, slightly bruised.

Robbed of $3,000.

CINCINNATI, April 20.—James Kelso, of Muncie, Ind., claims to have been robbed of $3,000 at the Indiana House about one o'clock Saturday morning. He says he arrived in the city last night, going directly to the hotel. About one o'clock a stranger entered his room, assaulted him, beat him into insensibility, and when he recovered consciousness his clothing was strewn over the floor and his money gone. Kelso's condition corroborates his story. He thinks the robbery was committed by some one who followed him from Muncie and who knew he had the money.

El Paso, Tex., in an Uproar.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A special to The World from El Paso, Tex., says that the city is in an uproar and serious trouble is feared, as the result of the assumption of office by A. Krakauer, who claims to have been elected mayor on the Republican ticket. The Democrats claim that hundreds of Mexicans imported from Paso del Norte for the purpose voted for him, and that the apparent election is the result of a plot to capture the city government in the interest of smugglers.

A Scrap of paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by the physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. An Extraordinary Case.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, April 19.—A year ago while crazed with drink George Lucas fired a bullet into his brain from a 32 caliber revolver. He recovered from the wound sufficiently to attend to his business. Thursday he visited his physician and complained that he felt something in his head. The wound was probed and the doctor succeeded in extracting the bullet. It had penetrated the front lobe of the brain over an inch. The doctor says there is no doubt of Lucas' complete recovery. The case is an extraordinary one and has been widely discussed by the medical fraternity.

Postmaster Pearson Dead.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Postmaster Pearson, of this city, died early Saturday morning of tumor of the stomach, aggravated by his hard work in the postoffice. Just before his death he was asked if the newspaper talk about his administration of his office distressed him. He said it did not, but having been an enemy of the spoils system all his life, it did hurt him to know that he was misrepresented and misunderstood. He had only been absent from duty for three months in sixteen years. Ex-Postmaster General James took charge of the office for Mr. Pearson's sureties.

A Tornado Cuts a Swath.

HINCKLEY, Ills., April 20.—A tornado passed through this village about 10 o'clock Thursday night. It struck the town in the northwest portion and continued eastward, unroofing and damaging every building and tree in its course. Its path was about 100 feet wide and its duration not over fifteen seconds. No one was killed or even injured beyond a few scratches.

We notice a new departure in the treatment of disease that promises to revolutionize the medicine business. It consists in the collection of the species used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance, the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained and prepared. The treatments of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh, were procured, and so on till these incomparable cures now include diseases of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism, nervous debility, and piles. Originated and used by specialists, being a positive cure for each disease, these preparations are the best remedies procurable. We advise all to send three two cent stamps to the Chase Medical Specialty Co., 179 West Adams St., Chicago, Ill., and receive by return mail their interesting hand book.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine,

CASABIANCA.

THE boy stood on the burning deck,
Whence all but he had fled:
He saw amid the cargo's wreck
A box, and, calling, said:

"Say, father, say if I may sit Upon this box and wait?"
And then without his sire's permit,
Down on that box he sate.

"Say, father," once again he cried,
"My patience is clean gone!"
And but the booming shots replied,
And fast the flames rolled on.

Then came a burst of thunder-sound—
The boy, oh! where was he?
Upon the box, high did he bound,
Then floated on the sea.

For 'twas a box of IVORY SOAP,
And buoyantly it bore
That gallant child, who ne'er lost hope,
Safe to the sandy shore.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory':" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Improved Champion Mower

The MOST PERFECT and PRACTICAL Piece of Farm Machinery

THAT HAS EVER BEEN INTRODUCED.

The mechanical principles embodied in this Mower are entirely new, and have made it possible to remedy the defects that are well known to exist on the old style machines. It will pay any farmer who is in need of a Mower to examine the IMPROVED CHAMPION—the most perfect and practical of machines—

AND IT IS SO WARRANTED!

The DRIVE WHEELS are high and wide apart, insuring steadiness of motion and light draft. There is NO FRAME WORK hanging down in front to bunch up the cut grass or run into obstructions. There is NO FLY WHEEL LOW DOWN on which the grass can wind. This is a serious objection to the old-style mowers. The POWER IS APPLIED DIRECTLY and without a joint from the main gear to the pitman, and ALL OF THE POWER is used in cutting the grass,—none is wasted on loose joints and fast-running gearing. THE PITMAN WORKS ON A STRAIGHT LINE, AND THE POWER APPLIED AT ONE END IS ALL TRANSFERRED TO THE KNIFE. The CUTTER BAR can be folded while the knife is in motion, which is very important where there are stumps or trees. The Cutter Bar may raise or lower at either end, and yet the knife will work perfectly free without binding or extra friction or wear. This in a measure explains why there are no broken knife heels and no broken pitmans on the CHAMPION Mowers.

REMEMBER that the parts that have given the most trouble on the old-style mowers ARE WARRANTED NOT TO BREAK NOR WEAR OUT on this wonderful mower.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

J. W. Brewer, a St. Joseph man, has dealt out justice in a local court for the past thirty-six years, and likes the job so well that he's a candidate for a tenth consecutive term.

A floating saw mill 40 by 80 feet in size, is operated on the Menominee river, and is towed from place to place wherever timber is convenient and abundant. It has proven to be a successful venture.

Rev. T. B. Wilson, a parson whose years of experience enables him to give sage advice, lectured to Muskegon people on a recent evening, advising them to marry early and save their dimes. And Emanuel Ott, a frisky dia of 52 winters, straightway took his advice and married Maggie Beck, a 27-year-old girl, the next day. Some folks are easily convinced.

E. W. Dart, a Lansing man got in the way of runaway team and had the wind so completely knocked out of him that he'll spend a vacation in bed.

A criminal case has just been settled at Grand Rapips in a manner a trifle out of the ordinary. It seems that Alex. Curry criminally assaulted Delia Morgrege, a young lady of that city. At any rate the case in was the courts, but was taken out of their jurisdiction in a pre-emption manner the other morning by the girl's taking Alexander for a life partner contrary to her parents advice. She had corresponded regularly with her lover as though nothing unusual had happened.

What's the matter with Grand Rapids parsons? Since the beginning of the present year fire of 'em have resigned their pulpits, and still there's more to follow.

If any town in the state is in need of an elegant lot of tramps, Jackson can supply the demand. She has more than she has any use for.

A general reduction in telegraph charges from all Michigan points has been ordered by the Western Union company, taking effect April 1. The people don't complain of an April fool of this choracter.

Another attempt will be made at Detroit to force all electric wires underground, but it's a spanking big job.

By the burning of the home of Robert Tubbs, a Millington farmer, the butter product of thirty cows for six months, which was stored in the cellar, was destroyed. In this case the fat was in the fire.

Carefully conducted experiments at the State Agricultural college indicates that wood ashes are the best fertilizer known for potatoes. Our rural friends should make a note of this.

Charlie Cook, a Kent county lad of 15 summers, started to attend an Adventist meeting at a country school house, but stopped outside the door to engage in a wrestling tustle and broke his neck.

The corner stone of St. Marks' hospital, at Grand Rapids, was laid recently with impressive ceremonies. The building will cost $50,000, and the work will be rapidly pushed to completion.

The Bardeen Paper company, of Otsego, one of the largest in the world, turned out ninety tons of No. 1 book paper during the last week in March, a carload of which was shipped to San Francisco.

Bay City lost one of her hose carts the other night. The thing had started for a fire on the gallop, but got in the way of a locomotive and was itself extinguished.

The State university contains much good reading—considerably more than we shall attempt this season by nearly 100,000 volumes.

The Port Huron and Northwestern railway will be changed to a standard gauge, requiring 10,000 tons of steel rails. The contract for the metal has been awarded to a Pittsburg firm.

Spring Lake is agitating the establishment of a potato starch factory at that place.

"John" seems to have come to the front in local politics at Port Huron, as five of her six aldermen answer to that said old name.

A village caucus at Stephenson was attended by ninety-one people, but when they got down to business they were equal to the task of casting 139 ballots. Upper peninsula folks seem to be equipped for almost any emergency.

Charles F. DeLand has just been elected supervisor of Flushing for his twenty-fourth consecutive term. He's evidently the right man in the right place, or there'd have been a vigorous kick, long ago.

Port Huron's $200,000 sulphite fiber works are proving a solid success. They are run night and day, giving employment to two crews, of fifty men each.

A pet raccoon, the property of a Lansing man in whose home preparations were in progress for a wedding feast, got loose one night and generously sampled the eatables, putting itself entirely outside the wedding cake. This foraging episode came near postponing the wedding.

A point twelve miles north of Lansing is said to be the center of population of the state, while the central point of wheat production is only six miles south of the former, and that of other cereal productions, as well as of live stock, is in the near vicinity.

Ed Furcolt is a Bay City man with but one ear. He had two, but a graceless scamp bit t'other one off and left him lop-sided.

Adrian has a "Dick Smith" society of forty members, each one of whom is pledged to take his budge alone—if he drinks at all

Cadillac citizens want a suitable place where they can go and witness the antics of third-rate show companies, and to this end will offer a fat bonus to whomsoever will build a good opera house within her borders.

A Bay City man has just settled an election bet by wheeling his successful opponent through the principal streets. But it wasn't much fun for the crowd of spectators, who were obliged to keep a respectful distance on account of the chunk of limburger cheese that was carried aboard the rolling craft.

A Hanley man named Miller got astride a log in Mower's mill for a ride, but the circular saw was equal to the emergency and Miller will probably die from the effects of the cut received.

A Bay City man brought suit to recover a $106 board bill and more'n a baker's dozen of witnesses swore that the defendant didn't board with plaintiff at all during the time specified in the account. Strange things happen in this world of ours.

A St. Johns firm took in about 2,000 dozen eggs in one day recently. Spring chickens will come later.

Wild geese are very abundant in the vicinity of Monroe. Sportsmen, take notice.

Politics makes some people cut up queer antics. Chauncey O. North, of Howell, he's a Michigan man—drove three miles early on the morning of town meeting day so as to be on hand when the polls were opened, and working like a beaver all day, was elected to an obscure office. He was so elated over his success that he actually walked home before making the discovery that he had left his horse behind.

A dog owned by a Bay county man has been doing a destructive business. The dog ate of the flesh of a cow that died of pleuro-pneumonia and afterward bit several animals, all of whom died of blood poisoning.

Outside parties offer to put down a test gas and oil well at Vicksburg provided a lease of 5,000 acres of land be furnished 'em free of expense. Other parties in other towns have sunk all the money they cared to, in the vain pursuit of gas, on a single acre of ground. But then, the Vicksburg syndicate may have millions to squander and desire an ample field for thir operations.

Emmet county foresters claim to make the finest maple syrup that's produced on this planet. An inspection of a city glucose shop would soon convince 'em however, that a modern commercial man can easily beat the rustic ruralists, and that, too, without tapping a single tree.

Ernest Beuchle, the Chicago chap who stabbed a Hastings girl with a pair of shears becuse the didn't reciprocate his affection, goes to the Detroit house of correction for the brief space of three months. Barry county justice ought to get on her specs and take a second squint at some of her law breakers.

Miss Helen Peters came within nine votes of being elected school inspector of Hiawatha township, Schoolcraft county. But the sting of defeat is somewhat lessed in her case by the fact that the township is thirty miles in length, while the walking is very poor in that section of Woolverinedom.

Michigan Lawmakers.

LANSING, Mich., April 10.—A joint resolution was adopted in the senate yesterday for the appointment of a joint committee of the two houses to consider the question of manufacturing twine in the penitentiary. This is a blow at the alleged binding twine trust. The house killed a labor arbitration bill, and then took the back track, reconsidered the vote, and ordered the bill to third reading.

LANSING, Mich., April 11.—A bill of considerable importance to a large number of Michigan people passed the house yesterday, after a long discussion. The school laws at present provide that all non-resident pupils attending public schools shall pay a tuition fee whether their parents own property in the district or not. The new bill gives non-resident property holders rebate on scholarships to the amount of taxes paid in the school district. The bill preventing the sale of cigarettes and cigarette wrapping paper was placed on the order of third reading. The bill looking to the suppression of the sale of western dressed beef was referred by the joint committee on agriculture and public health to the committee on judiciary.

LANSING, Mich., April 12.—A bill was passed by the senate yesterday prohibiting the sale of skimmed milk except in its true character. The house passed the bill prohibiting the manufacture, sale or giving away of cigarettes or any paper intended for wrappers thereof. A number of appropriation bills were also passed and the bill making a state deer park of Bois Blanc island.

Skipping to Canada With a Saw-Mill.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 11.—Telephone dispatches from Detour state that Moiles Bros., who have loaded their saw-mill on vessels to transport it to Canada in order to escape seizure by creditors, have not yet been able to leave that port on account of ice. Injunctions have been served upon the firm, but they pay no attention to them. Sheriff Mackenzie, with a posse, left last night to capture Moiles' vessels. The sheriff has orders to seize the property at any cost, and his posse is well armed. Moiles Bros. have a gang of 100, known to be navvies of the toughest type, and a fight is expected.

Good Thing for Locomotive Builders.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—The increased business of the Pennsylvania railroad and the new roads that it has acquired has caused the locomotive works at Altoona to become inadequate. The demand for locomotives has been so great that their own works could not begin to supply them, and orders had to be given to outside locomotive works. The company will this year begin to erect an immense building at Altoona solely for the construction of locomotives, and all the machinery of this industry will be in one large building. The cost of the new plant, it is said, will be almost $1,000,000.

Killed by a Mine Explosion.

BOULDER, Col., April 13.—Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock a terrific explosion occurred in the Smuggler mine at Balarat, instantly killing an employe named Crook, wounding three others named Collins, McIntyre and Sherman. One man was handling giant powder when it accidentally ignited from a candle and exploded with a thundering report. Collins, who was frightfully wounded, died Friday morning. McIntyre had one eye blown out and an arm blown off; his condition is critical. Sherman is not badly injured and will recover.

Conference of Manufacturers.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13.—A call was issued Friday by President H. H. Hickman, of the Southern manufacturers' association, for a meeting of all southern manufacturers in Augusta, Ga., on May 1, to discuss matters of general interest to manufacturers. Officers of the Farmers' Alliance in Georgia and Carolina will be invited to meet with them to discuss the question of cotton bagging for the next crop, in opposition to jute bagging.

Funeral of the Duchess of Cambridge.

LONDON, April 13.—Funeral services were held Saturday in the private chapel in St. James' palace over the remains of the late aged Duchess of Cambridge. The Dukes of Cambridge, Teck, Mecklenburg-Strelitz and Princess Mary, daughter of the late duchess, were present. The suite of the late duchess' household followed the hearse. Under an escort of royal guards the remains were taken for interment to Kew.

Violent Wind and Rain Storm.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 13.—The country along the Ohio from this city for thirty miles, and westward through Belmont County, Ohio, was visited at six o'clock Friday evening by a very heavy storm of rain, wind and hail, which did great damage to property in a number of places. Half a dozen houses and other buildings were struck by lightning, and two or three of them were burned.

Conflagration in a New York Town.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 13.—The most destructive fire that has occurred in Castleton since 1872 originated at an early hour Saturday morning in the barn of W. L. Signer. The flames destroyed the Sanford house, a general store of J. W. Van Hoesen which was also used as postoffice, the public hall National bank, and the residence of James R Dorner. Estimated loss, $25,000; partially insured.

No Warning Was Given.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 13.—M. Atchinoff, the leader of the late Cossack expedition to Abyssinia, publishes a statement in Official Messenger in which he declares that no warning was given by the French war vessel before the bombardment at Sagallo. He also declares that the French forces robbed him of 45,000 roubles.

Death of Ex-Congressman Chittenden.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Ex-Congressman Simeon B. Chittenden, who has been sick for a long time, died Saturday morning at his residence, 83 Pierrepont street, Brooklyn.

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Pimple to the worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Dandelion, Mandrake, Sarsaparilla, yields a rapid dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions go along, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

DR. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

HISTORY OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH OF TECUMSEH.

In presenting the history of the Baptist Church of Tecumseh, we shall use the records published by Deacon Adams up to that time, that is for the first 35 years of the church's existence, and in doing so we find but little that can be left out, while with the exception of a single omission, and that one which we are informed was deeply regretted by the author when brought to his notice, we find but little to add, but feel certain that much that will be of interest concerning those early days of the church will be brought out in that very interesting part of the program under the head of reminiscences. We regret that we can not present what we believe to be a perfectly accurate list of the names of constituent members, but of this we are assured that they were men of prayer, for in looking over the old records of the meetings held, even before they were recognized as a church, every session opened and closed with prayer. We often say how they labored. Yes, and as they prayed they worked, and while they labored they prayed, and faith wrought with their works and by works was faith made manifest.

Fifty years. O, the memories that come floating down to us through the mists of the past half century. The grayhaired men and women who are here today and remember the time when this church was constituted, while those fathers and mothers whose memory we so tenderly cherished, have passed on before until of that little conference (for such they called themselves) who fifty years ago today covenanted with God and each other as a band of baptized believers under the name of the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh, but one now remains. Fifteen years ago to-day four of the constituent members were here with us, viz: Deacon Fisher and wife and Deacon Adams and wife, while one more was at that time living, Sister Leticia Colvin, the mother of our Sisters Colvin and Snyder, who are with us, and whose memories go back to those early days, and whose membership dates among the first now living. Of the five then living all have gone save one sister, Mary Adams, widow of Deacon Isaac Adams, who at that time prepared and read to us the history I shall now present to you.

On the ninth day of February, in the year of our Lord 1839, a few Christans of the Baptist denomination assembled in the Presbyterian session house, Tecumseh, for the purpose of discussing and deciding as to the expediency of organizing a Baptist Church. After a prayful consideration of the subject, [illegible] a conference which was then only organized preparatory to calling a council. At this meeting Bros. Felix Holdridge and Isaac Adams were appointed to procure a covenant and articles of faith, which, at a subsequent meeting, were adopted. The conference continued to hold meetings at private houses and school rooms, as they could find accommodations. Their numbers were few—probably not more than fifteen at this time. They were also destitute of both pecuniary resources and influence; as they were the last denomination organized in the village, and only seven of their number were resident members. But they were strong in the faith that their sentiments were based upon the word of God; that His word and promises were immutable; and that perseverance in faith, with consistent labors, could not fail of a glorious reward. In this they have not been disappointed.

As the final result of the various meeting and deliberations of the conference, a resolution was adopted to call a council on the tenth day of April, 1839—just thirty five years ago, to-day. To this call for a council seven churches responded by sending their pastors and several lay members. The following is a list of the ministers and churches:

Rev. J. I. Fulton, Brooklyn; Rev. M. Allen, Adrian; Rev. R. Harvey, Rome; Rev. E. H. Hamlin, Manchester; Rev. L. H. Moore, Mooreville; Rev. Mr. Tripp, Franklin; Rev. Mr. Goodman, Saline.

The council organized by appointing Elder Allen chairman, and Elder Hamlin, clerk. Having examined the covenant and articles of faith, they proceeded to the usual initiatory steps. Rev. J. I. Fulton preached the opening sermon; Elder Allen gave the hand of fellowship; and Elder Hamlin addressed the church. Thus the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh, consisting of about twenty eight members, was duly established and acknowledged as a visible church of Christ. Twelve of their number were members who had withdrawn from the Clinton church, in consequence of trouble in that body. As harmony was soon after restored, and they resided in the vicinity of Clinton, these took letters and returned to their former connections. Thus, at the outset, their strength was considerably diminished. But God remembered them in their feebleness. At the first covenant meeting after their organization, which occurred on the eleventh day of May, 1839, Sisters Sarah Ann Fisher and Martha Blount recounted their Christian faith, and were accepted as candidates for baptism. The next day, being the Sabbath, Elder Allen preached the first sermon to the church and administered the first ordinance of baptism. These dear sisters were the first fruit of their labors, and were a pledge of God's approbation. The church had neither house of worship nor pastor, and, what was worse, no means to secure either. The covenant meetings, however, were continued at private houses and school-rooms, and occasionally some ministering brother would preach on the Sabbath. Elder J. I. Fulton preached more frequently than any one else. In those ancient days the church was moved by the same generous impulses as in more recent times. As Elder Fulton came before them from time to time, they observed that his coat was looking rusty, and conceived the liberal idea of purchasing for him cloth for a new one. This would be an expression of their kind regards and a slight renumeration for his labors. He was yet pastor of the church at Brooklyn. In October, 1839, the church voted to raise $10 for this purpose. There the matter rested, as no provision was made for securing the money until December, when, at a special church meeting, a resolution was passed to raise it by subscription. As a record of the church's wealth at this time, and that you may see and contrast it with our present condition, I have transcribed the subscriptions:

Felix Holdridge, $1 00; John Fisher, $1.00; Isaac Adams, $1.00; Benj. Farley, 50c.; D. C. Hewitt, $1.00; A. Brooks, $1.00; Wm. Fisher, 50c.; Frost St. John, $1.00.

There is no record of how the other three dollars were procured, but I know that the cloth for the coat was purchased. This was the first money the church paid out for the preaching of the gospel, and such was the poverty of the church that it was with the greatest difficulty that this small sum could be collected.

December 4th, this same year, the church engaged Bro. A. N. Prentiss, licentiate, to preach for six months. For his services they were to give him $75—$20 to be paid at the expiration of three months, the balance at the close of his labors. He preached three months, when the church requested him to resign, in consequence of a general dissatisfaction with his preaching and conduct. During his stay the church held their Sabbath meetings in a school room occupied by Ps Bills, for which they were to pay $8 per quarter. The church was now in debt $20 for preaching and $8 for rent. How $25 of this amount was procured can not be ascertained, on account of defects in the records from February, 1840, to the following June. But never shall I forget the circumstances connected with raising the last three dollars of this sum. I gave one dollar, the only one I had at the time. I then went to Clinton and procured another dollar from Bro. E. F. St. John; then to the house of Bro. Eber Savage whom I found sick. I related to him my errand, and he requested his wife to go to his pocket-book and get one dollar for Bro. Adams. The next day I received the melancholy news that Bro. Savage was dead. He was a pious man and a noble Christian. The last dollar he gave was for the cause of Christ, and to help pay the indebtedness of this church.

Notwithstanding the extreme poverty of the church at this time, they manifested a considerable Christian enterprise; for as early as March, 1839, soon after the organization of the conference, a committee was appointed to purchase a site for a house of worship. The lot where the house was erected was on the corner of Pearl and Logan streets. In July, 1839, the society was incorporated, and in February, 1840, they unanimously resolved to build a house of worship. The trustees were authorized to proceed at once to the erection of the building. The following were to be its dimensions: Length, 28 feet; breadth, 24 feet; 10 feet between joists, with 6 windows of 24 panes each. Truly, those were the days of small things; but "a little that a righteous man hath is better than the riches of many wicked." The church, however, were not fully satisfied with the size of their proposed house. After thinking the matter over, they concluded at their next meeting that it ought to be larger, and decided upon thirty-six feet for its length and twenty-six for its breadth. During the last month of this year a subscription was circulated for the purpose of securing funds to complete the building as soon as possible. There is no record of the precise time when the house was begun or completed, or what was its cost.

The next record is of a covenant meeting in the new house, in the latter part of 1841. There being no stove, it was so cold that the sisters could not attend. The brethren were warmed by Divine grace, but they too, however, soon felt the need of external heat; and a stove was provided. The BAND BENEFIT.

At Tecumseh opera house, Monday evening, Apr. 29, a concert will be given by the Tecumseh City Band, assisted by Miss Grayson, vocalist, Mr. L. E. Ogden, of Charlotte, cornet and ocarina soloist, and Miss Jennie Root, pianist. The program selected presents a new class of music which has not been presented in Tecumseh before, comprising some of of the latest compositions of J. H. Prendiville, C. L. Barnhouse, Phil S. Rose and others.

Miss Grayson is well known as a fine vocalist, and needs no recommendation to the citizens of Tecumseh. Mr. Ogden is an elegant cornet player and his ocarina solos are especially fine. He is pronounced by Cub Berdan and other musical men as being without a peer as an ocarina soloist. No pains will be spared to make this one of the finest concerts given in Tecumseh.

The citizens are requested to turn out and assist the boys in maintaining a good band. Admission 20c. Children 10c. Reserved seats at Adamson's 25c.

Immediately after the concert a social dance will be given. Good music will be furnished. Those holding dance tickets will be admitted to the concert free. Dance, 75c.

THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS.

An artistic, attractive and highly instructive entertainment will be given in the M.E. church, Saturday evening next, April 27, consisting of 60 superb paintings in panorama form, covering 9000 feet of canvas, and 200 life size tableaux of peerless beauty, pictorially illustrating "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress," accompanied by music, (vocal and instrumental) an explanatory lecture by Rev. J. W. Hawxhurst of N. Y. Admission 25c. Children, 10c, with book 15c. This entertainment comes well endorsed by many of the most prominent pastors, Sunday school superintendents and press in the larger cities where it has repeatedly been given. The following are taken from a large number of commendatory notices:

"A rare, profitable and exceptionable entertainment for churches and Sunday schools."—N.Y. Christian Advocate.

"This masterly grouping is as fascinating as the drama, and as morally impressive as the pulpit."—N. Y. Tribune.

"The explanatory lecture is clearly and forcibly delivered, earnest, instructive and eloquent. The paintings are masterpieces of art, sublime in conception, and exquisitely beautiful."—Boston Journal.

Auction Sale.

Having dissolved partnership with John F. Wilson in the milk business, I will offer for sale at auction at the farm of James W. Patterson, in Tecumseh, Tuesday, April 30, 1889, at 1:00 o'clock sharp, the following property: Jersey bull, age 3 years, 2 good cows, coming in soon, 8 good milch cows, one Planet cultivator, one cutting box, one grindstone, 500 bushl. of corn in the ear, 100 bushels of oats.

Usual terms of sale.
EGBERT ANDERSON.
Ben Reynolds, Auctioneer.

Mrs. M. H. Taylor, of Tecumseh, Michigan, has been instructing a class here for the past week, in brush painting on plush and white goods. She is highly skilled in her work and possesses excellent taste as an artist. She lately taught a class of fifty-five ladies in Alliance, and she has words of praise from all of them. Her class here numbers twenty-five, and each member is doing fine work under the instruction of their excellent teacher.

The above item is clipped from the New Lisbon, Ohio, Patriot. It seems that she is doing finely down among the Buckeyes.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Band benefit next Monday evening.

Sam James, of Detroit, was in the village this week.

Emil Ahrens has quit working at the News office.

Harry Deuel, of Toledo, is visiting his grandparents in this village.

Ed. Hoeg, of Newton, Kan., arrived in town last Saturday for a short visit.

A social will be held at G. A. R. hall to-morrow night, at which all are invited.

Help the library and take an hour's respite from work at the opera house to-morrow evening.

Small boys started a fire among the sheds back of Ed Rowland's shop Tuesday, but was put out before making any headway.

A new time card went into effect on the Jackson branch of the Lake Shore last Sunday, but it makes no change except in the freight trains.

Boos' orchestra is a first-class one and will play for the May party next Wednesday evening. Admission 15c. Don't fail to hear them.

The panorama of the Pilgrim's Progress to be given at the M. E. church next Saturday evening should draw a full house. It is well worthy the patronage of the public.

A team drove by George Williamson became unmanageable Monday afternoon, and ran south on Railroad st. about two miles before being checked. No one hurt.

Mrs. Kate Cleveland, clairvoyant and medium, can be consulted at her residence corner Maumee and Shawnee sts., Tecumseh, until May 1st. Hours from 1 to 8 p.m.

Remember the library entertainment at the opera house to-morrow evening. The exercises will be something novel in character and ought to draw a good audience.

Mrs. Ambrose, a returned missionary, having spent ten years of her life in Burmah, gave an interesting lecture on the life and habits of the people of that country at the Baptist church last Sunday evening.

The Presbyterian Sunday school gave a concert last Sunday evening which was well attended. A program was given appropriate to Easter time, which interested not only the little folks but the old folks as well.

The base ball season was opened in this village last Tuesday afternoon. A nine from the north side of Chicago st. played one from the south side and the former claim the victory by a score of 16 to 15. The south siders say it was a tie—15 each. You can take your choice of scores.

The flag entertainment at the Presbyterian Church last Tuesday evening was a unique affair and highly entertaining. Those who failed to attend missed something rich and rare. Refreshments were served after the exercises and a most enjoyable evening was passed by all.

The M.E. church was the scene of a Sabbath school concert last Sunday evening, which was given to a crowded house. The program was more varied and elaborate than usual and evinced careful preparation on the part of those who participated. It was a very fine program, admirably presented.

Rev. B. R. Jones will hold the third quarterly meeting of the Free Methodist church of Ridgeway and Tecumseh circuit in George Heesen's evaporator in Tecumseh, May 3 5. Services on Friday night and Saturday at 2.30 and 7.30 p.m. Sunday, love feast at 9.30 a m. Preaching at 10.30 a.m. and 1.30 p.m. P.S.SHOEMAKER, P.stor.

Last Sunday was an eventful day at St. Peter's church, as Easter Sunday always is. There was an early service at 6 a.m. The service at 10:30 a.m. opened with the consecration of several children, the Easter service and sermon followed, and the holy communion closed the service. A large congregation was in attendance, and the services throughout were deeply impressive.

Prof. F. R. Hathaway, of Raisin Valley Seminary, is transmitting to his friends a postal card containing this invitation: "Yourself and friends are cordially invited to visit Sutton Observatory any clear week day evening. For general observation a clear evening and crescent moon is preferable." We presume that many will avail themselves of this kind invitation.

About eleven o'clock last Sunday morning, fire was discovered in the well house under the wind mill on the farm of Dick Gillespie north of the village. It was lucky the men did not go to church, as it was situated close to the house, and after a hard fight the fire was extinguished with only the well house damaged. It is thought a spark from the chimney ignited some rags which started it. The building was insured in the Farmers' mutual.

This is Oklahoma week.

The members of the Reformed church of South Macon are requested to meet at the church Thursday, May 2, at 3 p.m. Business of importance to be transacted. Let all turn out.
BY ORDER OF CONSISTORY.

News was received here yesterday of the death of Captain Weatherhead at his home in South Lyon last Tuesday. The deceased was an old resident of Tecumseh having enlisted in the army here as lieutenant in the old 18th. Mich. Inft. He was a brother-in-law of Fred Deuel of this village.

J. K. Kelsey spread about 300 bushels of onions on the ground as a fertilizer, a few days since. This is poor remuneration for months of toil spent in raising the crop, but John's perseverance and habits of industry will secure him a competence notwithstanding.—Addison Courier.

Mr. William Armstrong died Monday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Fisher, one mile east of Pentecost, in the town of Franklin. Deceased was 86 years old and was a pioneer in Lenawee county. Old age was the cause of his death. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon.

Perhaps our readers are not all aware of the fact that April 30 (Centennial day) will be a legal holiday this year. It will be generally observed the same as other legal holidays, and people who are in the habit of dealing with banks every day, or patronizing other public institutions will do well to remember this item.

Superintendents of departments have been appointed by the W. C. T. U. as follows: Representative of the Woman's Temp. Pub. Ass'n, Mrs. O. Q. Jones; Scientific Instruction, Mrs. Alice Slayton; Flower Mission, Mrs. M. E. Sutton; Heredity and Health, Mrs. N. R. Merritt; Railroad work, Mrs. R. Gray; Press work, Mrs. John Osborn.

Miss Fanny German, living just south of Pentecost, on the road to Sand Lake, died last Monday morning at 10:15 of consumption. Deceased was just entering womanhood, and was greatly esteemed by all her acquaintances. It is a great blow to her parents, who have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral took place Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the house.

Mr. A. B. Cotton of Chicago is in town this week to see what the prospects are for establishing an electric light plant in Tecumseh. He represents the Thompson—Houston system, which operates both arc and incandescent lights. A bonus or other inducement is frequently offered capital to start new enterprises, but we understand that an electric company composed of our own citizens will undertake to put in a plant, if they can secure a contract for lighting the streets. We hope the council will give this matter a careful investigation. Our present system of street lighting is very imperfect. And if a system of electric lights could be procured at a reasonable cost, we think the council would be justified in making the change.

Rev. H. A. Putnam of Franklin is about to leave his charge. He will spend the summer in traveling and in September next he will enter the Union Theological Seminary in New York City. During his three years pastorate at Franklin about fifty members have added to the Congregational Church. Both the Church and the community will sincerely regret his departure.

Invitations are out for the annual May party given by the Tecumseh Bi. Club at the opera house Wednesday, May 1. Boos' orchestra of Jackson, will furnish music for the occasion, and although their first appearance in Tecumseh, our dancers may rest assured that they are "way up" in the business. Spectators, 15c, reserved seats at Adamson's, 25c. Grand march at 8.30.

Our friend Al Heesen, is in luck. Two years ago, when Congressman Allen called an examination of young men from whom to select a cadet for the U. S. Naval Academy, Al Heesen stood second on the list and Mr. Consaul of Hudson first and the latter received the appointment. Mr. Consaul has been compelled to drop out before the completion of his course and Congressman Allen has now tendered the place to Al Heesen, who will doubtless accept his good fortune.

"Prick" Pomeroy, at 234 Broadway, N. Y. City, is now editing and publishing the livliest and most interesting $1 a year publication ever printed in that city. His famous Saturday Night chapters; his Pen Pictures of London; his descriptions of the "plague places" of New York city, and his vivid chapters of Life Experience in La Crosse during the war, are each worth more than the price of his paper, which bears the significant title of Advance Thought. Pomeroy is a 55 year old volume of National history, and now he is letting it out red hot.

FATE OF THE TEMPLE.

LESSON IV, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 28.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xiii, 1-13—Commit Verses 1, 2—Golden Text, Matt. xii, 6—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

1. "And as He went out of the temple, one of His disciples saith unto Him, Master, see what manner of stones and what buildings." He was leaving the temple to return no more to that building, lovingly and patiently had He presented Himself to the rulers of the people again and again as their Messiah, only to be rejected by them; many parables had He spoken to them descriptive of their conduct and its consequences, and in the eight woes of Matt. xxiii, 13-32, sad contrast to the eight blessings of Matt. v. He had told them plainly what they were in the sight of God. He assures them of the doom that awaits them because of their sins, and because they would not let Him deliver them from the impending wrath so long in grace restrained, and then utters his last word to them, "I say unto you, ye shall not see Me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." (Matt. xxiii, 33-39.)

2. "There shall not be left one stone upon another that shall not be thrown down." The Holy Spirit had said through Micah, the prophet, 700 years before this, that Zion should be plowed as a field and Jerusalem become heaps (Mic. iii, 12); but the same prophet also said by the same Spirit that the same Zion and Jerusalem should in the last days rise from their ruins, that all nations should flow thither and that in those days the nations should learn war no more.

3. "He sat upon the Mount of Olives over against the temple." As we see this great and glorious God-man, Israel's true though rejected Messiah who shall yet be manifest as the glory of His people Israel and a light to lighten the nations (Luke ii, 32), thus lingeringly leaving His people and the Holy City, we are reminded of the visions of Ezekiel in which he saw the glory of the God of Israel slowly and lingeringly leave the Holy of Holies, and the temple, and the city, and stand for a last farewell upon this same mount on the east of the city, driven away by the sins of the people. (Ezek. viii, 3, 4; ix, 3; x, 4, 18; xi, 22, 23.) But we must also remember the later visions of Ezekiel in which he saw the glory return from the way of the east, causing the earth to shine, entering the house of the Lord and filling it, pointing us forward to the time when the Lord shall return with His saints to dwell in the midst of the children of Israel for ever. (Ezek. xliii, 1-7; Zech. xiv, 3-5.)

4. "Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign when all these things shall be fulfilled?" Matthew adds, "What shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world or consummation of the age?" (Matt. xxiv, 3, R. V. margin.)

5. "And Jesus, answering them, began to say, Take heed lest any man deceive you." Four times in this chapter we have the admonition, "Take heed" (vs. 5, 9, 23, 33), on other occasions He had said, "Take heed what ye hear and how ye hear" (Mark iv, 24), Luke viii, 18; but now it is, "Take heed lest any deceive you." If it was so need ful in the day that many deceivers had gone forth into the world, it is much more so in our day, and the child of God who would be all being led of God must be well versed in the Word which is able to make us wise unto all Truth, which Jesus has given us as the Spirit of Truth to guide us into all Truth, which will be in accordance with the Word (John xvi, 13), for there is no room for error.

6. "Many shall come in My name, saying I am Christ, and shall deceive many." There have been many false Christs, false prophets, false teachers, false Christians, false Christ's had many false teachers, false Christians, false Christ's, false teachers, false Christians, false Christ's, false teachers, false Christians, false Christ's,

An interesting letter for Ladies:
Hastings Centre, Oswsgo Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain,
MARY H. BEEMAN.

That dreaded backache can be Cured

The Great War Syndicate.

By FRANK R. STOCKTON.

Author of "Rudder Grange," "Amos Kilbright," "The Bee Man of Orn," "The Christmas Wreck," "The Lady or the Tiger," "The Late Mrs. Null," "The Hundredth Man," "The Casting Away of Mrs. Leeks and Mrs. Aleshine," "The Dusantes," etc.

Every man on board the Scarabæus was wild with amazement and excitement. Few could comprehend what had happened, but this very quickly became evident. So far as motive power was concerned, the Scarabæus was totally disabled. She could not direct her course, for her rudder was gone; her propeller was gone; her engines were useless, and she could do no more than float as wind or tide might move her. Moreover, there was a jagged hole in her stern where the shaft had been, and through this the water was pouring into the vessel. As a man-of-war the Scarabæus was worthless.

Orders now came fast from Repeller No. 1, which had moved nearer to the scene of conflict. It was to be supposed that the disabled ship was properly furnished with bulkheads, so that the water would penetrate no farther than the stern compartment, and that, therefore, she was in no danger of sinking. Crab A was ordered to make fast to the bow of the Scarabæus, and tow her toward two men-of-war who were rapidly approaching from the harbor.

SECTION OF CRAB A, SHOWING NIPPERS.

A, bomb proof roof; B, water line; C, interior of crab; D, joint of nippers; E, arms of nippers; FF, rods of nippers connecting with electric engine; G, teak lining to crab.

This proceeding astonished the commander and officers of the Scarabæus almost as much as the extraordinary attack which had been made upon their ship. They had expected a demand to surrender and haul down their flag, but the director-in-chief on board Repeller No. 1 was of the opinion that with her propeller extracted it mattered little what flag she flew. His work with the Scarabæus was over; for it had been ordered by the syndicate that its vessels should not encumber themselves with prizes.

Towed by the powerful crab, which apparently had no fear that its disabled adversary might fire upon it, the Scarabæus moved toward the harbor, and when it had come within a quarter of a mile of the foremost British vessel, Crab A cast off and steamed back to Repeller No. 1.

The other English vessels soon came up, and each lay to and sent a boat to the Scarabæus. After half an hour's consultation, in which the amazement of those on board the damaged vessel was communicated to the officers and crews of her two consorts, it was determined that the smaller of these should tow the disabled ship into port, while the other one, in company with a man-of-war just coming out of the harbor, should make attack upon Repeller No. 1.

It had been plainly proved that ordinary shot and shell had no effect upon this craft, but it had not been proved that she could withstand the rams of powerful ironclads. If this vessel, that apparently carried no guns, or at least, had used none, could be crushed, capsized, sunk, or in any way put out of the fight, it was probable that the dangerous submerged nautical machine would not care to remain in these waters. If it remained it must be destroyed by torpedoes.

Signals were exchanged between the two English vessels, and in a very short time they were steaming toward the repeller. It was a dangerous thing for two vessels of their size to come close enough together for both to ram an enemy at the same time; but it was determined to take the risks and do this, if possible; for the destruction of the repeller was obviously the first duty in hand.

As the two men-of-war rapidly approached Repeller No. 1, they kept up a steady fire upon her, for if in this way they could damage her, the easier would be their task. With a firm reliance upon the efficacy of the steel spring armor, the director-in-chief felt no fear of the enemy's shot and shell, but he was not at all willing that his vessel should be rammed, for the consequences would probably be disastrous. Accordingly he did not wait for the approach of the two vessels, but steering seaward, he signaled for the other crab.

When Crab B made its appearance, puffing its little black jets of smoke as it answered the signals of the director-in-chief, the commanders of the two British vessels were surprised. They had imagined that there was only one of these strange and terrible enemies, and had supposed that she would be afraid to make her peculiar attack upon one of them, because while doing so she would expose herself to the danger of being run down by the other. But the presence of two of these almost submerged engines of destruction entirely changed the situation.

But the commanders of the British ships were brave men. They had started to run down the strangely armored American craft, and run her down they would, if they could. They put on more steam and went ahead at greater speed. In such a furious onslaught the crabs might not dare to attack them.

But they did not understand the nature nor the powers of these enemies. In less than twenty minutes Crab A had laid hold of one of the men-of-war, and Crab B of the other. The rudders of both were shattered and torn away; and while the blades of one propeller were crushed to pieces, the other, with nearly half its shaft, was drawn out and dropped into the ocean. Helplessly the two men-of-war rose and fell upon the waves.

In obedience to orders from the repeller, each crab took hold of one of the disabled vessels and towed it near the mouth of the harbor, where it was left.

The city was now in a state of feverish excitement, which was intensified by the fact that a majority of the people did not understand what had happened, while those to whom this had been made plain could not comprehend why such a thing should have been allowed to happen. Three of her majesty's ships of war, equipped and ready for action, had sailed out of the harbor, and an apparently insignificant enemy, without firing a gun, had put them into such a condition that they were utterly unfit for service and must be towed into a dry dock. How could the government, the municipality, the army, or the navy, explain this?

The anxiety, the excitement, the nervous desire to know what had happened, and what might be expected next, spread that evening to every part of the Dominion reached by telegraph.

The military authorities in charge of the defenses of the city were as much disturbed and amazed by what had happened as any civilian could possibly be, but they had no fears for the safety of the place, for the enemy's vessels could not possibly enter, nor even approach, the harbor. The fortifications on the heights mounted guns much heavier than those on the men-of-war, and shots from these fired from an elevation might sink even those "under water devils." But, more than on the forts, they relied upon their admirable system of torpedoes and submarine batteries. With these in position and ready for action, as they now were, it was impossible for an enemy's vessel, floating on the water, or under it, to enter the harbor without certain destruction.

Bulletins to this effect were posted in the city, and somewhat allayed the popular anxiety, although many people who were fearful of what might happen next, left by the evening trains for the interior. That night the news of this extraordinary affair was cabled to Europe, and thence back to the United States, and all over the world. In many quarters the account was disbelieved, and in no quarter was it thoroughly understood, for it must be borne in mind that the methods of operation employed by the crabs were not evident even to those on board the disabled vessels. But everywhere there was the greatest desire to know what would be done next.

It was the general opinion that the two armored vessels were merely tenders to the submerged machines, which had done the mischief. Having fired no guns, nor taken any active part in the combat, there was every reason to believe that they were intended merely as bomb proof store ships for their formidable consorts. As these submerged vessels could not attack a town, nor reduce fortifications, but could exercise their power only against vessels afloat, it was plain enough to see that the object of the American syndicate was to blockade the port. That they would be able to maintain the blockade when the full power of the British navy should be brought to bear upon them was generally doubted, though it was conceded in the most wrathful circles that until the situation should be altered, it would be unwise to risk valuable war vessels in encounters with the diabolical sea monsters now lying off the port.

In the New York office of the syndicate there was great satisfaction. The news received was incorrect and imperfect, but it was evident that, so far, everything had gone well.

About 9 o'clock the next morning Repeller No. 1, with her consort half a mile astern; and preceded by the two crabs, one on either bow, approached to within two miles of the harbor mouth. The crabs, a quarter of a mile ahead of the repeller, moved slowly, for between them they bore an immense net, three or four hundred feet long and thirty feet deep, composed of jointed steel rods. Along the upper edge of this net was a series of air floats, which were so graduated, that they were sunk by the weight of the net a few feet below the surface of the water, from which position they held the net suspended vertically.

This net, which was intended to protect the repeller against the approach of submarine torpedoes which might be directed from the shore, was anchored at each end, two very small buoys indicating its position. The crabs then falling astern, Repeller No. 1 lay to, with the sunken net between her and the shore, and prepared to project the first instantaneous motor bomb ever used in warfare.

The great gun in the bow of the vessel was loaded with one of the largest and most powerful motor bombs; and the spot to be aimed at was selected. This was a point in the water just inside of the mouth of the harbor, and nearly a mile from the land on either side. The distance of this point from the vessel being calculated, the cannon was adjusted at the angle called for by the scale of distances and levels, and the instrument indicating rise, fall and direction was then put in connection with it.

Now the director-in-chief stepped forward to the button, by pressing which the power of the motor was developed. The chief of the scientific corps then showed him the exact point upon the scale, which would be indicated when the gun was in its proper position, and the piece was then moved upon its bearings so as to approximate as nearly as possible this direction.

The bow of the vessel now rose upon the swell of the sea, and the instant that the index upon the scale reached the desired point, the director-in-chief touched the button.

There was no report, no smoke, no visible sign that the motor had left the cannon; but at that instant there appeared, to those who were on the lookout, from a fort about a mile away, a vast aperture in the waters of the bay, which was variously described as from 100 yards to 500 yards in diameter. At that same instant, in the neighboring headlands and islands far up the shores of the bay, and in every street and building of the city, there was felt a sharp shock as if the underlying rocks had been struck by a gigantic trip hammer.

At the same instant the sky above the spot where the motor had descended was darkened by a wide spreading cloud. This was formed of that portion of the water of the bay which had been instantaneous raised to the height of about a thousand feet. The sudden appearance of this cloud was even more terrible than the yawning chasm in the waters of the bay, or the startling shock, but it did not remain long in view. It had no sooner reached its highest elevation than it began to descend. There was a strong sea breeze blowing, and in its descent this vast mass of water was impelled toward the land.

It came down, not as rain, but as the waters of a vast cataract, as though a mountain lake, by an earthquake shock, had been precipitated in a body upon a valley. Only one edge of it reached the land, and here the seething flood tore away earth, trees and rocks, leaving behind it great chasms and gullies as it descended to the sea.

The bay itself, into which this vast body of the water fell, became a scene of surging madness. The towering walls of water which had stood up all around the suddenly created aperture hurled themselves back into the abyss, and down into the great chasm at the bottom of the bay, which had been made when the motor sent its shock along the great rock beds. Down upon, and into, this roaring, boiling tumult fell the tremendous cataract from above, and the harbor became one wild expanse of leaping, maddened waves, hissing their whirling spray high into the air.

During these few terrific moments other things happened which passed unnoticed in the general consternation. All along the shores of the bay and in front of the city the waters seemed to be sucked away, slowly returning as the sea forced them to their level, and at many points up and down the harbor there were submarine detonations and upheavals of the water.

These were caused by the explosion, by concussion of every torpedo and submarine battery in the harbor; and it was with this object in view that the instantaneous motor bomb had been shot into the mouth of the bay.

The effects of the discharge of the motor bomb astonished and even startled those on board the repellers and the the crabs. At the instant of touching the button a hydraulic shock was felt on Repeller No. 1. This was supposed to be occasioned by the discharge of the motor, but it was also felt on the other vessels. It was the same shock that had been felt on shore, but less in degree. A few moments after there was a great heaving swell of the sea, which tossed and rolled the four vessels and lifted the steel protecting net so high that for an instant parts of it showed themselves above the surface like glistening sea ghosts.

Experiments with motor bombs had been made in unsettled mountainous districts, but this was the first one which had ever exerted its power under water.

On shore, in the forts, and in the city, no one for an instant supposed that the terrific phenomenon which had just occurred was in any way due to the vessels of the syndicate. The repellers were in plain view, and it was evident that neither of them had fired a gun. Besides, the firing of cannon did not produce such effects. It was the general opinion that there had been an earthquake shock accompanied by a cloud burst, and extraordinary convulsions of the sea. Such a combination of elementary disturbances had never been known in these parts, and a great many persons were much more frightened than if they had understood what had really happened.

In about half an hour after the discharge of the motor bomb, when the sea had resumed its usual quiet, a boat carrying a white flag left Repeller No. 1, rowed directly over the submerged net and made for the harbor. When the approach of this flag of truce was perceived from the fort nearest the mouth of the harbor, it occasioned much surmise. Had the earthquake brought these syndicate knaves to their senses? Or were they about to make further absurd and outrageous demands? Some irate officers were of the opinion that enemies like these should be considered no better than pirates, and that their flag of truce should be fired upon. But the commandant of the fort paid no attention to such counsels, and sent a detachment with a white flag down to the beach to meet the approaching boat and learn its errand.

The men in the boat had nothing to do but to deliver a letter from the director-in-chief to the commandant of the fort and then row back again. No answer was required.

When the commandant read the brief note he made no remark. In fact, he could think of no appropriate remark to make. The missive simply informed him that at ten o'clock and eighteen minutes a. m., of that day, the first boom from the marine forces of the syndicate had been discharged into the waters of the harbor. At, or about two o'clock p. m., the second bomb would be discharged at Fort Pilcher. That was all.

What this extraordinary message meant could not be imagined by any officer of the garrison. If the people on board the ships were taking advantage of the earthquake, and supposed that they could induce British soldiers to believe that it had been caused by one of their bombs, then were they idiots indeed. They would fire their second shot at Fort Pilcher! This was impossible, for they had not yet fired their first shot. These syndicate people were evidently very tricky, and the defenders of the port must therefore be very cautious.

Fort Pilcher was a very large and unfinished fortification, on a bluff on the opposite side of the harbor. Work had been discontinued on it as soon as the syndicate's vessels had appeared off the port, for it was not desired to expose the builders and workmen to a possible bombardment. The place was now, therefore, almost deserted; but after the receipt of the syndicate's message, the commandant feared that the enemy might throw an ordinary shell into the unfinished works, and he sent a boat across the bay to order away any workmen or others who might be lingering about the place.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

J. J. ORR Druggist.

Are You Taking It?

"Are you taking the F. E. C. Kidney Remedy?" is becoming a common inquiry. The F. E. C. is known to be an honest remedy and is doing a world of good. J. J. Orr sells it.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought untill we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it; but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Typewriter and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The easy manner in which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Typewriter Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid over to the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the clumsy table board and sounder in front of the operator. The sliding top is perfectly flat, is not covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so easily removed by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine into position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table rests on a pivot near its center on patent malleable iron arms, that when the machine is lifted from it in place for use, it does not depend on posts or hangers at rear of piano for support, but is firmly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be jostled down an incline in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent slides which keep the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk and under the operator's hand.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the cable moving felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as rigid as a mountain top was our third fourth would be a matter of great importance where a good type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

HISTORY OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

seats were made of planks and slabs. In this condition the church was used during the winter of 1841-2.

Two years and a half had now elapsed since the church organization. During this time they had no pastor, and no regular preaching. Yet God had, from time to time, given them evidence of His approbation. Seven members had been added by baptism, and many others by letter. Notwithstanding the unfinished condition of the house of worship, the church now resolved to secure a pastor. Rev. I. H. Moore was called, and accepted the pastorate. He entered upon his charge in January, 1842, at a salary of $300, of which $100 was furnished by the missionary convention of the State of New York. Soon after he began his labors, a series of protracted meetings was held, in which the spirit of God was manifest. In spite of our slab seats, there were added to the church twenty-two members by baptism, during Elder Moore's pastorate of one year and four months. At the expiration of this time he resigned on account of the inability of the church to raise his required salary of $350. Soon after his resignation, Rev. J. I Fulton became pastor, at a salary of $400, and a donation. During the following winter of 1843 4, there was another revival, and a large ingathering of souls. Forty-o e converts were admitted to the church by baptism during Elder Fulton's pastorate of three years and four months. The meeting house was also completed, and removed from the corner of Pearl and Logan streets to the west side of Ottawa street, between Logan and Chicago streets and an addition of twelve feet was made to its length. In the meantime the pastor's salary had been increased to $500. Previous deficiencies, together with these extra expenditures, had so accumulated that the society now found itself $400 in arrears. They were, therefore, reluctantly compelled to request Elder Fulton to resign, and so relieve them from greater embarassments. To this he consented. His resignation took effect in October, 1846.

To pay off their indebtedness was now the difficult task. But it was accomplished in a little over one year, and the church again ventured to employ a pastor. Bro. Samuel Cornelius, a licentiate, was engaged to preach, and entered upon his duties in September, 1847. His services proving acceptable, a council was called, and he was ordained to the gospel ministry, and became a settled pastor. He labored with the church about two years. His stipulated salary being too small to meet his expenses, he then resigned—much to the regret of all—to take charge of the church at Pontiac. During his pastorate two members were received by baptism.

In the following autumn of 1849, Elders Roberts and Weaver visited the church as evangelists, and held a protracted meeting. Through the faithful preaching of the Word, the Holy Spirit manifested its power over the hearts of men, and a glorious revival ensued among both Christians and sinners. Thirty-three members were at this time received into the church by baptism.

The Rev. P. B. Haughout now became pastor. He did not intend to stay but one year, and resigned before this time had fully expired. He was succeeded by the Rev. E. Royce, who resigned at the expiration of the year, on account of the inability of the church to raise his salary for the second year.

In October, 1851, Rro. James McLeod accepted the call of the church, at a salary of $350. In the two preceding years the church had employed two pastors, with the addition of only two members by baptism. But a cloud of mercy was in waiting for them, and by the faithful preaching of God's Word, and the renewed consecration of the church, a glorious revival of religion ensued. In the pastorate of Elder McLeod, which continued nearly four years, forty-one souls connected themselves with the church by baptism.

In 1856 the church was under the care of Rev. B. McClouth. Two more joined the church in their walk toward God, that year.

Bro. J. Fletcher was engaged to preach during the year of 1857, at a salary of $200 and a donation. For some cause, which I am unable to ascertain, he withdrew at the expiration of six months. Arrangements were then made with Elder Davis, by which he was to divide his labors between the Tecumseh and Manchester churches, preaching every alternate Sunday. He soon resigned as the Manchester church were unable to recompense him for his services.

During the latter part of 1858 Elder Fulton, having returned from the East and settled upon his farm near Tecumseh, was invited by the church to become their pastor for one year, to preach once each Sabbath. He accepted the invitation, and was to receive for his services whatever could be collected by subscription. This his last pastorate, continue lone year and nine months. One member entered the church thro' the baptismal waters.

The darkest and most discouraging period of the church's history was during this time and the subsequent year. There had been no general wakening in the church for seven years. Three pastors had come and gone, whose united services only amounted to three years and three months. Such was the want of faith that a proposition was actually made to disband. But in this extremity God came to the rescue. This trial of faith, like that of Abraham and Daniel served only to incite greater longings for godliness and strengthen their purposes for greater exertions than ever in the cause of Christianity.

The Von Graef Medical Company, No. 3 Park Row, New York City, in 1888, made seventy-eight per cent. of cures of various diseases of men, chronic and otherwise, within the time allotted for treatment. The record of cures of diseases of women was nearly as large. This is the highest record ever achieved in this country by hospitals or private practice. In the treatment and cure of diseases, science, skill and discovery keep pace with inventions in other directions. The new book lately issued by the Von Graef Company, full of valuable hints and information to young or old, free to all who call for it or order it by mail.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

LONGEVITY.

Scientific men see no reason why the span of human life may not be extended to a round huudred years from the present limit of seventy to eighty years.

The age to which persons lived varies in Old Testament chronology.

From Adam's time to that of Methuselah and Noah, men are recorded as attaining to well nigh the age of 1,000 years. The Psalmist David, however, says: "The days of our age are threescore years and ten; and though men be so strong that they come to four score years, yet is their strength then but labor and sorrow; so soon passeth it away, and we are gone."

This wide margin of longevity, together with proper observances of mental, moral and physical laws, leads investigators to believe it is possible that human life might be made to increase in length of days to a full century, at least.

Moderation and regularity in eating, drinking and sleeping are conductive to longevity, and those who observe proper habits and use pure and efficacious remedies when sick, may accomplish immense labor with no apparent injury to themselves and without foreshortening there lives.

Hon. H. H. Warner, President of the Rochester, N. Y., Chamber of Commerce, and manufacturer of the celebrated Warner's Safe Cure, has devoted much time and research to this subject of longevity, and has arrived at the satisfactory conclusion that life may be prolonged and man's virile powers increased and preserved at the same time by rational and natural means. Thousands of persons are living to-day—enjoying the blessings of perfect and healthy vigor—who will testify to the almost magical efficacy of Warner's Safe Cure in restoring them to physical potency and to the normal type of constitution, after they had almost given up hope of life.

After middle age, many begin to lose wonted vigor of body, and thereupon give way to inertness and useless repining. Yet all such have within reach that which both renews vontu and contributes to the prolongation of life. Warner's marvelous Safe Cures are in every drug store, and are now regarded as standard specifics throughout the civilized world.

The strong desire to attain old age—meantime retaining the virile powers of body and mind—is necessarily connected with the respect paid to aged persons, for people would scarcely desire to be old, were the aged neglected or regarded with mere sufference. That is a high civilization in which age is made a source of distinction. Of all marks of respect, that to age is most willingly paid, because every one who does homage to age may himself, eventually, become an object of such homage.

James C. Kellie, Monroe's deputy post master, gets six months in the Detroit house of correction because of irregularities in handling the United States mail.

In addition to the numerous labor unions, Muskegon has more'n two baker's dozen of secret societies and several untrained goats are waiting for a join.

Mrs. Elizabeth Vanderhoof, the Berrien county lady convicted of poisoning her husband in 1884, at last goes free. The supreme court granted a new trial, but so many of the witnesses are dead that the lower court has dismissed the case.

The Molasees riuer, like most of the lumbering streams, is too low in the jug for floating logs, over 20,000,000 feet being "hung up" in that stream alone.

It is thought that another attempt will be made to start a third paper in Kalamazoo, despite the fact that the newspaper cemetery of the "Celery city" is thickly dotted with journalistic ventures.

A Jackson small boy and some matches made a combination that reduced a barn in that city to ashes, together with its contents of more'n 600 bushels of grain, twenty-five tons of hay and the horse kept therein to eat it.

The Traverse City insane asylum is full to overflowing with patients, with numerous applications that it's unable to accommodate.

A Niles youngster of four summers had a three-ton weight, in the shape of a loaded wagon, roll over him without breaking a bone. There's a future in store for a "kid" like that.

Howell is pretty well pleased because the voters of Livingston county said "yes" to the new court house proposition. The old one isn't a handsome structure now, though it may have been all right in the log cabin days when 'twas built.

A Kalamazoo county citizen, of matrimonial inclinations, has just married his fifth wife, and that, too, on a two week's acquaintance. Quite a contrast to the Van Buren county man who courted a girl fifteen years before he came to the conclusion to marry. But then, there's a great difference in men.

Thirty-five men were thrown out of employment by a recent ship-yard fire at Grand Haven.

The Y. P. M. alliance of the M. E. church, of this state, will hold a state convention at Lansing, beginning April 30 and hanging on three days if the capital city grub holds out.

The estate of Frank Silvers, the Tecumseh man who shot his wife, two daughters and then himself, has been disposed of at administrator's sale according to instructions left by himself. Among the effects were a dozen horses and colts that were sold at good round prices.

The Chicago and Grand Trunk railway officials recently held their annual meeting, figuring out nearly $1,000,000 profits for the past year, and re-elected themselves to office.

Tecumseh Baptists are so well pleased because their church has survived the choir squabbles of a half century that they celebrated the event in a style worthy of its unique importance.

A $5,000 bonus, water power free for ten years exemption from local taxation for half that time, were the combined inducements that allured a mammoth pulp factory to locate at the "Soo." It is noticed that some corporations don't yield to temptation very easily.

Mrs. Hattie Landon, a Tuscola county lady, avers that Kate Landon, a Parma maiden, has played havoc with her husband's affections, and that a $5,000 cosh plaster will just about repair the damage. Kate won't put up the cash however, unless the law compels her.

The Calumet and Hecla fire is thought to have subsided and the mine will be opened and a squint taken at its internal condition.

Editor Rowley, of The Lansing Journal, is rapidly gaining notoriety as the victim of four libel suits, all preferred within a week by George P. Sanford, of that city, aggregating $31,000.

Julia A. Moore, the once much talked of "sweet singer of Michigan," is side-tracked at Harrison's Siding, an Autrain county hamlet. Her muse has gone into a state of "inocuous desuetude."

Mrs. May Brennan, a Jackson lady, brings a $50,000 damage suit against the Michigan Central railway because her husband was killed at Bay City some two years ago while in the employ of that company.

William Rogers, convicted of burglary at Ionia in 1882 and sentenced to the state house of correction for twelve years, has been pardoned by Governor Luce. It is now considered certain that Rogers was in no way connected with the robbery for which he was convicted, the evidence being purely circumstantial. Another case of the innocent being made to suffer for the crime of one allowed to go free.

A water bicycle, intended for navigating Reed's lake, is being built at Grand Rapids. The seat is placed upon three cigar-shaped cylinders, with a paddle wheel between to be operated by the rider's feet.

Not within the memory of the oldest fish that navigates the shoals and shallows of the St. Joseph river, has the water in that stream been so low as at the present time.

For the past seventeen years Mrs. John Morris, a Gobleville lady, has mourned because of the absence of her John, who had skipped out without consulting his wife. The other day the missing John put in an appearance, saying that he'd been in California all the time and desired Mrs. M. to return with him to the golden state. She'll go, forgiving woman that she is.

Several thousand citizens of Grand Rapids have petitioned the legislature for the adoption of the Australian voting system, and in case that body doesn't wish to try the scheme for the whole state, to make it applicable to the city of Grand Rapids. Any system that will enhance the purity of the ballot will be welcomed by good citizens, irrespective of party.

The original patents, covering the horizontal adjustment of spring harrow teeth, have been purchased by a Lansing firm, and now all infringers must toe the mark at once or take a square look at a damage lawsuit.

A Niles lady recently lost a pet ewe that was 19 years old. During that time she had produced thirty-five lambs and 142 pounds of wool, and seems to have fairly earned a rest from life's labors.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonals. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co. The WALTER A. WOOD HARVESTING MACHINES

LEAD THEM ALL.

726,510 Machines have been sold. 54,026 made and sold in 1888.

The Single Apron Improvement.

Its striking advantages are—three rollers as compared with six; one canvas versus three; six bearings as compared with twelve; three buckles versus twelve. The draft of the machine is thereby very materially reduced. The apron is driven from the underside, hence the upper side or top of apron is comparatively loose and easily passes, without friction, under the apron guides.

The only Binder adjustments on the Wood are the three desirable ones—Regulating size of Bundle—Regulating tightness of Binding—Regulating position of Band. Each of these adjustments is made instantly.

The new Enclosed Gear Mower is the best mower ever made.

Farmers should call and examine these machines before buying.

FOUR NEW STATES

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls. Go to south Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana the Golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 1,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile lands, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta Route or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonists sleepers of its own to from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington—The country of tall timbers, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers enroute for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific coast is the same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

For further information maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. I. Whitney Gen. Pass and Tkt Agt. St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

Hon. Peter Sharp returned Wednesday morning and may be found at his old place of business on the corner. His old friends welcome him back and are glad to see him so much improved in health.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. A. J. Sutton, on Friday evening of the present week. A programe is being prepared with great care and no pains will be spared to make the occasion an enjoyable one. It is the intention of the Union to hold their meetings during the summer on Tuesday afternoon and Friday evening every two weeks. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in the Union to be present.

We desire to extend our heartfelt appreciation to the contributor of the item that appeared in our rambles last week, and hope the readers of the Herald don't think we are as far gone as the contributor insinuates.

The attendance at the social held at Mrs. Barlow's Friday evening was unusually large. A short programme of recitations and music was carried out, closing with the Governor's reception. All seemed to enjoy the evening very much.

From the first of May until the first of Oct., the library will be open from 4 p.m. till twilight.

Communion service was held at the M. E. church last Sunday afternoon. Rev. Kerridge of Chelsea was present.

Quarterly meeting will be held at the Baptist church this week, beginning on Friday evening May 3d. Ministers from Hillsdale and Bedford will be present.

SURG. GEN. WOODWARD, U. S. Army, says of the results of chronic malarial poisoning: "Disorder of the kidneys frequently complicates the condition under consideration. Scanty, more or less albuminous urine is often observed, and those cases not infrequently terminate in chronic Bright's Disease, with confirmed albuminuria, oedema or general anasarca." What at first is recognized as malaria is subsequently found to be Bright's Disease, which Warner's Safe Cure cures.

CLINTON CLIPPINGS.

The entertainment given by the Blue Ribbon Club last Friday evening was a marked success. The music both instrumental and vocal was exceptionally fine and well merited the encores that were received. The recitations seemed to be enjoyed equally as well. Miss Augusta Bruce deserves the thanks of the public for furnishing so delightful an entertainment, and also the Blue Ribbon Club, for the faithful fulfilment of her duties as president of the club.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. J. A. McIlwain of Wayne, which occured last week. Rev. McIlwain was formerly pastor of the M. E. Church here.

Mrs. Maria Tate of Ypsilanti has been visiting Clinton friends this week.

Mrs. Packard and Mrs. Mills of Tecumseh called on Clinton friends last week.

Miss. Mamie Poucher of Adrian has been the guest of Mrs. Albert Kishpaugh for a few days.

We understand that Carl Burton who has been engaged with an opera company is coming to Clinton soon, for a visit with the old friends and take a much needed rest as he has been "on the road" for eight months.

Rev. J. M. Kerridge of Grass Lake occupied the Methodist pulpit Sunday morning and evening. His many friends here will be pleased to learn that he is now Presiding Elder of the Western district, of Michigan.

S. F. Marstellar has moved his family into the house that he purchased some months ago of Mrs. Laura VanDeMark.

Union Memorial services were held Tuesday at 9 A. M. at the Congregational Church.

Miss Stella Miller of Blissfield visited Mrs. Ed. VanDeMark Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Emma Sinclair has been visiting friends in Adrian.

A. B. Cotton of Chicago was shaking hands with old friends this week.

Albert Kishpaugh was accidentally shot with a rifle by Ed. Parker last Sunday, in Chas. Johnson's woods. The boys both discovered game at the same time and started to run, when Ed stumbled and fell, discharging the gun. Lena, little daughter of W. M. Witherell, has been very sick with catarrhal fever and whooping cough.

Emma McCollum, who is studying medicine in Ann Arbor, has been home on a short visit.

Miss. Mary Woods of Hillsdale visited at Rodman Taylor's a part of last week.

Edith Spaulding is passing a few days with her sister Mrs. Lafayette Spencer of Raisin.

Whooping cough has spread over a considerable part of Franklin. A mild form of the disease prevails, though a few little ones suffer severely.

Death was busy in Franklin last week. Three were taken in one day. The death of Orson Knight of Adrian was also deeply felt here. Years ago he had his home among us and many of his relatives live in this town. Old neighbors join them in mourning for the kindly upright man who has gone.

Samuel Wilson has been alarmingly ill, having suffered what is supposed to be an attack of apoplexy. He had been restless through the night, complaining of cramps in his limbs. Toward morning he arose and after a few minutes, Mrs. W. wondering at his stillness got up also and on the floor, found him insensible. That she was greatly frightened goes without saying. Help was summoned, but it was some time before he recovered consciousness. He is able to be out again at this writing.

One of James Updyke's little boys met with quite a serious accident Sunday. They were riding the ponies, one of which being startled at something, jumped, causing its rider to lose his balance. He clung to the animal's neck and swung around in front before he fell so that the pony stepped on his leg, breaking it and tearing out a large piece of flesh.

PROF. EDWIN WILLITS.

The Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Assumes His New Duties.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Twenty years ago this month Edwin Willits, who was then postmaster at Monroe, made his first visit to Washington. He was shown around the city by his friend the late Congressman Rowland E. Trowbridge, who was then chairman of the House committee on agriculture. "By the way, Trowbridge," Willits said during his stay, "you might take me over and show me that pumpkin seed bureau. I don't take much stock in it, but have no objections to looking it over." The Congressman took Mr. Willits over to the Bureau of Agriculture and introduced him to the Commissioner as "a skeptic who needed conversion. The Commissioner took Mr. Willits in hand and devoted a day showing him about the department and familiarizing him with its work. From that day to this Prof. Willits has been deeply interested with the work of the bureau and was one of its strongest friends in Congress. Twenty years have passed away since Mr. Willits went over to look at what he so flippantly called the "pumpkin seed bureau." The bureau has grown to be a department, its chief sits at the President's long table and Edwin Willits is the First Assistant of Agriculture this country ever had. The Assistant Secretary has taken hold of his new work with a will. He has a large and commodious office on the ground floor, which, however, is now furnished only with a desk and three chairs. It will be thoroughly equipped for work by next week.—The above special taken from the Free Press will be of interest to Mr. Willitt's many friends in this section.

FREDERICK T. ROBERTS, M. D., Prof. of Clinical Medicine at the University College Hospital, London, England, says: "Bright's Disease has no symptoms of its own and may long exist without the knowledge of the patient or practitioner and no pain will be felt in the kidneys or their vicinity. All the diseases to which the kidneys are subject and to which they give rise can be prevented if treated in time." WARNER'S Safe Cure is the only recognized specific. R. A. GUNN, M. D., Dean, and Prof. of Surgery of the U. S. Medical College; Editor of "Medical Tribune;" Author of "Gunn's New and Improved Hand-book of Hygenic and Domestic Medicine," says: "I am willing to acknowledge and commend thus frankly the value of Warner's Safe Cure."

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Village of Tecumseh, Mich.
Council Room, April 15, 1889, 7:30 p. m.

Regular session.

Present:—President Heesen, Ames, Elliott, Heck, James, Kennedy, Smith, and recorder.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The chairman of the Ordinance committee submitted an additional clause to Sec. 2, 5 b, of the proposed amendment to an ordinance relative to licenses, as follows:—Provided, however, that church societies, giving entertainments in their own churches, chapels or parlors, for the benefit of their own society, shall be exempt from the provisions of this ordinance. Report accepted.

The ordinance committee then reported the entire ordinance for final action and it was adopted section by section.

Following is a true copy of the ordinance as adopted.

An ordinance entitled an ordinance, amending an ordinance, relative to licenses, passed by the Common Council of the village of Tecumseh, August 7th, 1871. Adopted April 15, 1889.

Be it ordained by the Common Council of the village of Tecumseh that an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Relative to Licenses" passed by the Common Council of the village of Tecumseh, Aug. 7, 1871, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following sub-divisions to stand as subdivisions 5 a., and 5 b., of section 2 of said ordinance.

Sec. 2., 5 a. Any person or persons selling or offering for sale any eatables, lunches, meals, lemonade, non-intoxicating drinks, cigars or tobacco in any form from booths or stands erected in the open air in said village or from any cart, carriage, buggy, show case, box, barrel, or structure in the open air in said village shall pay a daily license therefor as follows, viz:

(1). For the sale or offering for sale of any eatables, lunches, or meals, lemonade or non-intoxicating drinks, and cigars or tobacco in any form a daily license of five dollars.

(2). For the sale or offering for sale, of any eatables, lunches, or meals, and lemonade or non-intoxicating drinks, a daily license of four dollars.

(3). For the sale or offering for sale, of any eatables, lunches, or meals, a daily license of three dollars.

(4). For the sale, or offering for sale, lemonade or non-intoxicating drinks and cigars or tobacco in any form a daily license of one dollar and fifty cents.

(5). For the sale of, or offering for sale, lemonade or non-intoxicating drinks or cigars or tobacco in any form, a daily license of one dollar. Provided, however, that a child, or children, under the age of fifteen years, unassisted by a person over the age of fifteen years, so selling or offering for sale, lemonade or non-intoxicating drinks, shall pay a daily license of fifty cents.

Sec. 2., 5 b. Any person or persons, (not regularly engaged in business as hotel keeper, restaurateur or baker, common victualer, or not intending to regularly engage in such business) selling or offering for sale in any building, in said village, any eatables, lunches or meals, shall pay a daily license therefor of five dollars. Provided, however, that church societies giving entertainments in their own churches, chapels or church parlors for the benefit of their own society shall be exempt from the provisions of this ordinance.

NEW BUSINESS.

Mr. A. W. Mills appeared before the council in behalf of Beers Post, No. 140, G. A. R. and requested that cemetery lots 8 and 29, Block O, which had previously been granted to that organization by vote of the council, be exchanged for lot 24 Block O. On motion the request was granted on condition that the Post bear the expense of transferring whatever bodies may be buried on said lots 8 and 29 to lot 24.

The following claims were presented and referred to the Finance committee:—Wm. Payne, 2 assessment rolls, $6; E. A. Hodges, street commissioner $16.00; Wm. Wilber, ½ day's work .62; Jones & Underhill $4.50.

The recorder reported that he had received $40.00 from the township treasurer for rent of council building and turned the same over to the village treasurer.

The liquor bonds of Jacob Cheever, Erving C. Kennedy, Eugene Service and William J. Arnold, each in the penal sum of $4,000, with two sureties, and the drug bond of C. A. Wright & Co., in the penal sum of $3,000, with two sureties, were presented and on motion were accepted and determined sufficient.

On motion ten dollars apiece was appropriated to pay the expenses of delegates from the fire department to the annual convention of the State Firemen's Association to be held at Lansing May 1, the number to be limited to three.

A proposition from A. Packard offering to sell the village certain lands for a gravel pit was received and referred to the street committee.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The finance committee reported favorably on the above bills.

Report accepted and orders directed drawn.

The petition of C. W. Brownson to be allowed to draw surface dirt from the gravel pit was, on motion laid on the table.

On motion the penal sum of the marshal's bond was fixed at $6,000.

Adjourned.

THE CENTENNIAL.

The National Glory Will Center in New York April 30.

THREE DAYS OF REJOICING.

From Washington to Harrison—Why the Constitution Was Adopted—Race Elements of the New Republic—Washington's Triumphal March—Reception and Inauguration—A Century's Growth—Outline of Events on April 29 and 30 and May 1, 1889.

George Washington was the hero of the most successful and least destructive revolution recorded in history. His inauguration was the beginning of a new era, as well as the inception of a new government. Indeed, the chief novelty of the new government consisted not so much in its form, for that contained little that was new, but the vital application of principles admitted down to that time, but generally ignored. The declaration of radical principles by which the Dutch of the Sixteenth century justified their sanguinary struggle with Spain, and the system of political ethics professed by the English in their revolution of the Seventeenth century, received but little addition in the Declaration of Independence, but what the Dutch and the English could not do by reason of their old environment, the Americans, marvelously favored by a sparse population in an immense country, and the self reliance of pioneers, resolutely set themselves to make practical.

The beginning of the American republic now stands forth an era far more important than that of Magna Charta or the Petition of Rights. Its centennial will, therefore, be celebrated in New York city with all the enthusiasm of the first inauguration added to the confidence born of a hundred years' success. President Harrison will arrive by the same route, and will pass over the same scenes in New Jersey as did President Washington. He will embark in like manner at Elizabethport, N. J., and pass thence on a government dispatch boat to the foot of Wall street, among the vessels of all nations, as Washington did; will be formally welcomed by the mayor and city officials, as Washington was; will be received with the same salute, and generally will observe the same routine.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL FATHERS.

The annexed history of Washington's inauguration will, therefore, be a sort of advance programme of the ceremonies on the coming 30th of April. The preliminary sketch will, it is hoped, enable young readers to comprehend the peculiar difficulties confronting the first president, and in the discussions which preceded and the words in which the agreement to the charter of the national government was couched may be found the germs of our national policy and the divergencies of our political parties.

It is conceded by all observers of that time that the constitution never would have obtained the sanction of the needed states had there not been a certainty in the public mind that Washington would be the first president and therefore give to its terms an executive construction which would be binding for all time. Washington was therefore in a peculiar sense the principal creator of the new government. But the causes for local jealousy which went so near to defeating his object may here be briefly and profitably reviewed. It should be borne in mind that the colonies were founded by men representing at least four great branches of the Caucasian stock and six distinct and somewhat unfriendly religious bodies. The Puritan, Dutch and Swedish Calvinists and Lutherans; the English Quakers, Catholics and Episcopalians, and lastly the French Huguenots. The Irish of the early immigration were nearly all non-Celtic and Protestant, while the Palatine Germans who located in Pennsylvania and the valley of Virginia did not in any sense constitute an alien political party.

Necessity compelled some sort of union from the first, but it was self evident that no one of the local religious elements could prevail over all the others, and thus by a most fortunate accident there was from the first a complete divorce of church and state under the old government, while the anomaly was presented of a union of the two in some of the states till long after the adoption of the present purely secular national constitution. Jealousies inherent in the religions of the original stocks were very slowly eliminated, and those growing out of local interests in trade and navigation were most persistent of all. Hence the instincts of the people looked to a man of impartial temper to hold the just balance of the constitution between state rights and centralization—between the south, the west and the east—between the interests of manufacturing, commerce and navigation. There was but one man in whom the confidence of the vast classes and sections centered, a native of the south, who had won his first great laurels in the north, and that man was George Washington.

THE FIRST ELECTION.

On the 21st of June, 1788, New Hampshire, the ninth state, ratified the constitution. On the 2d of July her formal notification of that fact was read in the Confederation congress, and after long and heated debate, that congress on the 13th of September resolved that the first Wednesday in January should be the day for appointing electors, the first Wednesday in February the day for them to vote, and the first Wednesday in March the time and New York, the then seat of congress, the place to commence proceedings under the new constitution.

On the 4th of March but few delegates were present. On the 25th twenty-six representatives answered to their names, but thirty were necessary to a quorum, which was not obtained until April 1. Fisher Ames says that the delegates were "composed of sober, solid old charter folk." On the 5th of April Richard Henry Lee arrived from Virginia and completed the quorum of the senate. On the 6th of April the two houses met in Federal hall, opened and counted the votes, George Washington receiving every one for president and John Adams enough to elect him vice president. Charles Thompson, secretary of the Confederation congress, was immediately dispatched to Mount Vernon with the official notification to the president-elect, and Sylvanus Bourne sailed in a packet boat through Long Island sound on the 7th of April for Boston with the formal notice to John Adams.

Federal hall had been thoroughly refurnished and remodeled for the occasion. In front were four doric columns and a pediment, the cornices being arranged in thirteen squares, each of which contained a star, and over it was the American eagle and other insignia. Over it also were the arms of the United States with thirteen sculptured arrows, entwined in olive branches, all combining to give the imposing structure a truly national appearance. The chamber for the representatives was sixty-one feet long and fifty-eight broad, with an arched ceiling forty-six feet high in the center. The senate chamber was smaller and much more highly decorated. In the center of its arched ceiling of light blue was a sun and thirteen stars. Its fire places were lined by polished variegated American marble, and the president's chair was elevated three feet above the floor under a crimson canopy. Near it a large door opened southward upon the balcony where Washington took the oath of office. In these halls in the closing days of April, 1789, were assembled the really representative men of the United States.

ARRIVAL OF WASHINGTON.

Egbert Benson, from New York, Peter Muhlenberg, from Pennsylvania, and Samuel Griffin, from Virginia, were appointed a committee on the reception of the president, and they prepared the house of Mr. Osgood, lately occupied by the president of congress. The house stood in what is now Franklin square, at the corner of Cherry street.

WASHINGTON PASSING THROUGH TRENTON.

Washington had set out from Mount Vernon as soon as Secretary Thompson arrived, and his journey was one continuous triumphal procession. Cities, towns and villages turned out en masse. The road for many miles was lined with people from the adjacent country, manifesting their joy in many impulsive ways, by shouts, by laughter and by tears. Mothers who had trudged many miles held up their babes that they might say in after life that they had seen Washington. The sick and the aged were carried to the line and given prominent places at the windows. The veterans of the revolution and the new militia paraded everywhere. Guns were fired, triumphal arches were erected in the towns and stretched from tree to tree in the country. At Gray's Ferry, across the Schuylkill, the president-elect was escorted through a long avenue of laurels under a sort of arbor covered with laurel branches. As he passed the last arch a civic crown of laurels was ingeniously lowered upon his head from above, greatly to his surprise, and amid the deafening shouts of the multitude. At Trenton a magnificent triumphal arch had been erected. Above it was the date of his victory at that place in gold lettering with flowers twined about it, and as he passed under this thirteen girls in white marched before him, sang a welcoming ode and scattered flowers in his pathway.

At the same time John Adams was approaching with somewhat less state from New England, and on the 20th of April he arrived in New York, escorted from the Connecticut line to Kingsbridge by the light horse of Westchester county, and from Kingsbridge into the city by all the city cavalry, commanded by Gen. Malcolm and Capt. Stokes, and followed by most of the members of congress and a large concourse of citizens. He lodged at the house of Hon. John Jay, and the next day was escorted to the senate chamber by Caleb Strong and Ralph Izard, where he was introduced as vice president of the United States and took the oath of office.

Early on the morning of April 23 the booming of cannon and the ringing of bells announced that Washington had arrived at Elizabethport, N. J., and business was entirely suspended. At Elizabethport the president-elect was received by a committee of congress, of which Elias Boudinot was chairman, and by the heads of the departments in the confederation, namely: John Jay, secretary of foreign affairs; John Knox, secretary of war, Robert R. Livingston, chancellor of the state of New York, Samuel Osgood, Arthur Lee and Walter Livingston, commissioners of the treasury; Ebenezer Hazzard, postmaster general, and by the mayor and recorder of the city.

A large and handsome barge, prepared and draped for the purpose, was in waiting, manned by thirteen masters of vessels in white uniform, and commanded by Commodore James Nicholson. Washington was seated in this, and as it moved slowly from the Jersey shore other barges, fancifully decorated, fell into line behind it. The procession moved through the narrow strait between New Jersey and Staten Island, and many boats and vessels fell into its wake. As it passed Bedloe's Island a sloop came alongside bearing a volunteer choir of twenty-five ladies and gentlemen, who sang an ode composed for the occasion to the music of "God Save the Queen." Every vessel in the harbor was in holiday attire, the Spanish ship-of-war Galveston being especially noticeable, and as the barge came abreast of her she at once displayed every flag and signal in use among nations. It is to be remembered that the new nation was on especially friendly terms with France, Spain and Holland.

RECEPTION OF THE PRESIDENT-ELECT.

Governor George Clinton received the President-elect at the ferry stairs, and when Washington stepped to the shore the vast multitude broke into loud and prolonged cheers. The crowds were so densely packed in the procession that it required a long time and much exertion to force the way to the president's house in Franklin square. Every house on the route was decorated; every window was filled with people, shouting and waving flags and handkerchiefs. Flowers fell in the streets in constant showers and were displayed in every kind of device. The name of Washington was presented in flowers, flags and evergreens. At his house in Franklin square Washington spent the remainder of the day, from 4 p. m. to late bedtime, in receiving visitors and congratulations of foreign ministers, political characters, public bodies and private citizens of distinction. In the evening the entire city was brilliantly illuminated.

All this time the city was being filled with people from every part of the adjoining country and from New England. New York had never before had such a multitude. Old letters lately resurrected give amusing accounts of the difficulty of securing lodgings, of the breaking down of carriages and delay and hinderances on account of the bad roads of that day. All the houses in the city were soon filled and tents were pitched in vacant lots.

On the 29th the committee of the two houses reported an elaborate plan, providing that Gen. Webb, Col. Smith, Lieut. Col. Fish, Lieut. Col. Franks, Maj. L'Enfant, Maj. Bleecker and Mr. John R. Livingston serve as aids and assistants, that chairs be placed in the senate chamber for the president and vice president, the senators sitting on that side where the vice president's chair was placed and the representatives on the other side, with the speaker at their head; also that seats should be provided in the senate chamber for the late president of the Confederation congress and governor of the Western territory, the five persons at the heads of the departments, the ministers of France and Spain, the chaplain of congress and persons in the suite of the president, the lieutenant governor, chancellor, chief justice and judges of the supreme court of New York and mayor of the city; also, that there should be services in all the churches in the city at 9 o'clock in the morning, which all the people were requested to attend, that immediately after the conclusion of the services the procession should move; that the oath should be taken about noon, and that the president, chaplain and both houses of congress should proceed to St. Paul's church immediately after the ceremony to hear divine service.

The programme was fully carried out. A national salute ushered in the morning of the 30th of April. At 9 o'clock every bell in the city pealed for a few minutes, then in slow tones summoned the people to religious service, immediately after which the procession was formed in the following order:

Col. Morgan Lewis, attended by two officers.
Capt. Stokes with the Troop of Horse.
Artillery.
Maj. Van Horne.
Grenadiers, under Capt. Harsin.
German Grenadiers, very gayly attired, under Capt. Scriba.
Maj. Bicker.
The Infantry of the Brigade.
Maj. Chryslie.
Sheriff.
Committee of the Senate.
President-elect, in a Chariot Drawn by Four Horses.
His Suite.
Civil Officers.
Committee of the Representatives.
Hon. Mr. Jay, Secretary of Foreign Affairs.
Gen. Knox, Secretary of War.
Chancellor Livingston.
Several Gentlemen of Distinction.

At Federal hall the troops massed in close order on Wall and Broad streets. Washington passed through and was conducted to the senate chamber according to the programme, when Vice President Adams said:

"Sir, the senate and house of representatives of the United States are ready to attend you to take the oath required by the constitution, which will be administered by the chancellor of the state of New York."

"I am ready to proceed," was the reply.

They then passed to the balcony in the order prescribed. Broad and Wall streets in each direction presented a compact mass of upturned faces, and it is remarked that every person was still as a statue and profound silence reigned. The windows and housetops were crowded with people. Spectators exactly on the opposite side have many times described the appearance of the group on the balcony.

In the center and standing apart a little, separated by a space from all except Col. Webb and Chancellor Livingston, stood Washington, clad in a complete suit of elegant broadcloth, of American manufacture, with white silk stockings, also native production, plain silver buckles in his shoes, head uncovered, his hair heavily powdered and tied in a cue, according to the fashion of the day. He stood upon a square stone slightly elevated above the floor of the balcony. To the right of him stood Chancellor Livingston, nearly as tall as himself. On the other side stood Vice President Adams. Samuel A. Otis, secretary of the senate, stood near. A little to the rear and forming a sort of semicircle was a group of persons then and ever since dear to the American people, whose fame was second only to that of Washington. First was the secretary, John Jay, a tall, slight man, with a face indicating calm serenity and a fine type of character. Next, the brave Gen. Knox, Baron Steuben, Alexander Hamilton, Governor St. Clair of the Northwest Territory, and Roger Sherman. Behind them were the congressional celebrities; then, extending to the wings of the balcony on each side, as many members, both of the senate and house, as there was room for.

TESTIMONIALS WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE.

My daughter Maud has used Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and Plasters, which you so strongly recommended her to try for inflammatory rheumatism. Her limbs were badly swollen, and the poor girl was in terrible agony. In the midst of the pain we wound the Plasters about her limbs, and, as a result the swelling was reduced and she became quiet and rested. The syrup corrected her indigestion, cleansed the rheumatic poison from her blood, and she is now able to be around the house. Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and Plasters are remedies of great merit. REV. THE FRESHET.

"A HOMELESS, drifting band are we,
Yet lucky in a high degree,
For when the house was swept away
Before the freshet yesterday,
To find the bottom went the cans,
Along with kettles, spoons, and pans;
But safe above the house and mill,
The 'IVORY SOAP' was floating still!
For, strange to say, 'tis not confined
To cleaning things of every kind,
From coarsest cloth to finest lace,
From painted walls to pimpled face,
But proves indeed the greatest prize,
When rain descends and rivers rise;
So while we have a life to save,
We'll praise the Soap that rides the wave!"

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Improved Champion Mower.

THE CHAMPION is the only Mower on which the pitman never wears out, the knife heel never breaks, the gears never wear out nor break; the only Mower on which the gears run slowly and make no noise; the bar can be stood straight up and the knife will run freely even in that position; the only Mower on which all lost motion can be taken up on pitman, gearing and boxing; the only Mower on which the guards will outwear three sets of the cheap guards used on other mowers, and never break nor get out of line; the only Mower on which the slightest forward motion of the master wheel starts the knife; the only Mower on which the motion is transmitted directly from the master wheel to the knife pitman without any joints to wear loose and rattle, and where ALL THE POWER is applied to cutting the grass, none being wasted on loose joints or fast running gearing; the only Mower that has no frame work or pitman hanging down in front to run into obstructions or interfere with the cut grass; the only Mower that has no clutches to bother by slipping out of gear, and it can be put in gear at any point without backing.

THE IMPROVED CHAMPION has less than one-third the amount of gearing that other Mowers have, and the pitman and its connections are warranted not to break or wear out. This Mower is so novel and so superior to all others that an examination will convince any farmer that it is worth much more money than any other.

NATIONAL ARCHITECT'S UNION, 927 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Chancellor Livingston slowly pronounced the oath. Washington reverently repeated it after him. The Bible was raised. As the president bowed to kiss it, he said in a clear voice: "I swear," then, closing his eyes, added, "So help me, God."

"It is done," said the chancellor. Then, turning to the multitude, he said in a loud voice:

"Long live George Washington, president of the United States!"

Instantly the flag was run up to the top of the staff of the cupola of Federal hall, and all the bells of the city broke forth at once. Shouts and acclamations from the waiting thousands were repeated again and, again, and cannon boomed from every point of the compass from land and water. Although a century has passed, what American can read of this inspiring theme without feeling his pulses thrill anew?

HIS PERSON AND CHARACTER.

Washington was at that time 57 years old, and as was stated by thousands who knew him intimately, had outgrown that awkwardness of movement which marked him all through his early life, and arrived at an attitude of most wonderful and kindly dignity. His figure was neither awkward nor stiff. He was six feet three inches high, splendidly porportioned, finely developed and straight. He had a long and muscular arm and a very large hand. His motions were somewhat slow, and his voice almost uniformly grave. His breeding, of course, was that of a gentleman. He was fond of society, enjoying the good things of life, and in the circle of his intimates he indulged in a quiet humor and was sensitive to the beauty of a good story.

After Washington's return to the senate chamber and delivery of the address, he, with both houses of congress and many others, proceeded on foot to St. Paul's chapel on Broadway, where divine service was performed by Bishop Provost, when the president was escorted to his own house. In the evening the city was illuminated in a style unparalleled in America, and which drew forth praise even from visiting Frenchmen and other foreigners. The theatre in John street was a blaze of light, the front covered with transparencies, one of which represented Fame like an angel descending from heaven to crown Washington with immortality. In Bowling Green were numerous transparencies representing Washington and the different branches of the new government presided over by Justice and Wisdom, Columbia, Liberty and many other characters.

It is reported that every house in the city was illuminated, the most brilliantly so being those of the French and Spanish ministers, who tried to outdo each other. All the doors and windows of the French minister's house were bordered with brilliant lamps shining upon numerous paintings representing the past and present of American history. Gathered about the door of the Spanish minister's house was a curiously elaborate group of the Graces, and in each window moved pictures arranged to pass before the eyes of the spectators so as to present the illusion of a panorama. One of the ships off the Battery arranged its rigging with lanterns so as to represent a pyramid of stars, and the display of fireworks under the direction of Col.

Bauman was the finest America had ever seen. President Washington drove down Broadway, around Bowling Green, along the Battery and through the principal streets, obtaining a full view of the cheering spectacle.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

Fifty years passed away and the semi-centennial of the first inauguration was celebrated by the New York Historical society April 30, 1839. The accomplished John Quincy Adams delivered an eloquent address. Forty-one years more passed, and in 1880 the chamber of commerce of New York began the movement to erect a colossal bronze statue of Washington on the same spot where he took the inaugural oath. The necessary money was raised in a few days and the work was executed by the eminent sculptor, John Quincy Adams Ward.

On the 25th of November, 1883, the one hundredth anniversary of Washington's entrance into New York city, the unveiling ceremonies took place, unfortunately in the mist of a drenching rain. George W Lane, president of the chamber of commerce, presided. Richard S. Storrs offered prayer Royal Phillips, in behalf of the chamber of commerce, reported respecting the work. Governor Grover Cleveland, of New York, unveiled the statue, and President Arthur accepted it on behalf of the government of the United States. An eloquent address was delivered by George William Curtis and the benediction pronounced by Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, bishop of New York. Two years later the New York Historical society began the movement for a centennial celebration, which has now reached such immense proportions. All the old societies of New York have joined in. Committees have been organized on every branch of the work, of which it is only necessary to mention the most responsible and those of most historic note.

PLAN OF THE CENTENNIAL.

The general outline of proceedings will be as follows, to which will be added a supplementary outline for each separate department, and directions furnished upon the ground for each of the different detachments represented by various nations and various departments of the government:

1. The president of the United States, proceeding through Philadelphia and New Jersey, halting in the same manner and stopping at the same places as did Washington, will arrive at the harbor of New York on Monday, April 29, will be met by a deputation of the officials of New York state and city and taken thence on a government dispatch boat to the foot of Wall street in the city of New York, passing en route the United States and foreign ships of war, the yachts of all the clubs which may be present arranged in proper order and a large number of other vessels suitably decorated for the occasion. In this progress he will be received by the crews of all the vessels with the honor due his office and by the ships of war with the salute prescribed by law for the president. At Wall street the president will be formally welcomed by his honor Mayor Grant, of New York, and escorted to his quarters.

On the evening of April 29 will occur the great ball at the Metropolitan Opera house, which is designed to be the greatest assembly of the kind the world ever saw. At the head of the principal committee in arranging for this ball is Mr. Ward McAllister, the recognized authority on matters of social rank, adornment and taste in the city of New York, who has devised many unique and original features, making the ball as distinctively American as possible. The dance will be opened with a quadrille, wherein the dancers will be the president, vice president and their wives, with Governor Hill and Mayor Grant and such ladies as they shall choose, and along with these other sets will be made up of people who are the lineal descendants of the heroes of the revolution.

The committee on art have arranged designs for the hall, in which the American Eagle, the Father of His Country, the Star Spangled Banner, Peace, Victory, Fortune, the Genius of the Republic, Liberty, and the Goddess of Justice will be presented in the most impressive styles of art. Bronze medals have also been struck, having on one side a medallion of Washington and on the other appropriate inscriptions. These are to be kept as historic souvenirs. The badges of the committee and the drapings of the hall will be arranged in various colors, namely: For the general government, the red, white and blue; for the army, light blue, for the navy, dark blue, and for the other committees and departments in appropriate colors.

2. The great day of April 30 will begin with a demonstration unique in itself, and which could probably occur in no other country in the world, at any rate it distinguishes the American republic above all others. Representatives of all the great religious bodies in America have combined in a request to the people of their respective beliefs throughout the country to unite at 9 o'clock in religious services, demonstrating that the union of civil and religious liberty is now so complete that men of every faith meet under a common flag at the call of rector, rabbi, pastor or minister to return thanks to the common God of the Jew and the Christian for the liberties we enjoy. At 9 o'clock all the bells of the city will peal, and all the churches will be open for religious services. It is to be hoped this will be the case in every part of the United States. As Dr. Provost, bishop of New York and chaplain of the senate, conducted the services 100 years ago, so Bishop Potter, of New York, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity and St. Paul's church, will conduct the services on the morning of April 30.

3. The army committee will then take charge of the president and party, who will be escorted to the steps of the sub-treasury, at the corner of Wall and Nassau streets, but looking towards Broad, where the formal literary exercises will be held, beginning at half past 10. The Rev. Richard S. Storrs will offer the prayer. If his health permits, a poem will be read by the venerable Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. The Hon. Chauncey M. Depew will then deliver the oration of the day. President Harrison will speak briefly, and Archbishop Corrigan will pronounce the benediction.

4. On the conclusion of the literary exercises all the batteries of all the forts and the shipping in the harbor will fire a salute of twenty-one guns, and the military parade will then begin. This has given the committee more concern than any part of the ceremonies, which will be easily understood when it is known that a single state expects to have many thousand troops present. It was at first intended that the president should review the procession from the steps of the sub-treasury building by the Washington statue, but as this would require the somewhat unmilitary movement of breaking files to the left in narrow Wall street, it was decided that he should review from the stand erected on Broad street opposite. By this latter it was found that were even one half of the parade to pass the reviewing stand the entire portion of lower New York would be blocked with civic and military organizations and spectators. The review will, therefore, take place in the broader streets and larger squares, where it can be witnessed by 2,000,000 people, if so many are present. Gen. Sheridan was originally designated as grand marshal. Since his decease that honor has been most appropriately conferred on his official successor, Maj. Gen. Schofield.

5. The day will close with a grand banquet at the Metropolitan Opera House, where covers will be laid for 800 guests.

6. On the 1st of May the proceedings will be more informal, except for the grand industrial parade, of which only the general features have been arranged in advance, the details of each art and industry being left to the persons interested. From every state and territory, every noted mine, every product of the country, agricultural and manufactured, will be represented in the parade. Barges with historical groups and appropriate paintings will present every detail of national evolution from the landing of Sir Walter Raleigh and the Pilgrims to the inauguration of President Benjamin Harrison.

WASHINGTON'S CHAIR.

Historical reproductions will show New York as it was when Hendrick Hudson landed in September, 1609, and again as it was in the days of the Dutch and early English occupation, the colonial days, and, in short, all its stages from the seaport town to the metropolis of the western world. Similarly visitors from every section of the country will see their progress portrayed from the wigwam in the forest, the rude hut of the settler and the early town to the present time. It is believed that in the way of typifying a hundred years progress of a great nation in general and detail the industrial parade will be among the most attractive features of the centennial.

Although the committees have arranged but for three days, yet a number of supplementary exhibitions of various kinds will precede and follow the centennial. During the entire month of April there will be an exhibition of historical portraits in the Metropolitan Opera House, and of portraits, letters and documents never before exhibited to the public. Among the noted relics will be the chairs which stood in Federal hall, especially that occupied by Washington during the first days of the presidency. The noted portrait of George Washington painted by Gilbert Stuart, at Mount Vernon, in 1797, and given by Washington to Alexander Hamilton, a portrait which has never been photographed or engraved, will be on exhibition. It is now the property of Hamilton's grandson, Alexander Hamilton, of New York.

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered

Cures all Humors, from a Common Pimple to the worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by druggists or sent by mail on receipt of price.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you. It will be cheaper than for you to order direct from us, and less trouble.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, which are unprecedented in the history of medicine. It meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

HISTORY OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH OF TECUMSEH.

Concluded from last week.

As if under God's guidance, for he was unsolicited by the church, J. L. McCloud came to Tecumseh, and preached, and, at the unanimous request, consented to become pastor. This was in August, 1862. During the following winter the church was blessed with a revival of religion. It was seen that the future prosperity demanded the immediate erection of a more commodious house of worship. The first step toward this measure was taken by Dr. I. S. Hamilton, when he presented the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

1. Resolved, That the time has arrived, and that it is the duty of the church at once to take measures to erect and complete a new house of worship.

2. Resolved, That a subscription for this purpose be circulated immediately.

On May 2, 1863, $2 700 was reported as subscribed. This was the amount required to make the subscriptions binding. A committee was appointed, consisting of Dr. Wm. C. Fisher and Elder McCloud, to select and purchase a lot. At the next meeting the site was reported as purchased, and a building committee was appointed, consisting of Elder McCloud, Dr. Wm. C. Fisher, John Benedict, and Adrian Yawger. In the ensuing February, the brick was purchased, and the building committee were instructed to proceed to erect and complete the house as soon as possible.

Without disparagement to the work of others, it may truthfully be said that to Elder J. L. McCloud more than any other individual, the church is indebted for the first encouragement to build. For his enthusiasm and faithfulness in circulating the first subscription, he is entitled to our lasting gratitude. When he came to be our pastor, little did the church think that the dreary night of discouragem't had passed, and the glorious dawn of prosperity was opened up. The history of the last eleven years proved that such is the case.

In the autumn of 1864, Elder McCloud was compelled to resign, as his eyes would not permit him to continue his pastoral labors. In the following May, Rev. T. S. Hill became pastor.

Nov. 30, 1865, our present house of worship was completed and dedicated. The dedication sermon was preached by Dr. Gregory, then President of Kalamazoo College. The cost of the building and lot to that time had been $8,500, of which $1,000 was made up on the day that the church was dedicated.

At the expiration of two years Elder Hill resigned on account of continued ill health. His pastorate was successful and harmonious. Sixteen joined us by baptism during his stay.

In October, 1867, Rev. J. Moxom took charge of the church. Under his powerful preaching, for nearly two years, we were blessed with two revivals, in which thirty-five precious souls were converted to the cause of Christ. He was succeded by the Rev. Philetus Olney, who remained with us a single year. He baptized one member into the church.

On the first of June, 1871, our present pastor, the Rev. M. E. Hayne, began his labors among us. With him, and with what God has accomplished through his instrumentality, we are all familiar. At no period since the church's organization has greater harmony prevailed among the members, or a more uniform and affectionate regard been felt for their pastor."

In the remaining history of the church we shall be brief. The most of you are familiar with the events of the last fifteen years. The pastorate of Rev. M E. Hayne, which continued for nearly seven years was blessed to the good of the church and to the salvation of many souls, 85 being added to the church by baptism during that time. Near the end of the year 1877 he resigned and soon after accepted a call to the pastorate of the 2d. Rome church in this county; his home is now in Greenville, this State.

May 1st, 1878, Rev. C. E. Conley of Middleville, Mich., accepted a call to this field and entered upon the work. His has been so far in the history of the church the longest pastorate, and was to the church a very eventful period. In October of 1878, we entertained the State convention and had a very enjoyable week, but the following year was a sorrowful one for in it there were removed an unusual number by death, and of those two upon whom we had leaned most heavily. In preparing a sketch of this kind the temptation is almost irresistable to speak at length of the lives and work of these grand men and women, but time forbids, and this will be brought out this evening.

Brother Conley's labors were greatly blessed and the church prospered for during the seven years and more of his pastorate ninety persons passed through the baptismal waters. The pipe organ was purchased, the church and chapel remodled and greatly improved, and we can look back to that time and say it was good for us to be there. About Oct. 1st. 1885, Brother Conley having resigned, he accepted a call from the Clinton Ave. Baptist church of Detroit. He is an occasional and always welcome visitor among us.

Dec. 1st. 1885, Rev. F. Adkins of Elyria, Ohio, became our pastor, and for more than three years has broken to us the bread of life and has baptized into the church twenty-six persons.

Several of our young brethren have gone out at the call of the Master to preach the gospel and are now telling the good news to a lost world. Our present membership is 320. We have had one licensed preacher in the church, Brother J. O. Heck, who is preaching at Port Austin, this State. Thirteen pastors have been employed by the church, the shortest pastorate has been six months, the longest seven years and five months. The record of what has been paid to the different objects of benevolence is incomplete, but the church has always been in sympathy with and paid liberally to all of these objects.

In reviewing the work of God accomplished by this church during the past fifty years, we find that there have been 419 souls hopefully converted to a knowledge of Christ, and baptized into its fellowship. Of these 419, by far the greater part have been converted under the influence of protracted meetings. In no instance where the church has put forth a continuous and consistent effort of this kind, has God's spirit failed to quicken His people, and to convert from ten to thirty-five souls to a sense of the reality of religion. Considering the time since the organization of the church 419 converts may seem few; but who can estimate the influence in favor of religion which has been, and will forever continue to be exerted by the conversion of 419 souls to the cause of God? This influence can not be recorded by numbers, nor limited by boundaries. Reflect, too, upon what would have been the probable state of many a soul that has already gone to its God, had this church never been organized—had this influence never been exerted! Such thoughts lead us to take courage and to cultivate more assiduously the Divine Master, "who came into the world to save the lost."

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The next meeting of the Lenawee Co. Teachers Association will be held at the High School rooms in Adrian, Saturday, May 18th. The exercises will continue from ten o'clock till four. There has been arranged one of the most interesting programs ever presented to the teachers of this county. Care was taken to select subjects which the teachers desire to have discussed. The exercises will be enlivened by music. Prof. Austin George, of the State Normal, will lecture upon "The Art of Illustration." It will be remembered by many that Prof. George conducted a most excellent institute in this county a few years ago. His old friends will be glad to renew his acquaintance, and to those who are not acquainted with the gentleman, we would say he is a splendid man and one well fitted to assist at our Association.

The program covers papers and discussions upon "Scientific Instruction in Temperance Physiology" and "Examinations, their Use and Abuse." A specimen recitation in Elementary Language will be given and the methods discussed.

The past success of the meetings is an indication of the interest taken by the Lenawee teachers in the association. Turn out and maintain our reputation. This should be the largest meeting of the year.

GEO. W. WALKER, Pres.

OBITUARY.

The following notice is taken from the South Lyon Excelsior. The deceased will be remembered kindly by many of our older citizens, who will extend their heartfelt sympathy to his family in their affliction.

Our village is again called to part with an esteemed and valued citizen, in the death of Capt. W. A. Weatherhead, although for several years past the angel of death had sounded the death warning to the departed by the advancing grasp of consumption but till the day previous to his death he lived in hopes of recovery. Mr. Wetherhead, notwithstanding his enfeebled condition, has always been an active and enterprising citizen and at the time of his death was a candidate for postmaster at this place, and we might add, that nothing but impaired health prevented him from assuming the position. For many years he had been a competent miller at this place and Rushton, enjoying an extensive acquaintance in this vicinity. He was a soldier and captain in the late war and an active member of Stansell Post G. A. R., of this place. The deceased was 55 years of age, and leaves a loving wife and six children who deeply feel their loss.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Bradley at the M. E. church at 1 P. M. Friday. Stansell Post will take part in the ceremonies at the grave.

An obituary of the departed will appear in our next issue.

Peculiar in medical merit and wonderful cures—Hood's Sarsaparilla. Now is the time to take it, for now it will do the most good.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS.

For lack of space the High School Happenings have been omitted for two weeks.

A loud applause was given Friday morning when Prof. Wilson mentioned the fact that Tuesday April 30th, would be a holiday.

Our old school mates, Alfred Heesen and Eliza Crowell, gave us a call Friday morning. We are sorry that they expect to leave town, but they do not go at the same time, and we hope they are not bound for the same place.

Prof. Wilson received another delightful serenade last week. We hope he enjoyed it.

Cross glances will be cast around the school room Thursday, as this is examination week.

Miss Grace Gillespie entertained a number of friends Wednesday evening and a very pleasant time was had.

Misses Nelle Heesen and Anna Hiatt went to Adrian and took the examination Saturday.

THE BAND CONCERT.

The Band Benefit on Monday evening drew a good house, and a program of extra merit was presented. The band boys have been practising some new and difficult music lately, which was first given in public on Monday evening. It is safe to say that the band never acquitted themselves better, and every selection was cheered to the echo. The song by Miss Grayson was very nicely rendered and Mr. Ogden's ocarina solo brought down the house. Mr. Ogden is an expert performer on that instrument and will prove a valuable addition to the musical circles of the village. Miss Minnie Root presided at the piano which is all that need be said on this point. It was, without doubt, the best musical entertainment yet given by the band. Prof Skinner has brought the organization to a high state of efficiency, and we shall expect good reports from the boys this season. The financial outcome of the concert not equalled its musical merits, the treasury would have been replenished to a handsome sum.

THE MAY PARTY.

At their May party, given last evening, the Bi Club eclipsed all their former efforts. The opera house was very neatly trimmed with flags, bunting and drapery, the wheel occupying prominent place in the decorations. The boys' orchestra furnished splendid dance music, the "caller" was well up in his part, and some new changes were introduced which were decididly pleasing. About forty couples participated. Although the arrangements were elaborate and toney, still the party was not a "starched up" affair, but a good, jolly, enjoyable dance. Those present seemed to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion. Supper was served in the Lilley House dining rooms, and mine host Patterson showed himself proud in this part of the entertainment. The spacious room was handsomely ornamented with evergreens, flowers and pictures. About eighty covers were laid, and the supper was exactly adapted to the season and the company. "It was just splendid, was'nt it?" was the verdict of everyone who attended.

FARMERS' SOCIAL CLUB.

The Farmers' Social club will hold their next meeting at Mr. John Schreder's at two o'clock on Friday afternoon, May 10th. Program:

Singing by the Club.
Prayer.—Lydia Schreder.
Speech—George Griswold.
Essay—Mrs. John Fisher.
Solo—Kit Griswold.

The Royal Arcanum lodge has rented rooms in the Heesen block, back of Dr. Frost's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Raymond, of Mason, were here last week, to attend the funeral of his mother.

Capt. James Baker, of Lansing, a nephew of Horace Baker, was visiting friends in the village last Monday.

The death of Mrs. Alva Raymond occurred last Saturday after a long illness. The funeral was held Monday.

Wes. Bordine, Wm. Jordan, and S. P. Hosmer went to Lansing Tuesday to attend the state firemen's convention.

"A Wife's Honor" at the opera house, Monday evening, May 6. Secure your seats at Adamson Bros'. Admission 25 and 35 cts.

James Patterson has sold his handsome residence on Railroad st. to Capt. Chillson, and expects to move his family to Elkhart next week.

We omit the usual installment of our continued story this week to make room for a detailed report of the big centennial celebration at New York.

Look out for the "tag social" Thursday evening, May 9, at the Presbyterian parlors. Everybody invited. Lots of fun to be had. No admission fee.

Tom Bangs had the hard luck to lose two head of cattle last week. The critters tried to get fat on horse radish leaves, but give it up as a bad job. Gave up the ghost as it were.

Al. Heesen has received notice to report at Annapolis for examination on May 15, and it will not be a great while before he will be "squaring the yards" and "swabbing the deck" same as any other old tar.

Will Avery, of Macon, was the possessor of a monstrosity in the shape of a three legged colt last week, the animal having only one limb in front. It was foaled live and healthy by one of Will's mares.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church, Adrian district, will be held at the Tecumseh church, Wednesday and Thursday, May 8 and 9. Opening exercises Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

A. W. Slayton is moving his office to Detroit this week, and will hereafter be located at 155 Griswold st. We regret this move exceedingly, but are glad to know that his family will still remain here.

T. C. Crane, who has been connected with the Tecumseh creamery for several years, moved to Burr Oak last Tuesday where he will engage in the creamery business with his son, J. W. Crane. They will start a new plant and as they are experienced in the business, they will undoubtedly succeed. J. W. will keep his position in Chicago for the present.

Dr. O.C. Taylor, the celebrated cancer specialist of Osceola co., Mich., is now stopping at John B. Garlinghouse's, whom he is treating for cancer. The Doctor has had great success in this class of cases, and expects to remain at Mr. Garlinghouse's for the next two or three weeks. Any person who would like to consult with him can leave word at the Lilley House and he will attend the call immediately. It was under Dr. Taylor's treatment that Mr. Garlinghouse was cured of a cancer about two years ago Best of references given and required.

The entertainment given last Friday evening by the Library association was something new. A company of eighteen ladies executed the evolutions of the "fan drill." The girls were attired in a gay uniform, consisting of a white dress, and heavy red sash, and each one was armed with a huge fan. Miss Edith Woodward acted as captain of the company assisted by Grace Heck, as lieutenant. Their marching and drilling was superb, and carried the house by storm. Lt. Em. Doke spent several days in drilling the girls and he certainly showed himself to be an expert drill master. After the drill refreshments were served. The proceeds netted a nice sum for the library.

Dr. Howell is in New York this week attending the big celebration.

A big line of window shades from 25c to $1 at Anderson & Co's.

MRS J. BOWEN, Sec.

A union service was held at 9 o'clock in the Presbyterian church Tuesday morning last. Appropriate music was rendered by the choir. The pastors of the Presbyterian, Baptist, and Methodist churches took part in the services. A fair congregation was present. Hymns of thanksgiving were sung and a brief centennial ode was read by its author, Hon. B. L. Baxter, which won the high approval of all who heard it. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Peter Sharp, of Ridgeway.

The Art Amateur completes its 10th year with the May number, although it modestly refrains from even mentioning the fact. It is almost impossible to over-estimate the good influence this able magazine has had in popularizing art in this country. The current issue, which is only a fair sample of the general quality of the Art Amateur, is filled with all kinds of practical articles on oil, water color, tapestry and china painting, besides others on wood carving, and church and home embroidery, all clear enough for any novice to understand.

Frank Tucker's Metropolitan theatre company closed a three nights engagement here last evening. They are one of the best if not the very best troupe that has ever appeared in Butler, and deserve a good patronage, which we are pleased to note they received here, and should receive wherever they appear. The members of the company are perfect gentlemen and ladies, and whether on or off the stage, their conduct is beyond reproach. Mr. Tucker does all in his power to entertain and please his audience, and should he and his talented company ever return to our city, which he has promised to do, the simple announcement will be sufficient to crowd the opera house.—Butler, Ind., News.

Geo. S. Spafford is on the sick list.

A. A. Besemer of this village has procured a patent on a new style of water motor.

John O'Neil is now living on a farm of 130 acres two miles north of Dundee. He has leased the farm and is well situated there.

In Justice to postmaster Arner we wish to say that a certain four line item in last week's Ridgeway Rambles did not come from our regular correspondent.

We made M. W. Goodrich a short call at Dundee the other day and found him prospering. He keeps a general lunch and confectionery room, with ice cream in its season.

Several letters have been mailed at the post office lately bearing cancelled stamps. The parties depositing such would better save themselves the trouble, as they are held for postage.

During a short stop between trains at Dundee one day last week we called at Gainsley's store and found him busy waiting on customers. He is evidently building up a good trade there.

We acknowledge the receipt from our old friend, Daniel E. Soper, of some beautiful silk portraits of Ex-President Cleveland and wife. Dan, it seems, is still a resident of Newaygo, and is pushing the real estate and insurance business right lively.

The regular meeting of the Lenawee County Horticultural Society for May will be held at the residence of D. G. Edmiston, No. 233 West Maumee st., Adrian, on Wednesday, May 8, commencing at 10 a m. The forenoon session will be devoted to questions and answers, and incidental business. The afternoon will be mostly devoted to the discussion of floral topics.

The May number of the Magazine of American History brings another entertaining chapter of fresh Centennial information, "Washington's Historic Luncheon in Elizabeth," with very unique pictorial attractions, including a sketch of the Boudinot mansion, in which the luncheon took place; portraits not before published of some of Washington's contemporaries who were present, with engravings of pieces of the beautiful china table service and silverware that was placed before the "Father of His Country" on that memorable occasion a century ago.

THE WEST END MARKET.

Friends, Romans, and country men! Lend us your ears. Listen to the voice of wisdom. We are here to serve you. We are now nicely settled in our new and commodious quarters, one door west of the old stand, where we have plenty of room to keep in good condition a large stock of fresh meats of all kinds. Salt meats and sausage are always in stock. A full line of canned goods will be kept. We take extra care in making our purchases and hence our fresh meats are always popular with the best cooks. We give full measure, sell at the lowest living rate. In short our aim is to please our customers. Give us a call and be convinced.

THE COMMAND TO WATCH.

LESSON V, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 5.

Text of the Lesson. Mark xiii, 24-37—Commit Verses 35-37—Golden Text, Mark xiii, 33—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This is a continuation of the sermon, the beginning of which we had in last week's lesson; the Saviour is sitting upon the Mount of Olives over against the temple, the disciples are with Him, Jerusalem is before them and a little beneath them if they are on the top of Olivet, and as He answers the questions of the four (v. iii), He sees in prophetic vision all the future of the nation of Israel and their Holy City, and with special reference to them He is speaking.

24. "In those days, after that tribulation." In vs. 19 He had spoken of it as an affliction or tribulation such as never had been before nor ever will be again. Because of the very great sufferings of the people, as recorded in history at the time Jerusalem fell, A. D. 70, there are many who think that that was the great tribulation here referred to; but scripture is a better expositor of scripture than any history possibly can be, and however great were the afflictions of the people at that time, our lesson today in the light of prophecy makes it very clear that the tribulation here spoken of is yet future and will come in the last week of Daniel's prophecy, the last seven years of Israel's history ere the kingdom is restored to her.

25. "The stars of heaven shall fall, and the powers that are in heaven shall be shaken." This in addition to the darkening of the sun and moon, mentioned in the previous verse. In Luke xxi, 25, 26, the Spirit says there shall be signs in the sun and in the moon, and upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity. Similar language is found in reference to these very times in Isa xiii, 9-13; xxxiv, 1-8; Joel ii, 30; iii, 2; and in each place it is in connection with the punishment of the world for iniquity, vengeance upon the enemies of God's people, and the redemption of Israel.

26. "And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in the clouds, with great power and glory." As His subject is Israel and the Holy City, this is His return in power and glory to the Mount of Olives for the judgment of the nations and the deliverance and conversion of Israel as a nation; that they may become missionaries to the whole earth, bringing in the millennial kingdom.

27. "And then shall He send His angels, and shall gather together His elect from the four winds." A large ray of light falls upon this from the words of Isa. xi, 12, "And He shall set up an ensign for the nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth."

28. "Now learn a parable of the fig tree." Nature itself has many things to say to us if we only had ears to ear, or time to stop and listen; and our Saviour was always finding illustrations in everything about Him; the trees, the birds, the flowers, the seasons, the weather, the children, the farmers, all had for Him some likeness to spiritual things. But the fig tree, like the vine, was a special symbol of Israel, so used by the prophets (Isa. v, 7; Joel i, 7); and the fig tree to which He came expecting fruit, because it made great professions, and which withered away at His word (Luke xi, 12-21), was a symbol of what Israel then was and was about to be.

30. "Verily I say unto you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done." While it is true that many who were then living must have been living at the destruction of Jerusalem, there is nothing in this verse to limit it to that event. Your dictionary will tell you that generation signifies race or family, and no one need be told that the unbelieving Jewish race still continues, among all nations and yet separate, distinct, the miracle of the ages, awaiting the fulfillment of all these things.

31. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My words shall not pass away." Something similar is found in Isa. xl, 8, in connection with the restoration of Israel and the coming of the Lord, "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of our God shall stand forever," and the same is quoted in I Pet. i, 25.

32. "But that day and hour knoweth no man; no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father." There is no authority in the Scriptures whereby we may say that He will come in such a year or month or day; we only know that though He tarry He will surely come, and we may know when He is near. That the Son should not know seems strange indeed, but as Mark is the only one who mentions this, and he writes of Jesus specially as the servant of God, that may give some light upon it. It is somewhat on the line of His doing and speaking only what the Father told Him, and yet that is found in John's gospel. (John xii, 49; xiv, 10.)

33. "Take ye heed, watch and pray; for ye know not when the time is." Luke says that we are to take heed lest we be filled with the pleasures or cares of this life, but that we are to watch and pray always, so as to escape the great tribulation. (Luke xxi, 34-36.) The one thing to take heed to is the Word of God, which is food for our souls, a girdle for our loins, a sword with which to defeat our enemy and a light upon our path. The one person to take heed to is "Jesus only."

34. "To every man his work." The "far journey" of this verse reminds us of the "far country" of Matt. xxv, 14; Luke xix, 12, and the parables of the talents and pounds in those chapters. It is all one story, the kingdom is postponed because the king was rejected. He has gone back to heaven until this time of restoration of the kingdom to Israel, and meantime He is gathering out of all nations a company of tried and faithful followers, to whom He gives work to do and talents according to their several ability, commanding them to be faithful and to occupy or do business (His business) till He comes. It is a glance at this present dispensation in which we now live.

35. "Watch ye therefore, for ye know not when the Master of the House cometh." Matthew speaks of the days of Noah and tells us that as it was then so will it be at the coming of the Son of Man; indifference to eternal things and people's minds wholly taken up with the things of this life. The Spirit also says through him that some teachers who ought to be giving the people true food for their souls will be scoffing at the idea of the Lord's coming, and be found enjoying themselves with the world; He also tells us that some who love His appearing, and start out to wait for Him with their lamps burning, shall be shut out from the marriage through lack of oil.

36. "Lest coming suddenly, He found you sleeping." Let us cry unto God to awaken us and keep us awake; let us do with our might what our hands find to do; let us not be disheartened by the failures or inconsistencies of ourselves or others; but remembering that we serve the Lord Christ, and with respect to the recompense of the reward, may his love constrain us to be ever wakeful and watching.

37. "And what I say unto you I say unto all, watch." This is the fourth time in these last five verses; how intensely He must mean it, how important it must be. Would you be surprised if He should come as you read this? If so that is a proof that you at least are not watching.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark, says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample, bottles free.

Paid the Men in Light Gold.

DANVILLE, Ills., April 20.—Great dissatisfaction exists among the employes of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad at this place on account of their having been paid off in light weight gold. Thirty thousand dollars was paid out by the railroad company at this place, and a large portion of it was gold stamped "L" by the government. Such currency was unknown in this vicinity, and it was received by the men and circulated readily until it reached the banks when it was discounted 25 and 50 cents a coin. The stuff was distributed with great impartiality among the train men, section hands, shop men and clerks. The company is investigating the affair, and at present it is not known whether the job was put up in the paymaster's department of the railroad or whether a Chicago bank unloaded on the company.

ESTATE OF JOHN HOUSEMAN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss. At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Monday the 15th day of April in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of John Houseman, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Agnes Loree, a daughter of said deceased, praying among other things that, the last will and testament of said deceased was on the second day of February, 1889 admitted to probate and proved and allowed as the last will of said deceased, that Charles Smith and Richard Cudmus the executors named in said will have been declined to accept said trust, and praying that administration of said estate with the will annexed may be granted to John Britton, or some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted, and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain, fortunes to resist encroachments upon their rights, but it required the lesson of Indian massacres, the invasion of armies of France from Canada, the tyranny of the British crown, the seven years' war of the revolution, and the five years of chaos of the Confederation to evolve the idea, upon which rest the power and permanency of the republic, that liberty and union are one and inseparable.

More clearly than any statesman of the period, did Thomas Jefferson grasp and divine the possibilities of popular government. He caught and crystalized the spirit of free institutions. His philosophical mind was singularly free from the power of precedents or the chains of prejudice. He had an unquestioning and abiding faith in the people, which was accepted by but few of his compatriots. Upon his famous axiom, of the equality of all men before the law, he constructed his system. It was the trip-hammer essential for the emergency to break the links binding the colonies to imperial authority, and to pulverize the privileges of caste. It inspired him to write the Declaration of Independence, and persuaded him to doubt the wisdom of the powers concentrated in the constitution. In his passionate love of liberty he became intensely jealous of authority. He would have the states as the guardians of popular rights, and the barriers against centralization, and he saw in the growing power of the nation ever-increasing encroachments upon the rights of the people. For the success of the pure democracy which must precede presidents and cabinets and congresses, it was perhaps providential that its apostle never believed a great people could grant and still retain, could give and at will reclaim could delegate and yet firmly hold the authority which ultimately created the power of their republic and enlarged the scope of their own liberty.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW SPEAKING.

The most significant triumph of these mind and intellectual forces was that which secured the assent of the states to the limitation of their boundaries, to the grant of the wilderness beyond them to the general government, and to the insertion in the ordinance erecting the northwest territories of the immortal proviso prohibiting "slavery or involuntary servitude" within all that broad domain. The states carved out of this splendid concession were not sovereignties which had successfully rebelled, but they were the children of the Union, born of the covenant and thrilled with its life and liberty. They became the bulwarks of nationality and the buttresses of freedom. Their preponderating strength first checked and then broke the slave power, their fervid loyalty halted and held at bay the spirit of state rights and secession for generations; and when the crisis came, it was with their overwhelming assistance that the nation killed and buried its enemy. The corner-stone of the edifice whose centenary we are celebrating was the ordinance of 1787. It was constructed by the feeblest of congresses, but few enactments of ancient or modern times have had more far-reaching and beneficent influence. It is one of the sublimest paradoxes of history, that this weak confederation of states should have welded the chain, against which, after seventy-four years of fretful efforts for release, its own spirit frantically dashed and died.

The constitution, which was to be strengthened by the strain of a century, to be a mighty conqueror without a subject province, to triumphantly survive the greatest of civil wars without the confiscation of an estate or the execution of a political offender, to create and grant home rule and state sovereignty to twenty-nine additional commonwealths, and yet enlarge its scope and broaden its power, and to make the name of an American citizen a title of honor throughout the world, came complete from this great convention to the people for adoption. As Hancock rose from his seat in the old congress, eleven years before, to sign the Declaration of Independence, Franklin saw emblazoned on the back of the president's chair the sun partly above the horizon, but it seemed setting in a blood-red sky. During the seven years of the Confederation he had gathered no hope from the glittering emblem, but now as with clear vision he beheld fixed upon eternal foundations the enduring structure of constitutional liberty, pointing to the sign, he forgot his 82 years, and with the enthusiasm of youth electrified the convention with the declaration: "Now I know that it is the rising sun."

After speaking of Washington's entry into New York and his reception the orator said:

Washington was never dramatic, but on great occasions—he not only rose to the full ideal of the event, he became himself the event. One hundred years ago to-day, the procession of foreign ambassadors, of statesmen and generals, of civic societies and military companies, which escorted him, marched from Franklin square to Pearl street, through Pearl to Broad, and up Broad to this spot, but the people saw only Washington. As he stood upon the steps of the government building here, the thought must have occurred to him that it was a cradle of liberty, and as such giving a bright omen for the future. In these halls in 1785, in the trial of John Zenger, had been established for the first time in its history the liberty of the press. Here the New York assembly, in 1764, made the protest against the stamp act and proposed the general conference, which was the beginning of united colonial action. In the old state house in 1765 the stamp act congress, the first and the father of American congresses, assembled and presented to the English government that vigorous protest which caused the repeal of the act and checked the first step toward the usurpation which lost the American colonies to the British empire. Within these walls the congress of the confederation had commissioned its ambassadors abroad and in ineffectual efforts at government had created the necessity for the concentration of federal authority, now to be consummated.

Mr. Depew then reviewed Washington's career as president and quoted Guizot, Charles James Fox, Lord Brougham, and others who eulogized the character of the first president. He reviewed briefly the civil war and the progress of science in inventions. Closing, he said:

Presidents may not rise to the full measure of his greatness, but they must not fall below his standard of public duty and obligations. His life and character, conscientiously studied and thoroughly understood by coming generations, will be for them a liberal education for private life and public station, for citizenship and patriotism, for love and devotion to union and liberty. With their inspiring past and splendid present, the people of these United States, heirs of 100 years marvelously rich in all which adds to the glory and greatness of a nation, with an abiding trust in the stability and elasticity of their constitution, and an abounding faith in themselves, hail the coming century with hope and joy.

Mr. Depew was not able to give his prepared speech in full, as his time was limited, but what he did give was well received by the audience.

The President's Speech.

The president next made a short address. His reception by the spectators was most enthusiastic. The crowd cheered wildly for some time. He said:

FELLOW CITIZENS: My task to-day is of a very exacting character and makes it quite impossible that I should deliver an address upon this occasion. Foreseeing this, I early notified your committee that the programme must contain no address by me. The selection of Mr. Depew as the orator of this occasion made further speech not only difficult, but superfluous. [Applause.] He has met the demand of this great occasion on its own high level. He has brought before us the incidents and the lessons of the first inauguration of Washington. We seem to have been a part of that admiring and almost worshipping throng that filled these streets 100 years ago. We have come into the serious, but always inspiring, presence of Washington. [Applause.] He was the incarnation of duty and he teaches us to-day the great lesson that those who would associate their names with events that shall outlive a century can only do so by high consecration to duty. [Applause.] Self-seeking has no public observance or anniversary. Washington seemed to come to the discharge of the duties of his high place impressed with a sense of his familiarity with these new calls upon him. Modestly doubtful of his own ability and trusting implicitly in the sustaining helpfulness and grace of that God who rules the world, presides in the councils of nations and is able to supply every human demand. We have made marvelous progress in material things, but the stately and enduring shaft at the national capitol in Washington symbolizes that he is yet the first American citizen. [Applause.]

Benediction by Archbishop Corrigan.

When President Harrison had ceased speaking a benediction was pronounced by the Most Rev. Michael Corrigan, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York.

At the conclusion of the literary exercises the president, members of the cabinet, the chief justice and associate justices of the United States and others of the presidential party, who came from St. Paul's chapel, entered their carriages and were driven up Broadway to the reviewing stand in Madison square.

THE GREAT PARADE.

Between 50,000 and 60,000 Men in Line—The Start.

At an early hour Tuesday morning troops of soldiers, veterans, militiamen from out of town in smart uniforms, squads of New York state regiments and G. A. R. in vast numbers began to make their way to their various rendezvous up-town to assemble for the great parade. Detachments began marching down-town long before the hour appointed for the start and during the services at St. Paul's chapel formed in the streets on either side of Broadway in the lower part of the city. By the time the presidential party left St. Paul's on their way to the sub-treasury most of the troops which took part in the parade were massed about Wall, Pine, Rector and other streets in the vicinity. All the troops with the exception of the Grand Army were stationed so that they entered Broadway below Pine street, thus giving those who occupied points of observation down-town an opportunity to witness the entire parade. The route of the procession was lined with such vast crowds that passage along the streets was impossible.

Given the Word to Start.

Everything was in readiness for the start at 10 o'clock, and as soon as the president had passed the corner of Wall street and

MAP OF NEW YORK SHOWING ROUTE OF PARADE.

Broadway on his way to the sub-treasury, officers began to give orders to their waiting men, horsemen looked to their horses and saw that all was right, and the bands of music got ready for the start. The word to start was given at 10:35, and the great parade, the principal feature of the second day's celebration of the Washington centennial began. There were between 50,000 and 60,000 men in line.

Previous to the start the Grand Army of the Republic had been formed by their grand marshal, Col. William P. Walton on streets west of Fifth avenue and moved through East Fifteenth street, Broadway, East Seventeenth street, Fourth avenue, East Fourteenth street, Fifth avenue, Waverly place and Broadway to Duane street. On reaching that point the line was formed through the entire route enumerated in double rank against the west curb of Broadway, the south curb of Waverly place, the west curb of Fifth avenue, the north curb of Fourteenth street, the west curb of Fourth avenue, the south curb of Seventeenth street, the east curb of Broadway and the south curb of Fifteenth street, the right resting on Fifth avenue, thus forming a solid line of men on one side of the route as far as Seventeenth street.

The President's Carriage.

The most impressive feature of the whole day occurred when the literary exercises at the sub-treasury were over. The presidential party drove over the route of the procession up to the reviewing stand in Madison square between two lines of troops drawn up at their curb of the street. The president's carriages were drawn by four horses in silver harness. It had two footmen. The other carriage was drawn by two horses. During the literary exercises the van of the parade, which had started when the exercise began, had marched a long distance up town, but had not reached Madison square when Archbishop Corrigan had pronounced the benediction at the sub-treasury. Word was given to some of the marshal's aides who were waiting and they passed along the line giving the order for each officer to halt his company. In this manner the whole procession was halted from Wall street to the head of the line up town. Then, at the order of the officers, the troops below Duane street divided, part forming a continuous line on the western curb of Broadway and part forming a line on the eastern curb. Above Duane street the G. A. R. men were drawn up in line on the western curb, and the regulars and militia made a line opposite the veterans.

Between Living Walls.

This order prevailed from Wall street throughout the line of march as far as Seventeenth street, where the head of the procession was resting. Then between these living walls the president and his party were driven up Broadway to Waverly place, through Waverly place to Fifth avenue, up Fifth avenue to Fourteenth street, through East Fourteenth street to the East side of Union square along the square to Fifteenth street, through Fifteenth street to Fifth avenue and up Fifth avenue to Madison square. As the president's carriage passed along through the lines, the soldiers saluted and the crowds on the sidewalks, in the windows and on the house-tops cheered themselves hoarse.

At the Reviewing Stand.

After the party had passed each regiment and division fell in line again and resumed their former ranks, and waited for the word to proceed, which was not given until the president had reached the reviewing stand. Arrived at the reviewing stand in Madison square, the president was received by the committee on the army and escorted to his seat on the grand stand. The order was then given to resume the march and soon the column came in sight as it approached the square coming up Fifth avenue. The troops marched well and presented a fine appearance as they passed the reviewing stand. This was undoubtedly the best point from which to observe the marching column, though the sight presented by the troops rounding the turn into Union square was magnificent, and by far the prettiest scene on the route. The president did not attempt to stand during the whole of the time while the regiment passed in review, but at times he stood in the front of the stand, supported on either side by members of the committee on army. Governor Hill and Mayor Grant were also one on each side of him.

End of the Big Parade.

The troops marched up Fifth avenue to Fifty-eighth street, where they were dismissed. The parade was not over until very late in the afternoon, and the upper portions of the city, off on the side streets, were made lively until a late hour by the disbanded regiments returning to their armories or rendezvous. After the last detachment had passed the reviewing stand the president was taken in charge by the committee on arrangement and escorted back to the residence of Vice President Morton at 85 Fifth avenue and the greatest parade in point of significance that New York has ever seen was over.

A Couple of Accidents.

Police Inspector Peter Conlin fell from his horse during the progress of the parade at the corner of Thirtieth street and Fifth avenue. He was badly bruised about the face and legs and was removed to the New York hospital. Mrs. Schultz, of 854 First avenue, who occupied a seat at the Union square stand was stricken with apoplexy as the procession was passing. An ambulance was summoned and she was taken to Bellevue hospital. This was the only accident so far reported at that stand. The strict police surveillance prevented any excitement or alarm.

The Centennial Banquet.

At 7 o'clock Tuesday night the centennial banquet began in the Metropolitan Opera house. The president was at an oval table within the concentric rings of tables and in full view of all. With him were seated Vice President Morton, Governor Hill, Mayor Grant, Speaker Carlisle, Chief Justice Fuller, Admiral Porter, and Maj. Gen. Schofield. Mayor Grant presided at the banquet, and opened it by requesting a clergyman present to say grace. Before the speeches began the ladies appeared in their boxes at a given signal, which was the appearance of Mrs. Harrison in her box. At 9 o'clock the speeches began, Mayor Grant acting as toastmaster. The speeches were given by thirteen of the most famous orators in the country, and were in response to thirteen patriotic sentiments delivered in writing by thirteen other distinguished Americans.

CELEBRATIONS ELSEWHERE.

The Day Generally Observed in All the Large Cities.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 1.—The centennial of the inauguration of constitutional government in the United States was properly observed here Tuesday. All business was suspended, the government departments closed, the public school children given a holiday, and the courts adjourned. It was a gala day. The streets were alive with people dressed in holiday attire. The weather was very pleasant. The day was also very generally observed in a religious sense. The Presbyterian churches held a union meeting over which Rev. Dr. Sunderland presided; in the Catholic churches special thanksgiving masses were said; the Baptist churches held a union service; services were held in the various Methodist and other churches and addresses appropriate to the day delivered. There was a large attendance at all the churches.

At Pittsburg and Allegheny City public and private buildings were handsomely decorated. A national salute of thirty-eight guns was fired and 3,000 children sang patriotic songs in the Allegheny parks. A grand fireworks display took place in the evening.

At Chicago the day was observed by a national salute, exercises in all the schools, services in the churches, a big parade and a magnificent display of fireworks at night.

At Cincinnati, Boston, Philadelphia, and all other large cities the day was fittingly observed.

Fire in a Wisconsin Mine.

ASHLAND, May 1.—Fire was discovered Monday in the Aurora mine, one of the big four of the Gogebic range. All efforts made to smother the flames have been without avail. Two of the main shafts are already virtually consumed, and it is the opinion of experienced mining men that the fire will be extinguished only when it has done its worst. The loss can not be estimated, but will be large. Aurora mine was formerly one of the Moore-Benjamin properties, but is at present owned by Cleveland parties.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 149 Powers block, Rochester, N. Y.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating Sick Headache Heart-burn Sour Stomach

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

Free from alcohol and opium; composed of expensive herbs and roots, with a fine, delicate flavoring.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Caddell Type Writer

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-writer Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and sounder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is beize covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine in position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table is so balanced near its center on patent malleable iron arms, that when the machine brought in place for use, it does not depend on ropes or hangers at rear of platform for support, but is held rigidly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be tumbled down an incline in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent slides which keep the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk, well under the operator's hand.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as ridged as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

BIG TIME IN NEW YORK.

Celebrating the Second Day of the Great Centennial.

PRESIDENT HARRISON AT ST. PAULS.

He Occupies the Pew in Which George Washington Sat 100 Years Ago—The Literary Exercises at the Sub-Treasury Building—Chauncey M. Depew's Speech—The Great Military Parade.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Long before 9 o'clock Tuesday morning the hour appointed for the special service of thanksgiving held at St. Paul's chapel, Broadway and Vesey streets, the streets in the vicinity of the church were filled to overflowing with sight-seers eager to gain a glimpse of the president and his party as they came to attend the service and open the second day's observance of the centennial celebration. In the various churches throughout the city pursuant to the president's proclamation, special services were held at the same time that the worshippers at St. Paul's were commemorating the religious service which preceded Washington's inauguration, April 30, 1789. At about 8 o'clock carriages, provided by the committee on states, drew up in front of the Fifth Avenue hotel. A few minutes later Chief Justice Fuller, the members of the cabinet and the invited guests entered the carriages and were driven to 85 Fifth avenue the residence of Vice President Morton, whose guest the president is. Here the president and vice president were escorted by the committee to their carriage and then, preceded by a platoon of mounted police the procession started for St. Paul's chapel.

The Arrival at the Chapel.

Before it reached the chapel the crowd surrounding the Vesey street entrance had increased to such proportions that it was with great difficulty that the police could keep a way clear for the carriages of the guests who had for some time been arriving. St. Paul's clock had but just tolled the hour of 9 when the presidential party made its appearance. The committee of the vestry of Trinity church met President Harrison at the Vesey street gate and escorted him to the west porch of the chapel, where the rector and full vestry of St Paul's received him. The president was then escorted to the Washington pew on the north side of the chapel, which he and his cabinet occupied, the rest of the party being given seats near by.

The Processional Hymn.

The chapel was now filled, every available space being occupied. Fully 1,200 people were present. Professor Leo Kofler, who presided at the organ had been playing a medley of patriotic airs while the congregation was being seated. He now began the processional hymn "Old Hundred," which he played with full organ. The choir took it up and sang the grand old hymn as it has rarely been sung before. After the processional hymn the Lord's prayer was repeated by the clergy and people, followed by the usual versicles. The choir then sang Psalm 85, an anthem by G. A. McFarren, after which the first lesson, Ecclus. 44, was read. The Te Deum Laudamus in "E" flat for double chorus, by R. P. Stewart, followed and the second lesson, St. John viii., was read. A portion of the Benedicite by Rogers was sung after which the Nicene creed was repeated by the clergy and people, followed by a few selected prayers.

Special Prayer of Thanksgiving.

The special prayer of thanksgiving used at St. Paul's and by all the Episcopal churches throughout the country, was as follows:

O God, whose name is excelled in all the earth, and whose glory is above the Heavens, we bless Thee for the great things Thou hast done and art doing for the children of men. We consider the days of old, the years of ancient times, and unto Thee we do give thanks. Moreover, we yield Thee most high praise for the wonderful grace and virtue declared in all those Thy children who have been the lights of the word in their several generations. For raising up that servant, George Washington, and giving him to be a leader and commander to the people for vouchsafing to him victory over enemies, and for bestowing upon him many excellent gifts; for inclining the hearts of men in congress assembled to wise choices, and for granting them vision of the days to come; for a settled constitution, and for equal laws, for freedom to do the thing that is right, and liberty to say the truth; for the spread of knowledge everywhere among us, and for the preservation of the faith; we bless and magnify Thy holy name, humbly beseeching Thee to accept this our sacrifice of thanksgiving and praise, through Jesus Christ, our only Savior and Redeemer.

Two other special prayers were used, one asking a blessing upon President Harrison, and the other for the welfare of the country.

Conclusion of the Services.

After the prayers, the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, bishop of New York, delivered his address. The service concluded with the recessional hymn. The presidential party was then escorted by the vestry to the west porch, where the president was received by the centennial literary committee. The party then proceeded to the sub-treasury building at the corner of Wall and Nassau streets, where the old federal building stood in which Washington took the oath of office in 1789. Here the literary exercises were held.

AT THE SUB-TREASURY.

A Poem by Whittier, Entitled "The Vow of Washington."

In front of the platform of the sub-treasury building a sea of heads greeted the eyes and all about the spot, from Broadway to Williams street and as far as one could see down Broad street, eager, thronging humanity was packed. The decoration of the sub-treasury was most elaborate and certainly has never been equalled before in the memory of any New Yorker. National colors in silk and bunting, shields, eagles, mottoes, portraits of revolutionary characters and many other devices contributed to the grand display, and made a most suburb effect. The special stand from which the speakers addressed the people was built directly in front of the statue of Washington which stood majestically forth above all.

A Triumphal Procession.

While the services in St. Paul's chapel were being held the Twenty-second regiment band under the leadership of Patrick S. Gilmore, gave a concert at the sub-treasury. The band began the programme at about 9 o'clock and continued until the literary exercises commenced. The president and his party were due at 10 o'clock but it was a little later when they arrived. The literary committee escorted the president from St. Paul's down Broadway to Wall and down Wall to the sub-treasury. As the president's carriage passed along the crowded thoroughfare, the waiting multitudes on the sidewalks cheered again and again until his way seemed to be a triumphal procession greeted with one prolonged roar of cheers. The president's reception at the sub-treasury was most enthusiastic. As soon as Gilmore caught sight of the president's carriage he lifted his baton and the full Twenty-second regiment band played "Hail to the Chief." During the playing of this the president alighted and was escorted to his seat on the platform. The members of his cabinet grouped themselves about him, and the other invited guests were seated near. As soon as all were arranged and quiet was gained Mr. Elbridge T. Gerry, chairman of the committee on literary exercises, stepped to the front of the platform and addressed the assemblage. This was followed by an earnest prayer by the Rev. Dr. Storrs.

A Poem by Whittier.

A poem by John Greenleaf Whittier, entitled "The Vow of Washington," was read by Clarence Bowen and was received with hearty applause. It is as follows:

The sword was sheathed: in April's sun
Lay green the fields by Freedom won;
And severed sections, weary of debates,
Joined hands at last and were United States.

O City sitting by the Sea!
How proud the day that dawned on thee,
When the new era, long desired, began,
And, in its need, the hour had found the man!

One thought the cannon salvos spoke;
The resonant bell-tower's vibrant stroke,
The voiceful streets, the plaudit-echoing halls,
And prayer and hymn borne heavenward from St. Paul's!

How felt the land in every part
The strong throb of a nation's heart,
As its great leader gave, with reverent awe,
His pledge to Union, Liberty and Law!

That pledge the heavens above him heard,
That vow the sleep of centuries stirred;
In world-wide wonder listening peoples bent
Their gaze on Freedom's great experiment.

Could it succeed? Of honor sold
And hopes deceived all History told.
Above the wrecks that strewed the mournful past,
Was the long dream of ages true at last?

Thank God! the people's choice was just,
The one man equal to his trust,
Wise beyond lore, and without weakness good,
Calm in the strength of flawless rectitude!

His rule of justice, order, peace,
Made possible the world's release;
Taught prince and serf that power is but a trust,
And rule, alone, which serves the ruled, is just;

That Freedom generous is, but strong
In hate of fraud and selfish wrong
Pretense that turns her holy truths to lies,
And lawless license masking in her guise.

Land of his love! with one glad voice
Let thy great sisterhood rejoice;
A century's suns o'er thee have risen and set,
And, God be praised, we are one nation yet.

And still, we trust, the years to be
Shall prove his hope was destiny,
Leaving our flag with all its added stars
Unrent by faction and unstained by wars!

Lo! where with patient toil he nursed
And trained the new-set plant at first,
The widening branches of a stately tree
Stretch from the sunrise to the sunset sea.

And in its broad and sheltering shade,
Sating all come to make afraid,
Were we now silent, through each mighty limb,
The winds of heaven would sing the praise of Him.

Our first and best—his ashes lie
Beneath his own Virginian sky.
Forgive, forget, O true and just and brave,
The storm that swept above thy sacred grave!

For, ever in the awful strife
And dark hours of the nation's life,
Through the fierce tumult pierced his warning word,
Their father's voice his erring children heard!

The change for which he prayed and sought
In that sharp agony was wrought:
No partial interest draws its alien line
'Twixt north and south, the cypress and the pine!

One people now, all doubt beyond,
His name shall be our Union-bond:
We lift our hands to Heaven, and here and now,
Take on our lips the old Centennial vow.

For rule and trust must needs be ours;
Chooser and chosen both are powers
Equal in service as in rights; the claim
Of duty rests on each and all the same.

Then let the sovereign millions, where
Our banner floats in sun and air,
From the warm palm-lands to Alaska's cold,
Repeat with us the pledge a century old!

THE ORATOR OF THE DAY.

Chauncey M. Depew Received with Great Applause.

After the reading of the poem had ceased the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew stepped forward to deliver the oration he had written for the occasion. Mr. Depew's appearance was the signal for a generous burst of applause, and it was some minutes before he could begin. He spoke in a clear, loud voice, and could be heard by a large portion of the audience. He said:

We celebrate to-day the centenary of our nationality. One hundred years ago the United States began their existence. The powers of government were assumed by the people of the republic, and they became the sole source of authority. The solemn ceremonial of the first inauguration, the reverent oath of Washington; the acclaim of the multitude greeting their president, marked the most unique event of modern times in the development of free institutions. The occasion was not an accident, but a result. It was the culmination of the working out by mighty forces through many centuries of the problem of self-government. It was not triumph of a system, the application of a theory, or the reduction to practice of the abstractions of philosophy. The time, the country, the heredity and environment of the people, the folly of its enemies, and the noble courage of its friends, gave to ages of defeat, of trial, of experiment, of partial success and substantial gains, this immortal victory. Henceforth it had a refuge and recruiting station. The oppressed found free homes in this favored land, and invisible armies marched from it by mail and telegraph, by speech and song, by precept and example, to regenerate the world.

Puritans in New England, Dutchmen in New York, Catholics in Maryland, Huguenots in South Carolina had felt the fires of persecution and were wedded to religious liberty. They had been purified in the furnace, and in high debate and on bloody battle-fields had learned to sacrifice all material interests and to perill their lives for human rights. The principles of constitutional government had been impressed upon them by hundreds of years of struggle, and for each principle they could point to the grave of an ancestor whose death attested the ferocity of the fight and the value of the concession wrung from arbitrary power. They knew the limitations of authority, they could pledge their lives and

AN OLD TIME PARTISAN.

It is easy to recall to mind his familiar figure as he sits, during the winter evenings, in his favorite corner.

In his easy chair, with pipe in hand and his silver-rimed "specs" pushed back until they find a soft resting place on his beloved snow-white head, with eyes sparkling and his face beaming with pleasure as he calls back old memories of days long gone by, he is likely to talk something after this fashion.

"It is a long time since I was a boy. Ah, but that was many years ago. Sixty long years have gone and the good Lord knows they were short enough. I was then as spruce and pert as any chap thereabouts.

"Oh, but we boys were boys! Things have changed a heap since those days. Boys then didn't take much stock in stylish clothes and they didn't carry canes like they do now. Clothes and canes didn't cut much caper then, but it was good hard sense and work.

"The boy who could do the biggest day's work—could cut the most wood, split the most rails, plow the most corn, was the most invited for he was sure to have the sweetest and best lookin' gal at the 'singin' school' or 'apple peelin'.

"I tell you those were good old times!

"I didn't think anything of going thirty mile or more to see your grandmother, and we didn't have very good roads either, but generally had to follow some old Indian trail.

"Talk about sickness then, there was no sickness like now. If we had a cough, a pain, or anything, there was the best medicine in the world found in any log cabin home you came across. Why, I remember that my old grandmother, God bless her soul, she's been dead these fifty years or more, could make the best home made medicine for miles around. Her 'sarsaparilla' couldn't be beat. Come to think of I just read in the paper about somebody who is making this same old log cabin medicine, under the name 'Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla.'

"It does seem splendid to think that you can buy those good old home cures at the druggist's nowadays.

"Mebbe you think people were not healthy in those days, but I tell you that it was mighty seldom anybody was sick long when they had such good old grandmother's medicine so handy.

"People used to be stronger, healthier and they lived longer, when I was a boy."

The Two Dakotas—South and North.

Public attention is now, more than ever, directed to these two new states of the Union. Climate, soil and opportunities for investment of capital, are unexcelled by any other section of the Great West. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co., which has lines of its own in both South and North Dakota, has just issued an illustrated pamphlet entitled "Plain Facts about Dakota" containing numerous letters from farmers and others which are well worth reading, as they show the results of each writer's personal experience in the North-West, and convey a great deal of valuable and reliable information which will be of benefit for those seeking new homes in South and North Dakota.

For a free copy of this pamphlet address A. V. H. Carpenter, General Passenger Agent, Milwaukee, Wis.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD

At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoea balsam in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all inflamation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of BEGG'S DIARRHŒA BALSAM will do more good in cases of this kind than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it.

Owing to the increase of business, the directors of the Detroit Cyclorama Company have decided to exhibit the great war scene, Battle of Atlanta, through the summer months. The reduction in the price of Admission to 25 cts. will insure the management a large patronage from excursionists and others.

WHY IS IT

That people linger along always complaining about that continual tired feeling? One bottle of BEGG'S PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will entirely remove this feeling, give them a good appetite and regulate digestion.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co. The WALTER A. WOOD HARVESTING MACHINES LEAD THEM ALL.

726,510 Machines have been sold. 54,026 made and sold in 1888.

The Single Apron Improvement.

Its striking advantages are—three rollers as compared with six; one canvas versus three; six bearings as compared with twelve; three buckles versus twelve. The draft of the machine is thereby very materially reduced. The apron is driven from the underside, hence the upper side or top of apron is comparatively loose and easily passes, without friction, under the apron guides.

The only Binder adjustments on the Wood are the three desirable ones—Regulating size of Buffle—Regulating tightness of Binding—Regulating position of Band. Each of these adjustments is made instantly.

The new Enclosed Gear Mower is the best mower ever made.

Farmers should call and examine these machines before buying.

FOUR NEW STATES

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three lines, reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown and Sioux Falls or to south Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota—Where is grown the No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife Wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minot and Devils Lake land districts invite the home seeker to secure a free home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana the Golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her 1,000,000 head of live stock; profit in her fertile lands, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country per inhabitant on earth; where prosperity is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the great Reservation of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse power cataracts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Portland and Shasta Route or Ogden, Utah, to California points. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars and free colonists sleepers of its own to from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington—The country of tall timbers, indented by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific Coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers enroute for Tacoma, Portland and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change or delay. Distance to the Pacific coast is the same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are five and ten dollars less. Take the Seattle route.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

Once more the trees put forth their mantle of green and blossoms and all nature smiles with a new life.

Wheat, oats and grass begin to show the need of rain.

Farmers are busy plowing and fitting corn ground.

Mrs. John Beckley is repairing her house on the ridge and when completed will be a very comfortable and pleasant farm residence.

Dr. R. H. Nelson has given his house a fresh coat of paint. Ezra Sink did the spreading in his usual scientific manner.

W. H. Arner is adding to the convenience of his house an octigon shaped addition.

A. R. Arner did some advertising for W. F. Clack the fore part of the week in the way of decorating the fences for several miles around the village in a very attractive and amusing way.

Mrs. L. V. Miller was on the sick list the fore part of the week.

Agent A. J. Sutton is under the doctor's care at the present writing.

Dr. D. W. Loree bought the store house and lot belonging to Rev. Peter Sharp on Friday of last week, and will overhaul the buildings and fit them up in a manner suitable for a first-class business. It is one of the best locations for a lively business man there is in the village.

Herman Bailey, of Hudson, accompanied by his mother, visited his uncle W. H. Arner last week. His mother remained for a visit of several days.

Prof. and Mrs. E. A. Wilson, of Tecumseh, were in the village Saturday.

David McNair and wife, of Tecumseh, were in the village Monday assisting her father, Mr. Sharp, in the invoicing of his groceries and drugs preparing for the closing of his business here.

Rev. and Mrs. Lowry left Tuesday for Sheldon's Corners, he being called there to officiate at the funeral of a friend.

Uncle Horace Gray, of Florida, who is visiting old friends and neighbors, gave a very pleasant talk to the Sunday school children on Sunday last at the close of the services.

Irving Bush, of Brooklyn, arrived Saturday and visited his grandmother over the Sabbath, returning Monday. He expects to leave soon for Europe for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. Louisa Arner left on Friday afternoon for Wellington, Ohio, for a visit of a number of weeks with her son, Charles W. Arher.

Frank Allen, of Toledo, was in the village Monday for a few hours.

Belle Barlow visited friends at Hillsdale from Friday until Tuesday.

Lulu Rappleye presided at the organ on Sunday evening in the absence of the organist, Miss Barlow, with much credit to herself as well as the organist and to the pleasure of the choir.

Ed. Holloway, of Tipton, spent Thursday and Friday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Helm.

Mrs. Jesse Potter returned from a visit with her sister at Maple Rapids on Thursday of last week.

Jennie Dreana, of Dundee, called on friends in the village Saturday.

Prof. Daniels visited his parents at Onsted Saturday and Sunday returning Monday in company with his sister Hattie.

Mrs. Jennie LaBonny visited Tipton friends Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Henry McClure, Jr., and George Field, of Tecumseh, called on friends in the village Sunday afternoon.

The L. C. S. will be held on Friday evening, of the present week, at the home of Mrs. John Arner. A cordial invitation is extended to all in the village and a pleasant time is expected.

There was a good turnout at the meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Sutton on Friday evening, and a very interesting and instructive program was carried out. Their next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. A. Barrett on Tuesday afternoon of next week.

100 Ladies Wanted,

And 100 men to call on any druggist for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine, the great root and herb remedy, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. For diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys it is a positive cure. For constipation and clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Children like it. Everyone praises it. Large-size package, 50 cents. At all druggists'.

CLINTON CLIPPINGS.

Miss Louise VanDeMark went to Tecumseh last Friday to visit her friend Miss Florence Rowland. She returned home Tuesday.

Mrs. C. S. Burroughs and Miss Laura Clark called on Manchester friends last Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. Bradner spent a few days in Jackson last week with her daughter Mame.

Miss Lizzie Henderson visited Tecumseh friends last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Van DeMark attended St. Peter's church at Tecumseh last Sunday morning.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Lina Jones is unable to attend to her duties at Freeze's store. She has been out about two weeks.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Lou Reynolds and Mr. John Amspoker Thursday evening, May 9.

An itinerant chiropodist has infested this place for the past week. The kind of business he has been practicing here is little better than highway robbery and should be as promptly suppressed.

Albert Kishpaugh's recovery from the effects of the rifle shot is much slower than was at first hoped it would be. He is still very weak; only able to sit up a few moments at a time.

J. B. Hause attended the funeral of Frank Bradley's son in Franklin last Monday.

Tom Kirk has left the employ of Chas. Clark and is now working for Andrew McDermott.

The parish of St. John's church is endeavoring to secure a resident rector. No call has as yet been made though they have a man in view. Rev. G. E. Peters will not visit the parish hereafter.

Mrs. P. C. Smith and Mrs. George Hard went to Tecumseh last Tuesday.

Mr. George Wilson died at his home two miles west of Clinton Wednesday morning after a long illness. About four months ago Mr. Wilson had a stroke of paralysis from which he never recovered. For the last few days he has been unconscious and his death was hourly expected. He was in his 77th year.

Robert McCook was taken suddenly sick Tuesday morning. He complained of extreme thirst and was given lemonade. It made him very sick and Dr. Tuttle was called. He pronounced it a trouble that had been coming for some time.

A number of Clinton people attended the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson last Tuesday afternoon at their home a few miles west of town. A pleasant time is reported.

Several young men from here attended the theatre at Tecumseh Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Miller are billed for Clinton May 15th in "The Three Widows."

Mrs. Chas. Parker returned from Eaton Rapids last Saturday.

BRITTON BUDGET.

The next meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at Mrs. L. E. Hause's Thursday afternoon, May 16th, at 2 o'clock. All are invited.

L. A. Babcock walks with a cane; cause, a sprained ankle.

Britton camp of Sons of Veterans will give a sugar and ice cream social at G. A. R. hall on Tuesday evening, May 14. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Elder Wright entertained a tramp one night lately; one of "our American cousins" who left thorough the window early in the morning. Fortunately nothing of value went with him.

Miss L. Keeber has formed a partnership with Miss Minnie Sisson, of Lake Ridge, who will, in a few days, move the millinery goods to Butler, Ind. Britton's loss is Butler's gain. The best wishes of this entire community go with them.

"HOMORRHAGE may take place from the kidneys or from the mucus membranes, particularly that of the nostrils." So writes T. Granger Stewart, M. D., F. R. S. E., Ordinary Surgeon to H. M., the Queen in Scotland, Prof. of Practice of Physic in the University of Edinburgh, in an article on Bright's disease. Hence the only natural inference is that the kidneys must be restored to a healthy condition before its effects will disappear. Warner's Safe Cure is the most efficient agent for this purpose known to science.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

The Franklin Union Literary and Lyceum met at the house of Mr. B. Lamkin May 4th. We were in error in stating in our last report that no literary exercises would take place. The following exercises were offered:

Inst. Music—Seth Simmons and others.
Rec.—Lulu Harris.
Rec.—Cecil Billington.
Rec.—Ruth Taylor.
Rec.—Alton Whelan.
Dia.—Ella and Herbert Munger.
Inst. Music.
Rec.—Grace Moreeman.
Rec.—Alma Whelan.
Harmonica and Organ—Ernest Lamkin and Ed. Spaulding.

By agreement of the debators the discussion of the question was adjourned until the next meeting, as some of the speakers were absent and others wished for further preparation on a question of rather more than usual interest. The next meeting will occur at L. E. Taylor's June 1st, with the following program:

Inst. Music—Seth Simmons and others.
Dec.—J S Allen.
Rec.—Bertha Taylor.
Sel. Reading—G. W. Allen.

Dec.—Ed. Salding.
Rec.—Lulu Taylor.
Dec.—S. N. Munger.
Rec.—Cecil Bellington.
Poem—Mrs. L. E. Taylor.
Inst. Music.

The funeral—a large one—of a young son of Frank Bradley occurred on Monday.

The little daughter of Reuben Langdon is very sick, also Clarence Witherell, his little sister Lena having but just recovered from a severe sickness. Gracie Dunn, too, is on the sick list.

OBITUARY.

On the 24th ult, at the home of her parents, occurred the funeral services of Miss Francis Elvira German She was born in Franklin, Lenawee Co., Mich., Sept. 30th, 1863. Here in the quiet and purity of a country home she spent her early life. The 17th of December last she was taken ill with malarial fever terminating in consumption. Though all that loving hands could do, was done to restore her to health, her strength rapidly failed and on April 22nd she passed from her earthly home to her home in heaven. Her character was one of rare beauty. The Bible was her companion. She loved to dwell on its promises, and that the spirit of Christ was present in her heart, her daily life revealed. Though her sufferings were severe, she bore them all with christian fortitude; not a murmur fell from her lips.

It is hard to realize why one so true and loveable could not have been spared to bless the world with the light and beauty of her life; yet, she has left an impress that will never be effaced, accomplished a mission that is worth an earthly life. And we might well ask why should she longer be kept in a world of sin and pain from the bliss that awaits the faithful in Christ.

The grief stricken friends have our deepest sympathy, and we pray that He who sustained Fannie in her hours of affliction, will keep them all in His loving care and lead them to a happy reunion where sorrow and death cannot come. H. A. PUTNAM.

In Memoriam—Frances Elvira German.

Oh! tear blinded eyes, that are heavy and sad,
Oh! hearts that are breaking, rejoice and be glad,
She, who life's pathway so wearily trod,
Rests in the love lighted gardens of God.

Washed from all stain of earth's passionate vows,
Unfading Amaranth twining her brows,
Beautiful eyes that death sealed unto thine,
Now with transfiguring radiance shine.

Safe sheltered at last; oh! what rapture to know,
And walk with the Savior where still waters flow,
Through the green vales by the Seraphim trod,
Beautiful, glorified angel of God.

—DOLORES.

Many of the recognized authorities in civil as well as military circles say, "The malarial disease is most dangerous in that the kidneys are most liable to break down." Such men as Dacosta, Atkinson and Pepper, and Soldation, Sergeon Gen. in the Russian army, Woodward, Serg. Gen. in our American army, speaks of malaria as a direct complication of chronic Bright's disease. The kidneys must be kept free from diseases and the poisonous germs of malaria; they must act normally in cleansing the blood, for 65 gallons of it passes through them every hour. People in malarial localities recover from both the causes and effect of malaria by using Warner's Safe Cure. Every person, in the spring or fall, who has either kidney or malaria, should use Warner's Safe Cure as a peecautionary measure.

Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain, has made a most brilliant debut. Price, 25 cts.

Regular session.

Present:—President Heesen, Aldrs. Elliott, James, Kennedy, Smith, and recorder. Absent Beck.

The minuets of the last meeting were read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The chairman of the street committee reported that A. Packard's land was not desirable for gravel pit. Report accepted.

The chairman of the cemetery committee reported that he had caused six new hitching posts to be set in front of the cemetery. Report accepted.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The street commissioner submitted the following report for April:—Team work, by corporation team 18 days, by hired team 43 days, total 61 days. Hand labor 57 days. Street Commissioner 21 days, total 78 days. Accepted and filed.

The sexton reported two adult interments and three lots sold during the month of April, with treasurer's receipt for $10.00, interment fees and vault rent.

PETITIONS AND APPLICATIONS.

A petition, signed by 88 citizens and business firms of the village, requesting the common council "to consider the feasibility of lighting our village streets by means of electric arc lamps, and if deemed expedient to take such action as will incourage the establishment of a central electrical station in Tecumseh for the supply of arc and incandescent light and motor power," was presented.

In compliance with said petition a motion was offered that the President appoint a special committee of three, to visit some place where electric arc lights are used, and investigate as fully as possibly the practical working of the electric light system, with special reference to its cost, etc., and report at the next regular meeting, Carried.

The president appointed as such committee, Messrs. James, Elliott, and Field, to which committee the president was, on further motion added.

NEW BUSINESS.

The following claims were presented and referred to the Finance committee:—Wm. S. Comfort, tile .90; C. F. Field, printing, $7, 50; Moreland Bros. & Crane, oil, $23.41; Tecumseh Coal & Mfg. The President called attention to the fact that the new water tank was leaking badly and the matter was on motion referred to the commitee on Fire and Fire Limits

On motion Albert Hyde, Sr. and Geo. W. Frazer were appointed board of review

The marshal was, on motion, instructed to notify B. J. Bidwell and John Sutfin to comply with the law at once in regard to veneering with brick certain frame buildings erected by them last season, and also H. S. Lee with regard to sidewalk ordered last season.

The marshal's bond in the penal sum of $6,000 with two securities, was presented and on motion, accepted.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The Finance committee reported favorably on all the above claims as read. Report accepted and orders directed drawn for several amounts.

On motion the marshal was instructed to procure a new lock for the council room door.

Council then adjourned.

CHAS. F. FIELD, Recorder.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

Benj. Kelley went to Hanover last week on business.

Dr. Begel and wife are visiting relatives in Jackson.

Mrs. Alvah Raymond died at the residence of Geo. Mize Saturday afternoon. The funeral services were held at the house Monday at 2 o'clock, Rev. L. M. Belden officiating.

A. H. Kelley excels them all in picket sawing. He bolted and slatted up about nine thousand pickets for Hezekiah Ash in one day.

Of the three gentlemen who went to Auburn to sell force pumps, one is building bridges, one is learning the carpenter's trade and only one continues to sell pumps.

A well beaten path leads from A. H. Kelley's straight down south of Holloway and we expect the Smily gentleman who treads this path will soon become More Smily.

The L. C. S. Society met at the residence of Mrs. Geo. Holloway and elected the following officers: Pres., Mrs. Alex. Richard; Vice-Pres., Mrs. L. M. Belden; Sec., Mrs. J. L. McIntyre; Treas., Mrs. Jas. Lane. Mrs. Belden was appointed a delegate to the North Western Mission meeting at Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A party paid ten dollars for a horse at auction sale. The horse was lame and bruised all over. A bottle of Salvation Oil costing 25 cents was used; he is now valued at two hundred dollars.

WILLIAM H. BARNUM PASSES AWAY.

The Chairman of the National Democratic Committee Succumbs to the Inevitable After an Illness of but Two or Three Days—Death at London of Carl Rosa, the Famous Violinist.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 1.—The Hon. William H. Barnum, chairman of the national Democratic committee, died at Lime Rock at 9:45 Tuesday morning.

Mr. Barnum had been confined to his bed but two or three days, and for the past twenty-four hours his death had been momentarily expected. He was out for the last time on Friday last when he sat on the piazza for an hour. Saturday he was taken with a bad spell and it was apparent from the first that he could not recover. He had been very feeble ever since his sickness during the presidential campaign.

WILLIAM H. BARNUM.

Death of a Famous Violinist.

LONDON, May 1.—Carl Rosa, the famous violinist, died Tuesday of peritonitis. Mr. Augustus Harris, manager of Covent garden, was summoned, and was present when Mr. Rosa died. Carl Rosa had gone to Paris with Mr. Harris on an engagement to play at a series of Italian operas. Mr. Rosa took a serious cold while crossing the channel, and after a brief sickness died Tuesday at the Grand hotel in Paris.

The Parnell Commission.

LONDON, May 1.—The Parnell commission resumed its sessions Tuesday after the Easter recess. Mr. Parnell was put in the witness box. He gave his testimony in a clear, deliberate manner. He stated that he did not know that Delaney, who testified for The Times, was connected with any plan for obtaining amnesty for any of his associates. The witness stated that he had never heard of any attempt on Judge Lawson's life. He said that he never was a member of any secret society. Mr. Parnell testified further that he did not know until 1877 that Mr. Biggar, Nationalist member of parliament for West Cavan, was a Fenian. He then asked him to resign from the organization, but Mr. Biggar refused.

Red-Nosed Mike Must Hang.

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Michael Rezzillo, popularly known as Red-Nose Mike, the convicted murderer of Paymaster McClure and Boss Hugh Flannagan, must hang. The supreme court Monday affirmed the judgment of guilty of murder in the first degree, pronounced by the oyer and terminer of Luzerne county. The decision was accompanied by an opinion, in which Chief Justice Paxton carefully reviewed the charge and rulings of the trial judge which were complained of as erroneous, and affirmed them all separately.

The Sunday Rest Movement Growing.

BOSTON, May 1.—Heads of departments for the Boston and Maine railroad have been ordered to allow no work on Sundays except such as is required to run the regularly advertised trains, or to make the repairs necessary by accidents on Saturday night or Sunday.

The Two Dakotas—South and North.

Public attention is now, more than ever, directed to these two new states of the Union. Climate, soil and opportunities for investment of capital, are unexcelled by any other section of the Great West. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co., which has lines of its own in both South and North Dakota, has just issued an illustrated pamphlet entitled "Plain Facts about Dakota" containing numerous letters from farmers and others which are well worth reading, as they show the results of each writer's personal experience in the North-West and convey a great deal of valuable and reliable information which will be of benefit for those seeking new homes in South and North Dakota.

Are You Taking It?

"Are you taking the F. E. C. Kidney Remedy?" is becoming a common inquiry. The F. E. C. is known to be an honest remedy and is doing a world of good. J. J. Orr sells it.

Used one bottle of Mother's Friend before my first confinement. It is a wonderful remedy. Looked and felt so well afterwards friends remarked it. Would not be without Mother's Friend for any consideration.

THE WASHINGTON CENTENNIAL

The Second Day's Programme — A Great Parade.

NEW YORK, April 30.

The god of day had barely illuminated the east with rosy radiance ere the note of the bugle, the rattle of the snare drum, the shrill note of the fife, and the inspiriting concord of sounds from the military band, mingled with the tramp, tramp of the thousands of troops who were getting into their places for the military parade. To-day New York saw the most brilliant display of citizen soldiery ever witnessed in the city. From twenty-one states they came, and the number of them reached a total of 52,000 men. The whole of the national guards of New York, Pennsylvania, and New Hampshire were in line. The cadets from West Point and regular United States soldiers, sailors and marines, G. A. R. and Loyal Legion were largely represented. Nine hours was the time calculated for this array to pass a given point. A curious coincidence was that thirteen states were not represented. In round numbers these different departments of the service were represented as follows: National guard and militia from various states, 37,100; United States regulars, 1,000; United States sailors and marines, 1,000; West Point cadets, 400; Grand Army of the Republic, 12,200, and Loyal Legion escort, 150. There were three divisions, each commanded by a marshal and aids. Gen. Schofield commanded the whole.

Thanksgiving Service.

Leaving the residence of Vice President Morton the president was escorted to the church, St. Paul's at 9 a. m. He was received at the Vesey street entrance by a committee of Trinity church vestry and escorted into the church and to the Washington pew. The building at this time was full of the distinguished of the land—governors, senators, representatives and other public men, besides representatives of the law, the bench and other learned professions. Fair woman added the grace of her presence, and it is doubtful if more brains and beauty were ever gotten together in the same space. The services were conducted by the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, bishop of New York, in imitation of the service 100 years ago, at which time the bishop of New York, Rt. Rev. Samuel Provoost, was the conductor. The services consisted of a processional hymn and the usual Episcopal ritual slightly modified to fit the occasion and an address by Bishop Potter. They occupied about forty-five minutes, and at their close the president was conducted to the west porch and turned over to the committee on literary exercises, who escorted him to the sub-treasury building.

At the Sub-Treasury.

It is but vain reiteration to state that every street in the city through which it was known that the president would pass at any time was wedged with people. The throngs were massed so close that movement was difficult, but in spite of the discomfort the day had too many great memories for people to be quiet. The roars of cheering must have been heard at Sandy Hook, some people declared. Through this great multitude the president was taken to his seat at the sub-treasury.

At this point the view from the steps of the building was one to see once in a lifetime. A sea of faces was spread out before the observer, and as the president ascended to his seat the uproar was tremendous.

At 10 o'clock Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs advanced to the front and opened the proceedings with an eloquent invocation, while the great audience stood with uncovered and bowed heads. A poem by John G. Whittier was next read and then Chauncey M. Depew arose to deliver the oration of the occasion.

The oration ended in a perfect whirlwind of applause. As the last words of the splendid peroration fell from the speaker's lips a dead silence ensued. Entranced by the matchless oratory men stood for a moment spell-bound. Then a shout arose that made the very earth tremble, beginning in front where the speaker's words could be heard it was taken up by those in the rear and swelled from point to point until all the streets from which even a sight of the building could be had were ringing with the tremendous volume of sound. It waxed and waned and waxed again, and it was some moments before silence was restored.

The President Speaks.

President Harrison then came to the front and delivered a brief but eloquent and appropriate address in which he referred to the significance of the occasion, the greatness of the nation which had inaugurated its first president 100 years ago to-day, and its hopes and aspirations for the future.

The address was cheered to the echo and then the figure of Archbishop Corrigan claimed attention as he stood waiting to give the closing benediction. Again a hush fell on the multitude, the solemn words were uttered and the exercises were over.

The president and his party, consisting of cabinet and supreme court members, were immediately taken to carriages and driven to the reviewing stand on Madison square, while the people sought places from which they could observe the military march.

The Centennial Banquet.

The banquet in honor of the Washington centennial Tuesday night was attended by about 800 of the nation's most eminent men, and as the speaking began Mrs. Harrison appeared in the balcony, which was the signal for a throng of ladies to make their entrance. The hall was magnificently decorated and was a perfect epicurean palace. Mayor Grant presided, and Bishop Potter asked a blessing, after which the guests proceeded to the gastronomical exercises.

The inner man having been placated, the feast of reason began with an address of welcome by Governor Hill. There were thirteen toasts to be responded to, but that to the house of representatives was dropped because Mr. Blaine, who was down on the programme for the response, was ill in Washington. Among the notable speakers were ex-President Cleveland, whose toast was "Our People," Chief Justice Fuller, "The Federal Constitution;" "The Army and Navy," Gen. Sherman;" "The Presidency," ex President Hayes, and "The United States of America," President Harrison.

It was late in the night, or early in the morning when the banquetters sought the rest that they so much needed.

The Great Civic Parade.

NEW YORK, May 1.—To-day the climax was reached in the series of demonstrations in honor of Washington's inauguration, and from early morning until sundown the city was again noisy with the tramp of thousands of men. At 10 a. m. the industrial procession started from Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue and began its tramp past the reviewing stand, to which Gen. Harrison had been conveyed.

The whole procession numbered 80,000 men, and was the greatest demonstration of the kind ever seen in this country.

Thus ended the commemoration of the final great event in the nation's early history. The work was well and fitly done and the whole programme was executed with remarkable precision and success.

Dairy Column.

For the encouragement of improved methods of Dairying. Information upon all matters relating to the manufacture of butter and cheese and handling of milk will be given in answer to questions mailed to the Bureau at above address.

POULTRY KEEPING AS AN ADJUNCT TO DAIRYING.

To make hens pay you must take good care of them; and doing this; you will soon see an ample reward for your labor. Constant complaints are heard from those who start a hennery as a business alone. Sickness will come in and destroy hundreds, and in spite of all your care they don't pay, and you give it up in despair. I believe that hens connected with a dairy or large household will be more profitable than keeping hens alone. On a large scale you will have to seperate your large flocks into smaller ones, and as the chief foundation of success is variety in food it is almost impossible to make up for the advantages you have on a dairy farm.

Skim and butter-milk, and even whey, are great helps towards this, and they may be made into many a different dish for your fowls. Mix their morning meal with hot milk, and you can give them nothing better. Give it as a drink, and you will be astonished to see what a hen is able to consume. Milk curdled with cheese-rennet is also eaten with great avidity; and cheese crusts, fresh or old, are certainly a relish. With skim milk, plenty of vegetables for winter, and green grass for summer, you will see how your feed bill is reduced and number of eggs doubled.

As a guide, I put down a feed list arranged for 20 hens. 1. Grain feed: ½lb. oats, ½lb. wheat, 1 lb. corn.

The oats should be given first, next the wheat, last the corn, as the hens will leave the oats if the others are fed first.

As a change, feed barley, buckwheat and rice. 2. Soft feed: 1 lb. bran, shorts and middlings, mixed or alternately, 1 quart boiled potatoes, 1 quart turnips, beets or carrots. Any refuse from the table, old bread, and rich dish-water may be used as a substitute and change. Mash and serve lukewarm in the morning. The dry grain feed should be given just before roosting time.

But this is not enough. Be up early in the morning; don't forget your fowls in the evening, and don't believe they need no water. Keep them busy in the winter by putting some litter on the floor so that they may scratch for their feed. Break up all bones before the fatty matter is out of them, (some have a mill for that purpose); crack broken crockery, glass and shells in pieces the size of peas; don't lose any opportunity to give old broken-down mortar. If your hens have a chance, you will see how they will help themselves on a plastered wall. In winter give them a small, extra treat at noon, such as chopped clover hay or sorghum, which will take long to pick up. Have an airy summer-house and a winter-house where their combs will not freeze, and where there is plenty of room for gravel and a box with ashes or dirt. The perches must be two inches wide, easy to reach, and on one level. The sun must have access to the room.

It is a good idea to dig the hen-house in the side of a hill, and cover the whole front with double windows, which may be raised in fine weather. Another is to arrange the window of a hot-bed outside, or as an addition to the hen-house, so that the hens may have a sunny, covered place in which to scratch and bathe in the dust. Do all you can to procure sun in their winter-abode. Pull down their perches now and then, and replace with new ones.

Rather than hatch vermin in the corners, sprinkle with kerosene, whitewash, and pass a burning, sulphured rag along the crevices if needed. Clean out often enough to keep the air pure. See that the setting hen does not set in too dry a place. A wet sod is the best nest you can give her. Also that she is not disturbed by the other hens.

When the chickens are out, milk is again indispensable, the little ones wanting plenty of food, plenty of drink, and plenty of sunshine.

Boiled milk will stop diarrhoea, and curdled milk will cure constipation

In summer hens thrive best if allowed to roam about, chasing grasshoppers and nipping greens. If you fence anything in, let it be your vegetables and not your hens.

One more advice: When you take your eggs from the nest, have a pencil and mark the eggs with the date. This is a simple performance which will allow you to be sure as to their age. Be certain not to sell a single spoiled egg. Keep a reputation for "strickly fresh" eggs, and stick to it, as it gives you a right to ask the highest price for them. Never send a dirty egg away. The best way to do this is to keep the nest clean. Practice is a good teacher, which will add greatly to these few hints, and make the whole business a cheerful one. This is at least my experience.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

President's Proclamation.

SPECIAL.

Whereas, From day to day vast numbers are being stricken down with the fell disease Rheumatism, which seems to be greatly on the increase.

And whereas, The nation has within a short time been called upon to mourn the sudden loss of many of our public men, such as Vice-President Hendricks, Gen. John A. Logan, Sec'y Daniel P. Manning, Gen. McClellan, and many others.

Now therefore, I do by virtue of the knowledge possessed by me, proclaim and recommend Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup to be a remedy of great merit, both for Rheumatism and all Blood Diseases.

And further, That this medicine be adopted as a national remedy by all.

Signed by the President.

RHEUMATISM.

I was cut in the wrist by a broken bottle from which I suffered extreme pain. I called a doctor, who pronounced it sciatic rheumatism. My right side became paralyzed, leg and arm badly withered, and my joints were so stiff that there was but little action in them. About six weeks ago I began taking Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup with marvelous results. Since then I have left off the use of crutches entirely, and only use a cane, and for the past few days I often forget it and walk without any aid. To say that it has greatly benefited me but poorly expresses my idea of your Rheumatic Syrup.

C. D. DENIO, Dealer in General Groceries, Jackson, Mich.

C. D. DENIO is a man well known in this community, and was probably the worst wreck physically of any man this country ever saw. He was paralyzed from rheumatic poison, and no one ever expected he would recover. He is well, and it is simply marvelous. FRANK L. SMITH, Ex-Member State Legislature, Jackson, Mich.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

My daughter Maud had inflammatory rheumatism. Her limbs were badly swollen. She was in terrible agony. She has been taking Rheumatic Syrup and using your Plasters, which has broken it up. The Syrup corrected her indigestion, cleansed the rheumatic poison from her blood, and she is now able to be around the house. We consider Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and Plasters remedies of great merit. REV. J. ROBERTS, Pastor First M. E. Church, Fremont, Mich.

Last winter and spring I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism in my left shoulder and arm, suffering the most excruciating pain. Two bottles of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup cured me. I can with confidence recommend it to all who are suffering with rheumatic difficulty. REV. JAMES BERRY, Morley, Mich.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

THE CHAMPION BINDER.

The most successful and most durable of all harvesting machines.
Contains every device needed to make a machine perfect.
Made of the best material and in the best way.
Light draft and easy work for driver and horses.
Easiest raised and lowered of any harvester.

There is no weight on the horses' necks; no tearing of canvas or straps, for there are springs to relieve the strain caused by shrinkage; no choking at front of elevators, for their is a relief rake to prevent it. No other Binder has this valuable device. Everything on the CHAMPION has been made as simple and substantial as possible. No other Harvester has as good cutter bar and guards, or as many and as good knives, or as strong and adaptable reel, or as simple a method of driving the Binder, nor as good plan for squaring the butts of the bundles. The CHAMPION Butter is unlike any other, and is superior to them all.

The CHAMPION will cutall kinds of small grain that grow no matter in what condition; it is lighter draft than any other Harvester doing the same work; it is easily managed by any farmer; it will cause less trouble and expense for repairs, it will make less delay in harvest time, and it will do more work and be more durable than any other Harvester and Binder that is made.

Hisses for Parnell.

His Examination Takes a Sensational Turn.

AN ADMISSION OF A FALSEHOOD,

Uttered in the Presence of the Commons—He Seems to Think the End Justified the Means and the Audience Hisses—Fred Grant and Mrs. Grant Presented to the Queen—Inquisitive Press Fiends and the Samoan Commissioners.

LONDON, May 4.—The cross-examination of Parnell was continued before the commission yesterday. The Irish leader denied knowing "Number One," either under the name of Tynan or any other. He had never heard Egan associated with the "martyr fund" for the benefit of the families of those executed and incarcerated for participation in the Phœnix park murders. He saw nothing criminal in the fund, but rather thought it was right to assist the innocent victims of the "martyrs." He said he could not recollect having denounced outrages between 1878 and 1881. He believed the outrages were the work of small societies.

Parnell Exaggerated the Facts.

A sensational incident—the most remarkable of the day's examination—occurred when Sir Richard Webster quoted a statement made by Parnell during the debate on Forster's bill, in 1881, suspending the habeas corpus, to the effect that secret societies had then ceased to exist in Ireland. Sir Richard asked Parnell if he believed the statement when he made it.

Parnell—No. At any rate it was an exaggerated statement.

Sir Richard Webster—Did you or did you not misstate the fact when you made that statement.

Knew His Words to Be Untrue.

Parnell admitted that he had made the statement, knowing it to be untrue, or at least extravagant. He further admitted that he had never withdrawn the statement. His purpose in making it was to exaggerate the effect which the league had had in eradicating secret sociesies.

The nonchalance with which the witness made these admissions astonished the audience and elicited hisses.

He further testified that he was unable to say what had become of the books of the Land league. Some of them were brought to London, and some were now before the commission. Where the missing books and documents were he did not know, but he would endeavor to ascertain.

Rioting About Insurance Premiums.

LONDON, May 4.—A body of infantry has been sent to quell the rioting which prevails among the workers in the Rothschilds mines in Moravia. The miners demand the return of $10,500 which they have collectively paid in on account of insurance premiums, which demand the masters refuse to comply with, hence the riots. Thus far ten of the leaders in the disorders have been arrested, but the men are determined to fight until they are overpowered by superior numbers or their demands are satisfactorily met.

Fred Grant Presented to the Queen.

LONDON, May 4.—At the queen's drawing-room held yesterday Col. F. D. Grant, United States minister to Austria, was presented by Mr. W. H. White, secretary of the American legation, and Mrs. Grant was presented by Countess Van Bylandt, wife of the Netherland's minister to England. Lieut. Henry A. Borup, U. S. A., the recently appointed military attache to the American legation at Paris, was also presented by Mr. White, and Mrs. Borup by Countess Van Bylandt.

Pestered to Death by Pencil Pushers.

LONDON, May 4.—The American delegates to the Samoan conference in Berlin have been so pestered by the importunities of German reporters and American correspondents that they have been compelled to refuse admittance to all callers except those personally known or who give satisfactory assurance that they are not interviewers.

The Royalists Will Be Absent.

PARIS, May 4.—The royalist senators and deputies have resolved not to attend the fete to be given at Versailles on Sunday on the eve of the opening of the exhibition. There have been practically no invitations issued for the ceremony of opening the exhibition.

Will Repudiate the Congress.

VIENNA, May 4.—It is thought probable that the goverment will declare the plenary Catholic congress just closed here to have been a private assembly and pay no attention to the telegraphic messages of the pope thereto.

DEATH CAUSED BY NEGLECT.

A Miner Blown to Eternity by Exploding Gas—Innocents in the Flames.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 4.—A destructive gas explosion occurred at the Beechwood colliery yesterday. The fire boss neglected to put up the caution board at the entrance of an abandoned gangway in which gas had accumulated. James Nolan, who was making repairs, knowing that the fire boss had passed and seeing no danger signal up, entered the gangway with a naked lamp.

The Lamp Did the Work.

The flame of the lamp caused caused a terrible explosion. Nolan was blown against the rocks and sustained fatal injuries. Two miners named Lewis and Sweeney were dragged out of the shaft unconscious, but were not seriously injured. Considerable damage was done to the property.

Three Children Lose Their Lives.

ASHTABULA, Ohio, May 4.—Three children of a Portuguese family named Silvey were left alone in the house yesterday morning. The building took fire. One of the children was burned to death and the other two were fatally burned.

An Infant Child Cremated.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 4.—Four fine residences were burned here yesterday afternoon. Loss about $20,000; fully insured. An infant child of J. M. Kinney was burned to death in one of the houses.

Appointments by the President.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 4.—The president's appointments yesterday were principally confined to the south and to the offices of marshal and district attorney. The most notable one was that of S. W. Hawkins to be United States attorney for the western district of Tennessee. Mr. Hawkins was the Republican candidate for governor at the last election. D. S. Alexander, of New York, was appointed attorney for the northern district of that state. He had charge of part of Mr. Harrison's campaign correspondence last fall. Still another notable appointment was that of Carter B. Harrison as United States marshal for the eastern district of Tennessee. He is the president's brother.

France's Centennial.

It Starts Off with a Blank Cartridge Sensation.

THE CRANK WITH A GRIEVANCE

And a Pistol Fires a Shot That is Heard Around the World—Great Excitement for a Moment, But the Celebration Goes on—Exercises at Versailles—Frenchmen Rejoicing Over the Issue of the Principles of '89.

PARIS, May 6.—As President Carnot was leaving the palace of the Elysee to attend the centennial celebration at Versailles yesterday, a stranger drew a pistol and pointing directly at him fired. The man was immediately seized and a rush was made toward the president to discover the extent of his injury. M. Carnot quickly assured the crowd that he was not hurt and the excitement was over.

Paris Thrown Into Spasms.

Paris was thrown into a fever of excitement by the report that President Carnot had been shot. The rumor spread rapidly, and in an incredibly short space of time the cafes and other places of resort were emptied and the Champs d'Elysee was choked by a surging crowd eager to learn the truth. It was quickly learned, however, that the president was safe and that the man, Perrin, who fired the shot which gave rise to the alarmist rumor, was one of the class which infest every capital—a crank with a grievance. When the announcement was made the excitement subsided as quickly as it had arisen, and the crowds indulged in innumerable jokes over the affair.

It Was Only a Blank Cartridge.

The man who did the shooting gave his name as Perrin, and his occupations a marine storekeeper. He stated that he had no desire to kill the president, and showed the truth of his assertion by proving that he had fired a blank cartridge. He declared that he had been punished unjustly by the governor of Martinique, and his object in firing was solely for the purpose of calling attention to his wrongs, and the fact that the persecution he had undergone had reduced him to poverty. He had been unable to obtain redress from his persecutors, and believed that his action in firing the blank cartridge would direct the president's attention to his case. Perrin is evidently insane on the subject of his grievances.

PRELIMINARY TO THE EXPOSITION.

Carnot Unveils a Centennial Memorial Tablet—The Speeches.

PARIS, May 6.—President Carnot was enthusiastically cheered by the crowds which lined the way from the palace to Versailles. Upon his arrival he unveiled a memorial tablet affixed to the building in which the states general met 100 years ago. The grand assembly had congregated in the Hall of Mirrors and were addressed by M. Leroyer, president of the senate, after M. Carnot's arrival.

Leroyer's Remarks.

It is no longer, he said, deputies of the third estate to whom the privilege of standing upright was denied, but the elected representatives of the nation were bowing before their freely elected chief to pay tribute to the great dead to whom they owed their liberty. "It becomes those old strugglers for liberty," he continued, "to remind us that the revolution not only bequeathed to us doctrines, but lessons. If the revolutionists sinned by the audacity of their dreams, we sin by our want of self-abnegation, our incomplete knowledge of our duties and our hesitations of policy." M. Leroyer asked President Carnot to raise his voice in order to guide Frenchmen in the direction of mutual concession.

The Republic Come to Stay.

M. Carnot said: "I greet in the palace of the old monarchy the representatives of a nation now in complete possession of itself, the mistress of her destinies and full of splendor, strength and liberty. The first thoughts of this solemn meeting turn to our fathers. That immortal generation of 1789, by dint of courage and many sacrifices, secured to us benefits which we must bequeath to our sons as a most precious heritage." He reminded all that in France the personal power of one man was a thing of the past, no matter what title he may take. The sole sovereign now is the laws enacted by the representatives of the nation.

The Bishop Addresses Carnot.

The bishop of Versailles addressed President Carnot saying that though they had fallen as victims in the revolution of 1789, the clergy had shared in the movements toward reform and had never ceased to give proof of their readiness to make sacrifices for their country. He congratulated Carnot on his escape from the assault of an assassin and rejoiced that the occasion was one on which a tribute was paid to a man whose dignity and character commands the respect of all.

Rode in the Style of the Empire.

Upon entering Versailles President Carnot exchanged the posting chaise in which he had ridden from the Elysee for a caleche equipped in a fashion exactly similar to the one in which the emperor used to ride to Longchamps. M. Carnot was vociferously cheered everywhere. The absence of ladies from the exercises caused much comment and speculation.

The above exercises were the beginning of those connected with the opening of the great exposition, which has for its object the commemoration of the rise of Republicanism in France. In spite of the heavy rain which prevailed yesterday evening the streets of Paris were crowded. Parties, balls, fetes, illuminations, torchlight processions, etc., were held in the principal towns throughout the republic.

NATIONAL DEBT AND CASH ACCOUNT.

A Reduction of $13,000,000 Reported for the Past Month.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 2.—The reduction in the public debt during April past amounted to $13,078,234, and for the ten months of the current fiscal year, $63,979,228. The total debt now, less cash in the treasury, is $1,101,605,428. Of this amount, $903,628,602 is interest-bearing debt, made up in round numbers of $676,000,000 4 per cents, $148,000,000 4½ per cents, $64,500,000 Pacific railroad bonds (which since July 1, 1885, have been classified as bonded indebtedness of the government), and $14,000,000 navy pension fund 3 per cents.

The net cash or surplus in the treasury is $55,667,150, against $54,006,386 a month ago. The gold fund balance has decreased about $6,000,000 during the past month, and amounts to $191,589,111; and the silver fund balance, exclusive of 6,000,000 trade dollar bullion, has decreased less than $500,000, and now amounts to 21,059,084.

Government receipts during April aggregated $31,458,799, or $1,590,000 more than in April, 1888, while expenditures were $32,457,781, against $34,860,846 in April, 1888.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge, Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex. says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure Malarial Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50c. and $1. at

We notice a new departure in the treatment of disease that promises to revolutionize the medicine business. It consists in the collection of the species used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance, the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained, and prepared. The treatments of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh, were procured, and so on till these incomparable cures now include diseases of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism, nervous debility, and piles. Originated and used by specialists, being a positive cure for each disease, these preparations are the best remedies procurable. We advise all to send three two cent stamps to the Chase Medical Specialty Co., 179 West Adams St., Chicago, Ill., and receive by return mail their interesting hand book.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Kidneys and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

THE MISSIONARY RECORD OF THE CHURCH.

Report of the Mission Work of the Tecumseh Baptist Church from 1867 to 1889.

BY MRS. JAMES HECK.

In the history of the church from the year 1839 to 1874, written by Deacon Adams, we find these words: "Rev. T. H. Moore was called and excepted the pastorate. He entered upon his charge in January, 1842, at a salary of $300, of which $100 was furnished by the missionary convention of the State of New York."

By this we understand in 1842 this church was partially a mission church. From this time on through years of toil and privation and days of darkness and gloom, for the sake of the master's cause, this little band struggled on. The Lord adding to their number year by year of such as should be saved, and near the close of this history, we find these words: "No record has been kept of the various objects of benevolence to which this society has contributed, they have always, however, been in sympathy with and paid liberally to all these objects." Hence we find no record of anything given for missions until the year 1867 There is a record of $66 given for missions.

From this time forth we find a steady increase of interest in all branches of mission work, which means an increase of contributions and as each benevolent object enfolded itself, and its mission found to be one of God's appointed means to spread his gospel and enlarge his kingdom, this society gladly responded to its call. Realizing that the silver and gold are the Lord's and the cattle upon a thousand hills are his, and we are but stewards watching for the master's voice calling us to give meat to his servant in due season.

I have not time here to give the statistics of each year, but will give you a summary of the whole amount contributed to each society from 1867 to 1889—a period of 21 years—as nearly as I have been able to collect them from different records. Let me say here great praise is due our former beloved pastor, Rev. C. E. Conley, for his systematic organizations for benevolent giving which we believe has been a great help in the work.

The whole amount given by the church for foreign missions, $1,003.82; for home missions, $1,149 10. In 1868 this church made its first contribution to the Bible publication society and the Bible union. The whole amount contributed to this work is $464.06. Ten years out of the 21 there has been no contributions to this work. In 1875 State mission developed itself and was assumed by this church. There has been a contribution to this work every year since except in '78 and the whole amount given for State missions and State Sunday school work is $804.20; for missions in the association $366.25.

In 1874 the sisters began to realize there was work for them to do to rescue their heathen sisters from darkness; that Jesus speaks to woman also in the great commission go teach all nations. In April of the same year a mission circle was organized with 30 members with Miss Chadwick for president. In '75, the following year, we find the first report of the circle in the minutes of the association with $30 contributed; $10 for foreign and $20 for home missions.

The whole amount contributed by our sisters to the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the west is $450.43, and to the Women's Home Missionary Society of the State of Michigan, $384.26, besides several boxes of goods of considerable value sent to missionaries in the upper part of the State. This only gives you a record of 10 years work. From '77 until '82, four years, I have been unable to find any trace of the work, although I have been assured by several of our sisters that something has been given each year. Let me say there are sisters today that are hopefully and prayerfully carrying forward this work.

In 1885 some of our young sisters became interested in missions, believing they too had a work to do in spreading the gospel of our Lord and master. They met in the chapel May 14, 1885, to organize for work. A society was formed with Miss Ina Daglish for president, and as this was a day of small things with this society, even the young ladies themselves were small, they thought it best to adopt a small name, so they decided their society should be known as the Mission Band of Tecumseh Baptist church. A year passed and we find this society out-growing its name in every sense of the word. They were already occupying too important a place in the history of the mission work of this church to be called small. August 3, 1886, they joined the State organization of the Temple Builders and change their name to that of "The Temple Builders of Tecumseh Baptist Church," and then, as now, they are determined to build of precious and costly material, on the solid foundation, even on the rock of Christ Jesus. The money raised by this society since its organization is $90, which has been divided between Home and Foreign missions and Kalamazoo Ladies' Hall. By a gift of $25 purchased a life membership in the society of the west and by a vote of the society made Miss Emma Morse the life member. Now we have left what has been designated as given for miscellaneous missions of various objects which sums up $2,616 87. We hence find the grand total given by this church for missions, or benevolence, in the last 21 years to be $7,312. This does not include the contributions given for Kalamazoo college and christian education, which by far excels every other gift. Surely we may exclaim "What hath God wrought." This little plant, though weak and small when planted was fostered and nurished with care and watered with tears, has become a fruitful tree. Sending forth its branches in many directions, and the virtue of its leaves may be counted for the healing of the soul.

I believe the prayer of our hearts today is: Lord, continue to magnify Thyself and Thy work through us in the future as Thou hast done in the past.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Stetson's Original Spectacular Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will spread canvas in Tecumseh Tuesday May 14th. Giving 2 performances daily; afternoon at 2 p. m. and at night at 8 p. m. That this company is giving unlimited satisfaction is fully evidenced from the number of laudatory notices complimenting their excellent performances. From present indications Uncle Tom's Cabin is distined to enjoy eternal longevity, and why should it not? for it is the only drama (when properly put on the boards) to which a father may freely escort his family, feeling assured in so doing that in seeing this moral drama that the blush of shame will never be raised on their brows.

Although it is over twenty years since Harriet Beecher Stowe, the immortal authoress, wrote this sterling drama, that has been so closely interwoven with the affairs of our Nation, the book to this present day has the most ready sale of any before the public, and the troupe who present it are most liberally patronized. That it is a well-known fact that the only true way to present Uncle Tom's Cabin is under canvass, where an opportunity is presented to place the piece before the public in a proper manner. Among the many new features that will be introduced is the two famous funny Topsies, with songs and dances; two comical eccentric lawyers; Kersand's orignal troupe of South Carolina jubilee singers, the leading colored melodists of the world. The large troupe of colored people enables us to present our cotton and plantation scenes with realistic effects, introducing musical instruments and plantation refrains. In the street parade may be seen the five thousand dollar caliope; the double brass band; Carlos, the largest dog in the world, with a troupe of savage bloodhounds; all will be there. Anmission 25 cents. Doors open at 2 P. M. and 7 P. M.

"Every Spring."

Says one of the best housewives in England, "We feel the necessity of taking a good medicine to purify the blood, and we all take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It keeps the children free from humors, my husband says it gives him a good appetite, and for myself I am sure I could never do all my work if it was not for this splendid medicine. It makes me feel strong and cheerful, and I am never troubled with headache or that tired feeling, as I used to be."

—The Soo Democrat has the following to say about the croaker: Bury the croaker out in the woods in a beautiful hole in the ground, where the bumble bee bumbles, the woodpecker pecks, and the straddle bugs straddle around. He is no good to the city of push, too unpractical, stingy and dead, but he wants the whole earth and all the crust, and the stars that shine over his head. Then hustle him off to the place of the dead, and bury him deep in the ground; he's no use to us here, get him out of the way, and make room for a man that is sound.

NOTE.—Be suspicious of persons who recommend any other article as "just as good," and take nothing else but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT of payment having been made of a mortgage made by Caroline Cole to the undersigned, Increase S. Hamilton and Lucien North, dated the 18th day of March, A.D., 1882, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for Lenawee County, Michigan, in Liber 103 of Mortgages, on page 624 on which mortgage there is claimed to be due and owing at the date hereof for principal and accrued interest the sum of Five Hundred and Two Dollars and Nine cents, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to recover payment of the same.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power and provisions in said mortgage contained and of the statutes of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and the interest at seven per cent. to accrue thereon, costs of foreclosure and sale, including an attorney's fee, as provided by law, we shall on the 24 day of August, A.D. 1889, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, Lenawee county, Michigan, (that being the building in which the Circuit Court for the county of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder, all that parcel of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, described as follows, to wit: bounded by beginning at a point on the west line of Mill street in said village at the northeast corner of land formerly owned by Joseph Stitt, and lately by S. Haight, running thence north seventy degrees and fifteen minutes west along the north line of said Stitt or Haight lot three chains; thence north nineteen degrees and forty-five minutes east parallel with Mill street, one chain and seventy-eight links; thence south seventy degrees and fifteen minutes east, three chains parellel with said Stitt lot to west line of Mill street; thence southerly along the west line of said Mill street one chain and seventy-eight links to the place of beginning.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.

Mrs. M. E. Corey's Sunday School Class will give an entertainment at the Opera House on Friday evening May 17th, entitled "Seven Day Wonders"—It is something new and ought to be taking. There are seven booths, one for each day in the week. And each booth is furnished with appropriate emblems. Monday's booth represents wash day, being furnished with wash tubs, wringers etc., and the girls in charge being attired in washer-woman's suits. Tuesday's is ironing day. Wednesday's booth tells of mending and sewing and the occupants will be attired as old women. Thursday is reception day. It will represent an elegant parlor and will be free to all, for a small fee. Friday is sweeping and dusting day.

Saturday's booth is an old fashioned kitchen and represents churning and baking day.

Mrs. Corey is an adept in getting up parlor entertainments, and the young ladies composing the class will have sufficient assistance to enable them to provide an evening's enjoyment.

The affair ought to be well patronized and doubtless will be.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS.

Miss. Louise VanDeMark of Clinton visited our School Monday.

Robe Hosmer, and Chas. Bidwell went to Adrian Friday.

Miss. Anna Bailey spoke on the subject—knowledge versus wisdom. It is needless to say it was rendered nicely; because that is always the case with Anna.

Prof Wilson and wife took advantage of the holiday and went to Ridgeway to visit old friends.

Mr. Bruce Mitchell of Freeport, Ill. gave us a short call Thursday morning. He was the guest of Robe Hosmer.

We received a stalk of rice Monday from Dr. Hause of Florida, which adds to the list in our museum, and for which we return our thanks.
BETH.

Raisin Valley Seminary.

One more senior added to the list making nine in the class. We are at present without a musical instrument and would be very thankful if the board would procure one for us immediately.

The advanced German class have just finished Nathen the Wise and feel relieved of a hard task. They will also complete Hermann and Dorothea in two months.

We were reminded of the 30th inst. by a short but well performed program:

Recitation by Miss Porter entitled, Centennial Hymn.
Essay, entitled, The Formation of our Constitution, by Miss Righter.
Essay, by Miss Lou Miller, on the Ratification of our Constitution.
Essay, by Miss Parker, on the Inaugural of Washington.
Recitation by Byron Reese, entitled Name of Washington.
Willits Worthington spoke of the March of the Century.
Recitation by Chas. Skinner, entitled Summing up Washington's Character.

A committee of three consisting of Mr. G. A. Osinga, Ida L. Wall and Ida A. Lamb were present Friday and Saturday for the purpose of inspecting our school.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly lent their aid and sympathy during my late affliction.

TECUMSEH, MICH., MAY 9, 1889

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Charley Keyser has got a dandy new barber pole.

DeWitt Blair, of Nebraska, is visiting at W. D. Hoeg's.

Attorney Weaver, of Adrian, was in town last Saturday.

Charlie White, of Snarpsburg, Md., is home for a few weeks.

An officer's special car went down the Jackson branch yesterday morning.

E. L. Wells, of Oakley, has been visiting friends in this vicinity the past week.

A. W. Slayton offers his office desk and safe worth $90 for $65, cash or on time.

Mrs. M. W. Goodrich, of Dundee, is spending this week with friends in Tecumseh.

Horsemen should read F. I. Kinney's announcement in this paper on the 8th page.

S. G. Aten, of Cambridge, was calling on his Tecumseh acquaintances last Saturday.

S. W. Temple is taking an extended trip east this week in the interest of the Tecumseh Coal & Mfg. Co.

John F. Murray, of Detroit, was in town last week. He was kept busy shaking hands during his brief visit.

E. E. Russell, of Jackson, was visiting old Tecumseh friends over Sunday. He says business is good in his line.

The usual installment of our continued story is resumed this week. The story increases in interest with every number.

Mrs. J. C. Murray, of Georgia, is visiting her parents in town, and will probably remain during the summer months.

Two hundred ton of iron for the electric street railway in Adrian have arrived and track laying will begin in a few days.

L. C. Blood and daughter came down from Lansing Tuesday, having been called here to attend Mrs. Joe VanNess' funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whelan, of Detroit, are in the village, and will attend the Amspoker-Reynolds wedding at Clinton this evening.

Our new boot and shoe merchant, Geo. H. Seelye, has an announcement in to-day's HERALD, which people will do well to examine. Read it.

Dr. Wm. H. Aten's wife and children of New York city, arrived in Tecumseh last Wednesday. They will spend the summer with the doctor's parents.

J. D. Sholes has received notice that his sister, Mrs. A. E. Gridley, has been re-instated to her government clerkship at Washington, from which she was removed last summer.

At the late state firemen's convention held at Lansing, S. W. Bordine of this village was chosen one of a committee of three to select a topic for discussion at the next convention.

A social party will be given at Exelby's hall, Britton, Friday evening, May 17. Nelson Spaulding has the matter in charge. Good music will be provided, and the bill will be 50c.

The agency of the Russell Steam Laundry of Jackson, has been transferred to Miny Hughes, who will receive laundry at A. E. Kennedy's. Laundry received Wednesdays and returned Saturdays. Packages called for and delivered.

Dr. E. Hause returned last Saturday from Florida, after a sojourn there of over a year. He brought back with him oats three feet high from Frank Bumann's farm, peaches nearly ripe and some fine specimens of grape fruit.

The Tecumseh W. C. T. U. Friday, May 3, elected delegates to the district convention to held at Monroe May 14, 15, and 16: Mrs. I. Hall, Mrs. M. Burnett, Mrs. Millis, Mrs. O. Q. Jones. Delegates to the State convention to be held at Bay City, May 28, 29, 30, 31: Mrs. John Osborn, Mrs. N. R. Merritt.

We call attention to the card on the 8th page, announcing the big cattle sale of John Strong & Sons at South Rockwood, Monroe co., which will take place Wednesday May 22. People who may wish to invest in high bred shorthorn stock will find this an excellent opportunity to make some good purchases.

"It will soon Blow Over"—subject of sermon for next Sunday morning, May 12, at 10:30, at the Universalist church. Text, Lamentations, 3:26. In the evening at 7:30, a discourse upon the thought of "Jesus and Our Own Age." Text, Heb. 13:8. The public invited. Sunday school after the morning service.

James A. Owens was born at Buffalo, N. Y. He came to Tecumseh in his childhood in the year 1869. He was married to Emma Aten June 15th, 1887, and died May 1st, 1889. He was a member of the Tecumseh fire department and also of Co. C. The funeral services were held last Friday afternoon and were in charge of Co. C., Rev. J. S. Joslin officiating. The deceased had many friends who will sincerely regret his early demise.

Miss Louise Phelps is seriously ill.

Ed. Hollister went to Toledo yesterday.

Oscar Heck returned to Port Austin this week.

Tag social at Presbyterian church to-night.

Mrs. John Hicks returned from Milwaukee yesterday.

Mr. E. H. Custer, of Monroe, is visiting friends in Tecumseh.

Steve Whittier went to Detroit Friday, returning Saturday.

Mrs. Dr. House, of Springfield, O. is visiting her mother in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wiggins, of Adrian, visited Tecumseh friends last Tuesday.

W. F. Anderson has a new card in to-day's paper. Will intends to let his light shine.

Dr. Jones, J. J. Orr, Dr. Steinhoff and Henry Mensing attended the K. T. drill at Adrian last Tuesday night.

Frank Tucker's Metropolitans gave two good plays at the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday evenings to appreciative audiences.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Conover of Coldwater, are visiting in the village, and also attending the Masonic lodge sessions this week.

Al. Heesen started for Annapolis yesterday morning to undergo his examination. He was accompanied as far as Cleveland by Miss Hannah, his sister.

On our eighth page to day will be found a striking and instructive illustration of the comparative worth of the various kinds of baking powders now in the market.

The semi-annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church is in session. The meetings began yesterday afternoon and will close this evening. We shall prepare a report of the proceedings for next week.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will have the regular monthly meeting in the church parlors on Wednesday, May 15th. Business meeting at 4 p. m. Supper will be served from 5:30 to 6:30 by Mrs. Vedder's committee.

The retirement of Garlinghouse Bros. from the Lilley House management will not take them from Tecumseh, we are glad to know. They own an interest in the Tecumseh Rack Co. and this change will enable them to give their entire attention to that business hereafter.

Patterson & Garlinghouse Bros. have dissolved partnership and C. F. Patterson will be the sole manager of the Lilley House hereafter. The dissolution will cause no change in the management of the house. Here's success to the new proprietor with wishes that he may live long and get rich.

The Tansley Bros. have sold their cigar box factory to a Battle Creek house, and are moving it there this week. John will move to Battle Creek with the factory. Harry will remain here to become a partner with his father-in-law, J. S. Kinney, in the furniture business.

The fifth annual reunion of the students of the Raisin Institute will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rector, two miles north of Tecumseh, June 6, 1889. A good program is expected. Address of welcome, W. H. Colyer; Response, Mrs. E. N. Converse; old time exercise, Mrs. Phoebe Curtis; poem, Miss Caroline Colvin: old time anecdotes, Mr. Geo. Griswold; interspersed with music, and short extempore speeches. A cordial invitation is extended to all students. Picnic dinner.

A. G. HALL, Sec., Sutton, Mich.

We made a tour, the other day, of the yards and shops of the Tecumseh Coal & Mfg. Co. and found the business booming right along. A large force of hands is now constantly employed in manufacturing finished work, both for home and export trade. They are furnishing the material for B. C. Knapp's new house and for a new residence in Clinton. The firm is now organized on a solid basis and has evidently come to stay. As they do not propose to hide their light under a bushel, they give the people a little friendly advice on the first page of to-day's paper.

On the evening of April 25, 1837, Miss. Almira M. Budlong met Abel Whitney in Buffalo, N. Y., and soon after they took stage for Erie, Pa., where they arrived the afternoon of the 26th. The next morning they took passage on the steamboat North America, Capt. Edmonds, commander, for Toledo, O. Among the passengers, which were few in number, was Morrison R. Waite, his father and mother, and Capt. and Mrs Edmond. As there was considerable ice in the lake, they did not reach Toledo till the morning of the 30th. They all took breakfast at the Indiana hotel, after which the young man, that afterwards became Chief Justice Waite, and his father and mother, took a boat for Maumee, and Miss. Budlong and Mr. Whitney came to Adrian by the horse-car railroad, arriving home the same afternoon, and are now the only living survivors of the party above named.—Adrian Times.

OBITUARY.

Sarah Mellon Haynes—The deceased a daughter of Joseph and Rosa Mellon of Macon and wife of Henry H. Haynes, died in their home at Ypsilanti Michigan, early morning April 26th. 1889, age 26 years and eight days. Her remains upon the following day were brought to the home of the bereaved parents, accompanied by a sad husband. The only ray of hope that was found to rest upon this sad valley in the shadow of death, rested in the thought that Sarah had welcomed the Savior's voice. On Sunday after the body had lain in the old home one night, being the wish of her parents, there was a large assemblage of friends and neighbors at the hour of eleven o'clock, gathered at the DeSpelder Reformed Church, near by, where the funeral rites were observed, services conducted by Rev. James Wright of Britton, Text John XVII, 19. When finally this dust was conveyed to Tecumseh Cemetery, by a very respectful procession of friends, where, it rests in mother earth. The infant babe will be tenderly cared for by its grandparents.

May 5th. 1889—Mrs. Caroline Cole, Aged 71 years, 2 months. Mrs Cole, whose maiden name was Caroline Coryell, was born in Phelps, New York, March 1st. 1818. At the age of 17 she was baptized into the fellowship of the Baptist Church at Dundee, united by letter with the Baptist Church at Tecumseh not long after the organization of the Church, I. E nearly fifty years ago, being afterwards dismissed by letter, upon removal from the place. She was married to Mr. John Cole in 1845, and in June 1867 both united by letter with the Tecumseh Church from the Church at Moorville. Since that time she has continued a faithful and consistent member of this church. Her husband died in 1872. And the latter years of her life have been clouded by circumstances of privation and trial. But hers was a steadfast faith and faithfulness, which triumphed in suffering and death.

The day set apart in loving remembrance of the heroes who died that our nation might live, is near at hand. Let Tecumseh honor the memory of the nation's defenders in a befitting manner. To arrange for the proper observance of this most beautiful and sacred holiday, there will be a meeting at G. A. R. hall, Monday evening, May 13, at 7.30 o'clock. All persons willing to assist are cordially invited to be present.

THE WEST END MARKET.

Friends, Romans, and country men! Lend us your ears. Listen to the voice of wisdom. We are here to serve you. We are now nicely settled in our new and commodious quarters, one door west of the old stand, where we have plenty of room to keep in good condition a large stock of fresh meats of all kinds. Salt meats and sausage are always in stock. A full line of canned goods will be kept. We take extra care in making our purchases and hence our fresh meats are always popular with the best cooks. We give full measure, sell at the lowest living rate. In short our aim is to please our customers. Give us a call and be convinced.

TO THE PUBLIC.—I have gone to work at my trade again this spring and am now in the field to execute all kinds of painting, kalsomining, paper hanging, etc. My long experience in this line of work enables me to compete with any workman that plys a brush. I am on the war path this spring. Hand in your orders.
R. MORRISON.

T. GRANGER STUART, M. D., F. R. S. E., Ordinary Physician to H. M. Queen in Scotland, Prof. of Practice of Physic in the University of Edinburgh, writes: "Acute bronchitis is common especially in the advance stages of Bright's diseases, and tends to pass into the chronic state. Phthisis (consumption) in its various forms is found occasional associated with these renal (kidney) affections. Is usually fatal while the renal malady is yet in its early stage." It thus becomes evident that consumption and bronchitis are intimately associated with kidney disease and Warner's Safe Cure should be taken early in the disease to prevent the damaging influence the kidney malady exert upon the respiratory organs.

Forced to Leave Home.

Over 60 people were forced to leave there homes yesterday to call for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine. If your blood is bad, your liver and kidneys out of order, if you are constipated and have headache and an unsightly complexion, don't fail to call on any druggist to-day for a free sample of this grand remedy. The ladies praise it. Everyone likes it. Large-size package 50 cents.

OUR

Advice to Everybody

who has a diseased Liver is to at once take proper means to cure it. The function the Liver is designed to perform, and on the regular execution of which depends not only the general health of the body, but the powers of the Stomach, Bowels, Brain, and the whole nervous system, shows its vast and vital importance to human health.

NO HUMAN BEING

should run the risk for a single day of neglecting this important organ, but should promptly get a box of Dr. G. CONSUMPTION

ANOINTING AT BETHANY.

LESSON VI, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 12.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xiv. 1-9—Commit Verses 8, 9—Golden Text, Mark xiv. 8—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "After two days was the feast of the passover and of unleavened bread." The more full statement of Matthew is, "And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, He said unto His disciples, ye know that after two days is the feast of the passover, and the Son of Man is betrayed to be crucified." He was born that He might die as our passover, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world; He died that He might rise again triumphant over death and the grave, an immortal man, to reign over the house of Jacob forever; He ascended that He might return when He shall have received the kingdom, and every step of all the way was clear to Him from the beginning. His sinless life in a mortal body was nearly over, and after two days He would prove Himself the true passover Lamb; He saw it all and was unmoved, resting in the Father's love, doing the Father's will, supported by the joy set before Him. The Passover Lamb had to be chosen on the tenth day of the month and kept till the fourteenth day, that is four days; Jesus was set apart before the foundation of the world, and now four days (4,000 years) had passed, and He was about to be slain. (Ex. xii, 3, 6; I Pet. i, 19, 20.)

2. "Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar of the people." This very fear on their part helped to bring about the sacrifice of Christ at the appointed time. The servants of Satan are often filled with fear, even the fear of man; the servants of God are taught to fear neither men nor the devil, nor sufferings, nor death, but knowing that their lives are hid with Christ in God they are to see "Jesus only," and say, "In God have I put my trust, I will not be afraid what man can do unto me." "Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear." (Ps. lvi, 11; xxvii, 3.)

3. "And being in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper." In John xii, 1-8, we find that this supper and anointing at Bethany took place six days before the Passover and before His public entry into Jerusalem.

"As He sat at meat." John tells us that they made Him a supper, that Martha served, and that Lazarus (risen from the dead) was one of them that sat at the table with Him. Here is love and life and resurrection in Him, and on their part loving service and whole hearted devotion. We would like to know who Simon the leper was, and his relation to this family; we would like to know what Lazarus, who had been three days in the spirit world, talked about; but these things are comparatively unimportant, and let us rather fix our attention upon Jesus and Mary who anointed Him (John xii, 3).

"There came a woman having an alabaster box of ointment of spikenard, very precious; and she brake the box and poured it on His head." John says that she also anointed His feet, and wiped them with her hair; and that the house was filled with the odor of the ointment. We must not get this anointing confused with the anointing in the house of Simon the Pharisee, at a much earlier period in His ministry, and by a woman whose name we know not (Luke vii, 36-50).

4. "And there were some that had indignation within themselves, and said, Why was this waste of the ointment made?" That Judas, who, though treasurer of the disciples, was a thief and possessed with the devil, should say this was not strange, for to talk of anything given to or done for Jesus as being wasted was surely a devilish saying; but that any of the other disciples (Matt. xxvi, 8) should talk so was strange indeed.

5. "It might have been sold for more than three hundred pence, and have been given to the poor. And they murmured against her." In the parable of Matt. xx, a penny was a day's wages, so that at that estimate this ointment was equal in value to nearly a year's wages of a laboring man. If the members of any church were to be asked to give unto the Lord Jesus for some special work even week's wages, how some of them would look and shrug their shoulders; and what a murmuring there would be against the mover of such a resolution, the instigator of such an unwarranted waste of precious money.

6. "Jesus said, let her alone; why trouble ye her? She hath wrought a good work on Me." How precious is the Master's approval, how restful His blessed words! What does it matter who, or how many, find fault, if we are only well pleasing unto Him? Let no criticism or thoughtless remark from fellow Christians hinder you in your devotion to Christ, O fellow laborer, but being sure that your motive is right and that love to Him prompts you to seek in all things His glory, go steadfastly forward and do all that is in thine heart unto Him. Good works are not those which men, or even Christians, always approve, but only those which are done to the glory of God.

7. "For ye have the poor with you always, and whensoever ye will ye may do them good; but me ye have not always." The disciples did not understand His going away from them, but thought he would continue with them in person and at that time restore the kingdom to Israel; though He had so often spoken so plainly of His death and resurrection they had never received it, while Mary, on the contrary, who sat at His feet and heard His word (Luke x, 39) seems to have understood that His enemies would put Him to death, and that she would therefore, with all His friends, be deprived of the privilege of ministering to Him at His death or burial.

8. "She hath done what she could." So many say, "How I would like to do thus and so if I only had the power." "How much good I would do if I had Mr. B.'s money, or Mrs. B.'s opportunities," and while thus thinking and talking about what they would do, others like Mary are doing just what they can, remembering that "if there be first a willing mind it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not." (II Cor. 8, 9.) We are not expected to use other peoples talents or opportunities, but simply to do what our own hands find to do as unto Him. God knows just how we are situated and just what we have to do with, and all talk about what we would do if we had the power, and how sorry we are that we cannot do more, is too often only idle talk. Mary did what she could; let us do likewise and He will approve. "She is come aforehand to anoint my body to the burying." When He was buried it was Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus who were privileged to wrap the body in linen with spices and lay it in the tomb; when the women came on the first day of the week to anoint His body it was too late, for He was risen, so that Mary's hands were the only woman's hands that helped anoint Him.

9. "Verily, I say unto you, wheresoever this gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her." And so it has come to pass, as He said, that in all the wide world Mary and her anointing of Christ is spoken of; and how many have been encouraged by her act and her Saviour's approval to do for Him and unto Him just what they could, will never be known till that day

Frightful Fall of an Aeronaut.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 1.—A large crowd collected at Boonville Monday to witness a balloon ascension by Harry Streif. His balloon ascended finely. Suddenly, however, the spectators were horrified by the bursting of the balloon in mid-air. The aeronaut was about 300 feet from the ground. He fell with frightful rapidity. Strange to say he was not instantly killed, but many of his bones were broken, and he is dying.

The Markets.

CHICAGO, May 1.—Tuesday was generally observed throughout the country as a holiday and all the exchanges were closed, consequently no market quotations were given out.

Daniel Kennedy, a clerk, is believed to have been drowned in the harbor at Michigan City, Ind., Sunday night, having been last seen near the docks in an intoxicated condition.

MORTGAGE SALE.

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of payment of a certain mortgage (whereby the power of sale therein contained has become operative) bearing date the 8th day of February, A.D. 1887, executed and delivered by Thomas Savage to John Reiney and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lenawee County State of Michigan, on the 9th day of February, A.D. 1887 in Liber 117 of mortgages on page 430, upon which mortgage there remains due and unpaid at the date hereof the sum of Two Hundred Sixty six and 4-100 Dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been taken to collect the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon and costs of this foreclosure and sale including an attorney fee as provided by law, I shall on the 11th day of June, A.D. 1889 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, sell at public vendue, to the highest bidder at the east front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county is holden) all those pieces or parcels of land situate and being in the city of Adrian, county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, known and described as follows, to wit: Lots forty-one (41) and forty-two (42) on the plat of Farmer's addition to the city of Adrian, Michigan. Also beginning at northeast corner of lot number thirty-one (31) on original plat of the village (now city) of Adrian; thence southwardly on the east line of said lot thirty-one (31) twenty-four (24) feet, nine (9) inches to the north line of land deeded by Lucy E. Kane to Charles M. Croswell; thence westwardly on the north line of land of said Croswell sixty-seven (67) feet and six (6) inches to the east line of an alley; thence northwardly on the east line of said alley twenty-four and ¼ (24¼) feet to the north line of said lot thirty-one (31); thence eastwardly on said line sixty-seven and one-half (67½) feet to the place of beginning.

ESTATE OF JOHN HOUSEMAN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Monday the 15th day of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of John Houseman, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Agnes Lorce a daughter of said deceased, alleging among other things that the last will and testament of said deceased was on the second day of February, 1886, duly proved and allowed in this Court, praying that said proved and allowed instrument may be recorded and that Charles Smith and Richard Houseman the executors named in said will, may be appointed executors of said will, and granting that administration of said estate with the will annexed may be granted to John Pratt, or some other proper person.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 13th day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the next of kin of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

An interesting letter for Ladies:

Hastings Centre, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain,

MARY H. BEEMAN.

A little after 2 o'clock p. m. an instantaneous motor bomb was discharged from Repeller No. 1 into Fort Pilcher. It was set to act five seconds after impact with the object aimed at. It struck in a central portion of the unfinished fort, and having described a high curve in the air, descended not only with its own motive power, but with the force of gravitation, and penetrated deep into the earth.

Five seconds later a vast brown cloud appeared on the Fort Pilcher promontory. This cloud was nearly spherical in form, with an apparent diameter of about a thousand yards. At the same instant a shock similar to that accompanying the first motor bomb was felt in the city and surrounding country, but this was not so severe as the other, for the second bomb did not exert its force upon the underlying rocks of the region, as the first one had done.

The great brown cloud quickly began to lose its spherical form, part of it descending heavily to the earth and part floating away in vast dust clouds borne inland by the breeze, settling downward as they moved, and depositing on land, water, ships, houses, domes and trees an almost impalpable powder.

When the cloud had cleared away there were no fortifications, and the bluff on which they had stood had disappeared. Part of this bluff had floated away on the wind and part of it lay piled in great heaps of sand on the spot where its rocks were to have upheld a fort.

The effect of the motor bomb was fully observed with glasses from the various fortifications of the port and from many points of the city and harbor; and those familiar with the effects of explosives were not long in making up their minds what had happened. They felt sure that a mine had been sprung beneath Fort Pilcher, and they were now equally confident that in the morning a torpedo of novel and terrible power had been exploded in the harbor. They now disbelieved in the earthquake and treated with contempt the pretense that shots had been fired from the syndicate's vessel. This was merely a trick of the enemy. It was not even likely that the mine or the torpedo had been operated from the ship. These were in all probability under the control of confederates on shore, and had been exploded at times agreed upon beforehand. All this was perfectly plain to the military authorities.

But the people of the city derived no comfort from the announcement of these conclusions. For all that anybody knew the whole city might be undermined, and at any moment might ascend in a cloud of minute particles. They felt that they were in a region of hidden traitors and bombs, and in consequence of this belief thousands of citizens left their homes.

That afternoon a truce boat again went out from Repeller No. 1 and rowed to the fort, where a letter to the commandant was delivered. This, like the other, demanded no answer, and the boat returned. Later in the afternoon the two repellers, accompanied by the crabs and leaving the steel net still anchored in its place, retired a few miles seaward, where they prepared to lay to for the night.

The letter brought by the truce boat was read by the commandant, surrounded by his officers. It stated that in twenty-four hours from time of writing it, which would be at or about 4 o'clock on the next afternoon, a bomb would be thrown into the garrisoned fort under the command of the officer addressed. As this would result in the entire destruction of the fortification, the commandant was earnestly counseled to evacuate the fort before the hour specified.

Ordinarily the commandant of the fort was of a calm and unexcitable temperament. During the astounding events of that day and the day before he had kept his head cool; his judgment, if not correct, was the result of sober and earnest consideration. But now he lost his temper. The unparalleled effrontery and impertinence of this demand of the American syndicate was too much for his self possession. He stormed in anger.

Here was the culmination of the knavish trickery of these conscienceless pirates who had attacked the port. A torpedo had been exploded in the harbor, an unfinished fort had been mined and blown up, and all this had been done to frighten him—a British soldier—in command of a strong fort, well garrisoned and fully supplied with all the munitions of war. In the fear that his fort would be destroyed by a mystical bomb he was expected to march to a place of safety with all his forces. If this should be done it would not be long before these crafty fellows would occupy the fort, and with its great guns turned inland, would hold the city at their mercy. There could be no greater insult to a soldier than to suppose that he could be gulled by a trick like this.

No thought of actual danger entered the mind of the commandant. It had been easy enough to sink a great torpedo in the harbor, and the unguarded bluffs of Fort Pilcher offered every opportunity to the scoundrels, who may have worked at their mines through the nights of several months. But a mine under the fort which he commanded was an impossibility; its guarded outposts prevented any such method of attack. At a bomb, or a dozen, or a hundred of the syndicate's bombs, he snapped his fingers. He could throw bombs as well.

Nothing would please him better than that those ark like ships in the offing should come near enough for an artillery fight. A few tons of solid shot and shell dropped on top of them might be a very conclusive answer to their impudent demands.

The letter from the syndicate, together with his own convictions on the subject, were communicated by the commandant to the military authorities of the port, and to the war office of the Dominion. The news of what had happened that day had already been cabled across the Atlantic back to the United States, and all over the world; and the profound impression created by it was intensified when it became known what the syndicate proposed to do the next day. Orders and advices from the British admiralty and war office sped across the ocean, and that night few of the leaders in government circles in England or Canada closed their eyes.

"THERE AIN'T NO ANSWER, SIR."

The opinions of the commandant of the fort were received with but little favor by the military and naval authorities. Great preparations were already ordered to repel and crush this most audacious attack upon the port, but in the meantime it was highly desirable that the utmost caution and prudence should be observed. Three men-of-war had already been disabled by the novel and destructive machines of the enemy, and it had been ordered that for the present no more vessels of the British navy be allowed to approach the crabs of the syndicate.

Whether it was a mine or a bomb which had been used in the destruction of the unfinished works of Fort Pilcher, it would be impossible to determine until an official survey had been made of the ruins; but, in any event, it would be wise and humane not to expose the garrison of the fort on the south side of the harbor to the danger which had overtaken the works on the opposite shore. If, contrary to the opinion of the commandant, the garrisoned fort were really mined, the following day would probably prove the fact. Until this point should be determined it would be highly judicious to temporarily evacuate the fort. This could not be followed by occupation of the works by the enemy, for all approaches, either by troops in boats or by bodies of confederates by land, could be fully covered by the inland redoubts and fortifications.

When the orders for evacuation reached the commandant of the fort, he protested hotly, and urged that his protest be considered. It was not until the command had been reiterated both from London and Ottawa, that he accepted the situation, and with bowed head prepared to leave his post. All night preparations for evacuation went on, and during the next morning the garrison left the fort, and established itself far enough away to preclude danger from the explosion of a mine, but near enough to be available in case of necessity.

During this morning there arrived in the offing another syndicate vessel. This had started from a northern part of the United States, before the repellers and the crabs, and it had been engaged in laying a private submarine cable, which should put the office of the syndicate in New York in direct communication with its naval forces engaged with the enemy. Telegraphic connection between the cable boat and Repeller No. 1 having been established, the syndicate soon received from its director-in-chief full and comprehensive accounts of what had been done, and what it was proposed to do. Great was the satisfaction among the members of the syndicate when these direct and official reports came in. Up to this time they had been obliged to depend upon very unsatisfactory intelligence communicated from Europe, which had been supplemented by wild statements and rumors smuggled across the Canadian border.

To counteract the effect of these a full report was immediately made by the syndicate to the government of the United States, and a bulletin distinctly describing what had happened was issued to the people of the country. These reports, which received a world wide circulation in the newspapers, created a popular elation in the United States, and gave rise to serious apprehensions and concern in many other countries. But under both elation and concern there was a certain doubtfulness. So far the syndicate had been successful, but its style of warfare was decidedly experimental, and its forces, in numerical strength at least, were weak. What would happen when the great naval power of Great Britain should be brought to bear upon the syndicate, was a question whose probable answer was likely to cause apprehension and concern in the United States and elation in many other countries.

The commencement of active hostilities had been precipitated by this syndicate. In England preparations were making by day and by night to send upon the coast lines of the United States, a fleet which, in numbers and power, would be greater than that of any naval expedition in the history of the world. It is no wonder that many people of sober judgment in America looked upon the affair of the crabs and the repellers as but an incident in the beginning of a great and disastrous war.

On the morning of the destruction of Fort Pilcher the syndicate's vessels moved toward the port, and the steel net was taken up by the two crabs, and moved nearer the mouth of the harbor, at a point from which the fort, now in process of evacuation, was in full view. When this had been done, Repeller No. 2 took up her position at a moderate distance behind the net, and the other vessels stationed themselves near by.

The protection of the net was considered necessary, for although there could be no reasonable doubt that all the torpedoes in the harbor and river had been exploded, others might be sent out against the syndicate's vessels, and a torpedo under a crab or a repeller, was the enemy most feared by the syndicate.

About 3 o'clock the signals between the repellers became very frequent, and soon afterwards a truce boat went out from Repeller No. 1. This was rowed with great rapidity, but it was obliged to go much farther up the harbor than on previous occasions, in order to deliver its message to an officer of the garrison.

This was to the effect that the evacuation of the fort had been observed from the syndicate's vessels, and although it had been apparently complete, one of the scientific corps, with a powerful glass, had discovered a man in one of the outer redoubts, whose presence there was probably unknown to the officers of the garrison. It was, therefore, earnestly urged that this man might be instantly removed, and in order that this might be done, the discharge of the motor bomb would be postponed half an hour.

The officer received this message and was disposed to look upon it as a new trick, but as no time was to be lost he sent a corporal's guard to the fort, and there discovered an Irish sergeant by the name of Kilsey, who had sworn an oath that if every other man in the fort ran away like a lot of addle pated sheep he would not run with them; he would stand to his post to the last, and when the couple of ships outside had got through bombarding the stout walls of the fort, the world would see that there was at least one British soldier who was not afraid of a bomb, be it little or big. Therefore he had managed to elude observation, and to remain behind.

The sergeant was so hot headed in his determination to stand by the fort that it required violence to remove him; and it was not until twenty minutes past 4 that the syndicate observers perceived that he had been taken to the hill behind which the garrison was encamped.

As it had been decided that Repeller No. 2 should discharge the next instantaneous motor bomb, there was an anxious desire on the part of the operators on that vessel that in this, their first experience, they might do their duty as well as their comrades on board the other repeller had done theirs. The most accurate observations, the most careful calculations, were made and remade, the point to be aimed at being about the center of the fort.

The motor bomb had been in the cannon for nearly an hour, and everything had long been ready, when at precisely thirty minutes past 4 o'clock the signal to discharge came from the director-in-chief, and in four seconds afterward the index on the scale indicated that the gun was in the proper position, and the button was touched.

The motor bomb was set to act the instant it should touch any portion of the fort, and the effect was different from that of the other bombs. There was a quick, hard shock, but it was all in the air. Thousands of panes of glass in the city and in houses for miles around were cracked or broken; birds fell dead or stunned upon the ground, and people on elevations at considerable distances felt as if they had received a blow; but there was no trembling of the ground.

As to the fort, it had entirely disappeared, its particles having been instantaneously removed to a great distance in every direction, falling over such a vast expanse of land and water that their descent was unobservable.

In the place where the fortress had stood there was a wide tract of bare earth, which looked as if it had been scraped into a staring dead level of gravel and clay. The instantaneous motor bomb had been arranged to act almost horizontally.

Few persons, except those who from a distance had been watching the fort with glasses, understood what had happened; but every one in the city and surrounding country was conscious that something had happened of a most startling kind, and that it was over in the same instant in which they had perceived it. Everywhere there was the noise of falling window glass. There were those who asserted that for an instant they had heard in the distance a grinding crash; and there were others who were quite sure that they had noticed what might be called a flash of darkness, as if something had, with almost unappreciable quickness, passed between them and the sun.

When the officers of the garrison mounted the hill before them and surveyed the place where their fort had been, there was not one of them who had sufficient command of himself to write a report of what had happened. They gazed at the bare, staring flatness of the shorn bluff, and they looked at each other. This was not war. It was something supernatural, awfull They were not frightened; they were oppressed and appalled. But the military discipline of their minds soon exerted its force, and a brief account of the terrific event was transmitted to the authorities, and Sergt. Kilsey was sentenced to a month in the guard house.

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought untill we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the machine is covered or the machine rack in the rear of cabinet—simply a roller top—moving it entirely from sight, thus covering the objectionable board and scattered parts in front of the operator. The movable top is perhaps [illegible] and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced [illegible] but a [illegible] pounds pressure [illegible] the writing table are [illegible] connected parts [illegible] the machine [illegible] depend on ropes or [illegible] but is held [illegible] the machine in [illegible] Art. The machine [illegible] the desk, well [illegible]

Third—The construction of the lid closing machine space [illegible] and [illegible] dust and the [illegible] thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as ridged as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

—During the fall campaign, Mr. John Bird, of the law firm of Millard, Wood & Bird, wagered a silk umbrella with a certain Democrat belle of this city, on the result in Indiana. According to agreement, the article came to hand, but the real nature of the rain-shedder was not discovered until lately, when, during a lively shower, the senior member of the firm borrowed the aforesaid umbrella for a pilgrimage homeward. When it had been extricated from its beautiful case, and raised heavenward, a discouraging streak of daylight appeared between each rib and the following note, written on a mourning card, dangled from the upper clasp: "How can the Democrat party furnish any better protection to a Republican." The tender courtesy was returned with thanks, and now the young Blackstone is raking his brain for a chance to get even.—Adrian Press.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co. WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

NEWSPAPER CRITICISM.

It is a privilege every newspaper reserves to itself to criticise, adversely if needs be, for the public's benefit, anything in which the public is deeply interested.

It is the custom of H. H. Warner & Co., proprietors of the renowned Kidney and Liver Cure, better known as "Warner's Safe Cure," to flood the country and especially the post-offices with medical pamphlets. The writer has taken the liberty to examine one of these marvelous little books, and finds food for criticism, but before indulging in it, will give our readers some quotations therefrom, from the highest medical authorities, which we believe worthy of consideration. Under the head of "No distinctive symptoms apparent," we find:

First—More adults are carried off in this country by chronic kidney disease than any other one malady except consumption.—Thompson.

Second—Deaths from such diseases are increasing at the rate of 250 per cent a decade.—Edwards.

Third—Bright's disease has no symptoms of its own, and may long exist without the knowledge of the patient or practioner, as no pain will be felt in the kidneys or their vicinity.—Roberts.

Fourth—In the fatal cases—and most cases have heretofore been fatal—the symptoms of the diseased kidneys will first appear in extremly different organs of the body as stated above.—Thompson.

Fifth—Only when the disease has reached its final and fatal stages may the usual symptoms of albumen and tube casts appear in the water, and will great pain rack the diseased organs.—Thompson.

Sixth—Bright's disease, which usually has three stages of development, is a universal disease in England and America.—Roberts and Edwards.

Thompson is authority for saying that more adults are carried off in this country by kidney disease than any other malady except consumption. Under Warner's "Safe Cure" article on consumption, we find a paragraph claiming to be a quotation from a publication issued by Brompton Hospital for consumptives, London, England, which states that 52 per cent of the patients of that institution have unsuspected kidney disorder. Dr. Herman Brehmer, an eminent German authority also says that consumption is always due to deficient nutrition of the lungs, because of bad blood.

Medical science can no longer dispute the fact that the kidneys are the principal blood purifying organs of the human system, and if they are diseased and thus fail to expel the uric acid poison or the waste matter of the blood, as the blood passes through these two great organs, the "Safe Cure" claim is correct, and reasoning of its proprietor holds good.

There is no doubt but that in too many instances the medical fraternity doctor for symptoms, instead of striking at the root of the disease, and under this form of treatment many patients die.

We cannot, however, see the necessity of continually flooding the country with these advertising medical cases when their story once well told is enough, for the time being. People as a rule, now-a-days go to their newspaper for information, and we believe such truths as we have instanced could be proclaimed therein more advantageously to the public and much more beneficially to the proprietors.

Politicians say that affairs should always be conducted with a view to the greatest good of the greatest number. Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup does the greatest good to the greatest number. 25 cents.

REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances. E. G. LOVE, Ph.D.

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. The Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public. H. A. MOTT, Ph. D.

"The Royal Baking Powder is purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge. WM. MCMURTRIE, Ph.D.

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists and Boards of Health all over the world.

NOTE.—The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, besides affording the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a comparatively high degree of strength, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous

ESTATE OF RHODA STEVENS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 7th day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Rhoda Stevens, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified, of Asahel Stevens, a brother of said deceased, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to petitioner or some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 3rd day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

The WALTER A. WOOD

Single Canvas Binders

LEAD THEM ALL.

726,510 Machines have been sold. 54,026 made and sold in 1888.

The Single Apron Improvement.

Its striking advantages are—three rollers as compared with six; one canvas versus three; six bearings as compared with twelve; three buckles versus twelve. The draft of the machine is thereby very materially reduced. The apron is driven from the underside, hence the upper side or top of apron is comparatively loose and easily passes, without friction, under the apron guides.

The only Binder adjustments on the Wood are the three desirable ones—Regulating size of Bundle—Regulating tightness of Binding—Regulating position of Band. Each of these adjustments is made instantly.

The new Enclosed Gear Mower is the best mower ever made.

Farmers should call and examine these machines before buying.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

CLINTON CLIPPINGS.

Fred Field and family spent Sunday at J. S. Kies.

Already different companys are making arrangements for a season of relaxation from business and house cares at the lakes.

Don Palmer, visited Monroe Monday.

Dow Draper has been having his too seated carriage renovated and it is very nice.

Mrs. Chas. Johnson and Nina are at E. F. Muir's for a visit before going South.

Mrs. Chas. Parker expects soon to join her husband at Eaton Rapids.

A Sabbath School has been organized in the Dorr district and starts out with a large attendance.

Mrs. Geo. A. Kies of Elkhart Ind, is visiting friends here.

Dr. J. L. Tuttle and family went to Hanover, Mich. Tuesday to attend a golden wedding.

It seems to be a question of some doubt as to which will renounce single blessedness first—George Van Geeson or George Freese.

Chris. Smith, left Monday morning for a trip to Europe; he will be gone about two months, will visit his parents and other friends in Germany and take in the Paris Exposition.

Saturday evening Chris Smith merrily entertained a large number of friends and customers at his place of business previous to starting abroad and it is said the liquids far exceede the solids.

Dow Draper and Wm. C. Rogers visited Ann Arbor Monday.

The last advices from Ed, A. Clark who is at Denver Colorado for his health announces an improvement in in his condition.

Geo. Gosmer who recently went to Colorado for his health has returned home. He found the change of climate too severe for his condition; thinks he made the change quicker than he ought, at least he grew worse rapidly and concluded home was the best place for him.

D. S. Goodrich returned from Flint Monday and is assisting C.S.Stoner in the meat market.

Lina Jones and Eva Shuman visited Mary Cummins at Jackson from Saturday until Tuesday.

Last week Thursday eve., in her own pleasant home surrounded by about 80 relatives and friends, Miss Lou J. Reynolds was married to Jno. V. Amspoker. Rev. J. Phelps preforming the ceremony. All the appointments incident to an occasion of this kind were perfect and every thing moved smoothly—Every one seemed in the best of spirits consequently enjoyed themselves to the utmost. The wedding trip was dispensed with and the contracting parties are now at home to their friends. The presents were many and fine.

There will be services in St. John's Church Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. John Kimball is having the house, A.C.Huntington occupies nicely painted.

Mrs. Franc Kies is embellishing her residence and when completed it will be very attractive.

Gus' Middlebrook is doing a rushing business with his incubators—Has three going and still behind, having more orders than he can accommodate.

A number of the chapter Masons here attended the Exaltation at Tecumseh Wednesday Eve.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

Dea. Hoxsie went to Detroit Monday on business.

H. H. Osgood has just received a fresh supply of summer goods.

Mrs. Skinner, of Hanover, is visiting relatives near Holloway.

Holloway has a cobbler who resides in the north-east corner, of the north-half of the east half of Osgood's store.

The young ladies of this vicinity met at L. M. Belden's last Saturday and organized a missionary society. We wish you success.

A large audience gathered to listen to Rev. Mr. Babbitt, of Tecumseh, last Sunday.

Agents, hear ye, hear ye; A. H. Kelley has purchased a new Three Rivers separator and has had a sufficiency of cigars and candy. With a past experience of 13 years, he is prepared to do some fine work next fall.

WHY IS IT

That people linger along always complaining about that continual tired feeling? One bottle of BEGG'S PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will entirely remove this feeling, give them a good appetite and regulate digestion.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

Our community was the recipient of a fine shower Friday night.

Geo W. McIntyre began loading his ship timber Monday to be shipped to Quebec, Canada.

Mr. Cox is reparing his house on West street.

L. Bannister lost a very valuable cow Sunday.

The George Brothers laundry table is getting quite a run.

H. J. Williams was in Detroit on business in the interest of hardware supplies, Saturday.

S. P. Smith opened his ice cream parlors on Friday evening for the first.

The kid base ball club went to Macon and played the kids of that village a game on Saturday afternoon and returned home with a new gem in their crown of victory. They seem to be a chip of the old block. The score stood 17 to 21.

Our renowned base ball catcher, Ed. Palmer, has received several bids to fill the box behind the bat on Decoration Day, his last being from Adrian to play the Hudson Chaffs.

We are informed that Mrs. Phoebe Allison, has been granted a pension on the death of her son, of $12 a month and arearage of nearly $300, which comes very acceptable in her old age.

Several Franklin young ladies were in the village Thursday evening and we had the pleasure of hearing Miss Smith whistle which was very fine.

Uncle Geo. Boss and Coonrod Atwell, of Holloway, were at church Sunday morning.

Fannie Gifford, of Holloway, called on friends Friday of last week.

T. S. Van Dusen, of Detroit, Sundayed at his old home.

Sammie Arner, of Mancelona, spent last week with relatives and friends, and reports everything lively in his northern home.

Clara Temple and Frank Farrah visited relatives at Adrian from Friday until Monday.

Agent George Arner and wife, of Augusta, were the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Arner, from Saturday until Monday.

Mrs. Chas. Pocklington and Lou Arner enjoyed a very pleasant drive to Ypsilanti Sunday and spent several hours with Ida Pocklington who is attending school at the State Normal.

There was a good attendance at the social held at Mrs. John Arner's on Friday evening.

Harry Smith, tinsmith, of the hardware firm of H. J. Williams & Co., is in Cone this week putting on a tin roof for Ben Ellis's new store. Business is driving and presents a good outlook for the future.

There will be a trial or contest with fence machines on Tuesday, May 21st, at 2 o'clock p. m. on the turnpike one half-mile east of Ridgeway village. Three firms will be represented and each machine will put up twenty rods of fence.

Auction Sale.

Peter Sharp having sold his house and store at Ridgeway, will sell at public auction, Saturday, May 25, at 1 o'clock p.m., the following: 1 milk safe, 2 set of chairs, feather bed, two spring mattresses, Singer sewing machine, large wardrobe, 4 stoves, 3 coal; 2 copper kettles, dishes, pictures, 2 lounges, coffee mill, 3 grocer's scales, lamp, etc.

A. E. Palmer, Auctioneer.

He will also sell at private sale his remnant of groceries, includins his entire stock of drugs, below cost. Invoice may be inspected and satisfaction guaranteed. Everything must be cleared out before the 1st of June, and will be sold at the bidder's price.

R. A. GUNN, M. D., Dean, and Prof. of Surgery of the U. S. Medical College; Editor of Medical Tribune"; Author of "Gunn's New Improved Hand-book of Hygiene and domestic Medicine," in "refering to the use of Warner's Safe Cure in a case of Bright's disease said, over his own signature: "I was greatly surprised to observe a decided improvement within a month. Within four months, no tube casts could be found, and only a trace of albumen; and as he expressed it, he felt perfectly well. After this demonstration of its power, I prescribed it in full doses both in acute and chronic Bright's disease, with the most satisfactory results."

Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin show opened the season here at Tecumseh and from all we can learn it was opened quite auspiciously.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

FRANKLIN FARMERS' CLUB.

The West Franklin Farmers' Club met at the residence of William Pawson, on Friday evening, May 3d. The hour having arrived, the meeting was called to order by the president, T. M. Camburn.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, after which the following program was called:

Music by Mrs. Frank Grey and Miss Jennie Pawson.

Song by Misses Jennie Pawson and Nellie Smith.

The recitation given by Miss Rose Pawson was a fine selection, and well rendered, as was also the one by Miss Nettie Boyd.

The "Charade," by Miss Gertie Wheaton afforded much amusement to all present.

Messrs. Wilson and Crittenden sang a very fine duett, followed by music from Frank Grey, assisted by Miss Nellie Smith.

After recess, the subject for discussion was: "Clover Seed; are we responsible for the Loss of Seeding?" A diversity of opinions was given.

Mr. F. E. Bradley had sown in May, with the use of a harrow, and had obtained good results; but was liable to suffer from the effects of a drought.

Mr. T. M. Camburn preferred sowing in March, and rarely, if ever, met with a loss from late frosts.

Mr. T. E. Bradley talked on the subject of "Order on the Farm." He attributed much success financially and other-wise to order.

Mr. Clarence Cook also spoke well on the subject.

Next came the "Question Box."

As the gentlemen had the privilege of asking the questions, we were not at a loss for topics for discussion.

Mr. Grey then favored us with one of his selections, and the meeting adjourned, feeling that the evening had been pleasantly and profitably spent.

MACON MUSIC

Ham. Niblack and wife, of Clinton, spent Sunday with friends.

Mrs. John Day returned home on Friday last from Ohio after a four weeks' visit with her parents.

Anne and Edie Smith left Grand Ledge on Wednesday last where they will spend the summer with their sister, Cora Brown.

Mrs. George Harmon and Mrs Humbolt Pennington are the delegates who will attend the district convention held at Monroe, beginning Tuesday, May 14th.

The monthly tea meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Anne Hatch on Friday afternoon, May 24th. All are cordially invited to attend.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT MICH.,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Lansing, Mich., April 11, 1889.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 5.

In accordance with the recommendation of the State Military Board the encampment will be held, at same place to be hereafter designated, commencing on Thursday, August 8, and continue for five days.

The camp will be under the command of Brigadier General C. S. Brown, who is hereby authorized to extend his jurisdiction to a distance of one-fourth of a mile around such camp, in accordance with section 68 of the military law. New members will not be deemed eligible for camp duty who have not been mustered into service prior to June 1, 1889, to date of encampment will be permitted to attend camp. Company commanders will read and carfully comply with all notes and directions on camp muster rolls. During the encampment members of companies will be granted leave of absence only in case of sickness or absolute necessity, and in all cases such leave of absence must be approved by the General commanding the encampment and by the Adjutant General. Pay will be allowed for time actually in camp, together with one day each for going to and returning therefrom.

Substitues will not be allowed to remain in camp and will not be allowed transportation in going to or returning from camp. Captains of companies will see that this order is carried out. Members of companies answering to names of absent men will, if detected, be at once sent to home station with loss of all pay due.

Companies will be allowed to detail two men who may proceed to camp one day in advance of the company for the purpose of preparing camp and pay for such extra day will be allowed on pay rolls.

Pay will be allowed for seven days service—five days in camp unless excused), and one each in going to and returning therefrom.

Attention is directed to Section 107 of the military law, in reference to the use of intoxicating liquors on the part of the troops, and commanding officers are hereby directed to rigidly enforce the same, excluding all liquors from the camp.

On the forenoon of Monday, the 12th, the troops will be inspected and reviewed by the Commander-in-Chief.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

D. B AINGER,
Adjutant General.

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is imparted by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convince you of its merits.

Bro. Kempton, of the Addison Courier, has completed the foundation for a new building of his own.

CLIPPINGS AND CONDENSATIONS.

Morenci's new hotel will be finished about Sept. 1st.

The Lenawee county Teachers' Association will meet at Adrian next Saturday.

Clark Ames, one of Hudson's pioneers, died last week at the advanced age of 95 years.

We are pleased to note the reappointment of Tom S. Applegate, of the Adrian Times, as a member of the Board of Control of the Blind School at Lansing, for six years.

The new industrial School board has been organized as follows: President, Mrs. T. M. Cooley, Ann Arbor; Treasurer, J. G. Mason, Adrian; Secretary, Mrs. Mayo, Battle Creek.

The Adrian Press has completed its sweet sixteenth year and began its seventeenth volume last week. The Press still holds its place as the best Democratic weekly in Southern Michigan. May it live long and continue to prosper.

Mr. H. Osborn, of Tecumseh, who exhibited the Tecumseh Wagon Rack here a few days, took a number of orders for that new invention. Some of our leading farmers pronounce it the most practical thing of the kind which they have ever seen.—Morenci Observer.

Yesterday, as W. H. Barrett, of Ladd's canning works, and Oscar Baker, of the Riverside house were enjoying each other's company, approaching home on the Jackson train someone picked up Mr. Barrett's grip, just before they reached the Junction, and disappeared with it. Besides other things, the satchel contained about $40 worth of mileage.—Adrian Times.

The graphic pen of our Sister Clough, of the Exponent, is not idle when it is required to "touch up" a stirring event and awaken a responsive thrill in the public heart. The Exponent says: "The alarming cry of fire and the ringing of the fire bell on Sunday afternoon last, at about 3 o'clock, aroused our citizens from their Sunday afternoon slumber to great excitement." Further on it is stated that the chimney on L. Beardsley's bakery burned out.—Adrian Press.

Our clever correspondent at Cambridge writes: Having occasion to don his store clothes yesterday, but failing to find his six-dollar trowsers, a voice from the wardrobe articulated: "Thank, where's my pants?"

"Why, they hang in there."

"Not much they don't, I can't find 'em"

"But they are there just the same," retorted the positive spouse, a "man can't find anything."

A thorough search was then instituted, in which no nook or corner of the house escaped, but said nether garment could not be found, "just the same."

The query now is, what vagrant took advantage of S. G. Aten's absence, to dress up?—Adrian Times.

The Michigan monthly crop report of 808 correspondents shows the amount of winter killed to be insignificant. The condition May 1 is 90 per cent. in the southern counties; 97 in the central and 100 in the northern. One year ago it was 65, 67 and 90 per cent. respectively. Since the above date, however, the crops have suffered from drought. Practically there has been no rain fall for the past 10 days. 279,571 bushels of wheat was reported marketed in April, and from August last to May 1, 13,550,747 bushels. Deducting for seed and home consumption, there is yet in farmers' hands 2,380,757 bushels of the '88 crop. Clover meadows and pastures have improved in the last month, and the prospects for a full average fruit crop are excellent.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most, of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot certainly be expected from snuffs, powders, doûches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with safety and pleasantness to the patient.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD

At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoea balsam in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all inflamation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of BEGG'S DIARRHŒA BALSAM will do more good in cases of this kind, than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it.

AMERICAN SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

Its Sixty-Fifth Anniversary and Statistics of the Fruit of Its Labors.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 13.—The sixty-fifth anniversary of the American Sunday School Union was held in the First Reformed church last evening. J. Townsend Lansing, of Albany, one of the vice presidents of the society, presided. An address of welcome was made by Rev. J. H. Enders, of Albany. Other addresses were made by Rev. A. D. Hillis, of Peoria, Ills.; Rev. J. H. McCullagh, superintendent of the district of the south, and Rev. J. M. Crowell, of Philadelphia.

Report of the Work Accomplished.

The last year has been marked by an increased force of workers, there now being 87 missionaries in 31 states and territories, as against 60 in the field two years ago.

The following summary is for the year ending March 1, 1889: new Sunday schools organized, 1,756; teachers in them, 7,869, pupils in them, 63,375; schools not before reported—added, 1,816, containing 13,045 teachers and 123,538 pupils; schools previously reported—added, 4,432, containing 21,778 teachers and 201,531 pupils. Bibles destributed, 8,625; testaments, 11,681; also large amounts of evangelical literature. Families visited, 40,041; addresses delivered, 11,341; miles traveled, 409,306.

At least 4,000 persons have been reported as hopefully converted and more than 100 churches of different denominations have developed from these schools.

MIGHTY BOLD HIGHWAYMEN.

They Attack the U. S. Paymaster's Escort and Get All the Money.

TUCSON, A. T., May 13.—Maj. J. W Wham, paymaster of the army, with Clerk Gibbon and an escort of eleven soldiers, on their way from Wilcox to pay the post at Fort Thomas, were attacked by a party of ambushed men in a gorge. A constant fire was kept up for nearly a half-hour, when eight of the escort were wounded, five dangerously. The robbers succeeded in securing $20,000 and escaped into the mountains. Maj. Wham was uninjured, but Gibbon's clothing was torn by shot. A troop of cavaly has been sent out from Fort Grant to watch the mountain passes, so that the highwaymen may not escape. Their number is not known, but is believed to be seven or eight.

A Desperate Running Fight.

It was a regular running fight in a narrow gorge. After a desperately hot battle lasting half an hour eight of the eleven men of the escort were either fatally wounded or disabled so as to render further resistance impossible. At the first fire an ambulance driver was wounded and lost control of the team of four mules, who dashed down a steep grade with the wagon. Paymaster Wham and his assistant inside. The origands opened fire on the flying conveyance, the escort rapidly firing in return. Maj. Wham and Gibbon were armed with repeating rifles. A perfect hailstorm of bullets fell for thirty minutes.

UNITED BRETHREN DISUNITED.

A Bolt Probable Over a Change in the Confession of Faith.

PITTSBURG, May 15.—A York, Pa., special says that at Saturday's session of the United Brethren conference memorials and petitions from the different conferences were received from the committee to whom was referred, the new constitution and confession of faith. The committee reported affirmatively. Rev. Titus, of Michigan, vigorously opposed the acceptance of the report and presented 1,200 petitions praying for its non-adoption. Rev. Floyd, of Indiana, presented 5,575 petitions from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, eastern Nebraska and other points, praying for no change in the constitution. Rev. Wood, of north Michigan, presented petitions praying for the same. The question was put to a vote and the new constitution was adopted—110 to 20. The minority will probably bolt.

MOST DEVILISH CRUELTY.

Fiendish Treatment of a Young Girl by Her Parents.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 9.—George Lynn, a farmer, and his wife were arrested yesterday charged with inhuman treatment of their 11-year-old daughter Lizzie. The child's sides had been flayed until the cuticle had disappeared, and her hands had been held by the brutal parents in boiling water until she is crippled for life. The mother had filled an egg-shell with cayenne pepper and mustard and forced it down the child's throat.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 149 Powers block, Rochester, N. Y.

Are You Taking It?

"Are you taking the F. E. C. Kidney Remedy?" is becoming a common inquiry. The F. E. C. is known to be an honest remedy and is doing a world of good. J. J. Orr sells it.

Used one bottle of Mother's Friend before my first confinement. It is a wonderful remedy. Looked and felt so well afterwards friends remarked it. Would not be without Mother's Friend for any consideration.

ORDERED TO REBUILD.

Radical Development of the Iowa Railway Law.

DES MOINES, May 4.—The railroad commissioners yesterday afternoon made their order in the case of the citizens and city of Fort Dodge against the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and the Des Moines and Fort Dodge railway companies. They order the Rock Island company to rebuild and restore its road between Tara station and Fort Dodge, by restoring the road-bed, replacing the bridges and relaying its track in a proper manner; that the road enter upon the work of reconstruction not later than June 15, 1889, and complete the same by the 1st day of November following; that pending the completion of such work the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, lessee of the Des Moines and Fort Dodge railroad, be required and directed to operate one passenger train a day each way between Fort Dodge and Des Moines and one freight train with passenger accommodation a day each way between Fort Dodge and Des Moines, and that, in the operation of such trains, the time-tables thereof be so adjusted as to best accommodate the business of the entire line and all the stations thereon.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN CHICAGO.

A Suddenly Insane Man Dashes His Baby's Brains Out Against the Wall.

CHICAGO, May 6.—William Tansor, of this city, a machinist by trade, 26 years of age, living with his young wife and 6 months old baby, became suddenly insane while in bed at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and after a desperate struggle with his wife seized the baby from the crib in which it was sleeping and dashed its brains out against the wall of the room. He then seized a butcher knife and tried to murder the woman, who eluded the mad-man and fled to the street, meanwhile arousing the neighbors by her piercing screams.

He Cuts His Own Throat.

He then slashed his own throat with the knife, and when the police arrived he was walking to and fro in the room, with a terrible gash in his neck from which the blood was streaming, while in one hand he held the bloody knife and on his left arm lay the horribly mutilated body of the dead infant. The murderer was at once overpowered and taken to the hospital for treatment, and is still alive.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Costly Blaze at Chenoa, Ills.—Blazes at Other Places.

CHENOA, Ills., May 1.—A large brick block in this town, which included the postoffice, a newspaper office, and a number of stores, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night. The loss is about $100,000. M. Quinn, the express agent, and Justice of the Peace J. B. Lemmer were injured by falling walls, the former, it is feared, fatally. The Bloomington fire department came on call to the rescue, but the fire was under control before it arrived.

CHICAGO, May 2.—The Windsor theatre, located on the north side of the river, caught fire shortly after midnight Tuesday, and in less than twenty minutes was completely destroyed. Three firemen were injured by a falling wall, one of them seriously Loss, $50,000.

DEPERE, Wis., May 2.—Fire Tuesday night destroyed the Wingard-Pearson's brick block, the Transit house, and a half-dozen residences. The losses will aggregate $50,000. The town was visited by a disastrous conflagration several days ago.

A TOTAL OF NINETEEN DEAD

Foots Up the Loss of Life in the Grand Trunk Disaster—Identifications.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 2.—The remains of the charred victims of the Grand Trunk wreck have been identified and taken away. They were those of Morgan R Scullen, of Chicago, which were identified by A Colvin, and those of H. S. Hall, an old and respected merchant of Evansville, Ind., which were identified by his son-in-law. Henry Pringle, of Chicago, is reported missing. The remains of Mrs. George Grummells will be sent to Chicago. It is almost certain that Charles J. C. Frazer, of Toronto; J. L. Curnick, of Chicago, and J. B. Sterns, of Camden, Me., are among the dead. Thirteen dead are accounted for, leaving six bodies about which no inquiries have been made.

ARMOUR'S GREAT RIVAL.

That $25,000,000 Dressed Meat Company Getting Ready for Business.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The American Meat company has been organized, with Warner Miller as president, and ex-Congressman J. J. Belden, of Syracuse, as one of the directors. This is the company with $25,000,000 capital which intends to become a rival of the "Big Four" dressed beef combination. It will control large ranches in the west, and stock-yard facilities at Kansas City. The company as first organized contained a number of cotton oil trust people, but they were frightened out, it is alleged by the Armours threatening to fight the cotton oil trust. The necessary capital has already been subscribed, and it is not thought that there will be any further delay in carrying out the project

MURDER OF AN ILLINOIS EDUCATOR.

Shot Dead by the Son of the Township Supervisor.

GALENA, Ills., May 6.—Professor H. I. Matchett, principal of the academy at Hanover, in this county, was shot dead yesterday afternoon by George Skene, son of Township Supervisor Skene. The murderer escaped and has not been apprehended. The motive for the crime is said to have been a refusal on the part of the murdered man to permit his sister, to receive attentions from Skene.

Death of Hon. William H. Barnum.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 1.—The Hon. William H. Barnum, chairman of the national Democratic committee, died, at Lime Rock at 9:45 Tuesday morning.

Mr. Barnum had been confined to his bed but two or three days, and for the past twenty-four hours his death had been momentarily expected. He was out for the last time on Friday last when he sat on the piazza for an hour. Saturday he was taken with a bad spell and it was apparent from the first that he could not recover. He had been very feeble ever since his sickness during the presidential campaign.

One of the Danmark's Passengers Dead.

NEW YORK, May 6.—The remainder of the passengers of the lost steamer Danmark arrived at Castle Garden yesterday per steamer Wieland. Rasmus Andersen, one of the of the Danmark's people, died on board the Wieland of apoplexy. His wife lives at Gowen, Mich.

Struck Because They Were Asked to.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., May 6.—The coal miners at Barclay, this county, struck yesterday for the reason, it is alleged, that certain striking miners in Indiana asked them to. There is a prospect that the whole of the Springfield district will become involved.

THREE BALD-KNOBBERS STRUNG UP

A Shameful Display of Official Lack of Skill, Entailing Untold Tortures on the Condemned Wretches—Dave and William Walker and John Matthews Pay the Penalty for Doing the "White Cap" Act—The Crime and Events Connected with It.

OZARK, Mo., May 10.—Although it was announced that the execution of the Bald Knobbers Dave and William Walker and John Matthews, would not take place until noon, at 8:53 Friday morning the sheriff entered the cells of the doomed men and read the death warrant. They immediately began dressing for the scaffold and finished their preparations at 9:20 The jury and press were admitted to the jail at 9:30. As he left his cell John Matthews proclaimed his innocence in a loud voice. All three men were calm and did not seem to be at all overawed by their approaching doom. Upon the scaffold a short prayer was delivered by Rev. T. B. Thorn, after which all joined in singing a hymn. Then a selection from the Bible was read, another prayer by Rev. Thomas Hanks and the black caps were drawn and the nooses adjusted.

A Most Horrible Sight.

John Matthews then said he had nothing to add to what had been said; he was there but took no part in the crime. He called on all who would befriend his little ones left behind to hold up their hands. At 9:53 the drop fell. John Matthews was praying as he fell. The stretch of the rope let all fall to the ground. The rope broke and Bill Walker fell upon the ground. He talked for three minutes when he was taken up by the sheriff and deputies on the scaffold. Dave Walker was drawn up and died in fifteen minutes. Matthews lived about thirteen minutes, and died with his feet on the ground.

Hanging of Bill Walker.

The scene was horrible in the extreme. Matthews and Dave Walker were cut down at 10:10. The trap was again adjusted and Bill Walker lifted, helpless and groaning and gurgling and almost insensible, the rope again adjusted and the trap sprung. The man came to a sudden stop with his feet full thirty inches from the ground and he died without a struggle.

History of the Crime.

Christian county first adopted Bald-Knobbism in 1885. Dave Walker was the first leader, and the membership soon reached between 300 and 400. Each new-comer was invited to join and the majority did so. There was a fearful ordeal for the candidate, who found himself in a dark and lonely wood or ravine surrounded by masked men who imposed a blood-curdling obligation, the infraction of which was punishment by death. Once in, he could never get out and remain in the country. There were numerous visits by the band to petty offenders, but nothing occurred to attract wide-spread attention until the Green-Eden affair, which terminates in the overthrow of Bald-Knobbism. The knobbers first became prominent when the notorious Frank and Jubal Taylor entered the Dickenson home in Forsythe, Taney county, and murdered the inmates. They were captured and lynched by the Law and Order league. Capt. Nat Kinney, who was himself killed by one of the band at Ozark not long since, stood at the head of the Bald-Knobbers at that time.

The Murder of Green and Eden.

The Green-Eden killing occurred on March 11, 1887. A friend of the Edens had been whipped by the regulators, and Eden had condemned the Bald-Knobbers for the act. On the night of March 10, 1887, the band met to consider Eden's offenses. There were twenty-six present of whom nineteen, after a brief deliberation, proceeded to Eden's house to punish the inmates. They were met with resistance and fired several volleys into the the house, killing William Eden and Charles Green, his brother-in-law, and seriously wounding old man Eden. The outrage aroused the people and the sheriff of Christian county with a posse pursued and captured the entire gang.

One of the Murderers at Large.

The prisoners were taken to Springfield for safe keeping, afterward transferred to a new jail building at Ozark from whence John and Wiley Matthews escaped last December. John Matthews returned later and surrendered himself, but Wiley is still at large. Four bald knobbers were sentenced to be hung for the killing of Green and Edens. They were David Walker and his son Bill, John Matthews and Wiley, his nephew. None of the condemned men had reached their 50th year, and Bill Walker is not yet 20.

STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS.

The Cronin Case Seems To Be Another Sort of Criminal Affair.

CHICAGO, May 11.—The police arrested a man named Frank G. Woodruff yesterday on the charge of horse stealing. Last evening the prisoner confessed to having stolen a horse and wagon from Dean's barn, 406 Webster avenue, about 1 o'clock on Sunday morning last, and soon after met by appointment Dr. P. A. Cronin, William King, and Dick Fairburn at the barn in the rear of the residence at 528 North State street.

The Bloody Trunk.

A trunk containing the body of a woman was placed in the wagon, into which King and Fairburn then entered with Woodruff, leaving Dr. Cronin at the barn. Woodruff then drove the body and his two companions to Lincoln park, where King and Fairburn removed the corpse from the trunk, and Woodruff drove on alone to the place in Evanston avenue where the empty trunk was found some hours afterward.

The Victim in the Case.

From conversations between Cronin, King and Fairburn, which Woodruff overheard, he judge i that the body was that of a woman who had been killed by an abortion, perhaps performed by Dr. Cronin. The police are investigating to discover whether the wealthy man residing at 528 North State street, from where the body was taken, is in any way implicated in the affair.

Reduction in the Price of Iron.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Thomas Iron company has given notice of a reduction of $1.50 per ton in the price of iron for May and June delivery. President Clarke said: "The reason for the reduction is that the southern people are crowding the market and have [illegible] $21 per ton below our prices. We propose, however, to hold our market."

The Electric Sugar Refining Company.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Justice Barrett of the supreme court Friday gave a judgment dissolving the Electric Sugar Refining company. Alexander Cameron, representing the corporation consenting thereto. R. Burnham Moffat, was appointed receiver and directed to furnish a bond of $100,000.

On a Shad Hatching Cruise.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The United States steamer Fish Hawk, under command of Lieut. Robert Platt, sailed Friday night from the navy yard here for the Delaware river on a shad hatching cruise. Lieut. Platt expects that he will be able to hatch and distribute one hundred million shad before leaving the Delaware. The applications received by the fish commission for shad are very numerous and come from various sections of the country. All applications are sent to the Fish Hawk, and the young shad are delivered from that vessel prepared for safe transportation. Col. McDonald, the fish commissioner, proposes to give an exhibition at Gloucester, of the method of hatching fish, and is arranging to secure the attendance of persons in Philadelphia interested in the artificial production.

Ex-Governor Gray's Intentions.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 4.—Ex-Governor Gray and his son Pierre have determined to make Indianapolis their home, and they will open a law office here as soon as suitable rooms can be secured. Mr. Gray is an avowed candidate for the senate to succeed Voorhees, and remains here instead of returning to Union City because this point is more central, and he can be in constant intercourse with his friends throughout the state.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

Said Uncle Sam: "I will be wise,
And thus the Indian civilize:
Instead of guns that kill a mile,
Tobacco, lead and liquor vile,
Instead of serving out a meal,
Or sending Agents out to steal,
I'll give, domestic arts to teach,
A cake of 'Ivory Soap' to each.
Before it flies the guilty stain,
The grease and dirt no more remain;
'Twill change their nature day by day,
And wash their darkest blots away.
They'll turn their bows to fishing-rods,
And bury hatchets under sods,
In wisdom and in worth increase,
And ever smoke the pipe of peace;
For ignorance can never cope
With such a foe as 'Ivory Soap.'"

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Improved Champion Mower.

THE CHAMPION is the only Mower on which the pitman never wears out, the knife heel never breaks, the gears never wear out nor break; the only Mower on which the gears run slowly and make no noise; the bar can be stood straight up and the knife will run freely even in that position; the only Mower on which all lost motion can be taken up on pitman, gearing and boxing; the only Mower on which the guards will outwear three sets of the cheap guards used on other mowers, and never break nor get out of line; the only Mower on which the slightest forward motion of the master wheel starts the knife; the only Mower on which the motion is transmitted directly from the master wheel to the knife pitman without any joints to wear loose and rattle, and where ALL THE POWER is applied to cutting the grass, none being wasted on loose joints or fast running gearing; the only Mower that has no frame work or pitman hanging down in front to run into obstructions or interfere with the cut grass; the only Mower that has no clutches to bother by slipping out of gear, and it can be put in gear at any point without backing.

THE IMPROVED CHAMPION has less than one-third the amount of gearing that other Mowers have, and the pitman and its connections are warranted not to break or wear out. This Mower is so novel and so superior to all others that an examination will convince any farmer that it is worth much more money than any other.

Of Death and Havoc.

A Terrible Day of Fatal Disaster and Destruction.

DREADFUL STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

Five Women and a Girl Killed in the Street at Kalamazoo, Mich.—Two Passengers Lose Their Lives in a Railway Wreck in Ohio—Fire Sweeps Away a Suburb of Chicago—About Fifty Houses Burned and Seventy Families Homeless—Two or Three Other Towns Swept by Flames—Forests Ablaze.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., May 9.—Six women were killed and several injured in a collision which occurred between a street car and a switch engine on the Michigan Central tracks in this city last evening. The engine was on its way to aid a freight train at Ostend, the first station west of here, and had orders to make extra speed. At the same time a street car on the West Main street line was nearing the track, and the driver, not hearing the warning whistle or seeing the gates lowered, supposed that all was safe and proceeded as usual. While the car was crossing the tracks the engine struck it squarely and carried it several blocks before stopping. At the time there were a dozen persons in the car.

Frightful Result of the Accident.

Of these five were almost instantly killed. They were: Miss Gertie Tillotson, about 16 years of age; Mrs. M. E. Wattles, wife of the former Lake Shore superintendent at this place; Mrs. George Smiley, wife of a prominent citizen; Mrs. Alexander Haddock, wife of the professor of mathematics in the Kalamazoo Baptist college; Mrs. Van Antwerp; Mrs. Middleton, died shortly after the accident.

The injured are: Mrs. S. A. Gibson, wife of the owner of the Kalamazoo paper mill; Mrs. John Barnes. Several others had slight bruises. L. C. Lull escaped without injury, as did the driver and a boy who was on the platform.

Unable to Fix the Responsibility.

The driver claims to have seen or heard nothing of the engine until it was upon the car and too late to act. Those who saw the accident state that the speed of the engine was at least twenty-five miles an hour, a rate not allowed inside the city limits. It is not definitely known where the blame lies. The gatekeeper states that he is not required to be at his post from 6 o'clock until 6:45, as no trains run then.

TWENTY-FIVE ACRES OF ASHES.

The Remains of Nearly Fifty Houses in a Chicago Suburb.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Twenty-five acres of ground, closely built up with small dwelling houses, were swept by fire in the suburban village of Moreland last evening, and seventy families are rendered homeless. The fire started in the Presbyterian church, a medium-sized frame structure, at 4 o'clock, and, fanned by a high wind prevailing at the time, burned furiously.

A Terrible Conflagration.

The flames soon spread to surrounding dwellings one after another, and before they could be checked a terrible conflagration was spreading terror on all sides. The lack of water supply, aided by the heavy gale, placed the fire beyond the control of firemen, police, and citizens, who made every effort to check its course, but without avail.

A Gasoline Warehouse Aflame.

A warehouse in which was stored a large quantity of gasoline proved a gigantic tinder-box, which in burning scattered fire in all directions. The fire burned itself out by 7 o'clock, when it was found that every dwelling, a large number of small stores and two village halls, covering an area of twenty-five acres, had been entirely consumed. A number of dwellings located at a distance from the immediate scene of conflagration caught fire from flying sparks and were destroyed also.

Lost Everything They Owned.

The former occupants of the burned district are mostly families in moderate circumstances, a majority of whom have lost everything they possessed. The prairie in the vicinity was dotted over last night with the camps of the sufferers, such of those as saved a portion of their effects standing guard over the remnants, while others were sleeping on the bare ground.

Probably Caused by Cigarettes.

The loss could not be estimated last night but will reach a large sum in the aggregate. It is believed that the fire originated from stumps of cigarettes thrown into a pew in the church by some boys who had gained admittance through an open window.

LATER.—As far as could be ascertained last night the total losses on the buildings, stocks, residences, and effects of families amount to about $100,000, with an insurance of about one-half. Forty-eight buildings, including stores, cottages, and barns were consumed.

A RECKLESS CONDUCTOR.

He Pays no Attention to Warnings and a Fatal Wreck Results.

CLEVELAND, O., May 9.—The Valley road train which reaches this city at 3:30 p. m. was wrecked in the suburbs yesterday afternoon and two persons killed and eight injured. The wreck was caused by one of the wheels of the smoker coming loose, throwing the car from the track. It dashed into a freight car on a side track and was completely smashed. The other cars did not leave the track.

Names of the Victims.

The killed were H. H. Hackman, a leather dealer of Cleveland, and Frank Odbert, of Akron, O. The injured are: W. H. Gallagher, Newcomerstown, O., leg hurt and head cut; George Pellinger, Akron, head cut and body bruised; J. C. Taylor, Cambridge, O., same; W. M. Clarke, Pittsburg, same; Lawrence O'Connell, Akron, leg broken and head cut; Caroline Titchman, Cleveland, most seriously bruised and may die.

The Conductor Warned.

Passengers warned the conductor several times before the accident occurred that something was was wrong, as there were frequent bumpings along the track, but no attention was paid to them.

BURNED BY A PRAIRIE FIRE

A Minnesota Town Loses Heavily by a Conflagration.

ELBA, Minn., May 9.—A raging prairie fire rushed down upon this town yesterday, burning the principal business houses and many residences, and also the huge Elba flouring mill. Many poor families were burned out of house and home. Desperate efforts were made to stop the fire, but the wind blew hard, and the men, being unable to stand before the fierce heat, had to run away with their wives and children, and let their homes go. Most of the losers are employes of the mill. Elba is a country village of 200 inhabitants.

A CYCLONE IN KANSAS.

Dwelling Houses Wrecked and Four Persons Fatally Injured.

KANSAS CITY, May 8.—The windstorm which raged throughout the west for the last four days culminated in Stafford county, Kansas, Monday evening in a cyclone. It could be seen for a distance of seven miles, moving north. Twenty-five people were injured and William Crawford had his neck broken, William Bolt was fatally hurt, Oliver Beard was paralyzed from the breast down and died Tuesday, and Jason Beard was fatally cut and internally injured. A. F. Gilmnup's house was destroyed and his wife and babe were carried hundreds of feet and both severely hurt. Joseph Giles's house was wrecked and not a trace of the furniture can be found. Mrs. Henry Linsly's house was demolished and she and her two stepchildren seriously hurt. Not a splinter of Joseph Seller's two-story dwelling can be discovered, the house having been swept out of existence and probably scattered for miles over the prairie. Wagons and plows were carried for hundreds of yards and horses picked up and whirled through the air. Twenty-two victims of the storm are under the doctor's care.

Destroyed $35,000 Worth of Property.

PEORIA, Ills., May 9.—Sparks from an engine started fire in the coal sheds of the Illinois Central railway at El Paso last evening. Before it was subdued $35,000 worth of property was destroyed, the loss including the Illinois Central railway and Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw freight houses and contents, the Summit house, a grocery store, the residences of W. P. Fleming and C. F. Hildreth and barn of Mr. Patton. The insurance foots up $8,800.

Michigan Woods Still Burning.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Telegrams from the northern peninsula of Michigan state that the woods are still burning there, and the losses in standing timber are enormous. Tuscola county lost $50,000 worth of timber Tuesday, and the towns of Bruce's Crossing and O'Brien, in Ontonagon county, have been destroyed. Twenty dwellings were burned at Norway, and a man was suffocated while fighting the fire at Madison.

Two Other Towns Devastated.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The towns of Spaulding and Sullivan, Mich., were over half destroyed by the forest fires Tuesday, and, while no lives were lost, over 300 people were rendered homeless and many destitute. The timely rain Tuesday night throughout the greater part of Wisconsin quenched the fires in that region, and did great service to the growing crops.

North Judson, Ind., Scorched.

WINAMAC, Ind., May 9.—North Judson, a small place fifteen miles north of this place on the Panhandle railroad, was visited by a vast fire yesterday, burning eight or nine business places, a freight warehouse, and a dwelling house. The loss is estimated at $50,000 to $60,000; partly insured.

HAVOC IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Buildings Blown Down in a Number of Places—Fatal Casualties.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 11.—A sudden storm yesterday caused a panic in the large audience at Barnum's circus. None of the audience was seriously hurt, though some were more or less bruised. Some of the performers were injured as portions of the tent were blown down. The performers injured were Ichato, a Japanese, head and body injured; Miss Mollie Thompson, hit in face by a stake; Miss Nellie Flynn, nose broken; Master E. French, rib broken; Miss Lillie Denton, knocked senseless by a pole; George Marks, scalp wound. Loss estimated at $10,000. A number of buildings in the city were damaged.

Two Persons Killed by Lightning.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 11.—During the storm at Mahoney City yesterday a Polish miner named Betz was killed by lightning and two others struck, but not fatally injured.

SUSQUEHANNA, Pa., May 11.—During a severe storm yesterday afternoon William Clapper, of Gulf Summit, N. Y., was killed by lightning.

Caught Under a Falling Building.

EASTON, Pa., May 10.—A cyclone yesterday afternoon uprooted trees and unroofed buildings in this vicinity. Mrs. David E. Warding and her son were badly injured by a bill-board which was blown down upon them.

Presidential Appointments.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 10.—Illinois strayed into the presidential orchard Thursday, gave the federal tree a vigorous shake, and a plum fell into her lap. The plum was labeled first comptroller of the treasury and was presented to Asa Matthews, the present speaker of the Illinois house of representatives. The appointment is a complete surprise to almost every one in Washington.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 11.—The president appointed a batch of United States attorneys, marshals, collectors, etc., yesterday, among them the following: Levi S. Wilcox, of Illinois, collector of internal revenue for the Eighth district of Illinois; James M. Townsend, Richmond, Ind., recorder of the general land office; Lars K. Aaker, of Minnesota, receiver of public moneys at Crookston, Minn.; Robert S. Robertson, of Indiana, member of the board of registration and election in the territory of Utah.

The Scotch-Irish Congress.

COLUMBIA, Tenn., May 10.—The second day's session of the Scotch-Irish congress showed an enormous increase in the number of visitors. The eloquent Dr. John Hall, of New York, took the stand at 11 o'clock Thursday morning and delivered an address in which he reviewed the history of the Scotch-Irish race. At the conclusion of the address, the various committees reported. The association was then made a permanent affair and adopted as their name, "The Scotch-Irish Society of America." The officers elected were Robert Bonner, of New York, president, and A. C. Boyd, of Tennessee, secretary.

Secretary Proctor at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Secretary of War Proctor, with Gen. Schofield, and party of army officers, returned to Chicago yesterday from their tour of inspection of western military posts, and will remain in the city for a day or two to recuperate from the fatigue of almost constant travel during the past week.

Rotation in Office for Samoa.

VIENNA, May 11.—The Wiener Allgemeine Zeitung states that the Samoan conference at Berlin will decide that foreign advisers of the king of Samoa shall be appointed each year, representing in rotation the countries interested.

DR. A. HRASNY'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Their Regular Semi-Annual Meeting Held at the M. E. Church Last Week.

The semi-annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the M. E. church, Adrian District, convened at the Methodist church in this village last Wednesday afternoon. A fine program had been previously prepared and it was carried out substantially as arranged.

The opening session was called to order on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Hendrickson, the president. The minutes of the last session were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. Harding, and approved. Committees on enrollment and resolutions were appointed; also a standing committee on the state of the work.

"Workers Hour" was well filled with a discussion on some of the details of business and methods of work.

Miss Lola Hathaway, of Rollin, gave a fine recitation, and a children's meeting followed, conducted by Mrs. York.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Rev. J. S. Joslin opened the meeting with devotional exercises, the congregation singing, Miss Eva Joslin presiding at the organ.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Turner, of Tecumseh, which was beautifully responded to by Mrs. Page, of Adrian.

Miss Belle Joslin gave a recitation, and Miss Nellie Wesley, of Adrian, followed with a paper entitled, "Japan."

"The Two Mites," in three parts, was nicely recited by Mrs. B. Hurry, Master Clarence Hurry and Frankie Snell.

The exercises of the evening closed with a collection and benediction.

THURSDAY MORNING.

The session opened with an experience and consecration service led by Mrs. Mary J. Johnson, of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Town's report on leaflets was then read by Mrs. Hathaway, of Rollin, which was discussed at some length. The secretary read an invitation from Stony Creek for the next district meeting.

Reports of auxiliaries were then received. A paper by Mrs. Pope was read by her husband, Mr. Pope, and a vote of thanks was tendered for the same.

Mrs. Cushman read a very interesting letter from Miss Lina Schenk, of Bulgaria. Miss Schenk has many warm friends in this place who are always pleased to hear from her. The session closed with a prayer for temperance by Mrs. Shier.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

The session opened with devotional exercises led by Bro. Pearce, of Franklin.

Mrs. Halladay gave a fitting tribute in memory of Sister McIlwain, deceased. A report was received and accepted from the committee on photographs. Mrs. Town read a series of resolutions on leaflets, which were adopted.

Fraternal greetings were extended to the society by Mrs. A. P. Coddington, of the Baptist church, by Mrs. E. B. Wood, of the Presbyterian church; by Miss Etta Conklin, from the young ladies of the same church; and by Mrs. M. C. Wood, of the Friend's church. These words of greeting from other churches were very encouraging and were beautifully responded to by Mrs. York.

A paper entitled, "A Grain of Mustard Seed" was read by Mrs. Cole, of Rollin. Mrs. P. C. Snell, of Tecumseh, presented her paper, "A Woman's Mission Work," and an essay by Mrs. E. C. Town, of Rollin, on "Gospel Boundaries" was read.

The report of the corresponding secretary was then presented and accepted. The place for the next meeting was fixed at Hudson. A donation of $8 a year was voted to the Memorial fund. Dr. Barnes then pronounced the benediction.

THURSDAY EVENING.

After devotional exercises, the treasurer presented her report which was accepted.

A recitation was given by Mrs. Page, of Adrian, and a fine paper was read by Mrs. C. H. Morgan on "The Power of Christ to Awaken the Possibilities of Women." This paper was full of interest and a motion prevailed inviting Mrs. Morgan to contribute her essay to the Bureau of Exchange.

A dialogue, "Aunt Polly Joins the Missionary Society" was given by five Tecumseh young ladies, which was very much enjoyed.

Bro. Pope, of Manchester, made a few stirring remarks, and Mrs. York gave a review of the twenty years work of the W. F. M. S. A collection was taken and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Barnes.

There were 46 delegates in attendance and the meeting as a whole was one of the most interesting ever held by the society.

FREDERICK T. ROBERTS, M. D. Prof. in University College, London, Eng., Examiner in Medicines, Royal College of Surgeons, says in reference to advanced kidney disease: "Complications are met, such as consumption, heart disease, morbid conditions, liver affections. Warner's Safe Cure cures these affections by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition, thereby enabling them to expel the waste or poisonous matter from the system."

Washing Sheep.

A. E. Perry gives farmers the following good advice in the Flushing Observer: If you wash your sheep before shearing, wash them in a good, clean place where there is plenty of water. Don't wash them in a mudhole or muddy creek. After washing shear them as soon as dry. Poorly washed wool will sell at a less price, and then half of it will be discounted. Don't put unwashed tags, torn up fleeces, floor sweepings, etc., in your clean washed wool. You had better never wash your sheep if you cannot get your wool in a cleaner condition, as any experienced wool buyer will detect poorly washed and stuffed wool at a glance. Put your wool up in first-class condition, and when ready to sell you will always receive highest market price, and go home feeling proud of your transaction.

We are glad to note the return of Hon. Don M. Dickinson to Detroit where he resumes his law practice for four years more. He will then return to Washington. And Michigan will not be the only state to do him honor. The Democracy of Michigan is proud to reckon among its chief advisers one whose offical record is the embodiment of ability, integrity, manly honor and commendable merit, and undimmed by a single instance of a suspicion of wrong. Loyal to his party, true to his principles, honorable to his oppoments, and devoid of self conceit, he stands to-day, the peer of any democrat in the land, and we are pleased to note that his popularity is not confined to Michigan. The above item from the Adrian Press will have the hearty endorsement of every Democrat in Lenawee County. Mr. Dickinson's political life is not closed yet, by any means.

BOARD OF REVIEW.—The Board of Review of the township of Tecumseh will meet at the Council building in this village Tuesday, May 21st, for the purpose of revising and correcting the assessment roll. Also on Monday, May 27th, at the same place.

TECUMSEH, May 16, 1889.
GEORGE HEESEN,
Supervisor of Tecumseh.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.—The partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned under the title of Patterson & Garlinghouse Bros., is this day dissolved by mutual consent, C. F. Patterson succeeding to and assuming control of the business. All accounts due the old firm will be collected by the new proprietor, and all outstanding indebtedness will be settled by him.

PATTERSON & GARLINGHOUSE BROS.
TECUMSEH, May 7, 1889.

FOR SALE.—A desirable cottage at Sand Lake. Good situation, nearly new and comfortably furnished throughout. Address M. E. CHITTENDEN, Adrian, Mich.

WANTED.—Walnut, red oak and basswood lumber. A. W. SLAYTON.
James Potter, Jr., Inspector.

FOR SALE.—1 good young horse, weight 1200 lbs. 1 extra good new milch cow; top buggy, 4 or 5 tons of mixed hay. Enquire of H. J. WILLIAMS, Ridgeway.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—All persons indebted to the late firm of Coryell & Williams are respectfully requested to call and settle the same at once, as I wish to get these accounts adjusted without delay.
HENRY J. WILLIAMS.
RIDGEWAY, April 3, '89.

FOR SALE—SEED OATS.—English Black Tartary. Stiff straw, yield good. Price 50c per bushel. JOHN B. PATTISON, Ridgeway.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS.

J. R. Miller of Grenada Col. gave us a call Tuesday morning.

Prof. Wilson attended the Superintendent's Convention at Lansing last Thursday and Friday.

Miss. May Morrison recited one of the best essays that has been given this term last Friday morning. It was on, "The journey of Life.'

Preparations are being made for exercises in the lower grades May 29th.

It is expected that some of the best work ever done in Tecumseh Schools' will be exhibited in the Union building some time in the month of June.

We hope that the Seniors and Juniors will "hold out till the end," As good times are expected and we want all to indulge in them.

About $260 worth of supplementary reading work has been received for use in the schools.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.

Mrs. M. E. Corey's Sunday School Class will give an entertainment at the Opera House on Friday evening May 17th, entitled 'Seven Day Wonders"—It is something new and ought to be taking. There are seven booths, one for each day in the week. And each booth is furnished with appropriate emblems. Monday's booth represents wash day, being furnished with wash tubs, wringers etc., and the girls in charge being attired in washer-woman's suits. Tuesday's is ironing day. Wednesday's booth tells of mending and sewing and the occupants will be attaired as old women. Thursday is reception day. It will represent an elegant parlor and will be free to all, for a small fee. Friday is sweeping and dusting day. Saturday's booth is an old fashioned kitchen and represents churning and baking day.

A substantial supper will be served from five until seven o'clock. Sandwiches, coffee, pork and beans, pickles and doughnuts, 10 cts. Bread and milk, pie, cheese and coffee, 10 cts. Ice Cream and cake will be served during the entire evening at 15 cents. Admission to opera house, free.

We take the liberity of reminding the public "on our own hook" that the young ladies who are getting up this entertainment have always lent a helping hand to other churches and public entertainments and they deserve a general and generous patronage in return.

OBITUARY.

Died, at Tecumseh, Mich, on Monday May 6th. 1889, Mrs. S. Jennie VanNess, wife of Mr. J, B. VanNess and daughter of H. W. & C. G. Conkling. Mrs. VanNess was born in Tecumseh Nov. 11th, 1864. In August 1881, she became the wife of Mr. VanNess. She had always enjoyed excellent health, but on Tuesday April 30th, she was taken suddenly and severely ill, and on Monday morning May 6th, her sickness terminated in death. Thus a beloved wife and daughter has been taken away and a member of society well known and highly prized has passed from the circle in which she moved. Judging from a human stand point her removal is untimely. Besides the loss which husband and parents have sustained two little ones have been deprived of a mother's care. The thought of the young mother, as she felt the approach of sickness, was, "I cannot be sick. I must keep well for my children's sake. But "Gods" thoughts are not as our thoughts, neither are his ways our ways." We may not question then even where we find it impossible to comprehend. So let us try to say, in the exercise of an unfaltering trust in God. Even so Father, for so it seemed good in thy sight." W. H. B.

Card of Thanks.

We humbly but sincerely express our thanks to all our friends and neighbors who so kindly befriended us in our late bereavement.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

C. T. Cummins was in town last Saturday.

C. H. Hopkins, of Battle Creek, is in town a few days.

Birdsall, Glenn & Co. have a new awning at their market.

The ice cream season was duly opened in Tecumseh last Saturday.

Justice Burridge took a business trip up to Frankfort, Mich., last week.

A. W. Slayton offers his office desk and safe worth $90 for $65, cash or on time.

Elder Garrett and wife, of Morenci, were visiting at Dr. Hamilton's last week.

The encampment of state troops will be held at Goguac lake, near Battle Creek.

The season at Devils Lake opens to-day. A big excursion train runs from Cincinnati.

J. D. Shull and Jehiel Davidson have been appointed members of the Board of Review.

Wood, Crane & Wood, the leading clothing merchants at Adrian, have a new card on the 8th page this week.

Senator Gilmore has appointed Miss Flora Burt, of Ogden Station, to a scholarship in the Normal school at Ypsilanti.

The Page Wire Fence Co., at Adrian, is now running a double force of hands, and still they fail to keep up with their orders.

Supervisor Heesen will review his assessment roll on Tuesday, May 21, and Monday, May 27th, according to the provisions of the Statute.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. W. James, of Detroit, were in town over Sunday. Alf. returned Monday morning but his wife will remain a few days.

Mrs. Sidney Houghton, of Humbird, Wis., arrived in Tecumseh last week and will spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. Loyisa Clark.

W. W. Marsh has painted the front of his market, put up a new awning and made other improvements. He is always fixing up in some way.

Dr. Geo. Howell returned last week from his trip to Washington. He remained there several days and visited Mount Vernon during his stay. He enjoyed his trip very much.

The entire corps of teachers now in the public schools have been invited to remain another year and we understand have all accepted but one. The schools have run very smoothly under Prof. Wilson's management this year, while the subordinate teachers have done equally good work in their several departments.

Uncle Tom's Cabin, as usual, drew a large house last Tuesday evening. The fact of its being under a tent added to its drawing qualities. The company presented the play very well, but as it was their first night under a tent, the play did not run as smoothly as it will later. Uncle Tom, Little Eva and the two Marks drew the largest share of the applause.

The State Grange of Illinois offers a reward of $10,000 to anyone who will invent a machine or device to attach to reapers that will bind wheat and oats with straw. This is something practical. The grange has already deserved the gratitude of many thousands of twine monopoly oppressed farmers, whether the prize be won or not. It will receive their warm thanks if the offer results in their emancipation —Chicago Tribune.

The Adrian Times, of last Thursday, has the following item:

Messrs. D. D. Sinclair, W. F. King, Marcus Polasky, Harry Waldby, Andrew Schliemann, Howard Taylor, E. J. Shepherd, J. H. Kelley, Hugh Campbell, W. T. Veeder, James Donough and Dr. Hull, made an overland trip to Tecumseh, last night, paying a friendly visit to their fraters of the Chapter Royal Arch Masons, in that village. They were met there by Messrs. J. W. Finch and Fred B. Wood. The ride was a pleasant one, and the evening thoroughly enjoyed. As they were distributed to their homes in Adrian on the return, each tourist was serenaded by his fellow travelers' the last one singing his own lonely lay.

The Hudson delegation of Oklahoma boomers has returned. It is composed of one small tinner (name Jas. Deems), who is well satisfied with his trip, and thinks his time and and money well spent, as he was a part of the only and original caravan which entered the promised land while here on earth. Jim says the published reports are mostly made out of whole cloth. Referring to the suffering for water, he says that the trouble all came from those who were waiting for baggage. Men were compelled to stand in line for hours and sometimes days to get their baggage from the railroad company. If one left the line, he lost his chance, and it was here that the suffering came in. There was plenty of water in the river a few rods distant, which was fit for drinking purposes.—Hudson Post.

Charlie Temple went to Saginaw Monday.

John Bird, of Adrian, was in town Sunday.

Don't be in a hurry to take down your coal stove.

Mrs. S. D. Nesmith is visiting friends at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Dr. House returned to Springfield, Ohio, last Saturday.

Mrs. L. M. Van Tiue returned from a visit at Oscoda last Friday.

John Heesen starts for Cleveland this morning for a short visit.

Michael Wilson and wife are visiting in Wood county, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bills have gone to Litchfield for a short visit.

Mrs. N. M. Sutton went to Detroit yesterday morning to remain about two weeks.

Tecumseh will celebrate Decoration Day this year in a manner befitting the occasion.

A number of Royal Arch Masons were in town last night attending the Tecumseh lodge.

A scholarship for sale cheap in the Tri-State Business College of Toledo. Enquire at this office.

Work was commenced yesterday on the new street railway of Adrian. A gang of fifty hands is employed.

Geo. Spafford is spending two or three days at Devil's Lake this week with "Uncle Charley."

A. W. Slayton came home from Detroit to spend last Sabbath. He expects to be at home regularly on Sunday.

On account of repairs in progress at the Presbyterian church, the church services and Sunday school will be omitted next Sabbath.

Ab. Wilson has a large quantity of plants now fit to sell—a few millions, more or less. His notice is among the specials.

Our farmer readers who may wish to increase their herds of short-horns should read the card of John Strong & Son on the eighth page.

Latimer, the convicted matricide was incarcerated in the Jackson prison last Saturday afternoon. He will hereafter be known at the prison as 4,578.

Prof. J. R. Miller, who has been living at Grenada, Col., for the past year or two has returned to Michigan, and will make his home in Ridgeway again.

A pleasant little company assembled at Mrs. C. A. Stacy's Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Ella Walker of Brooklyn, who is visiting friends in Tecumseh.

We acknowledge a pleasant call yesterday from Geo. H. Miles, of the Detroit Tribune staff. George's position is a congenial one to him and he is making a valuable man for the paper.

Harper's Magazine has discovered a new author of promise in Kentucky, Miss Nannie Mayo Fitzhugh. A short story by her, "T'other Miss Mandy," will appear in the June number.

Lansing has been selected as the permanent location for the State Fair. The State Society procure sixty acres of land without expense and the city is to furnish water free of charge. The street railway tracks will also be extended to the grounds.

Rev. Peter Sharp has sold his property in Ridgeway and will close out his business. One of the old land marks of Ridgeway will be gone when he moves away. He will probably make his home hereafter with his daughter, Mrs. D. McNair, in Tecumseh.

Monday noon the piles and bridging at the Mackinaw sink-hole, near Blackman's cider mill, sank several feet. A force of fifty or sixty men have been at work ever since putting in dirt and trees, and endeavoring to make another foundation for the track. No engines have crossed the place, the trains being backed across the hole and connected with an engine on the other side. The money expended by the Mackinaw on this sink-hole, and the one a little further north, probably amounts to more than the entire sum subscribed for the road by Hudson—$32,000.—Hudson Gazette.

How people live in New York is a subject of general interest, and is fully treated of, from the lowest hovels to the palaces on Fifth Avenue, in a beautifully illustrated article in Demorest's Monthly Magazine for June. It takes you, by way of illustrations and descriptions, from the squalor of the 5-cent lodging-houses, through the various phases of life to the gorgeous modern flats and the palatial homes of the astors and Vanderbilts. In this number is found also "Amusements in Japan," which, differing so radically from our amusements, are amusing to read about, especially as the article is so finely illustrated. "How to form a club," by "Jenny June," is necessarily well written, and in a chatty way gives much good advice. There are numerous other interesting articles and amusing stories, and a full-page water-color of "Water-Lillies" is well worth framing.

R. L. Baxter is spending three weeks at Battle Creek with his son Frank.

Fred Deuel is at Devils Lake this week, and expects to run his steamer to-day to accommodate a big excursion from the south.

Our old Plymouth Rock hen has beaten the record. We set her on thirteen eggs and she hatched out fifteen chickens.

Mrs. Dr. Thos. Miller, of Washington, D C., is at her father's, C. C. Tefft's and will remain here for a month or so.

Several Tecumseh youths were at once stage struck on seeing Uncle Tom's Cabin played here last Tuesday and signed a contract with the company. They will star in both light and heavy parts—leading the donkey in the parade and driving stakes for the tent.

M. P. Henry, who has been sojourning among his old friends for the past week, will return to-morrow. He is now living at Easton, Md., on the eastern shore across the Bay from Baltimore, where he is engaged in the grocery business. He is well pleased with his location there.

Dr. Bennett will be at the Lilley House, Monday, May 20th, and every 4 weeks thereafter. There is no man in all Michigan giving results on curing chronic troubles as he can cure all by his new method of treatment. Asthma, hay fever, dyspepsia, head and back aches. Never fails to cure. Go and see how he gets them well.

Paul Ahrens, who has been seriously ill for the past week, died at the Lilley House this morning at one o'clock. Mr. Ahrens has made many friends during his residence here who will mourn his departure. He came to Tecumseh from Adrian, his old home, and has been working in J. J. Freeman's cigar factory. The remains will be taken to Adrian this afternoon. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon.

The School Board have recently received from the publishers, D. Appleton & Co., a nice donation, being about 500 volumes of supplementary readers. Appleton's regular series of readers are now used in the school and have been for some time. These supplementary readers have been recently introduced and are meeting with much favor wherever they have been used. The donation consists of one volume for every regular reader now in use in the school.

LESSON VII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 19.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xiv, 12-26—Commit Verses 22-24—Golden Text, Luke xxii, 19—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

12. "The first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover." The last day on earth in a mortal body had come; this night He would keep the passover with His disciples, and on the morrow be crucified—Christ our passover sacrificed for us (I Cor. v, 7)—and He went forward calmly, unwaveringly, knowing every step of the way beforehand. It was over fourteen hundred years since the first passover was kept that night in Egypt, when by the blood of a lamb the first born of Israel were saved from death and the nation brought forth from their bondage by the outstretched arm of Jehovah, and now the Lamb of God to whom every sacrifice from the beginning pointed is about to be slain, whose blood saves from eternal death all to whom it is applied, and who shall yet accomplish for Israel a greater deliverance than that from Egypt. Let every teacher study carefully the story of the passover and unleavened bread in Ex. xii and teach the scholars to await with them its future fulfillment in the Kingdom of God.

13. "He sendeth forth two of his disciples." Just as when He wanted the ass' colt (chap. xi, 1), but this time we know whom He sent, for Lu. xxii, 8, says it was Peter and John; He may have sent the same two on the previous occasion, but we are not told. He sendeth whom He will, and where He will, and every disciple is expected to be ready and promptly obey, willing to be sent anywhere, and just as willing to be passed by and see another sent; the last is sometimes the hardest.

"Go ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water; follow him." All things are naked and open to His eyes. He is acquainted with all our words and ways (Heb. iv, 13; Ps. cxxxix, 1-4); it would help us to remember this. Just as in I Sam. x: Samuel told Saul that morning whom he should meet that day, what they would be carrying, what they would give him and say to him, so our Lord could tell us every morning all the events of the day that is before us; let the practical effect of this on us be, that whatever may come to us we shall say, "Now my Saviour knew this beforehand, He has permitted this and I will be still and hear His voice and see what He will do."

14. "The Master saith, where is the guest chamber where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?" What a privilege to prepare a room for Jesus and welcome Him and His disciples to it; what a privilege to let Him have the use of anything that we have, but how slow we are to see it. Jesus knew that man's heart, and knew that he would gladly provide the guest chamber and therefore sent the disciples to him. Does He see that we daily wait and watch for opportunities to serve Him?

15. "He will shew you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us." This indicates the man's cheerful and willing service; he did not do as little as he could; he did not say, Well, if I give the use of a room that is all He can expect of me, but, like Mary in the previous lesson, he did all that he could, he gave a furnished and prepared room. Jesus gave Himself, His all, for us, unless we cheerfully place all we are and have at His service it is a proof that we do not know or appreciate His love to us.

16. "His disciples went forth and came into the city, and found as He had said unto them, and they made ready the passover." When we obey Him we will always find it just as He says; there is nothing so safe and sure and glorious as believing and obeying God. If we are willing and obedient we shall eat the good of the land (Isa. i, 19).

17. "And in the evening He cometh with the twelve." One of them had in his heart the spirit of murder, for he had been to the chief priests and agreed with them for a sum of money to betray Him unto them (vs. 10, 11); yet He continues with the twelve as one of them, not thinking that the searcher of hearts saw his every step and knew his every word and act. How many are like him today and yet continue among the number of the professed followers of Jesus!

18. "And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, one of you which eateth with Me shall betray Me." If you would have the complete record, read between the last verse and this one Luke xxii, 15-18; John xiii, 1-17, and prayerfully ponder the things written there concerning the kingdom of God and the present need of cleanness, humility and loving ministry to others.

19. "They began to be sorrowful, and to say unto Him one by one, Is it I?" Luke and John tell us that they began to inquire among themselves, doubting of whom He spake. What a testimony to the devilish skill of Judas that he could be for three years a thief and hypocrite, and these eleven not find it out and perhaps not suspect it; on the other hand what a glorious testimony to the long suffering and wondrous love of Jesus that He bore so patiently with this wicked one and never in any way indicated to the others what he was.

20. "He answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve that dippeth with me in the dish." If all dipped in the same dish this would be like saying, it is one who can eat with me and yet kill me, which would be the breaking of the most solemn vow of friendship and fidelity. Matthew says, "he that dippeth his hand with me in the dish," which might imply that Judas was sitting or reclining near to Jesus; he also tells us that Judas then said, "Master, is it I?" to which Jesus replied, "Thou hast said," thus finally pointing him out before them all, for the time had come, as it will surely come, sooner or later, to all like him. For further light on this particular moment at the feast read John xiii, 21-30.

21. "Good were it for that man if he had never been born." Then, plainly, it is better never to be born than to profess to belong to Christ and be a hypocrite.

22. "And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them and said, Take, eat; this is my body." We conclude from John xiii, 30, that Judas had at this time gone out, and now that the passover sacrifice was about to receive its grand fulfillment (the future fulfillment in the kingdom will be as to results), Jesus institutes a new ordinance, which is to be observed by His followers till he come again (I Cor. xi, 26).

23, 24. "And He took the cup, * * * and he said unto them, This is my blood of the new testament which is shed for many." After all had eaten of the bread then He passed to each the wine, bidding them drink of it, and telling them that it was His blood shed for the remission of sins. The smallest child can understand that when Jesus said, "I am the door," "I am the vine," "I am the morning star," that He did not mean that He was a real door, or vine, or star, such as all children see and know about, but that He was in some respects like these; let the teachers explain; So when He said this is my body, this is my blood, let it be made very plain to the children that it was actual bread and wine which He gave to His disciples and which they ate and drank, and not in any sense His real flesh and blood, any more than He was a real wooden door or vine.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

EXCITEMENT AT MANISTEE, MICH.

A Polish War in Progress—The Militia Called Out.

MANISTEE, Mich., May 4—A Polish war has begun here. Trouble which has been brewing for the past six months culminated Saturday morning in open hostilities and a mob composed of Rev. Father Grochowsk's opponents attacked his house, assaulted the priest and would have killed him but for the timely arrival of the sheriff and a posse. The fire department was called out to disperse the mob, but not proving sufficient, the Light guards were ordered out and 25 men responded in 15 minutes. There is great excitement and the town is quiet.

THIRD POINT

You should read the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because it's an independent newspaper. There are two sides to every political question, and THE DAILY NEWS gives them both with equal fairness. A party organ magnifies one side and dwarfs the other. No sensible man wants to be trifled with in this fashion. The time has gone by when American citizens expect to inherit their political opinions. They want to make their own—and to do this they want a paper to tell them the truth, regardless of their own personal preferences. If you are an honest man, independent and self-reliant in thought, read an honest and independent newspaper—read The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

ESTATE OF RHODA STEVENS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 7th day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Rhoda Stevens, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified of Asabel Stevens, a brother of said deceased, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to petitioner or some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 3d day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

An interesting letter for Ladies:

Hastings Centre, Oswsgo Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain,

MARY H. BEEMAN.

That dreaded backache can be Cured

Rochester, N. Y., August 2, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co.—Dear Sir—Allow me to recommend your medicine to anyone suffering from backache and kidney trouble. It has cured me entirely, and I am quite sure will do the same for anyone who will give it a fair trial.

Yours truly, MRS. A. W. KELLEY. 59 Courtland st., N. Y.

Tecumseh Herald

The Great War Syndicate.

By FRANK R. STOCKTON.

No one approached the vicinity of the bluff where the fort had stood, for danger might not be over; but every possible point of observation within a safe distance was soon crowded with anxious and terrified observers. A feeling of awe was noticeable everywhere. If people could have had a tangible idea of what had occurred, it would have been different. If the sea had raged; if a vast body of water had been thrown into the air; if a dense cloud had been suddenly ejected from the surface of the earth, they might have formed some opinion about it. But the instantaneous disappearance of a great fortification with a little more appreciable accompaniment than the sudden tap, as of a little hammer, upon thousands of window panes, was something which their intellects could not grasp. It was not to be expected that the ordinary mind could appreciate the difference between the action of an instantaneous motor when imbedded in rocks and earth, and its effect, when opposed by nothing but stone walls, upon or near the surface of the earth.

Early the next morning the little fleet of the syndicate prepared to carry out its further orders. The waters of the lower bay were now entirely deserted, craft of every description having taken refuge in the upper part of the harbor near and above the city. Therefore as soon as it was light enough to make observations Repeller No. 1 did not hesitate to discharge a motor bomb into the harbor, a mile or more above where the first one had fallen. This was done in order to explode any torpedoes which might have been put into position since the discharge of the first bomb.

There were very few people in the city and suburbs who were at that hour out of doors, where they could see the great cloud of water rise toward the sky, and behold it descend like a mighty cataract upon the harbor and adjacent shores; but the quick, sharp shock which ran under the town made people spring from their beds, and although nothing was then to be seen, nearly everybody felt sure that the syndicate's forces had begun their day's work by exploding another mine.

A lighthouse, the occupants of which had been ordered to leave when the fort was evacuated, as they might be in danger in case of a bombardment, was so shaken by the explosion of this motor bomb that it fell in ruins on the rocks upon which it had stood.

The two crabs now took the steel net from its moorings and carried it up the harbor. This was rather difficult on account of the islands, rocks and sandbars; but the leading crab had on board a pilot acquainted with those waters. With the net hanging between them, the two submerged vessels, one carefully following the other, reached a point about two miles below the city, where the net was anchored across the harbor. It did not reach from shore to shore, but in the course of the morning two other nets, designed for shallower waters, were brought from the repellers and anchored at each end of the main net, thus forming a line of complete protection against submarine torpedoes which might be sent down from the upper harbor.

Repeller No. 1 now steamed into the harbor, accompanied by Crab A, and anchored about a quarter of a mile seaward of the net. The other repeller, with her attendant crab, cruised about the mouth of the harbor, watching a smaller entrance to the port as well as the larger one, and thus maintaining an effective blockade. This was not a difficult duty, for since the news of the extraordinary performances of the crabs had been spread abroad, no merchant vessel, large or small, cared to approach that port; and strict orders had been issued by the British admiralty that no vessel of the navy should, until further instructed, engage in combat with the peculiar craft of the syndicate. Until a plan of action had been determined upon, it was very desirable that English cruisers should not be exposed to useless injury and danger.

This being the state of affairs, a message was sent from the office of the syndicate across the border to the Dominion government, which stated that the seaport city which had been attacked by the forces of the syndicate now lay under the guns of its vessels, and in case of an overt act of war by Great Britain or Canada alone, such as the entrance of an armed force from British territory into the United States, or a capture of or attack upon an American vessel, navel or commercial, by a British man-of-war, or an attack upon an American port by British vessels, the city would be bombarded and destroyed.

This message, which was of course instantly transmitted to London, placed the British government in the apparent position of being held by the throat by the American War Syndicate. But if the British government or the people of England or Canada recognized this position at all it was merely as a temporary condition. In a short time the most powerful men-of-war of the royal navy, as well as a fleet of transports carrying troops, would reach the coasts of North America, and then the condition of affairs would rapidly be changed. It was absurd to suppose that a few medium sized vessels, however heavily armored, or a few new fangled submarine machines, however destructive they might be, could withstand an armada of the largest and finest armored vessels in the world. A ship or two might be disabled, although this was unlikely, now that the new method of attack was understood; but it would soon be the ports of the United States, on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, which would lie under the guns of an enemy.

But it was not in the power of their navy that the British government and the people of England and Canada placed their greatest trust, but in the incapacity of their petty foe to support its ridiculous assumptions. The claim that the city lay under the guns of the American syndicate was considered ridiculous, for few people believed that these vessels had any guns. Certainly there had been no evidence that any shots had been fired from them. In the opinion of reasonable people the destruction of the forts and the explosions in the harbor had been caused by mines—mines of a new and terrifying power—which were the work of traitors and confederates. The destruction of the lighthouse had strengthened this belief, for its fall was similar to that which would have been occasioned by a great explosion under its foundation.

But however terrifying and appalling had been the results of the explosion of these mines, it was not thought probable that there were any more of them. The explosions had taken place at exposed points distant from the city, and the most careful investigation failed to discover any present signs of mining operations.

This theory of mines worked by confederates was received throughout the civilized world, and was universally condemned. Even in the United States the feeling was so strong against this apparent alliance between the syndicate and British traitors that there was reason to believe that a popular pressure would be brought to bear upon the government sufficient to force it to break its contract with the syndicate and to carry on the war with the national army and navy. The crab was considered an admirable addition to the strength of a navy, but a mine under a fort, laid and fired by perfidious confederates, was considered unworthy an enlightened people.

The members of the syndicate now found themselves in an embarrassing and dangerous position; a position in which they were placed by the universal incredulity regarding the instantaneous motor, and unless they could make the world believe that they really used such a motor bomb, the war could not be prosecuted on the plan projected.

It was easy enough to convince the enemy of the terrible destruction the syndicate was able to effect; but to make that enemy and the world understand that this was done by bombs, which could be used in one place as well as another, was difficult indeed. They had attempted to prove this by announcing that at a certain time a bomb should be projected into a certain fort. Precisely at the specified time the fort had been destroyed, but nobody believed that a bomb had been fired.

Every opinion, official or popular, concerning what it had done and what might be expected of it, was promptly forwarded to the syndicate by its agents, and it was thus enabled to see very plainly indeed that the effect it had desired to produce had not been produced. Unless the enemy could be made to understand that any fort or ships within ten miles of one of the syndicate's cannon could be instantaneously dissipated in the shape of fine dust, this war could not be carried on upon the principles adopted, and therefore might as well pass out of the hands of the syndicate.

Day by day and night by night the state of affairs was anxiously considered at the office of the syndicate in New York. A new and important undertaking was determined upon, and on the success of this the hopes of the syndicate now depended.

During the rapid and vigorous preparations which the syndicate were now making for their new venture, several events of interest occurred.

Two of the largest Atlantic mail steamers, carrying infantry and artillery troops, and conveyed by two swift and powerful men-of-war, arrived off the coast of Canada, considerably to the north of the blockaded city. The departure and probable time of arrival of the vessels had been telegraphed to the syndicate, through one of the continental cables; and a repeller with two crabs had been for some days waiting for them. The English vessels had taken a high northern course, hoping they might enter the Gulf of St. Lawrence without subjecting themselves to injury from the enemy's crabs, it not being considered probable that there were enough of these vessels to patrol the entire coast. But although the crabs were few in number, the syndicate was able to place them where they would be of most use, and when the English vessels arrived off the northern entrance to the gulf, they found their enemies there.

However strong might be the incredulity of the enemy regarding the powers of a repeller to bombard a city, the syndicate felt sure there would be no present invasion of the United States from Canada, but it wished to convince the British government that troops and munitions of war could not be safely transported across the Atlantic. On the other hand, the syndicate very much objected to undertaking the imprisonment and sustenance of a large body of soldiers. Orders were therefore given to the officer in charge of the repeller not to molest the two transports, but to remove the rudders and extract the screws of the two war vessels, leaving them to be towed into port by the troop ships.

This duty was performed by the crabs, while the British vessels, both rams, were preparing to make a united and vigorous onset on the repeller, and the two men-of-war were left helplessly tossing on the waves. One of the transports, a very fast steamer, had already entered the straits, and could not be signaled, but the other one returned and took both the war ships in tow, proceeding very slowly until, after entering the gulf, she was relieved by tugboats.

Another event of a somewhat different character was the occasion of much excited feeling and comment, particularly in the United States. The descent and attack by British vessels on an Atlantic port was a matter of popular expectation. The syndicate had repellers and crabs at the most important points, but in the minds of naval officers, and a large portion of the people, little dependence for defense was to be placed upon these. As to the ability of the war syndicate to prevent invasion or attack by means of its threats to bombard the blockaded Canadian port, very few believed in it. Even if the syndicate could do any more damage in that quarter, which was improbable, what was to prevent the British navy from playing the same game, and entering an American seaport, threaten to bombard the place if the syndicate did not immediately run all their queer vessels high and dry on some convenient beach?

time that the war contract had been made, and this feeling increased daily. That the officers and men of the United States navy should be penned up in harbors, ports and sounds, while British ships and the hulking mine springers and rudder pinchers of the syndicate were allowed to roam the ocean at will, was a very hard thing for brave sailors to bear. Sometimes the resentments against this state of affairs rose almost to a revolt.

The great naval preparations of England were not yet complete, but single British men-of-war were now frequently seen off the Atlantic coast of the United States. No American vessels had been captured by these since the message of the syndicate to the Dominion of Canada and the British government. But one good reason for this was the fact that it was very difficult now to find upon the Atlantic ocean a vessel sailing under the American flag. As far as possible these had taken refuge in their own ports or in those of neutral countries.

At the mouth of Delaware bay, behind the great Breakwater, was now collected a number of coastwise sailing vessels and steamers of various classes and sizes; and for the protection of these maritime refugees two vessels of the United States navy were stationed at this point. These were the Lenox and Stockbridge, two of the finest cruisers in the service, and commanded by two of the most restless and bravest officers of the American navy.

The appearance early on a summer morning of a large British cruiser off the mouth of the harbor filled those two commanders with uncontrollable belligerency. That in time of war a vessel of the enemy should be allowed, undisturbed, to sail up and down before an American harbor, while an American vessel filled with brave American sailors lay inside like a cowed dog, was a thought which goaded the soul of each of these commanders. There was a certain rivalry between the two ships, and considering the insult offered by the flaunting red cross in the offing, and the humiliating restrictions imposed by the naval department, each commander thought only of his own ship, and not at all of the other.

It was almost at the same time that the commanders of the two ships separately came to the conclusion that the proper way to protect the fleet behind the breakwater was for his vessel to boldly steam out to sea and attack the British cruiser. If this vessel carried a long range gun, what was to hinder her from suddenly running in closer and sending a few shells into the midst of the defenseless merchantmen? In fact, to go out and fight her was the only way to protect the lives and property in the harbor.

It was true that one of those beastly repellers was sneaking about off the cape, accompanied, probably, by an under water tongs boat. But as neither of these had done anything or seemed likely to do anything, the British cruiser should be attacked without loss of time.

When the commander of the Lenox came to this decision, his ship was well abreast of Cape Henlopen, and he therefore proceeded directly out to sea. There was a little fear in his mind that the English cruiser, which was now bearing to the southeast, might sail off and get away from him. The Stockbridge was detained by the arrival of a dispatch boat from the shore with a message from the naval department. But as this message related only to the measurements of a certain deck gun, her commander intended as soon as an answer could be sent off, to sail out and give battle to the British vessel.

Every soul on board the Lenox was now filled with fiery ardor. The ship was already in good fighting trim, but every possible preparation was made for a contest which should show their country and the world what American sailors were made of.

The Lenox had not proceeded more than a mile out to sea when she perceived Repeller No. 6 coming toward her from seaward, and in a direction which indicated that it intended to run across her course. The Lenox, however, went straight on, and in a short time the two vessels were quite near each other. Upon the deck of the repeller now appeared the director in charge, who, with a speaking trumpet, hailed the Lenox and requested her to lay to, as he had something to communicate. The commander of the Lenox, through his trumpet, answered that he wanted no communications, and advised the other vessel to keep out of his way.

The Lenox now put on a greater head of steam, and as she was in any case a much faster vessel than the repeller, she rapidly increased the distance between herself and the syndicate's vessel, so that in a few moments hailing was impossible. Quick signals now shot up in jets of black smoke from the repeller, and in a very short time afterward the speed of the Lenox slackened so much that the repeller was able to come up with her.

When the two vessels were abreast of each other, and at a safe hailing distance apart, another signal went up from the repeller, and then both vessels almost ceased to move through the water, although the engines of the Lenox were working at high speed, with her propeller blades stirring up a whirlpool at her stern.

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good, reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

Free from alcohol and opium; composed of expensive herbs and roots, with a fine, delicate flavoring.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-writer Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and scrauder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is size covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine into view.

Second—The adjustable swinging table arm. The table is [illegible] by patent malleable iron arms, that when the machine is brought in place for use, it can be adjusted on ropes or hangers [illegible] and rigidly in place by screws, [illegible] possible for the machine to be [illegible] machine in back of desk by the breaking of a [illegible] part. The machine rests on rubber [illegible] machine in place, and can be [illegible] and the desk, well under the operator's hand.

Third—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as rigid as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

EARLY AMERICANS.

Simplicity in their mode of living was the marked characteristic of the early settlers of America.

Everything which pertained to them was plain and unostentatious.

The food which they ate was frugally served and of the substantial kind.

Their clothing was home-spun and the moccasins which covered their feet were a home product, being made from the hide of animals and ornamented with beads after the Indian fashion.

Their homes were simplicity itself, consisting of roughly hewn logs and home made shingles—the whole constituting the old Log-Cabin home of frontier life.

Yet those were model homes.

The wives and mothers were well versed in the art of all that pertained to house-wifery.

Conspicuous in the early home was the striking figure of the old grandmother.

Not only was she the adviser in social affairs but she was the medical adviser and prescriber for the sick. Often were her hands engaged in the preparation of some healing potion or remedy for the relief of those in ill-health. Fully versed in the bountiful supplies contained in the grand store-house of Nature, she wisely knew how to utilize the curative properties contained in certain roots and herbs and accordingly she transformed them into certain remedial agents which have made the old Log Cabin famous for all time to come.

Conscious of the great value of some of those old time home cures a successful effort has been made to re-discover the lost secret of their preparation, and, coupled with all the improvement which human ingenuity and progress suggests, they are now widely known under the name of WARNER'S LOG CABIN REMEDIES, the most prominent being Log Cabin sarsaparilla and Log Cabin cough and consumption cure.

The suffering public has been quick to recognize and appreciate their true value and the manufacturers are daily in receipt of much praise for the re-discovery and revival of these old time remedies against sickness and disease.

To the old Log Cabin home, however, is justly due praise for all the good which may, thereby, be effected.

The Petersburgh Journal asks for a road scraper, that the streets may be kept "neat and clean;" inquires: "Why don't you clean your front yard?" wants an ordinance passed, prohibiting the sticking of posters on the lamp posts and adds: "Let us have some one thing neat and clean." As an initial experiment, how would it do to sweep out the Journal office.—Adrian Press.

"IT IS a fact that many of the best proprietary medicines of the day," said the late Dr. J. G. Holland in Scribner's Magazine, "are more successful than many physicians, and most of them were first discovered or used in actual medical practice. When, however, any shrewd person, knowing their virtue and foreseeing their popularity, secures and advertises them, in the opinion of the bigoted, all virtue went out of them." Failure of eyesight, fickle appetite, headache, extreme wakefulness, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, gradual failure of strength and dropsical swelling,—these are symptoms of kidney disease. If you neglect the symptoms you will eventually have Bright's Disease Warner's Safe Cure is the only specific which has ever been discovered for this disease. The late Dr. Dio Lewis, over his own signature said: "If I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble, I would use Warner's Safe Cure.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co, Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co. The WALTER A. WOOD

Single Canvas Binders

LEAD THEM ALL.

726,510 Machines have been sold. 54,026 made and sold in 1888.

The Single Apron Improvement.

Its striking advantages are—three rollers as compared with six; one canvas versus three; six bearings as compared with twelve; three buckles versus twelve. The draft of the machine is thereby very materially reduced. The apron is driven from the underside, hence the upper side or top of apron is comparatively loose and easily passes, without friction, under the apron guides.

The only Binder adjustments on the Wood are the three desirable ones—Regulating size of Bundle—Regulating tightness of Binding—Regulating position of Band. Each of these adjustments is made instantly.

The new Enclosed Gear Mower is the best mower ever made.

Farmers should call and examine these machines before buying.

A colt, belonging to Samuel Wilson, was terribly injured a few days ago, while dragging. In turning a corner the drag bounded up and fell on the animal, but tipped back, bottom upwards. The colt reared and fell back on the drag, struggled up, and fell again. Great holes were cut in its leg and flank and the result will probably be fatal.

Bert Briggs has resigned the charge of the Center school, having been tendered a more desirable position in the postal service. A new teacher, whose name your correspondent did not learn, has been procured. That school seems to be having more than its share of pedagogues this year.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

There was quite an attraction at the Depot one day last week and it is said that some of the boys were "mashed." How is it boys?

There is quite an attraction at the Post Office in the shape of (Two White Rats.)

The Britton first nine had a matched game of base ball with the pickup nine of the same place last Saturday which our "Wash" says resulted in the score standing nine to nothing in favor of the pickups. We hope the first nine will do better and not get "Rattled" in the near future.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

RIDGEWAY ON PAPER.

Business called us to Ridgeway one day last week, and as it was a beautiful afternoon we put in the time between two trains to pretty good advantage interviewing the inhabitants. Ridgeway is not putting on metropolitan airs that is true, but considerable business is transacted there nevertheless, and we know of no pleasanter village for a home.

Rev. Peter Sharp, who we believe is the oldest business man there, is about retiring from active business life He has sold the old corner and will have an auction sale of his stock next Saturday. Who will take his place is a mystery.

S. P. Smith sells good groceries as of yore, and dishes out ice cream in hot weather. He also conducts the "Hotel Smith," as is familiarly known, and he is abundantly competent to run a much larger hotel if he had the chance.

Waring & Potter have dissolved and gone out of trade, but their old stand is now occupied by Will Clack, who is enjoying a good run of trade and honestly owns up to the fact that "he is getting rich."

H. J. Williams has renovated and moved into the old Clack corner and is evidently thriving. He is working up quite an extensive business in putting on slate roofs.

Samuel Helm and Son furnish the farmers of that section with good harness. If anyone wants a summons or warrant served, W. J. Helm can do it with neatness and dispatch.

Hon. G. P. Waring still retains his undertaking business, and his services are frequently sought for in that section of the county.

Walt Cadmus runs the shoe shop, that is by proxy, but he manages a nice establishment just the same.

Doctors Loree and Nelson minister to the ills that flesh is heir to. We should hate to trust ourselves with either of them on a post mortem.

Rev. A. J. Lowery is filling a most successful pastorate in the M.E. church.

The village school is in a prosperous condition under the efficient charge of Prof. H. W. Daniels and Miss Franc Farrah.

T. H. Temple is the grain buyer there, and is working up a nice trade in that line.

Harrison and Bannister and N. M. Hindes furnish fish, flesh and fowl for the tables of the town. Which runs the best market would be a very difficult question to answer.

Wm. Riggs shoes their horses, while Wm. H. Arner makes their wagons and tries their law suits. Unfortunately for him however the denizens of the village are so peaceable and law-abiding that he rarely has any suits to try. But Tecumseh furnishes him one occasionally.

Mrs. W. J. Helm and Miss Ray Luce provide the dresses and gowns for the maidens and matrons of that vicinity.

The musical talents of the rising generation are properly trained by Miss Belle Barlow. She has a class of 31 pupils on the piano and organ, and devotes almost the entire week to musical instruction. Miss Barlow has already achieved the reputation of being one of the most accomplished musicians and successful instructors in the county.

The postoffice! Have we forgotten that? Not much. If there is a country postoffice in southern Michigan more efficiently conducted, we should like to know its location. The good people of Ridgeway had better take our advice and petition Capt. Allen to construe the civil service rules strictly in this case. DeWitt is a first-class postmaster in a fourth-class office, even if he is a bachelor.

But the attraction of Ridgeway, par excellence, that which challenges the admiration of both the permanent resident and the transient visitor, of the gray haired veteran and the aesthetic young maiden alike, is the Jonathan Hall Library. F.J. Temple is a model librarian, and we were nicely entertained there for half an hour. He permitted us to wear our hat in the reading room, and to talk out loud—when there was no one else in the library. Some valuable new books have lately been placed on the shelves. Robert Elsmere, by Mrs. Ward; John Ward Preacher, by Margaret Deland; the Story of an African Farm, by Ralph Iron; the American Conflict, in 2 vols., by Greeley; Economic Philosophy by Van Buren Denslow. All the standard magazines which are received monthly, have been bound for 1888. Another valuable acquisition is the official history of the late war, compiled from the official records. Thirty volumes have already been issued and the full set will likely comprise at least 50 volumes. These books were procured through the assistance of Congressman Allen. The total number of volumes now in the library exceeds one thousand.

Clark E. Carr, of Illinois, Goes to Denmark —Other Appointments.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 17.—A batch of diplomatic appointments was announced from the White house yesterday, including the following:

CLARK E. CARR

Clark E. Carr, of Illinois, to be minister resident and consul general of the United States to Denmark.

Solomon Hirsch, of Oregon to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Turkey.

Henry W. Severance, of California, to be consul general of the United States at Honolulu.

John Jarrett, of Pennsylvania, to be consul of the United States at Birmingham.

Thomas H. Sherman, of the District of Columbia, to be consul of the United States at Liverpool.

The president also appointed the following postmasters: James H. Clugage at Sullivan, Ind.; Henry S. Bennett, Evansville, Ind.; Edward H. Hosmer, Youngstown, O.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 18.—The president made a few more citizens happy yesterday by appointing them to offices. The list of appointees included:

Richard L. Walker, of Kansas, to be United States marshal for the district of Kansas; Amor Smith, Jr., of Ohio, to be surveyor of customs for the port of Cincinnati; David W. McClung, of Ohio, to be collector of internal revenue for the First district of Ohio.

Also the following home rule territorial appointments: William D. Lee to be associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico, John W. Witcher to be United States attorney for Nevada, John Murphy to be attorney for Dakota and James W. Savage, of Omaha, Neb., to be a government director of the Union Pacific railroad.

Charles Roeser, Jr., of Wisconsin, was appointed topographer of the postoffice department, vice David Enright, of Michigan, removed, and Hon. John R. Lynch, of Mississippi, fourth auditor of the treasury.

RECKLESS OF THEIR LIVES.

Seventeen Men Take a Locomotive on a Burning Bridge.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 20.—A terrible accident occurred on the Lebanon branch of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, about nine miles from this city, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The bridge across Stone river caught fire from a passing train. Seventeen men—two whites and fifteen negroes, who were working on the road near by, went to the bridge and took an engine on it with the intention of extinguishing the fire with the water from the tender.

Precipitated Into the Chasm.

The span gave way, carrying the men and engine into the river, fifty feet below. William Morgan, white, the engineer, received serious internal injuries. The fireman, Charles Gribble, also white, had his leg broken, and received other serious injuries, and three of the negro laborers were killed and six injured, four dangerously.

Another Case of Seventeen.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 20.—An accident occurred at Carleyville station yesterday by which seventeen persons were injured, two or three seriously. The Madoc mixed train was standing at the station when another train following crashed into the rear car, a passenger coach, with the above result.

RUN DOWN ON THE LAKE.

The Schooner Merick Sunk Off Presque Isle—Five Lives Lost.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 20.—The steamer R. P. Ranney, which arrived down Saturday forenoon reports having been in collision with the schooner M. F. Merick off Presque island, resulting in the sinking of the schooner with the loss of all her crew excepting the captain and one man. The following were lost: Martin Johnson, mate; Mrs. Cole, cook; —— Kannelly, seaman, all of Clayton, Ont.; J. Charlevoix and W. Our, seamen, of Detroit.

Sank in Twenty Seconds.

The schooner sank in twenty seconds after being struck. Mrs. Cole, the cook, stood aft holding on to the wheel. When the schooner sank every possible effort was made by the Ranney's crew to save the schooner's crew. The steamer's engines were reversed when they came together. The weather was so thick they could see only a short distance.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 149 Powers block, Rochester, N. Y.

Used one bottle of Mother's Friend before my first confinement. It is a wonderful remedy. Looked and felt so well afterwards friends remarked it. Would not be without Mother's Friend for any consideration.

Their Robust Character Once More Illustrated

BY A PICTURE DRAWN IN BLOOD.

A Volley of Bullets Intended for a Colored Editor Finds Victims in the Persons of Three Whites—The Hunted Negro Shot to Pieces Next Day, and Matters Will Probably Quiet Down Now—Cause of the "Difficulty" a School Election.

FOREST CITY, Ark., May 20.—Three people were killed here in an election affray Saturday. It was an election for school directors. S. M. Neely, a colored editor, became involved in a fight with a white man and ran toward ex-Sheriff John H. Parkham, apparently for protection. In a flash a dozen revolvers were drawn and a volley was poured after the fleeing negro.

Result of the "Gun Play."

When the fire ceased Thomas H. Parkham, son of the ex-sheriff; Frank Faebre, marshal, and D. M. Wilson, sheriff, were found dead on the ground. Neely escaped, but is believed to be wounded. He is the editor of The Advocate.

"Shot Like a Dog."

LATER.—The fight between the whites and negroes here Saturday, in which three white men were killed, culminated yesterday in an attack on the building in which S. M. Neely, the political leader of the colored Republicans, had taken refuge. Neely was found concealed in the cellar and was shot like a dog. Neely, his father and brother, took refuge in The Advocate building when the killing of D. M. Wilson, Thomas Parkham, and Frank Faebre occurred Saturday evening. Every effort was made to get at Neely, but they proved unsuccessful, as the negroes had barricaded the doors.

Stormed the Hiding Place.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning several shots were fired into the building in the hope of scaring the negroes to a surrender. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning Acting Sheriff Van B. Izard persuaded old man Neely and one of his sons to come out, promising them a safe conduct to the jail and a fair trial. S. M. Neely did not appear. The sheriff's posse was not more than 100 yards distant with the two prisoners when a number of other members of the posse raided The Advocate building. S. M. Neely was discovered secreted under the floor and was riddled with bullets, at least ten shots being fired into him. It was thought that others of the Neely party were concealed under the floor, and the posse made an extended search, but no more were found.

The Governor on the Ground.

The last killing created a great deal more excitement, and the people were afraid of a raid on the town by the negroes. The acting sheriff wired Governor James P. Eagle the facts, and asked that a company of militia be ordered here. The governor came himself, and is in constant communication with Adjt. Gen. John C. England, and if they are needed the McCarthy Light Guards are ready to move by special train at a moment's notice. The company is well equipped and will be able to handle the mob. It is thought now that there will be no further trouble. The feeling was so high against Neely that his death was looked for every moment after the beginning of the riot, and now that he is out of the way it is thought the feeling will subside, unless there is a negro uprising, when the military will be called out.

Cause of the Murder.

The candidates for re-election to the school board were two white members of the board, but Neely and his side desired to replace these men with their candidates. Neely said: "We propose to secure control of the board and manage the school to suit ourselves." Neely made "incendiary" speeches on the subject. He was a prominent Republican. He was a member of the state central committee and of the executive committee, and had secured the recommendation of that body for register of the land office at this place, and would doubtless have been appointed, as so far President Harrison has observed the recommendations of this committee in making appointments for this state.

SHOCKING INFANTILE DEPRAVITY.

Two Children of Eight and Eleven Years Kill their Sister Aged Three Years.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 20.—A shocking story of infantile depravity comes from Spartanburg county. Gabriella Steadman, a little 3-year-old girl, was left by her father in the care of a sister, Hester, aged 8, and a brother 11 years old. The little one became fretful and cried continually. Hester was heard to say that if the child did not stop she would give it something to keep it quiet.

The Little One Quieted.

Two hours later Hester and her brother went to a neighbor's house and said their little sister was dead. The child was found carefully covered up in bed quite dead, with a wound on the back of her head. A stick with which the murder was committed was found on the floor. It is not known whether the girl Hester killed her sister unaided, or was assisted by the brother. Neither of the children have been arrested.

Jones Unable to Clear Himself.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 18.—Richard Walker of Topeka, Kas., was Friday appointed to take W. C. Jones' place, who has been removed, as marshal in Oklahoma. Mr. Jones was unable to clear himself of the charges made against him concerning his participation in land-grabbing schemes in the new territory. The reports ordered to be made by the interior department from the inspectors sent down into the new territory showed up bad for Jones. He failed to purge himself to the department of justice according to the attorney general's request, and he has suffered the penalty—removal from an office to which he was but a couple of months ago appointed. Mr. Walker, his successor, is a prominent Republican politician in Kansas and has held several offices in that state.

An Indiana Law Unconstitutional.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 20.—The Jay county circuit court Saturday decided a suit involving the validity of the act passed by the last legislature forbidding the piping of natural gas out of the state. It was declared in conflict with the constitution of the United States. The case will go immediately to the supreme court on appeal.

An Oklahoma Swindle.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 20.—The commissioner of the general land office is informed that parties in Oklahoma are platting town sites in the reserved school sections and selling them to parties ignorant of the fact that the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections in each township are reserved for school purposes.

Thousands Homeless.

Terribly Destructive Fire in a Suburb of Quebec.

SEVEN HUNDRED HOUSES IN ASHES.

Soldiers Called on to Try to Stop the Conflagration by Blowing Up Buildings—Two Officers Lose Their Lives by Carrying a Keg of Powder Into a Burning House—Their Bodies Frightfully Mangled—Six Thousand Persons Without Shelter—Packing House Burned.

QUEBEC, May 17.—Five thousand people are homeless here to-day. A terrible fire, which started here yesterday morning in the house of Mrs. McCann, in St. Sauveur, swept over a great district and laid 700 homes in ashes. St. Sauveur has but a poor fire department, and although great efforts were made to stop the flames, the loss was only checked when all material within reach of the fire had been consumed. As soon as it became evident that the department was unable to extinguish the blaze, word was sent to this place. Engines were at once sent to the scene, but were unable to do good service owing to lack of water. A strong easterly wind prevailed at the time, and the firemen were speedily driven from their posts by the scorching heat.

The Soldiers Called On.

It was then determined some of the buildings in the track of the blaze should be blown up, and artillery and cavalry from the citadel were called into requisition. Meantime efforts were being made by the citizens of St. Sauveur to demolish some of the structures, and with this end in view ropes had been effectively used in dragging the foundations from some of the frame buildings. This method of checking the flames was abandoned when the artillery arrived and the soldiers proceeded to demolish houses by blowing them up with gunpowder. The coolness of the troops gave the townspeople confidence and elicited their unstinted praise.

Into the Jaws of Death.

Among the houses to be destroyed was one which had resisted one or two explosions, and Maj. Short, commanding Battery B, picked up a small keg of powder, and, accompanied by Sergt. Wallack, riding-master of the same regiment, entered the building for the purpose of making sure of its destruction. It was not known at the time, but the building was on fire, inside, and the two men had hardly disappeared from sight inside when the place was shattered into fragments, the roof being lifted off bodily. The gunpowder carried by Maj. Short had evidently been ignited immediately on his entrance. The two men were buried under a mass of broken flooring, etc., and their comrades at once rushed to rescue them if possible.

Mangled and Scorched.

The wreckage at once burst into flames, but this did not deter the rescuers from their efforts; however, it was impossible to save the unfortunate soldiers. After a few minutes' heroic work the soldiers extricated the body of Sergt. Wallack. Both legs and arms were broken, the face and trunk being also crushed in a horrible manner. The sergeant's body had just been dragged out by his former comrades, several of whom had been seriously scorched in the work, when it became impossible to do anything toward rescuing Maj. Short. His body was found about 10 o'clock last night, the limbs having been burned off.

Burned Itself Out of Fuel.

The fire burned itself out, after reaching the limits of St. Sauveur, the toll-gate keeper's house on Valler street being about the last to go. The district north and west of Massau and St. Ambroise streets has been swept clean, with the exception of a portion of Valler street. About 700 houses were burned. As many of them were tenements, the number of families homeless is not less that 1,200, comprising 5,000 or 6,000 persons. The loss on property is about $600,000, with an insurance of about $130,000. The majority of the people burned out are of the laboring class, and as insurance rates were very high few have anything to fall back upon.

Active relief measures are being taken, and the destitute people are camping out until some provision can be made for them.

Cooked 1,000,000 Pounds of Meat.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., May 17.—J. T. Stewart's big packing houses in this city were burned yesterday. Every possible effort was made to save the contents of the building, but the fire spread so rapidly among the greasy meats almost nothing was taken out. About 1,000,000 pounds of meat was destroyed. The total loss will exceed $100,000, most of which is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

ALLAN THORNDYKE RICE DEAD.

The New Minister to Russia Suddenly Goes to the Majority.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Political and literary circles in this city were startled yesterday morning by the announcement that Hon. Allan Thorndyke Rice, recently appointed minister to Russia, had died suddenly at an early hour yesterday morning. The death was entirely unexpected, although it was known that Mr. Rice was ill with tonsilitis, and that his departure for his post at St. Petersburg had been postponed on that account.

Cause of His Death.

The immediate cause of his death was œdema of the glottis. Mr. Rice had suffered for some years from affliction of the throat, but this attack was not thought to be serious. About 2 a. m., however, his nurse noticed that something was wrong, and lifted him up, at the same time sending for his physicians. The patient seemed unable to discharge the phlegm from his throat, and when the doctors arrived he was evidently dying from suffocation. Everything was done to relieve him that could be, but without avail. Ex-Mayor Cooper and other friends took charge of the remains.

Reading First in the "Bike" Tournament.

CHICAGO, May 20.—The six days bicycle race for professionals, eight hours a day, which closed at the Exposition building Saturday night, was won by Reading with only one lap to spare. The final score was as follows: Reading, 685 miles 4 laps; Knapp, 685 miles 3 laps; Morgan 685 miles 2 laps; Prince, 685 miles 2 laps; Schock, 678 miles 2 laps. The crowd was vociferous in its denunciation of the tactics of Prince and Morgan, who, it was declared, kept in the way of Knapp so as to prevent him from winning.

It Will Mean More Machines.

BRAZIL, Ind., May 20.—The delegate convention of miners held here Saturday voted in favor of a strike, and will so report to the miners at the various mines, when the strike will be formerly declared. If a strike follows, as now seems likely, the outcome will be the introduction of additional machines.

Many Poor Families Burned Out.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A fire which broke out shortly after 10 o'clock Friday night in the vicinity of One Hundred and Sixth street and Avenue K, east South Chicago, destroyed nine houses—two two-story bricks, and three two-story frames and four frame cottages. Twelve barns were also licked up by the flames and the total damage is between $30,000 and $40,000. The houses were occupied almost entirely by foreigners employed in the rolling mills, most of whom owned their homes and had them well insured. Some of them lost all their household effects.

Roman Catholic Demonstration.

CHICAGO, May 20.—The largest Roman Catholic celebration held in this city for many years took place yesterday, the occasion being the laying of the corner-stone of the De LaSalle institute, at the corner of Wabash avenue and Thirty-fifth street. The Roman Catholics of the city and suburbs turned out en masse, and made an assemblage of fully 30,000 people. The ceremonies were of the usual elaborate character.

THE DOG AND THE SHADOW

A Dog, crossing a bridge over a stream with a piece of flesh in his mouth, saw his own shadow in the water, and took it for that of another Dog, with a piece of meat double his own in size. He therefore let go his own, and fiercely attacked the other Dog, to get his larger piece from him. He thus lost both.—Æsop's Fables.

GENERAL DEBILITY.

To cure these diseases means to restore the action of the liver and other organs, and to kill the poison in the blood. A remedy containing Mandrake, Culvers Root, Burdock and Cascara Sagrada, acting especially on the liver, stomach, kidneys and sweat glands, is the proper one.

HIBBARD'S RHEUMATIC SYRUP

restores action, kills malaria and purifies the blood.

CONSTIPATION.

THE process of digestion, assimilation and removal needs the healthy action of the liver, pancreas and glands which supply the bile and other fluids, in order to stimulate them to proper action.

Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup

combines all the best medicines, as Mandrake, Culvers Root and Cascara Sagrada, with tonics to restore all secretions and supply the needed action. After taking a few bottles nature completes the cure.

TESTIMONIALS WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE.

For over twenty years I have been a great sufferer from the effects of a diseased stomach, and for three years past have been unable to do any business—hardly able to move about. Two years ago my case was pronounced by the best medical skill incurable. I visited different water cures and tried different climates, but to no good. Last June I began using Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and at once began to feel better. I have used thirteen bottles, and am a well man. EDWARD BAKER, Master Mechanic and Blacksmith, 308 Jackson Street, Jackson, Mich.

Both myself and wife have been using Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup this fall and winter with excellent success. We think it a great medicine. For constipation, dyspepsia or indigestion it surpasses all others that we have used. H. U. KNAPP, Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 4, 1888. Farmer.

RECLAIMED.

We once were factious, fierce, and wild,
To peaceful arts unreconciled;
Our blankets smeared with grease and stains
From buffalo meat and settlers' veins.
Through summer's dust and heat content,
From moon to moon unwashed we went;
But IVORY SOAP came like a ray
Of light across our darkened way.

And now we're civil, kind and good,
And keep the laws as people should.
We wear our linen, lawn and lace,
As well as folks with paler face.
And now I take, where'er we go,
This cake of IVORY SOAP to show
What civilized my squaw and me
And made us clean and fair to see.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

THE CHAMPION BINDER.

The most successful and most durable of all harvesting machines.
Contains every device needed to make a machine perfect.
Made of the best material and in the best way.
Light draft and easy work for driver and horses.
Easiest raised and lowered of any harvester.

There is no weight on the horses' necks; no tearing of canvas or straps, for there are springs to relieve the strain caused by shrinkage; no choking at front of elevators, for their is a relief rake to prevent it. No other Binder has this valuable device. Everything on the CHAMPION has been made as simple and substantial as possible. No other Harvester has as good cutter bar and guards, or as many and as good knives, or as strong and adaptable reel, or as simple a method of driving the Binder, nor as good plan for squaring the butts of the bundles. The CHAMPION Butter is unlike any other, and is superior to them all.

The CHAMPION will cut all kinds of small grain that grow no matter in what condition; it is lighter draft than any other Harvester doing the same work; it is easily managed by any farmer; it will cause less trouble and expense for repairs, it will make less delay in harvest time, and it will do more work and be more durable than any other Harvester and Binder that is made.

LANSING, Mich., May 8.—The senate yesterday killed the house anti-cigarette bill, but passed a measure forbidding the sale of tobacco in any form to minors under 16 years of age. The house passed a bill revising the fishing laws, and another making it a felony to entice minors into any private place for immoral purposes.

LANSING, Mich., May 9.—The bill repealing the mortgage act, passed two years ago, was passed by the senate yesterday. It didn't work, because when untaxed mortgages began to be brought to light the money lenders raised the rate of interest and made the mortgagor pay the tax. The house passed a $45,000 appropriation for new cottages at the Traverse City asylum, and a bill to imprison persons who, knowing that they are affected with contagious or infectious diseases, go abroad among other people.

LANSING, Mich., May 10.—The senate killed the house bill for inspection of beef on the hoof, the vote being 19 to 10 against the bill, and a motion to reconsider was tabled, thus clinching the rejection. Appropriations of $85,000 for the state normal school and $74,000 for the girls' industrial school were passed. The house defeated the bill decreasing the specific tax on insurance companies from 3 to 2 per cent.

DETROIT, Mich., May 11.—The house yesterday passed bills appropriating $66,000 for the state public school at Coldwater, and authorizing the local boards of health to establish temporary quarantine in case of outbreak of contagious disease among domestic animals, and to control the case until the state sanitary commission can relieve them.

Guilty of the Murder of His Mother.

JACKSON, Mich., May 7.—Irving Latimer was found guilty yesterday of the murder of his mother on Jan. 21. The prisoner listened to the reading of the verdict with the same unconcern that has characterized his action all through his long trial. Sentence was deferred.

BREATHES FREE AIR AGAIN.

James D. Fish, Ex-President of the Marine Bank, Released from Prison.

AUBURN, N. Y., May 11.—In a dark cutaway worsted coat, under a broad-brimmed brown felt hat, which almost wholly concealed the upper portion of his face, James D. Fish, ex-president of the Marine bank, of New York city, emerged at 9:10 a. m. Saturday from the state prison in this city. He had previously breakfasted with the regular mess in the prison and gone through the customary ordeal at the clerks' desk. Among other things he declared that he has eight children. Asked whether he is of the Protestant or Catholic religion, he replied: "Puritan."

JAMES D. FISH

"How was your health when you entered prison?"

"Fair."

"How is it now?"

"Good."

On leaving the keepers' hall he shook hands with all the officials, never noticing the squad of reporters standing near. He was given a ticket to New York and a $5 bill and then proceeded nervously down the iron front steps to the outer gate, followed by the reporters. At the gate he was met by friends with a carriage into which he stepped briskly and was whirled away up into the city to the residence of his daughter, who has remained in Auburn during the whole period of his confluement.

Mr. Fish and daughter left from Weedsport at 10:42 for New York.

Will Test the Meat Inspection Act.

DULUTH, Minn., May 11.—The constitutionality of the Meat inspection act passed at the late session of the Minnesota legislature will probably be tested in a few days here by Armour & Co., of Kansas City, who will ship meat to Duluth for that purpose. It is quite a common opinion among lawyers here that the act is directly prohibitive, and therefore void. A Duluth lawyer said Friday: "The law is diametrically opposed to the broad foundation the fathers built for our commerce, and at the same time it makes a most undesirable state of affairs. It has reacted on the people. To-day better beef can be bought across the bay in Wisconsin than in Duluth at a similar price than is paid here.

Only Gone into Temporary Retirement.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—It is now stated that Miss Kate R. Drexel's entrance into a convent at Pittsburg is only temporary, and that she has no intention of becoming a Sister of Mercy. As is well known, Miss Drexel has for a number of years been interested in the Indian and colored missions, and has contributed large sums for founding schools for the education of colored and Indian children. She now desires to devote her entire life to these missions, and has gone into temporary retirement for a few months in order to decide what course she will pursue.

Remarks by Boulanger.

LONDON, May 11.—Gen. Boulanger said Saturday in an interview that if the French government prolonged the sitting of the chamber of deputies till next year, the action would be a blow to universal suffrage, and every Frenchman ought to protest against such a course. He intimated that he would be heard from if the government took such action.

Wages Reduced 10 Per Cent.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 1.—Notices were posted Friday of a reduction of 10 per cent. in the wages of all employes of the Dickson Manufacturing company of this city, to take effect May 15. The reduction affects about 900 men.

Ten Thousand Cotton Weavers on Strike.

PARIS, May 11.—The cotton weavers at Thiay, in the department of the Rhone, have gone out on a strike. The strikers number about 10,000. It is feared that the strike will extend to Lyons.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind. testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

DR. A. LIRASIC'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates it cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

OBITUARY.

Died at his home in Clinton Township May 8th, 1889. Robert McCook aged 83 years. The deceased was born in Antrim County Ireland in 1806. He spent his childhood youth and early manhood in Ireland and Scotland, and at the age of 40 came to this country with James Boyd who was returning from a visit to his native land. With the first money he earned he sent for his wife and three children whom he was obliged to leave behind for want of means to pay their passage. By dint of hard labor and economy he provided for a large family and secured for himself a comfortable home where he spent his declining years in the midst of plenty. He was little known save within the circle of his intimate acquaintances, and his genuine Irish wit and repartee made him a welcome guest at many an ingleside. His merry heart and love of fun some times perhaps carried him beyond the limit of prudence, but "The cleanest corn that e're was dight may ha'e some pyles o' chaff in;

Sae ne'er a fellow cre'ture slight for random fits
o' daffin'."

T. GRANGER STEWART, M. D., F. R. S. E., Ordinary Physician to H. M., the Queen, in Scotland, Prof. of Practice of Physic in the University of Edinburgh, writes: "The arteries are sclerosed and atheromatous in the advanced stages of the inflammatory and in the cirrhotic but not so small in the waxy disease. In that affection the small vessels in other parts are frequently the seat of waxy degeneration." From this it will be seen that in the three forms of kidney disease classed as bright's disease, the arteries suffer changes and it matters not whether they undergo sclerotic, atheromatous or change, they are so weakened as to endanger rupture under any increased presure. This explains the frequency of apoplexy and paralysis, and as clearly demonstrated that the only preventive of these disastrous ruptures of the blood vessels is the timely use of Warner's Safe Cure to keep the kidneys in a healthy condition.

THE PRIDE of WOMAN.

A clear pearly and transparent skin is always a sign of pure blood, and all persons troubled with dark, greasy, yellow or bloched skin can rest assured that their blood is out of order. A few doses of BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER will remove the causes and the skin will become clear and transparent. Try it, and if satisfaction is not given it will cost you nothing. It is fully warranted.

DEATH OF PROF. PAUL AHRENS.

By the demise of Prof. Paul Ahrens, the musical circles of Tecumseh are bereft of a brilliant musician and a most exemplary young man. His death occurred one week ago this morning at the Lilley House, where he was boarding. His fatal illness only lasted about one week, the attack being double pneumonia, and when the sad news of his death went forth, many of his friends had not even heard of his sickness. His former home was in the city of Adrian, where his father's family now resides. For the past two years he had been a resident of Tecumseh, where he has been engaged at his trade in the cigar factory of Jno. J. Freeman. The deceased was a young man of exemplary habits, a skillful workman at his trade and a musician of marked ability. He was a valued member of the Adrian city band on their New Orleans trip, was for several years a prominent member of Hunt's orchestra of Adrian and was at one time connected with Wolfe's Toledo orchestra. He has long been recognized as one of the best clarinet artists in this section of the state. At the date of his death he was a leading member of the Tecumseh city band, and leader of the Tecumseh orchestra.

The funeral obsequies were held at his father's residence in Adrian last Sunday afternoon, and Adrian has seldom witnessed a larger demonstration on such an occasion. It seemed as if the whole city was present and hundreds of Paul's friends in and about Tecumseh lent their presence. Rev. Mr. Hauseman, of the Lutheran church was the officiating clergyman, who was assisted by a choir of St. Stephen's church.

The floral designs were many and elegant, consisting of a beautiful leaning panel, from the members of Hunt's orchestra; a large lyre from the Adrian Bandmen's association; a wreath enclosing a lyre, with one string broken, from the Tecumseh city band; a harp from the cigarmakers of Tecumseh, and other appropriate floral offerings from individual friends of deceased.

The pall bearers were Tecumseh young men selected from Paul's most intimate friends here. John J. Orr, B. J. Garlinghouse, C. F. Patterson, Jno. J. Freeman, W. W. Whiting and Thomas Holdway.

At the close of the services the vast concourse of spectators viewed the remains and the funeral procession then took up its march to the cemetery in the following order: Tecumseh city band, Adrian city band, Adrian bandmen's association, German Lutheran band, cigar makers, hearse, mourners, citizens in carriages. The cortege proceeded to Oakwood cemetery, where the casket was deposited in the receiving vault.

Thus has passed from earthly scenes a young man of brilliant talents, and bright promise. A life of usefulness and honor was opening before him. The place he was carying for himself will be hard to fill, and many tears of regret at his death and of sympathy for his stricken friends will temper Paul's journey across the dark valley.

OBITUARY.

Edna E. Hawks. On Friday morning May 10th, 1889 before the daylight began to break forth from the Eastern Sky, death chose as a victim the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hawks of Britton Michigan. Thus another home is made sad and lonely as a sweet little child, needing a mother's tender care must sicken and die, when but 18 days less than two years old. And yet in the words of Jesus, so comforting, as addressed to a "certain ruler." "The maid is not dead, but sleepeth." While we can drop tears of sympathy with the bereaved father and mother, nevertheless, through the medium of the blessed Gospel of the son of God, can say, that the little child in all of its sweet innocency is only lost to earth, that it might gain heaven. So may that bright little brother, who remains in the home with father and mother, never forget his little sister, who at the most, has only gone, to be with Jesus, who, when, on earth took little "children in his arms and blessed them; and said of such is the kingdom of heaven." So may master Milburn Hawks, though, his little sister, no more here, he can meet ever try to please his dear papa and mama too. And surely master Milburn can grow up to be a great good man; and, it will not be long, when brother and sister can meet in heaven. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. James Wright on Sunday at two o'clock P. M. May 12th, 1889. Text, Matthew IX, 24th. Burial in Tecumseh Cemetery.

PREVENTION of diseases is both rational and scientific. If one knows the causes of most diseases, and can remove that cause, the diseases must disappear. Prof. Wm. H. Thompson of the University of the City of New York, says: "More adults are carried off in this country by chronic kidney disease than by any other one malady except consumption." The majority per cent of all diseases are caused by unsuspected kidney poisoned blood. The late Dr. Dio Lewis in speaking of Warner's Safe Cure, said over his signature: "If I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble I would use Warner's Safe Cure.

WHY IS IT

That people linger along always complaining about that continual tired feeling? One bottle of BEGG'S PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will entirely remove this feeling, give them a good appetite and regulate digestion.

At the funeral of Paul Ahrens, the Tecumseh City band was accorded the post of honor and the entire musical leadership was given to Prof. C. F. Skinner. It is needless to say that the difficult role assigned to him was admirably carried out.

Frank Davidson is exactly half a hundred years old to day, May 23rd. If he increases as much in wealth and avoirdupois during the next fifty years as in the last fifty, his friends ought to turn out and give him a surprise party. May we be there to marshal the procession.

The entertainment given last Friday evening at the opera house by the Girls Aid Society of St Peter's church proved to be a very pleasant affair. It was under the supervision of Mrs. M. E. Corey and her Sunday school class, but they had the assistance, of course, of many other members of the church and some outsiders also. Six booths were arranged to represent the six days of the week, each of which was furnished in a manner appropriate to the day. Supper was served from five till seven o'clock and ice cream during the entire evening. The entertainment was both new and attractive and afforded those who patronized it a very enjoyable evening.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS.

Decoration exercises will be held on Wednesday P. M. in the seventh grade room (pupils of the seventh and eighth grades participating) consisting of music recitation etc. Pupils of the first and second, also the fifth and sixth grades will assemble in the sixth grade room and injoy similar exercises. Let patriotism be cultivated.

The following teachers attended the Lenawee Co. Teachers Association at Adrian last Saturday. Prof. and Mrs. E. A. Wilson, Misses. Edna McClue, Chase, Kyle and Temple. Although caught in the rain and hail in returning, the teachers feel well paid for attending.

Some very fine exhibition work has been handed in for the exhibit in June.

It seemed quite natural to see a number of our old school mates with us this week. Monday P. M. Frank Gilmore of Columbus, O. gave us a call; and Tuesday P. M. Charlie Kenedy and Will Hall of Lansing honored us with their presence.

ADVICE TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

In nine cases out of ten, wives, who are annoyed with fretful husbands, have only themselves to blame. Middle aged men especially who are harassed with the cares of business need something beside a bread and milk and tea diet. The family table should be furnished with choice meats well cooked, and no amount of good cooking will make a palatable, nourishing dish out of poor material. The best housekeepers in Tecumseh are learning this fact and patronize the West End Market, where they can always procure the choicest steaks, the juciest roasts, the tenderest fowls, the finest sausage and every thing else in the meat line, of superior quality. Call and be convinced.

TECUMSEH, MICH., MAY 23, 1889

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Ed. Williamson shipped a car load of apples east yesterday.

Bert Hause, of St. Clair, was in Tecumseh, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wiggins, of Adrian, were in Tecumseh Sunday.

Miss Anderson, of the Agricultural college, is visiting at F. D. Hillman's.

Romeyn Miller, of Grenada, Colo., is visiting his old friends in the village.

Frank Kennedy, son of Albert Kennedy, of Lansing, is visiting Tecumseh friends

Frank Hall is at Watkins, Jackson co., engaged in surveying and platting a 1500 acre farm.

Mrs. I. G. Rawson starts tomorrow for the east, after a prolonged stay with friends in Raisin.

Thirteen new members have been added to the muster roll of Co. C during the past two weeks.

Will Ford has moved his family to Bay City, and will reside there, having secured a job in the carriage factory.

Fred Hillman, Frank Hall, Will Hall and Frank Nyland are home from Agricultural college on a ten days' vacation.

The good news was received here Tuesday of a new eleven pound girl having arrived at the home of B. J. Coller in Detroit.

W. B. Thompson and wife, of Adrian and J. M. Ingersoll and wife, were the guests of Geo. R. Cochrane, of Palmyra, over Sunday.

Company C has appointed the following committee to mark the soldiers' graves and procure flowers for decoration day: D. T. Hall, Will H. Hayden, Will Bidwell and George Waldron.

Frank Gilmore arrived home from Columbus, O. last week, and will remain during the summer. He has been engaged in keeping books and amanuensis work with a coal firm in that city.

Miss Fannie Todd, of Detroit, spent Sunday, at the home of her uncle, A. D. Hall. Miss Todd is an expert stenographer and has an office in company with another young lady at the Russell House in Detroit.

Temple, McClure & Co., have just received a car load of pine stove wood from Saginaw which they will deliver this week directly from the car at $1.15 per cord. This is a fine chance to get summer wood cheap.

Congressman E. P. Allen was at Adrian Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, and it is needless to say that he had plenty of callers during his stay. The Captain is enjoying good health and has got his hands full of business these days.

The accident at Devils Lake, resulting in the death of Mr. Fred Bull, of Hudson, is the first fatality that has occurred there in 25 or 30 years, which is quite remarkable considering the large number of people who visit the lake every year.

C. H. Beneway is gaining a reputation second to none as a funeral director. He is entitled to much credit for his skill in preserving the remains of Paul Ahrens during a spell of very hot weather and for his efficient management of the public obsequies.

Workmen are now putting up the new organ in the Presbyterian church and it will be in position in about a week. A grand organ concert will be given Friday evening, May 31. It will be conducted by Prof. A. M. Green of Detroit and Wm. H. Smith, of Toledo, assisted by home talent. A full program will appear in due season.

The western championship meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union, which is to be held on the grounds of Detroit Athletic Club on the afternoon of June 15 next, will be an excellent opportunity for the best men of our western cities and towns to get together that has ever been offered. Aside from the very expensive gold, silver and bronze medals which are offered as prizes to first, second and third class men in each event, the winners will have the opportunity of competing in the national championships to be held in New York next September. For further information, address Arthur M. Parker, Secretary Athletic Club, Detroit.

The rain of last Saturday night did lots of good.

L. M. Mooney, of Elkhart, is spending a few days at home this week.

The wool market here opens very slowly, prices ranging from 20 to 25 cents.

C. H. Hopkins, of Battle Creek, is making quite a long visit with his Tecumseh friends.

Albert Kishpaugh, of Clinton, is on the mend, and he will soon be able to go squirrel hunting again.

The preparations are rapidly assuming shape for the sanitary convention to be held here early in June.

The Guarantee Nursery Co. of Geneva, N. Y. are calling for men to work on salary, in this paper.

Heck Bros. received an order from Sligo last Friday for 1000 sacks of flour. It will be shipped at once.

There will be no services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday, but it is expected that services will be resumed on the following Sabbath.

There was quite an exodus of Tecumseh people to Adrian last Sunday, most of them going down to attend Paul Ahren's funeral.

Why should'nt as good a school as the Raisin Valley Seminary own a good musical instrument? Respectfully referred to the board of trustees.

The Oklahoma hand shake is now practiced by some of the young ladies. It consists in placing both hands in those of a young man, and means "I want to locate."

In Adrian boys sit around in groups under the electric light on the streets and read dime novels. We may expect an emigration there soon to the wild and wooly west.

There was a good crowd present at Devils Lake last Thursday, the opening day. Charley Spafford did a rushing ice cream business, and Fred Deuel ran his steamer all day.

W. C. Smith, of Weston, is another member of the Smith family who is gaining fame and renown. He has 1400 barrels of last season's green apples on hand.

Alex. Easlick, of Macon, has invented a new perpetual calendar, which is a very ingenious contrivance. If it was printed on fancy cards we believe it would find a ready sale.

Gov. Luce has accepted an invitation to be present at the sanitary convention held here June 6 and 7. He will be in attendance on the first day, and in the evening our citizens will have an opportunity of shaking the gubernatorial hand, as a reception is being arranged to be held at the residence of Dr. Jenkins.

We acknowledge the receipt of a batch of new music from Ign. Fischer music publisher, of Toledo, O. Among them are a beautiful melody, "What Robin Saw," the Inspiration Waltzes, arranged both for two or four hands; Willing's Forget Me Not waltz, and Christmas Polonaise, Marche Arabesque for four hands. This house is publishing some fine music now. Teachers, scholars and all others who are musically inclined should send for their latest publications. Address Ign Fischer, 121 Summit st., Toledo, O.

N. W. Ayer & Son's American Newspaper Annual for 1888 has been received. It is the ninth edition of this work, and is by far the most complete one yet issued. It embraces complete lists of the newspapers and periodicals of the country arranged in one list by towns and another by counties in alphabetical order. It contains a vast amount of useful information to business men, as well as to newspapers. Business men find it a valuable guide-book on many subjects pertaining to general trade interests. Their annual for 1889 is now in preparation.

"The Oklahoma Daily Capital, vol. 1, No. 1, published at Guthrie, I. T. is at hand, a good sized seven column folio, brisk, bright and newsy. It is the first daily paper published in the Indian territory, but shows no signs of pioneer life. Last Monday at ten o'clock Guthrie was four weeks old. "Now," says the Capital, "we have a metropolis with every branch of business represented, and on a conservative estimate, 10,000 voters. Already 1,500 houses are built. Five banks are running, with over $800,000 on deposit." The privilege of naming the first baby born in the territory was auctioned off, and a purse of about $70 was thus made up for the parents of the small boy. The Capital speaks of their "wholesale houses" and advises them to cater to the trade of the small towns about them. An account is given of the "first dramatic entertainment." The shooting in the arm of Miss Daisy, of Wichita, the girl homesteader, is denied. She was a newspaper woman, has her claim all o. k., and nobody has any idea of shooting her. Chas. A. Flish, of Kansas City, Mo., is constructing a corrugated iron hotel, 50x60, two stories high on Oklahoma avenue. He will have it done in ten days." Doctors arn't having a good time in Guthrie as they've only had one patient among them since the town started. A pension agency and a base ball club are established and the city council are now discussing water works. The name of the editor of the Capital is Frank H. Greer.

Mrs. Lydia Smith, of Dundee, was visiting friends in the village last Friday.

Walter Heck has closed his photograph gallery, and expects to go to Chicago soon to engage in cravon work with L. F. Wheeler. Walt has executed some good work in that line and he is sure to succeed in his new field.

Services in the Universalist church next Sunday, May 26th, as follows: In the morning at 10:30, a sermon entitled, "The Mystery Foretold," text 1 Corinthians 15:51. In the evening at 7:30 a memorial discourse, text, Lamentations 5:20. The public invited.

The monthly tea of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Stewart, Friday, May 31. Supper served from 5 to 7 o'clock at 15c, to which the public is invited. Proceeds to pay for the carpet for their temperance parlor.

A Woman's Relief Corps was organized in Tecumseh, Friday, May 18th, which will be known as Beers' Relief Corps No. 177. A public installation of officers took place in the evening. Mrs. Robbins, of Adrian, Past Department President, acted as installing officer most admirably, and Mrs. Curtis of the same place efficiently assisted. The following officers were installed.

President—Rosa Mills.
Senior Vice—Delia Stevens.
Junior Vice—Lucinda Heck.
Secretary—Mary Turner.
Treasurer—Ella Ingersoll.
Chaplain—Anna Hanley.
Conductor—Lizzie Spayde.

76,534.

In 1888 there were 76,534 men who showed their good sense, and demonstrated their belief that the McCormick machines are the best ones made, by buying one.

The McCormick steel mower is the best mower made. Your boy can handle it and your horses can easily draw it. It is well made and will give you satisfaction. The McCormick steel binder has proved itself a wonderful machine. The square tube frame, the steel sway bar, the springs in the platform and adjustable apron, the improved canvas and the new knotter (in some instances last year binding 40 acres without missing a single bundle) proves it all that a first-class binder could be.

Call on C. A. Slayton and examine the machine for yourself before buying, and remember he keeps the best twine in the market and gives bottom prices.

JESUS BETRAYED.

LESSON VIII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 26.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xiv, 43-54—Commit Verses 43-50—Golden Text, Luke xxii, 48—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

43. "And immediately, while He yet spake." They were in Gethsemane, whither Jesus had gone after the supper. Entering the garden He left eight of the disciples and took Peter, James and John a little farther with Him; then withdrawing Himself a little farther even from them, He kneeled down, fell on His face and prayed; He prayed earnestly, He sweat as it were, great drops of blood falling down to the ground. (Luke xxii, 44.) He offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears. (Heb. v, 7.) Three times He prayed, saying the same words, returning to the disciples after each prayer, and each time finding them asleep. When He returned from praying the third time He added the words of verse 42: "Rise up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth Me is at hand," and these are the words referred to in the opening sentence of our lesson.

"Cometh Judas, one of the twelve." It was not the ungodly, irreligious world that hated Him and wanted to kill Him, for the common people heard Him gladly (Mark xii, 37); but it was the leading religious people who were planning His death; it was not even one of them who betrayed Him, but, in but in Jesus' own words, "One of you," "One of the twelve." (Vs. 18, 20.) Was not such treatment enough to break His heart? Is there anything like it among His professed followers today? Is there any taint of it in you?

44. "And he that betrayed Him had given them a token, * * *." Judas, having received a band of men and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, cometh thither with lanterns and torches and weapons (John xviii, 3), and he had instructed them that the one whom they would see Him kiss was he whom they were to take and lead away safely.

45. "And as soon as he was come, he goeth straightway to Him, and saith, Master, Master, and kissed Him." Read before this verse in John xviii, 4-9, how Jesus went forth to meet them saying, "Whom seek ye?" and how when He said "I am" they all went backward and fell to the ground, and how He cared for the eleven disciples ere He yielded Himself to the band who had come to arrest Him. Then Judas kissed Him; some one has said, "How coolly deliberate, deeply hypocritical, diabolically malicious. See what Satan can do and God can suffer."

46. "And they laid their hands on him and took Him." What unholy hands to lay upon the Holy One; criminals worthy to die eternal death, laying hold upon their judge who was ready to pardon them; sinners needing salvation, laying hold upon the only one who could save them; that they might put Him out of the way; man, the creature, laying hold upon God the creator, because they hated Him; was there ever such a sight! They took Him, not because they were able, but only because He suffered them.

47. "And one of them that stood by drew a sword, and smote a servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear." John xviii, 10, says that Simon Peter did it, and that the servant's name was Malchus; Luke xxii, 51, says that Jesus touched his ear and healed him; and Matt. xxvi, 52-54, says that Jesus told the disciples that they that take the sword perish with the sword, and that if it was necessary He could ask and receive from His Father more than a legion of angels for each of them, but if thus protected and delivered how would the Scriptures be fulfilled?

48. "And Jesus answered and said unto them, Are ye come out as against a thief, with swords and with staves to take me?" Both Matthew and Luke record the same question. Let some father or mother say how they would feel if the law should send its officers to arrest their son as a thief, he being innocent. Let teachers tell their scholars (if they think best) how they have felt and acted when accused of something of which they knew they were not guilty. If ever we are shamefully treated or spoken against, let us think of Jesus and be patient for His sake.

49. "I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and ye took me not; but the scriptures must be fulfilled." Luke xxii, 53, adds: "This is your hour and the power of darkness." Such scriptures were being and about to be fulfilled as Psalms xxii and lxix, Isaiah liii, etc., but His comfort as He looked up to His Father was: "Thou hast known my reproach, and my shame, and my dishonor. Mine adversaries are all before Thee." (Ps. lxix, 19.) If people would say and do openly the mean and devilish things which they say and do behind one's back and in the dark, it would seem as if we could better refute and resist them; but then we would not have the fellowship with Jesus in His sufferings which we have by being treated as He was. Let us remember that if we would be "His faithful followers" we must not expect better treatment than He received; and that while in the world we have tribulation, in Him we will always have peace. (John xvi, 33.)

50. "And they all forsook Him and fled." Thus His words came true, and the sheep of the flock were scattered (Matt. xxvi, 31; Zec. xiii, 7); He looked for some to take pity, but there was none, and for comforters but found none. (Ps. lxix, 20.)

51, 52. "And there followed Him a certain young man, having a linen cloth cast about his naked body; * * *." Because Mark is the only one who records this incident, some think that Mark himself was the young man; that he had been awakened by the passing mob, and hastily throwing a sheet around him, had followed them, and now ventured to interpose on behalf of Jesus, or at least go with Him, but the mob laying hold of him, he left the linen cloth and fled from them naked. Peter had said that though he should die with Him, he would not in any wise deny Him (v. 31), but we know how that turned out, and now Peter with the rest had forsaken Him. This young man seems to be more courageous than all the disciples by following Jesus in this dark time.

53. "And they led Jesus away to the high priest." John xviii, 12, says that they bound Him and led him away; Isa. liii, 7, R. V., says: "As a lamb that is led to the slaughter." Think of their binding the hands that were ever stretched forth to bless, the hands that brought health to the leper, sight to the blind, speech to the dumb, and that took the little children up in His arms and blessed them; what had these hands ever done that they should be thus bound, and why does He not exert just a little of the power He gave to Samson and burst those wretched cords and slay His enemies? Do you ask why? Then hear the answer and cause every Sunday school scholar to hear it: "For your sake He suffered it, for your sake He let them bind Him and lead Him as a lamb to the slaughter, for your sake He let them crucify Him, that you by His sufferings might be delivered from the wrath to come and made a child of God, a joint heir with Jesus Christ." Do you believe it? Do you receive Him? If so, how much gratitude do you show Him; how much insult and injury can you cheerfully bear for His sake; how much patience have you with those who do you wrong by word or deed?

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made, and this time by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at Anarchistic Circulars.

CHICAGO, May 11.—It is reported that the Anarchists propose to deluge the city with inflammatory circulars on Decoration Day, the date decided upon for the formal unveiling of the policemen's monument in the Haymarket. Two hundred thousand hand-bills, printed in German and English, and worded much after the style of the circular recently received by Chief of Police Hubbard are, it is said, being printed for distribution. The police authorities will arrest all persons found distributing the literature in the street or other public places.

KIDNEY F.E.C. TRADE MARK REMEDY

An interesting letter for Ladies: Hastings Centre, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 26, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain, MARY H. BEEMAN.

That dreaded backache can be Cured. Rochester, N. Y., August 2, 1886.

F. E. C. Medicine Co.—Dear Sir—Allow me to recommend your medicine to anyone suffering from backache and kidney trouble. It has cured me entirely, and I am quite sure will do the same for anyone who will give it a fair trial. Yours truly, MRS. A. W. KELLEY, 59 Courtland st., N. Y.

Tecumseh Herald

The Great War Syndicate.

By FRANK R. STOCKTON.

For a minute or two the officers of the Lenox could not comprehend what had happened. It was first supposed that by mistake the engines had been slackened, but almost at the same moment that it was found that this was not the case, the discovery was made that the coil accompanying the repeller had laid hold of the stern post of the Lenox, and with all the strength of her powerful engines was holding her back.

Now burst forth in the Lenox a storm of frenzied rage, such as was never seen perhaps upon any vessel since vessels were first built. From the commander to the stokers every heart was filled with fury at the insult which was put upon them. The commander roared through his trumpet that if that infernal sea beetle were not immediately loosed from his ship he would first sink her and then the repeller.

To these remarks the director of the syndicate's vessels paid no attention, but proceeded to state as briefly and forcibly as possible that the Lenox had been detained in order that he might have an opportunity of speaking with her commander, and of informing him that his action in coming out of the harbor for the purpose of attacking a British vessel, was in direct violation of the contract between the United States and the syndicate having charge of the war, and that such action could not be allowed.

The commander of the Lenox paid no more attention to these words than the syndicate's director had given to those he had spoken, but immediately commenced a violent attack upon the crab. It was impossible to bring any of the large guns to bear upon her, for she was almost under the stern of the Lenox, but every means of offense which infuriated ingenuity could suggest was used against it. Machine guns were trained to fire almost perpendicularly, and shot after shot was poured upon that portion of its glistening back which appeared above the water.

But as these projectiles seemed to have no effect upon the solid back of Crab H, two great anvils were hoisted at the end of the spanker boom and dropped, one after the other, upon it. The shocks were tremendous, but the internal construction of the crabs provided, by means of upright beams, against injury from attacks of this kind, and the great masses of iron slid off into the sea without doing any damage.

Finding it impossible to make any impression upon the mailed monster at his stern, the commander of the Lenox hailed the director of the repeller, and swore to him through his trumpet that if he did not immediately order the Lenox to be set free, her heaviest guns should be brought to bear upon his floating counting house, and that it should be sunk if it took all day to do it.

It would have been a grim satisfaction to the commander of the Lenox to sink Repeller No. 6, for he knew the vessel when she had belonged to the United States navy. Before she had been bought by the syndicate, and fitted out with spring armor, he had made two long cruises in her, and he bitterly hated her, from her keel up.

The director of the repeller agreed to release the Lenox the instant her commander would consent to return to port. No answer was made to this proposition, but a dynamite gun on the Lenox was brought to bear upon the syndicate's vessel. Desiring to avoid any complications which might ensue from actions of this sort, the repeller steamed ahead, while the director signaled Crab H to move the stern of the Lenox to the windward, which, being quickly done, the gun of the latter bore upon the distant coast.

It was now very plain to the syndicate director that his words could have no effect upon the commander of the Lenox, and he therefore signaled Crab H to tow the United States vessel into port. When the commander of the Lenox saw that his vessel was beginning to move backward he gave instant orders to put on all steam. But this was found to be useless, for when the dynamite gun was about to be fired the engines had been ordered stopped, and the moment that the propeller blades ceased moving the nippers of the crab had been released from their hold upon the stern post, and the propeller blades of the Lenox were gently but firmly seized in a grasp which included the rudder. It was therefore impossible for the engines of the vessel to revolve the propeller, and, unresistingly, the Lenox was towed, stern foremost, to the breakwater.

The news of this incident created the wildest indignation in the United States navy, and throughout the country the condemnation of what was considered the insulting action of the syndicate was general. In foreign countries the affair was the subject of a good deal of comment, but it was also the occasion of much serious consideration, for it proved that one of the syndicate's submerged vessels could, without firing a gun, and without fear of injury to itself, capture a man-of-war and tow it whither it pleased.

The authorities at Washington took instant action on the affair, and as it was quite evident that the contract between the United States and the syndicate had been violated by the Lenox, the commander of that vessel was reprimanded by the secretary of the navy, and enjoined that there should be no repetitions of his offence. But as the commander of the Lenox knew that the secretary of the navy was as angry as he was at what had happened, he did not feel his reprimand to be in my way a disgrace.

It may be stated that the Stockbridge, which had steamed for the open sea as soon as the business which had detained her was completed, did not go outside the cape. When her officers perceived with their glasses that the Lenox was returning to port stern foremost they opined what had happened, and desiring that their ship should do all her sailing in the natural way, the Stockbridge was put about and steamed, bow foremost, to her anchorage behind the breakwater, the commander thanking his stars that for once the Lenox had got ahead of him.

The members of the syndicate were very anxious to remove the unfavorable impression regarding what was called in many quarters their attack upon a United States vessel, and a circular to the public was issued, in which they expressed their deep regret at being obliged to interfere with so many brave officers and men in a moment of patriotic enthusiasm, and explaining how absolutely necessary it was that the Lenox should be removed from a position where a conflict with English line of battle ships would be probable. There were many thinking persons who saw the weight of the syndicate's statements, but the effect of the circular upon the popular mind was not great.

The syndicate was now hard at work making preparations for the grand stroke which had been determined upon. In the whole country, there was scarcely a man whose ability could be made available in their work, who was not engaged in their service; and everywhere, in foundries, workshops and ship yards, the construction of their engines of war was being carried on by day and by night. No contracts were made for the delivery of work at certain times; everything was done under the direct supervision of the syndicate and its subordinates: and the work went on with a definiteness and rapidity hitherto unknown in naval construction.

In the midst of the syndicate's labors there arrived off the coast of Canada the first result of Great Britain's preparations for her war with the American syndicate, in the shape of the Adamant, the largest and finest ironclad which had ever crossed the Atlantic, and which had been sent to raise the blockade of the Canadian port by the syndicate's vessels.

This great ship had been especially fitted out to engage in combat with repellers and crabs. As far as was possible the peculiar construction of the syndicate's vessels had been carefully studied, and English specialists in the line of naval construction and ordnance had given most earnest consideration to methods of attack and defense most likely to succeed with these novel ships of war. The Adamant was the only vessel which it had been possible to send out in so short a time, and her cruise was somewhat of an experiment. If she should be successful in raising the blockade of the Canadian port, the British admiralty would have but little difficulty in dealing with the American syndicate.

The most important object was to provide a defense against the screw extracting and rudder breaking crabs; and to this end the Adamant had been fitted with what was termed a "stern jacket." This was a great cage of heavy steel bars, which was attached to the stern of the vessel in such a way that it could be raised high above the water, so as to offer no impediment while under way, and which, in time of action, could be let down so as to surround and protect the rudder and screw propellers, of which the Adamant had two.

This was considered an adequate defense against the nippers of a syndicate crab; but as a means of offense against these almost submerged vessels a novel contrivance had been adopted. From a great boom projecting over the stern, a large ship's cannon was suspended perpendicularly, muzzle downward. This gun could be swung around to the deck, hoisted into a horizontal position, loaded with a heavy charge, a wooden plug keeping the load in position when the gun hung perpendicularly.

If a crab should come under the stern this cannon could be fired directly downward upon her back, and it was not believed that any vessel of the kind could stand many such tremendous shocks. It was not known exactly how ventilation was supplied to the submarine vessels of the syndicate, nor how the occupants were enabled to make the necessary observations during action. When under way the crabs sailed somewhat elevated above the water, but when engaged with an enemy only a small portion of their covering armor could be seen.

It was surmised that under and between some of the scales of this armor there was some arrangement of thick glasses, through which the necessary observation could be made; and it was believed that, even if the heavy perpendicular shots did not crush in the roof of a crab, these glasses would be shattered by concussion. Although this might appear a matter of slight importance, it was thought among naval officers it would necessitate the withdrawal of a crab from action.

In consequence of the idea that the crabs were vulnerable between their overlapping plates, some of the Adamant's boats were fitted out with Gatling and machine guns, by which a shower of balls might be sent under the scales, through the glasses and into the body of the crab. In addition to their guns, these boats would be supplied with other means of attack upon the crab.

Of course it would be impossible to destroy these submerged enemies by means of dynamite or torpedoes; for with two vessels in close proximity, the explosion of a torpedo would be as dangerous to the hull of one as to the other. The British admiralty would not allow even the Adamant to explode torpedoes or dynamite bombs under her own stern.

With regard to a repeller, or spring armored vessel, the Adamant would rely upon her exceptionally powerful armament and upon her great weight and speed. She was fitted with twin screws and engines of the highest power, and it was believed that she would be able to overhaul, ram and crush the largest vessel, armored or unarmored, which the syndicate would be able to bring against her. Some of her guns were of immense caliber, firing shot weighing nearly 2,000 pounds and requiring half a ton of powder for each charge. Besides these she carried an unusually large number of large cannon and two dynamite guns. She was so heavily plated and armored as to be proof against any known artillery in the world.

She was a floating fortress, with men enough to make up the population of a town, and with stores, ammunition and coal sufficient to last for a long term of active service. Such was the mighty English battle ship which had come forward to raise the siege of the Canadian port.

The officers of the syndicate were well aware of the character of the Adamant, her armament and her defenses, and had been informed by cable of her time of sailing and probable destination. They sent out Repeller No. 7, with Crabs J and K, to meet her off the Banks of Newfoundland.

This repeller was the largest and strongest vessel that the syndicate had ready for service. In addition to the spring armor with which these vessels were supplied, this one was furnished with a second coat of armor outside the first, the elastic steel ribs of which ran longitudinally and at right angles to those of the inner set. Both coats were furnished with a great number of improved air buffers, and the arrangement of spring armor extended five or six feet beyond the massive steel plates with which the vessel was originally armored. She carried one motor cannon of large size.

One of the crabs was of the ordinary pattern, but Crab K was furnished with a spring armor above the heavy plates of her roof. This had been placed upon her after the news had been received by the syndicate that the Adamant would carry a perpendicular cannon over her stern, but there had not been time enough to fit out another crab in the same way.

When the director in charge of repeller No. 7 first caught sight of the Adamant, and scanned through his glass the vast proportions of the mighty ship which was rapidly steaming toward the coast, he felt that a responsibility rested upon him heavier than any which had yet been borne by an officer of the syndicate, but he did not hesitate in the duty which he had been sent to perform, and immediately ordered the two crabs to advance to meet the Adamant, and to proceed to action according to the instructions which they had previously received. His own ship was kept, in pursuance of orders, several miles distant from the British ship.

As soon as the repeller had been sighted from the Adamant a strict lookout had been kept for the approach of crabs, and when the small exposed portions of the backs of two of these were perceived glistening in the sunlight the speed of the great ship was slackened. The ability of the syndicate's submerged vessels to move suddenly and quickly in any direction had been clearly demonstrated, and although a great ironclad with a ram could run down and sink a crab without feeling the concussion, it was known that it would be perfectly easy for the smaller craft to keep out of the way of its bulky antagonist. Therefore the Adamant did try to ram the crabs, nor to get away from them. Her commander intended, if possible, to run down one or both of them, but he did not propose to do this in the usual way.

As the crabs approached, the stern jacket of the Adamant was let down and the engines were slowed. This stern jacket, when protecting the rudder and propellers, looked very much like the cow catcher of a locomotive, and was capable of being put to a somewhat similar use. It was the intention of the captain of the Adamant, should the crabs attempt to attach themselves to his stern, to suddenly put on all steam, reverse his engines and back upon them, the stern jacket answering as a ram.

The commander of the Adamant had no doubt that in this way he could run into a crab, roll it over in the water, and when it was lying bottom upward, like a floating cask, he could move his ship to a distance and make a target of it. So desirous was this brave and somewhat facetious captain to try his new plan upon a crab that he forebore to fire upon the two vessels of that class which were approaching him. Some of his guns were so mounted that their muzzles could be greatly depressed and aimed at an object in the water not far from the ship. But these were not discharged, and, indeed, the crabs, which were new ones of unusual swiftness, were alongside the Adamant in an incredibly short time and out of the range of these guns.

Crab J was on the starboard side of the Adamant, Crab K was on the port side, and, simultaneously, the two laid hold of her. But they were not directly astern of the great vessel. Each had its nippers fastened to one side of the stern jacket, near the hinge like bolts which held it to the vessel, and on which it was raised and lowered.

In a moment the Adamant began to steam backward, but the only effect of this motion, which soon became rapid, was to swing the crabs around against her sides and carry them with her. As the vessels were thus moving the great pincers of the crabs were twisted with tremendous force, the stern jacket on one side was broken from its bolt, and on the other the bolt itself was drawn out of the side of the vessel. The nippers then opened, and the stern jacket fell from their grasp into the sea, snapping in its fall the chain by which it had been raised and lowered.

This disaster occurred so quickly that few persons on board the Adamant knew what had happened. But the captain, who had seen everything, gave instant orders to go ahead at full speed. The first thing to be done was to get at a distance from those crabs, keep well away from them, and pound them to pieces with his heavy guns.

But the iron screw propellers had scarcely begun to move in the opposite direction before the two crabs, each now lying at right angles with the length of the ship, but neither of them directly astern of her, made a dash with open nippers, and Crab J fastened upon one propeller, while Crab K laid hold of the other. There was a din and crash of breaking metal, two shocks which were felt throughout the vessel, and the shattered and crushed blades of the propellers of the great battle ship were powerless to move her.

The captain of the Adamant, pallid with fury, stood upon the poop. In a moment the crabs would be at his rudder! The great gun, double shotted and ready to fire, was hanging from its boom over the stern. Crab K, whose roof had the additional protection of spring armor, now moved round so as to be directly astern of the Adamant. Before she could reach the rudder her forward part came under the suspended cannon, and two massive steel shot were driven down upon her with a force sufficient to send them through masses of solid rock, but from the surface of elastic steel springs and air buffers they bounced upward, one of them almost falling on the deck of the Adamant.

Don't Get Caught

This spring with your blood full of impurities, your digestion impaired, your appetite poor, kidneys and liver torpid, and whole system liable to be prostrated by disease—but get yourself into good condition, and ready for the changing and warmer weather, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It stands unequaled for purifying the blood, giving an appetite, and for a general spring medicine.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer.

The advantages of this Type-writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-writer Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and sounder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is not covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine in position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table is balanced near its center on patent malleable iron arms, that when the machine is brought in place for use, it does not depend on ropes or hangers at rear of platform for support, but is held rigidly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be tumbled down an incline in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent springs which hold the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk, well under the operator's hands.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as ridged as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

THINGS DOCTORS DO NOT KNOW.

Their Ignorance Illustrated in the Robinson Poisoning Case.

There was a commotion among the doctors at a recent meeting of the Massachusetts Medico-Legal Society, when it was found that reporters for secular newspapers were taking notes. Papers bearing specially on the notorious Robinson arsenical poisoning cases had been announced.

Dr. Holt declared that there was general ignorance of the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, and claimed that because of this ignorance the Robinson poisoning cases had gone on without arousing suspicions on the part of medical men. There were, he said, at least eight cases of criminal poisoning; seven occurred within five years, and in one family, and the other was that of a relative.

The cases were all treated by physicians of large practice, prominent in the profession, and yet no suspicion of arsenical poisoning was aroused until an organization in which the victims were insured tried to determine by investigation why so many persons died suddenly in this family.

In support of his statement as to the ignorance of medical men of the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, the doctor remarked the certificates of death were given in five of the Robinson cases as follows: pneumonia, typhoid fever, meningitis, bowel disease and Bright's Disease.

The startling disclosure of the stupid ignorance shown in the treatment of those cases is quite in keeping with the usual indiscretion manifested by the profession in the treatment of person who are sufferers from the slow and subtle poison which is generated in the system from a diseased state of the kidneys.

The afflicted are treated for consumption, apoplexy, for brain and various nervous disorders, when in most instances, it is shown, when too late, that the patient was wrongfully and ignorantly treated for a supposed disease which was, in reality, but a symptom of kidney disease, and should have been timely treated as such by the use of Warner's Safe Cure, which is the only remedy known that can be successfully relied on in the treatment of such disease.

Such exhibitions of stupidity by those who profess great intelligence in such matters is calculated to destroy confidence, and it can be well said that a remedy like Warner's Safe Cure, which places the direct means of preserving health in the sufferer's hands, is far more meritorious than high-priced medical advice which is so generally worthless and too often based upon an erroneous opinion as to the true cause of illness.

Human life is just a little too precious to the average individual to be sacrificed to the bigotry or ignorance of others.

How much will it avail Michigan if the local option bill does become a law? The Republican party is pledged to pass a local option law of some kind, but if Governor Luce expressed the judgment of the supreme court in his message, local option at best is unconstitutional, and that also seems to be the prevailing opinion of the great legal minds of the state. Then why subject the people to another performance that was only a farce, and acted less than two years ago. If that is the most important thing that keeps the members of the legislature at Lansing let them adjourn and the people will say "thank you."—Jonesville Independent.

Forced to Leave Home.

Over 60 people were forced to leave their homes yesterday to call for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine. If your blood is bad, your liver and kidneys out of order, if you are constipated and have headache and an unsightly complexion, don't fail to call on any druggist to-day for a free sample of this grand remedy. The ladies praise it. Everyone likes it. Large size package 50 cents.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD

At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhœa balsam in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhœa and all inflamation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of BEGG'S DIARRHŒA BALSAM will do more good in cases of this kind than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it.

J. J. Orr, Druggist.

We are having very fine weather at present and the recent showers we have had make farmers look more hopeful.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co. 31 YEARS AGO the Threshing Machines then in use were almost wholly of the class known as the "Endless Apron" style. Then it was that Nichols & Shepard, of Battle Creek, Mich., invented and began to develop an entirely new and novel style of Grain Thresher and Separator, which they very appropriately named the "Vibrator."

It was a revolution in Threshing Machines, and from a small beginning of five machines in 1858 they soon reached a product of 1,000 yearly.

Their Vibrator drove the "Endless Apron" machine out of market, and all other makers copied it as closely as they dared. To-day all Threshing Machines of any reputation or merit use the principles of the old Vibrator. Nichols & Shepard have continued in the business without change of name, location, or management; and during the past three years have brought out and developed another new Threshing Machine for grain and seeds, as superior to all existing machines as their former was to the "Endless Apron." They name this new and improved Thresher

ESTATE OF ROBERT McCOOK.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Monday the 20th day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Robert McCook, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Jane McCook widow of said deceased, praying for the probate of an instrument now on file in this court purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and that administration of said estate may be granted to Martin Keusch, the executor named in said instrument, or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 17th day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
A. E. Baragar, Probate Register. may 23.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN the matter of the estate of John Houseman deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, commissioners, to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at H. J. Williams' hardware store, in Ridgeway Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 20th day of June, 1889, and on the 16th day of November, 1889, at one o'clock in the afteroon of each of said days and that six months from the 16th day of May, 1889, are allowed by the said Court to the creditors of said estate to present their said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated, Ridgeway, May 22d, 1889.

The WALTER A. WOOD
Single Canvas Binders
LEAD THEM ALL.

726,510 Machines have been sold. 54,026 made and sold in 1888.

The Single Apron Improvement.

Its striking advantages are—three rollers as compared with six; one canvas versus three; six bearings as compared with twelve; three buckles versus twelve. The draft of the machine is thereby very materially reduced. The apron is driven from the underside, hence the upper side or top of apron is comparatively loose and easily passes, without friction, under the apron guides.

The only Binder adjustments on the Wood are the three desirable ones—Regulating size of Bundle—Regulating tightness of Binding—Regulating position of Band. Each of these adjustments is made instantly.

The new Enclosed Gear Mower is the best mower ever made.

Farmers should call and examine these machines before buying.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

The heavy frosts last week make corn and potatoes look brown.

Uncle Reuben Gunn who is in very poor health was unconscious for several hours Saturday, but at present writing is a little better.

Mr. James Simonds and Mrs. G. W. Jackson were the guests of Jno. C. Palmer and family Thursday.

Prof. H. W. Daniels Sundayed at Onsted.

Rev. J. A. Lowry will exchange pulpits with Rev. Belden of Holloway on Sunday morning next.

Mrs. R. T. Bush of Brooklyn N. Y. arrived on the noon train Friday for a visit of several days at her mothers.

Lulu Rappleye spent Saturday and Sunday at Dundee with her sister Mattie.

Etta Mattis of Clinton visited Mrs. Fred Aten last week, returning Saturday accompanied by Mrs. Aten.

The quarterly tea meeting of the W. T. M. Society will be held in the lecture room of the church on Wednesday afternoon June 5th. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Mrs. Osgood's Com. furnishing.

Mrs. George Cone visited friends from Friday until Monday.

Mrs. James Curry and son Freddie visited relatives in Jackson last week.

Will McNeill of Dundee was in the village on business, Saturday.

Prof. E. G. Walker was in the village Saturday.

Mrs. F. J. Temple is visiting her parents at LaSalle this week.

The W. C. T. U. social, to be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ella Waring, on Friday evening this week will present an attractive programe consisting of readings from Mrs. Sarah Pocklington and Prof. H. W. Daniels. recitations from Elmer Pocklington, Martha Lawton, Lulu Rappleye, Minnie Barrett, Lottie Arner, Mary Osgood, interspersed with appropriate vocal music. A question box will be opened at the close. The president desires a large attendance and extends an invitation to all friends of the home.

There will be another Road Machine Contest on Friday May 31st. beginning at ten o'clock a. m. on the turnpike near Robert Houseman's. All who are liable to assessment for road work and are alive to their own best interest ought to investigate the question of road making by machinery. It is claimed that one third of the assessment paid in cash for four years to pay for a machine and one half of the other too thirds in work with the machine will do twice as much work as averaged by the whole amount of the assessment worked out by the old method. If the above statement is anywhere within ten rods of the truth all who pay road tax or do road work ought to know it.

BRITTON BUDGET.

There was a show in town on Monday evening which drew a good crowd, but did not amount to much. Their Gags were old.

The first nine of Dundee played the first nine of this place, which "dun" the Dundee boys so bad that we don't think they will want to come again. Score 29 to 6 in favor of Britton.

The G. A. R. and S. of V. met at the hall last Sunday morning and fell in line and marched to the church where they listened to a splendid sermon delivered by our worthy Pastor Rev. James Wright.

George says the boys better not break his luck again. So look out boys, Tecumseh "budge" is bad stuff.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Ousterhout is very sick at present writing.

Mrs. Sink has a splendid stock of goods and is doing a rushing business. Give her a call and you will then know how to appreciate a good milliner.

Several of the G. A. R. members went to Adrian Tuesday to get new uniforms for Decoration day.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No, medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

Minor Strang will occupy the Mrs. Benham house.

The first game of Base Ball of the season was played here Thursday between a picked nine of Clinton and the second nine of Tecumseh the score being 19 to 14. In favor of Clinton, the following is the score by innings

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Clinton	6	0	0	2	5	0	3	2	1	—19
Tecumseh	2	1	0	2	3	2	1	1	2	—14

Geo. Belding has brightened up the front of his Ice Cream Parlors with a fresh coat of red paint.

Will Cutting came home from Cleveland Friday for a week's visit with his parents.

Will Cutting spent Sunday and Monday visiting relatives at Jackson.

A gloom was cast over our entire community Sunday afternoon when word was received that Christian Schneirla, one of our well known and prosperous German farmers had passed away without a moments warning. Saturday he washed sheep, in the forenoon and went to a barn raising in the afternoon. Sunday he did not feel well and did not accompany the family to the German Church services as he was accustomed to do. The minister noticed his absence and when informed the cause said he would drive that way home. On going to the house one of the boys said his father had gone to salt the sheep. On going in search for him he was found in the barn on some straw. He asked for water, the boy ran to a spring near by and brought some in his hat but, his father could not drink it so the boy raised him up and ere he knew it his father had breathed his last. Help was summoned and his body taken to the house. The funeral was held at the Congregational Church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Reverends Schlessinger and Williams officiating and was very largely attended by all nationalities. Mr. S. leaves a widow and twelve children. He possessed a large tract of land well stocked with choice horses and cattle, had fine barns and other out buildings and was erecting an elegant house for the comfort of his family when he was thus suddenly cut off from all things earthly. Surely we know not what a day may bring forth.

Dropped Dead.

Physiologists estimate that the heart does 5,000,000 pounds of work each day. No wonder people drop dead with worn out hearts. This could be prevented by Dr. Miles' new and great discovery, the New Cure. Always commence when you first begin to get short of breath, have weak, faint or smothering spells, pain or tenderness in side, etc. Sold at Baker & Hall's.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD

At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoae balsam in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all inflamation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of BEGG'S DIARRHŒA BALSAM will do more good in cases of this kind than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it.

NORTH EAST FRANKLIN.

Chester Luce was so unfortunate as to have his leg broken in three places, Saturday.

Samuel Wilson's colt, whose injuries were mentioned last week, died on Tuesday.

Mrs. Jehiel Kemp and son, Ray. were to start on Tuesday for Gratiot Co. where Mrs. Kemp's sister resides.

Hudson Robinson of Reading, an old Franklin boy, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Davenport.

Eliah Allen's best pony helped herself to corn a few nights ago and died next day from indigestion. The family have an orphan colt on their hands.

Will Beebe has planted eighty bushels of potatoes this season.

Mrs. James Allen's mother returned the first of last week to her home in Litchfield. A sister came out Friday. Mrs. Allen is still very weak.

L. E. Taylor has been breaking up a new piece of swamp land and finds many obstacles in the shape of sound logs, lying anywhere from a few inches to three feet below the surface. The ground was formerly covered with willows but no trees have been growing there since the country was settled. It is an interesting query how these were felled, and by what convulsion of nature they were submerged so suddenly as to prevent decay. The logs are mostly black ash with a few of oak. There are remains, also, of a beaver dam, and sticks are found, twenty inches long and from two to six inches thick, smoothly cut off, something like the sharpened end of a pencil.

Miss. Abbie Davenport is going to North Adams this week. She expects to spend some time there.

SOMETHING YOU SHOULD KNOW.

Many of our readers have often asked "What is Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, about which we hear so much?" To answer their question we have secured the following explanatory article, writen by a competent authority:

One of the worst physical scourges of the world to-day—notable in Eng., Germany, America and Australia—is Kidney Disease. An alarmingly large proportion of the population of the countries named is afflicted with it, in one form or another.

The symptoms of Bright's Disease (which is but an advanced form of Kidney Disease) differ in different individuals, but generally the patient presents a flabby, bloodless look, is drowsy and easily fatigued, has pain in the back, vomiting and febrile disturbance. Dropsy, varying in degree from slight puffiness of the face to an accumulation of the fluid sufficient to distend the whole body and to occasion serious embarrassment to respiration, is a very common accompiniment. The urine is reduced in quantity, is often of dark, smoky or bloody color, and exhibits to chemical reaction the presence of a large amount of albumen, while under the microscope blood corpuscles and casts are found. Very often dimness of vision, due to a morbid condition of the retina of the eye, and also hypertrophy of the heart, leading to fatal apoplexy, are accompaniments of the disease.

There are several forms of the malady, but their common prominent characteristic is the presence of albumen in the urine, and frequently also the coexistence of dropsy. These associated symptoms, in connection with Kidney Disease were first described in 1827 by Dr. Richard Bright, an English physician, who first investigated them. Sometimes there is a degeneration of the tissues of the kidney into fat, thus impairing the excreting powers of the organs so that the urea is not sufficently separated from the blood. The flow of the blood, when charged with this urea, is retarded through the minute vessels, congestion ensues, and exudation of albumen and fibrin is the result. This disease is often accompanied by eruption on the skin, as boils, etc., and is frequently associated with enlargement of the heart.

The causes of this terrible malady are, indulgence in too much ice water as a beverage, strong drink, high living, indigestion, exposure to wet and cold, various kinds of fevers, malaria, pregency, and bodily derangement, such as a complication of certain acute diseases, like erysipelas, diphtheria, and especially scarlet fever (of which it is one of the most frequent and serious after effect), diseases of bones and other scrofulous affections. The kidneys being the most important excretory organs of the body, their derangement, may speedily destroy life.

Common-sense treatment of Kidney Disease of the character refered to necessarily involves removal of the causes, rectification of other secretions and increase in the number of blood-red corpuscles, by the admistration of Warners' Safe Cure. It is a specific even in the advanced stages, when the blood has poisoned the nerve centres, restoring the secretion of healthy fluids and relieving the congestion of the brain. It speedily arrests the inflammatory action, which is marked by an increased amount of fibrine. The albumen gradually disappears, the dropsy subsides and the patient recovers. There is no standstill in advanced Kidney Disease; those who are afflicted with it are either constantly growing better or worse. How important, therefore, that this terrible disease be taken in hand in time and treated with a known specific."

MANITOU.

This enterprising little settlement, situated on the south end of Devils Lake this county, is unfortunate in having two names. The village, or Post-office address is Manitou, and the R. R. station is Oak Beach. However, Manitou, Lenawee Co. Mich, will eventually be the correct address. At this settlement everybody is busy, some settling their home for the season and many just commencing the foundations for a home.

Accompanied by John Graham we passed over the entire original plat and found only six lots for sale, ranging from $150 to $200. The village is abundantly supplied with trees, roads graded, the beautiful grove cleaned, a substantial pier finished Ed. Imerson is on hand with his lunch rooms and the favorite little steamer Flora, which skims over the lake on time, between the village and Coe's hotel Queens are trumps at the neat little bakery; Mr Franklin conducts a store 40x90, two stories high, and a gentleman from Rome will have another store completed and occupied in June. Wm. Bresie, wife, son and daughter are now settling their cottage with the view of keeping cool during the hot season. Mrs. Potts, of Adrian, will have her neat cottage done in June. Three others are just completed and will soon be occupied. J. K. Boies of Hudson, will build by the side of a Queen Ann cottage belonging to a neighbor. Supervisor Raymond and Chas. Pawson secured lots and will build. C. K. Spafford occupies his Italian cafe and dips into ice cream and somebody's pocket book. Mr. Richards, of Hudson, is at home and is the only one that is fenced in. No two buildings yet completed are alike, and with the exception of two, they would be a credit to Tecumseh.

May 26th, nine coaches from Southern Ohio, made the first picnic of the season; arriving at 11 A. M, leaving at 5:30 P. M.. The Tecumseh Chief came from Allen's, the Manitou from Beardsell's, the Flora from Coe's, and the picnickers scattered all over the lake. Some remained, bought lots, secured boats and went fishing.

Johnny Graham, the Station Agt. is the most accommodating man in Michigan. You can borrow anything of him from a 30 year old horse to a toothpick, and he never forgets when you got it. He is a jolly good fellow every day in the week and should be elected mayor of the village. If you wish to rent, buy or secure board, he knows all about it and will see that you get there—for a 2-cent stamp.

Owing to the past three dry seasons the water of inland lakes has receded from 18 to 24 inches, and Devils lake is 20 lower than ever known. A new channel will be cut through the bar and Fred Deuel's boat, the G. A. R., will join the other four and make a handsome little navy. All it needs is good-fellowship among the hotel and steamboat men to make Devils lake a first-class resort.

There was a large gathering at the monthly tea meeting last week. Mrs. Humbolt Pennington gave a very interesting report of the district convention she attended at Monroe.

Children's day will be observed here on Sunday afternoon June 9th. The exercises will consist of music, recitations etc.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years the Doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucus surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonals. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co. TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, MAY 23.

NO COLOR LINE AT THE ALTAR.

Action of Northern Presbyterians on the Negro Question.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The co-operation question was productive of a lively discussion in the Presbyterian assembly yesterday, and there was a crowded audience to hear it. The question was on agreeing to the clause of the report on co-operation which agreed to a separation of congregations, presbyteries and synods as to white and colored members. This proposition was vigorously attacked, among the most earnest of the opposers being Rev. John Fox, of Kentucky, who insisted that the time had come to break down the prejudice existing and insist on equality in the Christian church. Rev. Dr. Stryker, of Chicago, was also against the separation, declaring that he would vote for no report which established discrimination at the communion table.

Color Line Wiped Out.

He moved to amend by striking out the objectionable clause, and the motion was carried—400 to 50. The whole report as amended was then adopted, and then Rev. G. T. Purvis, of Pittsburg, moved to inform the southern assembly by telegraph that the action was taken "not to prejudice future action nor to outline a future policy of the church, but simply because this assembly did not believe that it stated the historical facts of the case." This was carried by a vote of 262 to 197. A telegram was received from the southern assembly announcing that they had adopted the report on co-operation, which was received with applause.

Other Business Transacted.

The church erection committee reported that it had aided in building 102 churches, and spent over $98,000. It asked for $150,000 for the coming year. The report was adopted.

A committee was appointed to consider the question of appointing deaconesses, to report to the next general assembly. The price of the church organ, "At Home and Abroad," was reduced to $1 per year.

In the matter of the proposed change in the confession of faith many delegates declared it was no more infallible than the pope, but the committee report was adopted asking the reformers to formulate the proposed changes. A resolution to the effect that revision was not expedient at the present time was rejected.

THEY'RE ALL PLAYING BALL.

The National League Gets to Work for the Pennant.

CHICAGO, May 21.—Rain prevented the National league base ball games yesterday at every scheduled point.

CHICAGO, May 22.—The League is playing base ball in hard luck just now. All the games were stopped by rain Monday, and yesterday Jupiter Pluvius put a "kybosh" on two of them. The other clubs scored as follows: At Washington City—Chicago 6, Washington 13; At New York—Pittsburg 4, New York 5.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Anson's "colts" and the New York team came together on the ball field for the first time this season yesterday and the result was bad for the Windy City. The League scores were: At New York—Chicago 4, New York 11; at Philadelphia—Cleveland 3, Philadelphia 4; at Boston—Indianapolis 5, Boston 4; Washington-Pittsburg game postponed—rain.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Base ball lovers, who like to see the sphere knocked "galley west," had their fun at the Chicago-New York game yesterday, as the score will show. The League record is given as follows: At New York—Chicago 18, New York 17, and this while Chicago made but 17 hits to New York 18, and was charged with 13 errors to New York 6—the pitchers were Hatfield for New York and Gumbert for Chicago; at Washington City—Pittsburg 1, Washington 6; at Philadelphia—Cleveland 5, Philadelphia 2; Boston-Indianapolis game postponed—rain.

Epoch

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is greatfully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at

We notice a new departure in the treatment of disease that promises to revolutionize the medicine business. It consists in the collection of the species used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance, the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained and prepared. The treatments of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh, were procured, and so on till these incomparable cures now include diseases of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism, nervous debility, and piles. Originated and used by specialists, being a positive cure for each disease, these preparations are the best remedies procurable. We advise all to send three two cent stamps to the Chase Medical Specialty Co., 179 West Adams St., Chicago, Ill., and receive by return mail their interesting hand book.

Foully Assassinated.

Explains the Mysterious Disappearance of Dr. Cronin.

HIS DECOMPOSING CORPSE FOUND.

Its Hiding Place a Sewer Catch-Basin, and the Head Full of Ghastly Gashes—Complete Identification of the Body and Its Occupancy of the Trunk Made Clear by Several Facts—A Significant Circumstance—Story of the Case Recapitulated.

CHICAGO, May 23.—The mystery of the disappearance two weeks ago of Dr. P. H. Cronin has been partly solved, and a case that has led to a great deal of false and sensational special reporting, connected its victim with an alleged criminal operation on an unknown woman, and been accounted for by the police of this city on the assumption that the doctor had skipped out, turns out to have been one of foul and cowardly assassination.

The Sudden Disappearance.

About two weeks ago a young man called at the doctor's lodgings and stated that he was wanted in haste to attend a patient. Dr. Cronin immediately took his instruments and medicine case, and getting into a buggy, drove off with his caller, stating that he did not know how long he would be gone. He never came back. There was nothing about the man who came for him by which he might be identified, and the doctor had vanished as if the earth had opened and swallowed him. The next day a blood-stained trunk was found in the north part of the city, with some cotton-batting, a few threads of some textile fabric, and a few human hairs in it. The hair was declared to be that of Cronin by the people with whom he boarded, and his barber was equally positive that it was not.

Woodruff's Strange Story.

Some days after the disappearance a man named Woodruff was arrested for stealing a horse and wagon from a Webster avenue livery stable, and upon being "pumped" by the police told a yarn of going in company with certain others to a stable in the rear of a residence on State street occupied by Mr. Watrous, a well known and highly respected citizen, and taking therefrom a trunk containing the body of a woman. He said that Dr. Cronin was in the stable at the time and that the doctor had something to do with the woman's death in the nature of a criminal operation. He said the body was taken from the trunk at the north end of Lincoln park and thrown into a pond and that he had taken the trunk and thrown it out where it was found. This man probably knows more than he has told of the real tragedy.

Search for the Body.

As was supposed, every gutter, sewer, pond or other body of water on the north side was thoroughly searched but nothing found. The friends of Dr. Cronin raised money and had the lake dragged for a day or two, but without result. Special correspondents of the Chicago papers telegraphed from Toronto, Canada, columns of a story that he had been seen and identified there, giving particulars of an alleged interview with him and written in such elaborate and detailed manner as demonstrates, in view of yesterday's developements, that the special correspondent can sometimes be an awful liar. For all this time the ghastly corpse of the unfortunate doctor was slowly putrefying in a sewer catch basin in the suburb of Argyle Park, a few miles north of the city.

The Doctor's Body Found.

Yesterday afternoon a gang of laborers in the employ of the Lake View city government were cleaning the ditches along Evanston avenue. Foreman Henry Roesch and two men were working north on the east side of Evanston avenue towards Fifty-ninth street, in Argyle park. As they neared the catch-basin at the corner they noticed a strong smell of putrefying flesh, and Roesch pried off the top of the catch-basin with his spade, and uncovered the body of Dr. Cronin. It had apparently been thrown into the basin, for the head was down and the feet and legs were in the sewer opening. A towel was wrapped about the head, but the rest of the body was stark naked. The Roman Catholic charm called the "Agnus Dei," which the doctor always wore next his skin suspended about his neck, was untouched. On the head were the marks left by a dozen deep cuts, which had severed the scalp and indented the skull. It is the opinion of the police that Cronin was foully murdered, and by some man who could not bring himself to disturb a Roman Catholic charm.

Identified Beyond a Doubt.

Immediately upon taking the body out of the basin Foreman Roesch notified the Lake View police station and summoned the patrol wagon. The body was stretched out in the Lake View morgue, which occupies the front room in the basement under the station. Telephone messages were sent to the city police, and an hour after the finding of the body a dozen of Cronin's friends were at the station. John E. Scanlan, Mortimer Scanlan and John F. Scanlan were among the first who arrived. They identified the body as that of Cronin upon first sight. Later it was more positively identified by L. L. Conklin, the saloonkeeper with whom Cronin lived, and by James Boland and Patrick McGary. In the evening Dr. J. R. Brandt, president of the Cook county hospital staff, carefully examined the body and positively identified it as that of Cronin.

Terribly Hacked About the Head.

He discovered about the head the following cuts and bruises: Over the left temple, a cut four inches long, through the scalp and into the skull; over the left parietal bone, a cut one and a half inches long, which also marked the skull; also a cut one and a half inches over the frontal bone at the junction of the left parietal, a cut three inches long through the scalp and marking the occipital bone, a large bruise back of the forehead on the right parietal bone, and near it two cuts an inch long, bruises on the left leg and severe contusions, apparently made by a bludgeon on the forehead. The doctor said that the blows must have been made by some sharp instrument, perhaps an ice-pick. He said if the instrument had not been sharp, the skull would have been fractured, whereas it was only indented, or marked by the blows. Dr. Brandt examined the hair found in the trunk on Evanston avenue and stated last night that it was Dr. Cronin's hair.

A House Renting Mystery.

One of the most important clues yet found in the case was the statement made by Patrick O. Sullivan, the ice dealer, that something mysterious regarding the renting of a cottage near his residence had taken place, the people who had rented the cottage never appearing to take possession, though they had paid their first month's rent. He thought the matter should be investigated, as he had understood that the cottage was rented by some one who pretended to be going to work for him, though no such persons had been engaged by him. As far as he knew, after the persons who rented the cottage had put in their carpets, about three weeks ago, they never came near the house. It is also said that blood was found in some portions of the house, but the police have charge and will permit no outside interference. It was at Sullivan's house that the men who called on Dr. Cronin two weeks ago said the patient was who needed the doctor.

A Possible Clew.

It was discovered Thursday that a cottage near the residence of Patrick O. Sullivan, the iceman, was rented a little less than two months ago by unknown parties, who paid one months rent in advance, but never so far as known took possession of the premises. This information was given to the police by Mr. Sullivan and the facts corroborated by the neighbors. A reporter visited the owners of the cottage, a Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, two aged Swedes, but they refused to talk about it saying they would tell their story to the police. A young woman living at Mr. Sullivan's said that about three weeks ago, one Sunday night she saw a light in the house, but as far as she knew no one has been seen there since. It is said that the parties who rented the place were two young men, evidently Irish workingmen, and that they said they were going to work for Mr. Sullivan. It is not improbable that the cottage was hired by the assassins of Dr. Cronin, and he was decoyed to it, murdered there and then the body taken away in the trunk.

Blood-Stains on the Floor.

A reporter, accompanied by two other members of the press, gained an entrance into the cottage and discovered blood-stains on the front parlor floor, in the corner of the back parlor, in the hallway, and on the front steps. The steps were saturated with blood and the stains can be plainly seen, although the murderers evidently made an effort to wipe away the evidence of their crime. The front parlor is no doubt where the murderers beat out the brains of the physician. The parlor floor is covered with bloody marks, although here the assassins made strenuous efforts to destroy the blood-stains. The floor is daubed recklessly with brown paint, and it can be plainly seen that the work was not done with the hand of an expert, and that the job was done in a hurry. They did the work in such haste that there are several places where blood-stains are perceptible. One spot in the middle of the room is especially neglected, and a large blood-stain can be plainly seen.

CHICAGO, May 25.—The Cronin murder is almost as much of a mystery as ever, though some things are coming to light which cause considerable talk. The latest of these is that it has been discovered that Officer Coughlin, of the Chicago Avenue station, hired a horse from a livery stable on the night Cronin was murdered. He said it was for a friend. It was nearly morning when the horse was returned to the barn, completely fagged out. Capt. Schaack heard of the matter, got the horse and drove to the place Cronin was decoyed from, but his landlady was unable to identify it as the one driven by the man who called for the doctor on the fatal evening.

Said the Man Was All Right.

Capt. Schaack returned to the station, called Coughlin up, and told him he must produce the man for whom he hired the rig. He said all right, and started out with Detective Whalen. When they came back to the station they reported having met the man, who gave a satisfactory account of himself on the night of the murder, and they let him go. This all happened several days ago, and the matter was dropped. Now the police want that man, and want him badly, but he is not to be found. Coughlin acted very queerly in the matter, and the finger of suspicion is pointed in his direction. It is said he was an enemy of Cronin.

Search for the Murderers.

Daniel Coughlin is in a tight place. He is the policeman referred to in these dispatches Saturday as having hired the rig in which Dr. Cronin was taken to his death. Saturday night Coughlin was placed under arrest—as a "witness" whom it was safe to hold. This was done after he had been examined by Chief of Police Hubbard and Mayor Cregier, the latter of whom, in view of the gravity of the case, is taking a personal part in the investigation. Officer Whelan, Coughlin's partner, has also been relieved from duty.

CHICAGO, May 27.—Peter McGeehan is locked up at the Harrison street police station. He is charged with actual personal participation in the murder of Dr. P. H. Cronin. The evidence against him is said to be of the very strongest nature, and the statement was made last night that he might be one of the men who actually struck the blows that killed the doctor. It is asserted that he is the man whose name Capt. O'Connor (presumably) gave to the police as the murderer, and that he came from Philadelphia to "remove" Cronin. The Pinkertons have been shadowing him for some days.

Most Startling Rumor Yet.

The air is full of rumors and charges, but probably the most startling is to the effect that Cronin's death was decreed by the Clan-na-Gael on account of LeCaron's statement to the Parnell commission that there were more spies in America; and not only that but also the death of W. J. Hynes, Father Gleason, Capt. I. P. O'Connor, John Devoy, and two others. The discovery of Cronin's murder has given the others a respite.

Woodruff's Employer Arrested.

The man King, described by the prisoner Woodruff as the person who hired him to steal a horse out of Dean's barn the night of Dr. Cronin's disappearance, was captured at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in a house of ill-fame.

The Makers of a Well Known Churn write:

"We have been often asked by dairymen: 'What is the very best soap to use to properly cleanse dairy utensils?' We have invariably replied, the 'Ivory,' but as for giving specific directions for washing dairy utensils, it is really summed up in making them thoroughly clean. Boiling water must be used, and that, in connection with IVORY SOAP, will thoroughly cleanse and deodorize the wood, leaving it clean and sweet for further use. Any dairy utensils half cleaned will spoil the delicate aroma of 'gilt edge butter,' which may be perfect in other respects."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be 'just as good as the 'Ivory';' they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Improved Champion Mower.

THE CHAMPION is the only Mower on which the pitman never wears out, the knife heel never breaks, the gears never wear out nor break; the only Mower on which the gears run slowly and make no noise; the bar can be stood straight up and the knife will run freely even in that position; the only Mower on which all lost motion can be taken up on pitman, gearing and boxing; the only Mower on which the guards will outwear three sets of the cheap guards used on other mowers, and never break nor get out of line; the only Mower on which the slightest forward motion of the master wheel starts the knife; the only Mower on which the motion is transmitted directly from the master wheel to the knife pitman without any joints to wear loose and rattle, and where ALL THE POWER is applied to cutting the grass, none being wasted on loose joints or fast running gearing; the only Mower that has no frame work or pitman hanging down in front to run into obstructions or interfere with the cut grass; the only Mower that has no clutches to bother by slipping out of gear, and it can be put in gear at any point without backing.

THE IMPROVED CHAMPION has less than one-third the amount of gearing that other Mowers have, and the pitman and its connections are warranted not to break or wear out. This Mower is so novel and so superior to all others that an examination will convince any farmer that it is worth much more money than any other.

CRUSHED UNDER TONS OF IRON.

One Man Killed and Three Mortally Injured at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., May 15.—A terrible accident occurred at the Michigan Car works yesterday afternoon, by which one man lost his life and three others were fatally injured. A gang of laborers were unloading a car of iron when some part of the brace holding the load broke, and several tons of iron fell on the men, completely burying them. When the victims were liberated Joe Benscotte was dead, and his three companions were mortally injured. All are Germans and leave large families.

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., May 15.—The house yesterday passed a bill for the relief of indigent soldiers who do not wish to go to the Soldiers' home, and for the relief of their minor children, wives, or widows as well. A bill passed both houses authorizing East Saginaw to issue bonds for $100,000 for a new city hall.

LANSING, Mich., May 16.—The senate yesterday passed bills appropriating $9,000 to the Pontiac asylum, and organizing a new county in the upper peninsula to be known as McMillen. The house passed the bill giving women the right to vote at all municipal elections—58 to 34. There were crowds of ladies present, and they applauded the passage, and pinned a boutonniere on the coat of every member who voted aye. The bills providing for free text books, and increasing the bounty on dead English sparrows were also passed. Governor Luce vetoed the bill to repeal the law requiring the reporting of mortgages for taxation.

LANSING, Mich., May 17.—The women interested in the municipal suffrage bill moved on the senate yesterday and got their measure taken up, only to see it slaughtered by a vote of 16 to 10. The house bill to restore the death penalty also got its quietus. The house passed the local option bill, with an amendment requiring one-fourth of the voters to sign the petition before the election on the question can be held.

LANSING, Mich., May 18.—Yesterday the house put in the whole time discussing a bill to exempt from taxation all mortgages, bonds and notes. The labor members indorsed the bill, but it was defeated. The senate passed the general fish bill and a bill appropriating $23,000 to purchase new grounds for the asylum of insane criminals ta Ionia.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at C. A. Wright & Co's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

K. B KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Pimple to the worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions go along, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by druggists or sent by express on receipt of price.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you. It will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

THE SANITARY CONVENTION.

This convention, to be held under the auspices of the State Board of Health, will take place next week Thursday and Friday, June 6th and 7th. There will be sessions the first day at 2:30 P. M. and 8 P. M.; on the second day at 9:30 A. M., 2:30 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.

The official program, issued from the State printing office, has not yet been received, but we gather the principle features thereof from the Secretary of the local committee.

OBJECTS OF THE CONVENTION.

The objects of the Convention are the presentation of facts, the comparison of views, and the discussion of methods relating to the prevention of sickness and deaths, and the improvement of the conditions of living. This is not merely a doctors' Convention, but it is for the people generally.

ADDRESSES AND SUBJECTS.

Welcoming Address by George Heesen, President of the village.

Response and statement of objects of Convention by Hon. John Avery, M. D., President of State Board of Health.

Address by Lemon Barns, M. D.

Among the subjects which it is expected will be presented and discussed are the following:

1. The interest of the state in the health of the citizen. Gov. Cyrus G. Luce.
2. Public health in Tecumseh. Dr. Samuel Catlin.
3. The water-supply of Tecumseh. Dr. Geo. Howell.
4. The relations of privies and cesspools to wells. Dr. C. M. Woodward.
5. Disposal of waste and excreta in Tecumseh. Dr. O. Q. Jones.
6. Sewerage and drainage of Tecumseh. George Tiffany.
7. School hygiene. Prof. E. A. Wilson.
8. The public press and the public health. C. F. Field.
9. The germ theory of disease. Dr. J. F. Jenkins.
10. Restriction and prevention of the dangerous communicable diseases, from the following standpoints: (a) The local health board. Dr. W. A. Frost. (b) The clergyman. Rev. F. Adkins. (c) The State Board of Health. John Avery of Greenville. (d). From the standpoint of the citizen. D. T. Hall.

Authors of papers are requested to limit them to 20 minutes. The speakers who lead the discussions are to be allowed 10 minutes each, all others 5 minutes.

The papers are expected to be original contributions, which, when read, are to be considered the property of the Convention, and to be left with the Secretary.

A reception will be given to Gov. Luce and the citizens of Tecumseh at the residence of Dr. J. F. Jenkins on Thursday from 6:30 to 7:45 P. M.

Each paper will be discussed by one or more physicians from abroad.

The following members of the State board of health will be present:

John Avery, M. D. Prest., of Greenville, Mich.: H. B. Baker, M. D., Sec. of Lansing; V. C. Vaughan, M. D., University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; H. F. Lyster, M. D. Medical College, Detroit: A. Arnold Clark of Lansing; Physicians of Adrian, Blissfield, Ridgeway, Clinton and other towns of the county.

MUSIC AND BUSINESS.

We "dropped in" at M. P. Brown's gallery yesterday, and passed a few moments both pleasantly and profitably admiring his new musical instruments and the twin babies. He is selling the Boardman & Gray upright piano and the Lakeside organ. Both of these are superior instruments. He also has the agency of the Eldredge sewing machines. The sample on exhibition at his rooms is finished in antique oak, and is one of the finest specimens of sewing machinery we ever saw. This query naturally suggested itself: "Why do Tecumseh people go out of town to buy pianos organs and sewing machines when they can procure the best articles made through a resident agent, at reasonable figures?" There is no better piano made than the Boardman & Gray; the Lakeside organ is fully equal to the Estey; the Eldredge "B" sewing machine stands at the top of the heap. If our readers are inclined to question our assertion on these points let them call at Mr. Brown's gallery and investigate for themselves.

Blood vs. Nerves.

Great mistakes have been made in the world, by supposing many nervous troubles were due to bad blood. Thus headache, fits, dizziness, sleeplessness, etc., are always due to weakness or irritation of the nerves of the brain: dyspepsia, pain, wind, etc. to weakness of the nerves of the stomach: weak lungs is caused by weakness of the parts: billiousness, constipation, etc. to weakness of the nerves of the liver or bowels: pains, irregularity, sterility to derangement of the uterine nerves. For all weakness, Dr. Miles' great nerve and brain food surpasses all other remedies. Trial bottle free at Baker & Hall's Drug Store.

THE PRIDE of WOMAN.

A clear pearly and transparent skin is always a sign of pure blood, and all persons troubled with dark, greasy, yellow or blotched skin can rest assured that their blood is out of order. A few doses of BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER will remove the causes and the skin will become clear and transparent. Try it, and if satisfaction is not given it will cost you nothing. It is fully warranted.

J. J. Orr, Druggist.

Forced to Leave Home.

Over 60 people were forced to leave there homes yesterday to call for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine. If your blood is bad, your liver and kidneys out of order, if you are constipated and have headache and an unsightly complexion, don't fail to call on any druggist to-day for a free sample of this grand remedy. The ladies praise it. Everyone likes it. Large-size package 50 cents.

THE ORIGINAL WILD WEST EXHIBITION

How it is Presented—All United with Adam Forepaugh's Famous Show—A Colossal Circus, Menagerie, Hippodrome, Museum, and Wild West Show—All Massed into one Stupendous Entertainment.

On the 13th of June, the historic Wild West exhibition now all united with Adam Forepaugh's great show will exhibit afternoon and evening at Adrian. The following is the plan adopted in the presentation of the remodeled Wild West show:

Epoch the 1st—The true history of American progress, showing what the early pioneers had to penetrate and contend with in the advance of civilization.

Epoch the Second—The Boundless Prairie. The struggles, pastimes, and perils of the emigrant trains, the corral and camp at night.

Epoch the 3d—Ranch Life—The picturesque home of the hardy pioneer, the annual "round up," lassoing cattle and horses, riding the bucking broncbos, frontier sports, feats of marksmanship and deeds of daring, together with the horrors of the atrocities of an Indian invasion.

Epoch the 4th—Mining Camp—The village tavern, a holiday in the mountains, arrival and departure of the overland mail, stage coach robbed by masked bandits, rescued by cowboys and scouts.

Epoch the 5th—Wild West War—Custer's last battle on the Little Big Horn—the fort in peace, the call to arms, Indians in ambush, military tactics, the order to charge and the horrible massacre in which the brave Custer fell. This is the most thrilling and realistic act ever presented to the public, and in it appear over 500 Indians, cowboys, Mexicans, government soldiers, horses, mustangs, ponies and mules.

To this is added all new, novel and wonderful features of Adam Forepaugh's imported Paris hippodrome, all the rare animals and birds of the world famed menagerie, in all fully 1000 and performances in three separate ring by three distinct and unapproachable circus companies, and a wonderful exhibition of trained wild beasts, including 30 performing elephants, 100 horses, ponies, dogs, lions, monkeys, pigs, goats, seals, bears, etc.

ORGAN CONCERT.

The new organ at the Presbyterian church has been placed in position, and the instrument will be appropriately dedicated to-morrow evening, May 31st, by a grand organ concert. Prof. A. M. Greene, organist of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Detroit, and Prof. W. H. H. Smith, organist of the M. E. church, Toledo, will preside at the organ. In addition to organ solos, a violin solo will be given by Miss Mabel Hayden and songs by Mrs. Bidwell and Miss Grayson; also a few choice anthems and quartettes by the church choir. This will be a rare chance to hear the choicest music from a superior instrument by first-class artists. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used to make some needed repairs on the church. Admission 25c. Doors will be opened at 7 o'clock, and concert commences at 8.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Dr. Ketts, Manchester's popular dentist, was in Tecumseh Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Norris, of Marshall, visited Tecumseh friends last Monday.

F. L. VanEpps, of Hudson, has obtained a patent on a telegraph sounder.

Mrs. D. P. Anthony has been visiting her daughter in Detroit during the past week.

Regular services will be resumed next Sunday at the Presbyterian church at the usual hour.

A company of young people enjoyed a very pleasant tea party at Wm. Hayden's last Thursday evening.

We go to press Thursday morning this week to give all hands a chance to celebrate Decoration day this afternoon.

The sanitary convention which will meet here one week from today bids fair to be largely attended and very interesting.

The wool market is flat. Wool comes in very slowly and at present prices the farmers are likely to hold their clips for some time.

Mrs. B. Hurry was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening by the members of her Sunday school class and a pleasant time was enjoyed.

Rev. W. H. Babbitt has been taking advantage of the torn up condition of the church occasioned by the new organ, to enjoy a few days respite from pastoral labors.

The ladies' social of the Universalist church will meet at the residence of John VanVleet 2½ miles east of Tecumseh, Friday, June 7. Tea from 5 to 7 o'clock. All cordially invited.

Mrs. Russell, of Hudson, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rector last week. Her daughter Lucille, who was a school mate of Minnie's at the Normal, is spending a few days at Mr. Rector's.

A new time schedule went into force on the Mackinaw road last Sunday. The afternoon train going east passes this station half an hour earlier, but the changes of the other trains is very slight.

At a meeting of the tax-payers at Hudson, Friday night, it was decided to consolidate the two school districts of the village, and erect a handsome high school building in the center of the town, using the old buildings for ward schools.

A change in time on the C. J. & M. Ry. necessitates an earlier closing of the afternoon mail, which will now close at 2.25, instead of 2.55 as formerly. This train makes much better connections for eastern and southern states, and also eastern and northern Michigan than the Lake Shore.

The Tecumseh Rack Co. have a new double half col. ad. in today's paper. The card illustrates the rack in all three shapes, as a hay rack, a stock rack and a wagon box. It is without doubt the best rack combination ever invented. The company have several agents in the field, and orders are coming in more rapidly than they can be filled.

The workmen who are engaged upon the repairs of Wm. C. Heek's house struck a peculiar find the other day. In one of the upper rooms between the outer wall and the plastering they found a small rusty looking hymn book. It was printed in 1832, and is a Baptist collection. The name "W. H. Patchen" is written in ink on the fly leaf. It must have lain in its hiding place at least 50 years.

Last Sunday morning about six o'clock, the dead body of Conrad Bueher, a section hand living near Lenawee Junction, was found on the Lake Shore track a short distance east of the Wabash crossing in Adrian. The man had been run over the night before by a passing train, and the body was in a terribly mangled condition. Fifty dollars and various articles from his pockets were scattered along the track.

Tecumseh was visited by a 2x4 circus last Saturday, which advertised the usual mammoth "three shows in one, stupendous street parade, brass bands innumerable, etc." The parade consisted of a band, three empty baggage wagons, followed by a span of donkeys drawing a clown. It evidently did not create the furore expected, as when the tent was opened in the evening, the audience failed to materialize, and the star performers took a lay off.

The memorial services at the M. E. church last Sunday evening were listened to by a congregation that crowded the audience room to overflowing. The G. A. R. Post, the Relief corps, and Co. C all attended in a body, and these organizations filled at least two-thirds of the body slips on each side of the central isle. An eloquent discourse was delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. S. Joslyn, who was assisted by Rev. F. Adkins and Rev. J. M. Getchell. The choir rendered some fine music.

Geo. S. Tiffany arrived home Tuesday.

Henry Crane was in Tecumseh last Monday.

Walter Heck started for Chicago Monday.

Yesterday's rain came very opportunely.

Al. Heesen returned from his examination at Annapolis last Saturday. He has decided not to become a naval cadet.

Another delegation numbering 18 joined the ranks of Co. C last Tuesday evening. A large number from Clinton wish to become soldier boys also, we understand.

Rev. Dr. Stimpson, of Terre Haute, Ind., dist. secretary of American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church last Sunday morning.

The death of Mrs. Frank Osborne of Laingsburg, occurred at Ann Arbor last Friday. Rev. Frank Osborne is an old resident of this village, and his many friends will deeply sympathize with him in his affliction.

The monthly tea of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Stewart, Friday, May 31. Supper served from 5 to 7 o'clock at 15c, to which the public is invited. Proceeds to pay for the carpet for their temperance parlor.

The Adrian Times of Monday evening has the following complimentary notice:

Mr. Chas. H. Beneway, the Tecumseh funeral director, is deserving of much credit for the successful management of the Ahrens obsequies yesterday.

At the regular weekly drill Tuesday night Capt. Fred B. Wood handed in his resignation as Captain of Co. C. It was promptly laid on the table and the boys will keep hold of the Captain until after camp anyway. He has made one of the commanders in the history of the company, and it can ill afford to lose him. Increasing professional duties and change of residence necessitate this action.

A late number of the Ann Arbor Democrat contains the intelligence of the death of Mrs. Mary J. Thacker, wife of a leading attorney of Houston, Texas. The deceased was a daughter of the late Judge B. F. Granger, of Ann Arbor. She was born in Ann Arbor, and a woman of rare accomplishments. Mrs. Judge Granger has many friends in Tecumseh and Manchester who will learn of her daughter's death with deep regret.

The Dundee gas well, or the hole is now a thing of the past. This week Messrs Sparks & Allen, the contractors, drew out the casing and the well rapidly filled with earth by caving from above the rock. The derrick has been taken down and the machinery packed for shipment. Today the contractors are loading the outfit for shipment to Upper Sandusky. A considerable quantity of oil rose to the top of the well when the water was let in by the raising of the casing, also quite a flow of gas, but now the well is all vanity—Dundee Reporter.

Scribner's Magazine for June marks the beginning of a new enterprise not less notable than the Railway series commenced a year ago. It is the series of popular articles on the Practical Application of Electricity, a subject which has become of chief importance in the scientific, commercial and industrial worlds. The opening article by Prof. C. F. Brackett, of Princeton, is entitled "Electricity in the Service of Man." It is an introductory paper which sets forth, in a clear and precise way, some of the common methods by which the more important electrical phenomena are produced, the laws which they reveal, and the principles involved in measuring electrical quantities such as the Volt, Ampere, and Ohm—terms which have lately come into general use, though not popularly understood. The principles so lucidly explained in this article will be fully applied in the rest of the series, which will describe Modern Telegraphy, Electric Lighting, Household Devices, etc.

HARVESTERS AND BINDERS.

There are several harvesting and binding machines in the market now, and the competition between them is waxing hot as harvest season approaches. Without disparaging other machines, we confidently assert that the Milwaukee Junior leads them all. In these FIVE particulars its superiority is unquestioned;

1. DURABILITY—In the construction of the Junior, the best material the country affords is used; skilled mechanics are employed in our factory, and each machine is thoroughly tested and inspected before shipment. We shall continue to furnish, regardless of expense, the most durable Harvester and Binder, and depend upon an appreciative and intelligent public to maintain the high standard of the Milwaukee Junior.

2. SIMPLICITY—Complication is a thing to be avoided in all kinds of machinery, and this has been effectually done in the Junior Harvester and Binder. In adding new features to our machine, it has always been our aim to simplify rather than complicate and in this way we have greatly reduced the number of wearing parts, thereby increasing its durability and lessening its draft.

3. EASE OF MANAGEMENT—In placing the levers, we have carefully considered the convenience of the operator, and so arranged them that he can put the machine in proper adjustment for cutting all kinds of grain without leaving his seat, and so easily are the different changes made that a boy who can guide the team can operate the Milwaukee Junior.

4. LIGHTNESS OF DRAFT—Our Junior is the first and still remains the only successful two-horse harvester and binder on the market, and is so acknowledged by all our competitors, its weight being only 1150 pounds.

5. PRICE—No other machine in the market of equal value is sold at so low a figure. Any farmer can test this assertion by pricing the different machines.

I invite the farmers of northern Lenawee to call at my headquarters—Williamson's poultry house—in Tecumseh, and examine this machine before placing their orders.

Agent at Tecumseh.

ADVICE TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

In nine cases out of ten, wives, who are annoyed with fretful husbands, have only themselves to blame. Middle aged men especially who are harrassed with the cares of business need something beside a bread and milk and tea diet. The family table should be furnished with choice meats well cooked, and no amount of good cooking will make a palatable, nourishing dish out of poor material. The best housekeepers in Tecumseh are learning this fact and patronize the West End Market, where they can always procure the choicest steaks, the juciest roasts, the tenderest fowls, the finest sausage and every thing else in the meat line, of superior quality. Call and be convinced.

BIRDSALL, GLENN & Co.

In 1888 there were 76,534 men who showed their good sense, and demonstrated their belief that the McCormick machines are the best ones made, by buying one.

The McCormick steel mower is the best mower made. Your boy can handle it and your horses can easily draw it. It is well made and will give you satisfaction. The McCormick steel binder has proved itself a wonderful machine. The square tube frame, the steel sway bar, the springs in the platform and adjustable apron, the improved canvas and the new knotter (in some instances last year binding 40 acres without missing a single bundle) proves it all that a first-class binder could be.

Call on C. A. Slayton and examine the machine for yourself before buying, and remember he keeps the best twine in the market and gives bottom prices.

JESUS' FIRST TRIAL.

LESSON IX, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 2.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xiv, 53, 65.—Commit Verses 55, 56—Golden Text, John xv, 25—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helps Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

55. "And the chief priests and all the council sought for witness against Jesus to put Him to death, and found none." After the arrest they bound Him and led Him away to Annas, the father-in-law of Caiaphas, the high priest, and if we accept the R. V. of John xviii, 24, it would seem that the conversation and smiting of Jesus recorded in John xviii, 19-23, took place before Annas, after which he sent Him bound to Caiaphas, where we now find Him in the presence of the priests and council who are seeking evidence against Him that they may have some plausible reason for putting Him to death. A good while before this they had determined to kill Him (Matt. xii, 14; John xi, 53), but lacked opportunity because His hour had not come (John vii, 30; viii, 20); but now that His hour had come (John xiii, 1; xvii, 1) and He had suffered them to take Him, they felt that they must have some semblance of right in what they were about to do. To find some real evidence of guilt on His part was the hardest work they ever undertook, for He was holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners; His life and teaching had been open to all, and nothing inconsistent with His public teaching had ever been said in secret (Heb. vii, 26; John xviii, 20). Every sacrifice had to be without blemish, and as He is about to become a sacrifice for that nation, according to the very words of Caiaphas, unwittingly spoken (John xi, 49-53), they are, without knowing it, proving Him to be the Lamb of God without blemish and without spot, a fit sacrifice for their sins and for the sins of the world.

56. "Many bare false witness against Him, but their witness agreed not together." This also was foretold concerning Him, for it is written in the Psalms, "False witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty;" and again, "False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not." (Ps. xxvii, 12; xxxv, 11.)

57. "And there arose certain and bare false witness against Him." Matt. xxvi, 60, says, "At the last came two false witnesses," who remind us of the two men, sons of Belial, whom Jezebel caused to testify against Naboth that he might be put to death (I Kings xxi, 7-14). It is the same principle all through the Bible from the days of Abel to the days of John, and inasmuch as the devil is the author of it, and he is still at large, we may expect to find it prevailing till the Lord come and the devil is shut up and sealed in the bottomless pit. "The wicked watcheth the righteous and seeketh to slay him; the Lord will not leave him in his hand, nor condemn him when he is judged." (Ps. xxxvii, 32, 33).

58. "We heard Him say, I will destroy this temple that is made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands." Just what He did say was, "Destroy this temple and in three days I will raise it up" (John ii, 19), and John says that He spake of the temple of His body; but they make Him to say that He Himself would destroy the temple, which had at that time been forty-six years in building, and in three days build another. They cast the same thing at Him as He hung upon the cross (Mark xv, 29), not knowing that they were then destroying the temple, and that in three days it would be raised up. Observe two things here: If we are members of His body, let us not think it strange if our words are continually perverted and we are made to say things which we never said nor intended to say, but rather let us count it another privilege of fellowship with Him in His sufferings; then consider as members of His body the resurrection which awaits that body, when perhaps we may see in an actually restored temple at Jerusalem some new light upon Hos. vi, 2, "After two days will He revive us; in the third day He will raise us up, and we shall live in His sight." We shall know if we follow on to know the Lord.

59. "Neither so did their witness agree together." The law said that a man could not be condemned nor put to death at the mouth of one witness, but that it must be by the testimony of at least two or three witnesses (Deut. xvii, 6; xix, 15); and yet up to this time they cannot get two witnesses to agree, so they had no case.

60. "And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? What is it which these witness against Thee?" The high priest thus gives evidence of his feelings against the one on trial, which he has now allowed to overcome him and cause him to act and speak in this unjust way; he knew that according to their own law there was no case against the prisoner, for nothing had been really testified, inasmuch as no two of the witnesses agreed.

61. "But He held His peace and answered nothing." Nothing being confirmed against Him, there was nothing for Him to reply to; the law was on his side, and in the presence of these furious, murderous hypocrites, He majestically holds His peace.

62. "And Jesus said, I am." To keep silence in the face of such a question would be to deny that He was the Christ, therefore He now replies in the momentous words of Ex. iii, 14. When Moses wished to know what he would say to the children of Israel as to who sent him, he was instructed to say "I AM hath sent me unto you," concerning which some one has written:

When God would teach mankind His name,
He calls Himself the great "I AM,"
And leaves a blank ——; believers may
Supply those things for which they pray.

Many scholars will remember how he said "I am the living bread—I am the light of the world—I am the door—I am the good shepherd—I am the resurrection and the life," etc. There are at least twelve such titles in John and seven in Revelation; and often where you read "I am He," it is simply "I am," for "he" is in italics, which means that it is not in the original. See John viii, 24, 28; xiii, 19; xviii, 6, 8.

"And ye shall see the Son of Man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven." What a contrast this will be. See Him in this lesson standing apparently helpless and friendless before an unjust judge, and think of Him when He shall come in His glory, and all upon the throne of His glory, and before Him shall be gathered all nations. (Matt. xxv, 31, 32.)

63. "Then the high priest rent his clothes, and saith, What need we any further witnesses?" Apparently Jesus is guilty of blasphemy and the holy (?) high priest is full of righteous indignation; but in the eyes of the God of Israel, Jesus, the Christ, the Son of the Blessed, the Son of Man, has spoken the truth, and this rending of garments and apparently holy wrath is all of the devil.

64. "Ye have heard the blasphemy; what think ye? And they all condemned him to be guilty of death." Just as He Himself had foretold and as God had before determined (Matt. xx, 18; Acts iv, 27, 28); but that does not in any way excuse them.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA

These twin diseases cause untold suffering. Doctors admit that they are difficult to cure—so do their patients. Paine's Celery Compound has permanently cured the worst cases of rheumatism and neuralgia—so say those who have used it.

"Having been troubled with rheumatism at the knee and foot for five years, I was almost unable to get around, and was very often confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I used only one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and was perfectly cured. I can now jump around, and feel as lively as a boy." FRANK CARON, Eureka, Nevada.

"Paine's Celery Compound has been a God-send to me. For the past two years I have suffered with neuralgia of the heart, doctor after doctor failing to cure me. I have now taken nearly four bottles of the Compound, and am free from the complaint. I feel very grateful to you." CHAS. H. LEWIS, Central Village, Ct.

Paine's Celery Compound

"I have been greatly afflicted with acute rheumatism, and could find no relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound. After using six bottles of this medicine I am now cured of rheumatic troubles." SAMUEL HUTCHINSON, So. Cornish, N. H.

Effects Lasting Cures.

Paine's Celery Compound has performed many other cures as marvelous as these,—copies of letters sent to any address. Pleasant to take, does not disturb, but aids digestion, and entirely vegetable; a child can take it. What's the use of suffering longer with rheumatism or neuralgia?

The Parnell Commission.

LONDON, May 17.—The Parnell commission resumed its sittings Friday. Father O'Donovan, of Tulla, Ireland, testified that the moonlighters of that place were opposed to the National league. They had threatened witness, who was under police protection, while he was connected with the National league there. He attributed the increase in crime in Ireland during the National league's existence to the action of the landlords in enforcing evictions. Witness had denounced all resorts to violence from the altar for forty successive Sundays. The commission it is anticipated will not report until February, 1890.

FIFTH POINT

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because it's a family newspaper. This is an age when everybody reads, and the paper you bring into your family should have something of value for all. The special interests of women are not overlooked in THE DAILY NEWS. And then you don't want to bring questionable reading matter into your family. You don't want to put indecent or immoral reading into the hands of your children. You will never make a mistake on this score if you take home THE DAILY NEWS. The newspapers are the great educators of this nation. The strength of the nation lies in the purity of its firesides.

F. E. C. Medicine Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Dear Sirs—Pardon me the liberty of addressing strangers, but you are indeed benefactors of mankind. Your medicine is a boon and blessing to man and more especially women. It renews the very life principle in the system and takes away the terrible scourge of woman and in the place of weakness brings strength. It is indeed doing wonders for the afflicted, and no one need to suffer from the terrible drain on the system arising from a disordered state of the kidneys, or from female weakness, that will try this, for it is sure. Hoping you will not consider this letter impertinent, I remain,

The gunners of this piece had been well trained. In a moment the boom was swung around, the cannon reloaded, and when Crab K fixed her nippers on the rudder of the Adamant two more shot came down upon her. As in the first instance she dipped and rolled, but the ribs of her uninjured armor had scarcely sprung back into their places before her nippers turned and the rudder of the Adamant was broken in two and the upper portion dragged from its fastenings; then a quick backward jerk snapped its chains and it was dropped into the sea.

A signal was now sent from Crab J to Repeller No. 7, to the effect that the Adamant had been rendered incapable of steaming or sailing, and that she lay subject to order.

Subject to order or not, the Adamant did not remain passive. Every gun on board which could be sufficiently depressed was made ready to fire upon the crabs should they attempt to get away. Four large boats, furnished with machine guns, grapnels, and with various appliances which might be brought into use on a steel plated roof were lowered from their davits, and immediately began firing upon the exposed portions of the crabs. Their machine guns were loaded with small shells, and if these penetrated under the horizontal plates of a crab, and through the heavy glass which was supposed to be in these interstices, the crew of the submerged craft would be soon destroyed.

The quick eye of the captain of the Adamant had observed through his glass, while the crabs were still at a considerable distance, their protruding air pipes, and he had instructed the officers in charge of the boats to make an especial attack upon these. If the air pipes of a crab could be rendered useless the crew must inevitably be smothered.

But the brave captain did not know that the condensed air chambers of the crabs would supply their inmates for an hour or more without recourse to the outer air, and that the air pipes, furnished with valves at the top, were always withdrawn under water during action with an enemy. Nor did he know that the glass blocks under the armor plates of the crabs, which were placed in rubber frames to protect them from concussion above, were also guarded by steel netting from injury by small balls.

Valiantly the boats beset the crabs, keeping up a constant fusillade and endeavoring to throw grapnels over them. If one of these should catch under an overlapping armor plate it could be connected with the steam windlass of the Adamant and a plate might be ripped off or a crab overturned.

But the crabs proved to be much more lively fish than their enemies had supposed. Turning, as if on a pivot, and darting from side to side, they seemed to be playing with the boats, and not trying to get away from them. The spring armor of Crab K interfered somewhat with its movements and also put it in danger from attacks by grapnels, and it therefore left most of the work to its consort.

Crab J, after darting swiftly in and out among her antagonists for some time, suddenly made a turn, and dashing at one of the boats, ran under it, and raising it on its glistening back, rolled it, bottom upward, into the sea. In a moment the crew of the boat were swimming for their lives. They were quickly picked up by two of the other boats, which then deemed it prudent to return to the ship.

But the second officer of the Adamant, who commanded the fourth boat, did not give up the fight. Having noted the spring armor of Crab K, he believed that if he could get a grapnel between its steel ribs he yet might capture the sea monster. For some minutes Crab K contented itself with eluding him; but, tired of this, it turned, and raising its huge nippers almost out of the water, it seized the bow of the boat and gave it a gentle crunch, after which it released its hold and retired. The boat, leaking rapidly through two ragged holes, was rowed back to the ship, which it reached half full of water.

The great battle ship, totally bereft of the power of moving herself, was now rolling in the trough of the sea, and a signal came from the repeller for Crab K to make fast to her and put her head to the wind. This was quickly done, the crab attaching itself to the stern post of the Adamant by a pair of towing nippers. These were projected from the stern of the crab, and were so constructed that the larger vessel did not communicate all its motion to the smaller one, and could not run down upon it.

As soon as the Adamant was brought up with her head to the wind she opened fire upon the repeller. The latter vessel could easily have sailed out of the range of a motionless enemy, but her orders forbade this. Her director had been instructed by the syndicate to expose his vessel to the fire of the Adamant's heavy guns. Accordingly the repeller steamed nearer, and turned her broadside toward the British ship.

Scarcely had this been done when the two great bow guns of the Adamant shook the air with tremendous roars, each hurling over the sea nearly a ton of steel. One of these great shot passed over the repeller, but the other struck her armored side fairly amidships. There was a crash and scream of creaking steel, and Repeller No. 7 rolled over to windward as if she had been struck by a heavy sea. In a moment she righted, and shot ahead, and, turning, presented her port side to the enemy. Instant examination of the armor on her other side showed that the two banks of springs were uninjured, and that not an air buffer had exploded or failed to spring back to its normal length.

Firing from the Adamant now came thick and fast, the crab in obedience to signals turning her about so as to admit the firing of some heavy guns mounted amidships. Three enormous solid shot struck the repeller at different points on her starboard armor, without inflicting damage, while the explosion of several shells which hit her had no more effect upon her elastic armor than the impact of the solid shot.

It was the desire of the syndicate not only to demonstrate to its own satisfaction the efficiency of its spring armor, but to convince Great Britain that her heaviest guns on her mightiest battle ships could have no effect upon its armored vessels. To prove the absolute superiority of their means of offense and defense was the supreme object of the syndicate. For this its members studied and worked by day and by night; for this they poured out their millions; for this they waged war. To prove what they claimed would be victory.

When Repeller No. 7 had sustained the heavy fire of the Adamant for about half an hour, it was considered that the strength of her armor had been sufficiently demonstrated; and, with a much lighter heart than when he had turned her broadside to the Adamant, her director gave orders that she should steam out of the range of the guns of the British ship. During the cannonade Crab J had quietly slipped away from the vicinity of the Adamant, and now joined the repeller.

The great ironclad battle ship, with her lofty sides plated with nearly two feet of solid steel, with her six great guns, each weighing more than a hundred tons, with her armament of other guns, machine cannon, and almost every appliance of naval warfare, with a small army of officers and men on board, was left in charge of Crab K, of which only a few square yards of armored roof could be seen above the water. This little vessel now proceeded to tow southward her vast prize, uninjured, except that her rudder and propeller blades were broken and useless.

Although the engines of the crab were of enormous power, the progress made was slow, for the Adamant was being towed stern foremost. It would have been easier to tow the great vessel had the crab been attached to her bow, but a ram which extended many feet under water rendered it dangerous for a submerged vessel to attach itself in its vicinity.

During the night the repeller kept company, although at a considerable distance, with the captured vessel; and early the next morning her director prepared to send to the Adamant a boat with a flag of truce and a letter demanding the surrender and subsequent evacuation of the British ship. It was supposed that now, when the officers of the Adamant had had time to appreciate the fact that they had no control over the movements of their vessel; that their armament was powerless against their enemies; that the Adamant could be towed wherever the syndicate chose to order, or left helpless in mid-ocean, they would be obliged to admit that there was nothing for them to do but to surrender.

But events proved that no such ideas had entered the minds of the Adamant's officers, and their action totally prevented sending a flag of truce boat. As soon as it was light enough to see the repeller the Adamant began firing great guns at her. She was too far away for the shot to strike her, but to launch and send a boat of any kind into a storm of shot and shell was of course impossible.

The cannon suspended over the stern of the Adamant was also again brought into play, and shot after shot was driven down upon the towing crab. Every ball rebounded from the spring armor, but the officer in charge of the crab became convinced that after a time this constant pounding, almost in the same place, would injure his vessel, and he signaled the repeller to that effect.

The director of Repeller No. 7 had been considering the situation. There was only one gun on the Adamant which could be brought to bear upon Crab K, and it would be the part of wisdom to interfere with the persistent use of this gun. Accordingly the bow of the repeller was brought to bear upon the Adamant, and her motor gun was aimed at the boom from which the cannon was suspended.

The projectile with which the cannon was loaded was not an instantaneous motor bomb. It was simply a heavy solid shot, driven by an instantaneous motor attachment, and was thus impelled by the same power and in the same manner as the motor bombs. The instantaneous motor power had not yet been used at so great a distance as that between the repeller and the Adamant, and the occasion was one of intense interest to the small body of scientific men having charge of the aiming and firing.

The calculations of the distance, of the necessary elevation and direction, and of the degree of motor power required, were made with careful exactness, and when the proper instant arrived the button was touched, and the shot with which the cannon was charged was instantaneously removed to a point in the ocean about a mile beyond the Adamant, accompanied by a large portion of the heavy boom at which the gun had been aimed.

The cannon which had been suspended from the end of this boom fell into the sea, and would have crashed down upon the roof of Crab K, had not that vessel, in obedience to a signal from the repeller, loosened its hold upon the Adamant and retired a short distance astern. Material injury might not have resulted from the fall of this great mass of metal upon the crab, but it was considered prudent not to take useless risks.

The officers of the Adamant were greatly surprised and chagrined by the fall of their gun, with which they had expected ultimately to pound in the roof of the crab. No damage had been done to the vessel except the removal of a portion of the boom, with some of the chains and blocks attached, and no one on board the British ship imagined for a moment that this injury had been occasioned by the distant repeller. It was supposed that the constant firing of the cannon had cracked the boom, and that it had suddenly snapped.

Even if there had been on board the Adamant the means for rigging up another arrangement of the kind for perpendicular artillery practice, it would have required a long time to get it into working order, and the director of Repeller No. 7 hoped that now the British captain would see the uselessness of continued resistance.

But the British captain saw nothing of the kind, and shot after shot from his guns were hurled high into the air, in hopes that the great curves described would bring some of them down on the deck of the repeller. If this beastly store ship, which could stand fire but never returned it, could be sunk, the Adamant's captain would be happy. With the exception of the loss of her motive power, his vessel was intact, and if the stupid crab would only continue to keep the Adamant's head to the sea until the noise of her cannonade should attract some other British vessel to the scene, the condition of affairs might be altered.

All that day the great guns of the Adamant continued to roar. The next morning, however, the firing was not resumed, and the officers of the repeller were greatly surprised to see approaching from the British ship a boat carrying a white flag. This was a very welcome sight, and the arrival of the boat was awaited with eager interest.

During the night a council had been held on board the Adamant. Her cannonading had had no effect, either in bringing assistance or in injuring the enemy; she was being towed steadily southward farther and farther from the probable neighborhood of a British man-of-war; and it was agreed that it would be the part of wisdom to come to terms with the syndicate's vessels.

Therefore the captain of the Adamant sent a letter to the repeller, in which he stated to the persons in charge of that ship that although his vessel had been injured in a manner totally at variance with the rules of naval warfare, he would overlook this fact and would agree to cease firing upon the syndicate's vessels, provided that the submerged craft which was now made fast to his vessel should attach itself to the Adamant's bow, and by means of a suitable cable which she would furnish, would tow her into British waters. If this were done he would guarantee that the towing craft should have six hours in which to get away.

When this letter was read on board the repeller it created considerable merriment, and an answer was sent back that no conditions but those of absolute surrender could be received from the British ship.

In three minutes after this answer had been received by the captain of the Adamant two shells went whirring and shrieking through the air toward Repeller No. 7, and after that the cannonading from the bow, the stern, the starboard and the port guns of the great battle ship went on whenever there was a visible object on the ocean which looked in the least like an American coasting vessel or man-of-war.

TUGGED BACKWARD BY A CRAB BEFORE THE WHOLE BRITISH FLEET.

For a week Crab K towed steadily to the south this blazing and thundering marine citadel; and then the crab signaled to the still accompanying repeller that it must be relieved. It had not been fitted out for so long a cruise, and supplies were getting low.

The syndicate, which had been kept informed of all the details of this affair, had already perceived the necessity of relieving Crab K, and another crab, well provisioned and fitted out, was already on the way to take its place. This was Crab C, possessing powerful engines, but in point of roof armor the weakest of its class. It could be better spared than any other crab to tow the Adamant, and as the British ship had not, and probably could not, put out another suspended cannon, it was considered quite suitable for the service required.

But when Crab C came within half a mile of the Adamant it topped. It was evident that on board the British ship a steady lookout had been maintained for the approach of fresh crabs, for several enormous shell and shot from heavy guns, which had been trained upward at a high angle, now fell into the sea a short distance from the crab.

Crab C would not have feared these heavy shot had they been fired from an ordinary elevation; and although no other vessel in the syndicate's service would have hesitated to run the terrible gauntlet, this one, by reason of errors in construction, being less able than any other crab to resist the fall from a great height of ponderous shot and shell, thought it prudent not venture into this rain of iron, and moving rapidly beyond the line of danger, it attempted to approach the Adamant from another quarter. If it could get within the circle of falling shot it would be safe. But this it could not do. On all sides of the Adamant guns had been trained to drop shot and shells at a distance of half a mile from the ship.

Around and around the mighty ironclad steamed Crab C, but wherever she went her presence was betrayed to the fine glasses on board the Adamant by the bit of her shining back and the ripple about it, and ever between her and the ship came down that hail of iron in masses of a quarter ton, half ton, or nearly a whole ton. Crab C could not venture under these, and all day she accompanied the Adamant on her voyage south, dashing to this side and that, and looking for the chance that did not come, for all day the cannon of the battle ship roared at her wherever she might be.

The inmates of Crab K were now very restive and uneasy, for they were on short rations, both of food and water. They would have been glad enough to cast loose from the Adamant, and leave the spiteful ship to roll to her heart's content, broadside to the sea. They did not fear to run their vessel, with its thick roof plates protected by spring armor, through the heaviest cannonade.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Try this peculiar medicine.

WHY IS IT

That people linger along always complaining about that continual tired feeling? One bottle of BEGG'S PURIFIER and BLOOD MAKER will entirely remove this feeling, give them a good appetite and regulate digestion.
J. J. Orr, Druggist.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought untill we recive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is simered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names and guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them.

They do not know, of course, unless they have courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why dont you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but one dollar for a very large bottle. Try it at once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggists may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine—of health.

WRITING MACHINE, CABINET and OFFICE DESK

For Remington, Hammond, and Crandall Type Writer

The advantages of this Type writer and Office Desk over all other so-called Combination Cabinets, are:

First.—The ease and simplicity with which the desk is changed from a Library or Office Desk to a Type-write Table. This change is effected by pushing the lid covering the machine back in the rear of cabinet—it being a roller top—removing it entirely from sight, thus overcoming the objectionable board and sounder in front of the operator. The movable top is perfectly flat, is big size covered, and forms a complete writing desk when the machine is not in use. The table on which the machine rests is so evenly balanced by our patent adjustments that it needs but a slight touch to bring the machine in position.

Second.—The advantages of the swinging table are: The table is so balanced near its center on patent malleable iron arms, that when the machine is brought in place for use, it does not depend on ropes or hangers as rear of platform for support, but is held rigidly in place by its own weight, making it impossible for the machine to be tumbled down as it came in back of desk by the breaking of a rear support. The machine rests on patent slides which keeps the machine in place, and can be drawn out beyond the desk, well under the operator's hand.

Third.—The construction of the lid closing machine space makes it air tight, and the table having felt around its boarders thoroughly protects the machine from dust.

Fourth.—The foot rest and the construction of the table adjustments makes the desk as ridged as though the top was one solid board, which is a matter of great importance where a solid type-writing table is required. No operator can do good work on a shaky table.

Lastly.—The cabinet is a splendid piece of cabinet work. We manufacture them in Walnut, Antique Oak, Natural Oak, Natural Cherry, Cherry imitation, Mahogany and Ash.

Agents wanted to sell these cabinets, and where we have no agencies established we will sell direct from our works at wholesale prices.

THE ECONOMIC PROBLEM.

Last week Prof. Willits, the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, had under consideration a letter from Ireland, which he thinks may offer a solution of the economic problem. What shall take the place of wheat on farms, where it can no longer be raised at a profit? The writer, who has been familar with flax growing and linen manufacturing since 1840, says in his interesting communication: "There are only two establishments weaving—one at Wassar, Miss., and the other at Appleton, Wis., the latter doing but little and neither weaving anything finer than crash. There is nothing in the climate or soil, yet the asserti[illegible] that just as good flax a[illegible] may be produced in every s[illegible] American union as in any [illegible]. Germany now spins and weaves the finest linen and has no essentially differing climate from America. Many things become successful in America from the facility with which the people take up and adopt improved processes and appliances, and this may be the salvation of the linen industry, of the importance of which there is no question. There is every reason why the American farmers should produce a million acres of flax for both seed and fiber, over and above what is now produced, which would give 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels of seed worth as many million of dollars, and two million and a half tons of flax straw worth $50,000,000 and from which 500,000 tons of flax fiber would be obtained worth $100,000,000. Once established, American invention wor'd as in all other industries, soon build up an industry to consume this raw material."

Prof. Willits has imformed the sender that the subject of his letter would be earnestly considered by the department, which would lend its aid to any effort to increase or diversify the agricultural industries of th country.

ESTATE OF SAMUEL RAPPLEYE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday the 28th day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Samuel Rappleye, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Erastus W. Rappleye, a son of said deceased, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Charles Burridge, of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, or some other suitable person.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 24th day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

The WALTER A. WOOD

Single Canvas Binders

LEAD THEM ALL.

726,510 Machines have been sold. 54,026 made and sold in 1888.

The Single Apron Improvement.

Its striking advantages are—three rollers as compared with six; one canvas versus three; six bearings as compared with twelve; three buckles versus twelve. The draft of the machine is thereby very materially reduced. The apron is driven from the underside, hence the upper side or top of apron is comparatively loose and easily passes, without friction, under the apron guides.

The only Binder adjustments on the Wood are the three desirable ones—Regulating size of Bundle—Regulating tightness of Binding—Regulating position of Band. Each of these adjustments is made instantly.

The new Enclosed Gear Mower is the best mower ever made.

The Adrian Press says there seven men after the postoffice. We wonder which of the seven apostles will get it.

Wm. Daykin came very near losing one of his finely matched horses last Friday.

WHAT ON EARTH

Is the reason people will not, can not, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGGS' BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

J. J. ORR Druggist.

100 Ladies Wanted,

And 100 men to call on any druggist for a free trial package of Lane's Family Medicine, the great root and herb remedy, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. For diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys it is a positive cure. For constipation and clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Children like it. Everyone praises it. Large-size package, 50 cents. At all druggists'.

Farmers are improving the highways.

OUSTED ON A RAINY DAY.

The afternoon train East on the Mackinaw road runs half an hour earlier than it did. This assertion is no guess work. It can be implicitly relied upon. The HERALD of last Thursday said so and we experienced a little personal experience last Friday, which we set down as the strongest kind of coroborative evidence on the same point. We went to Ousted on the noon train, intending to return at three o'clock, but we didn't return. Upon going to the depot at the usual hour we discovered the startling fact that the train had passed the station about twenty minutes before. To omit all harowing details, we had simply "got left." That's all. The last train East for that day had gone. The only way to reach Tecumseh then was to foot it thirteen miles down the railroad track, or to take a Western train and go around by Battle Creek and Jackson, or to wait till morning. We adopted the latter alternative Ousted had been enjoying the same storm which struck Tecumseh last week. It had rained two entire days. On the afternoon of the third day it halted two hours, but only to get a new hold. How to pass the intervening time before ten o'clock Saturday morning was quite a serious problem, but we finally decided to attempt the fascination of the farmers in the afternoon, and to spend the evening visiting the villagers. So "hooking up" Wm. H. Smith's horse and buggy, we "lit out" in a Southerly direction Found Ben Laur as happy and hospitable as ever. In fact we never saw Ben when he was not happy and hospitable. S. D. Smith has a neat place about a mile South of Ousted where he is at home to his friends. Geo. Ousted has a good farm near Smith's and Geo. says he is bound to get rich if it takes all summer. We dropped in upon Frank Darling and grandfather Wooden just as the family were all taking tea. We accepted an invitation to supper, of course. If the Court knows herself and she thinks she does, she never declines an invitation to a meal. Frank can hold a plow, or break a colt, or ride a binder just as skillfully as he used to carve steaks in Joe Wooden's meat market here in Tecumseh. Drifting back to the village we spent the evening interviewing the citizens between showers.

W. H. Smith is nicely settled in his new habitation. He sells the Tecumseh Common Sense Rack besides many other implements that farmers want.

Old Rheumatiz has quit raising cain with Mr. Kane and he is again to be found behind the counter in the drug store.

R. L. Glenn & Son are doing a booming business. The post office boxes still rest on their counter, but—well—they run a model country office, and the boxes ought to stay right where they are.

Onsted & Wemple represent the town as buyers and shippers of grain and stock.

James E. Gibbs and Frank Brooks carry the business end of the North side in a creditable manner.

E. A. Densmore of Battle Creek is relieving the regular station agent, Mr. Ketcham, who is away on a visit.

Marshall and Peters still run the blacksmith shop and J. W. Russell mends wagons, tells stories, and entertains visitors.

We found lodging at Fred Desermia's hotel. Fred was evidently designed by Providence for the hotel business. He has a fine two story brick building with a roomy basement, which affords abundant accommodations for all who stop there. The house is clean and tidy, the table well provided for, and every thing about the establishment is in apple pie order. Our disgust at getting left was very much softened by the home like accommodations we found at Fred's. His hotel is not as large as the Russell House in Detroit, that is true, but is just as well kept, for the size of the town. If any of our readers ever have the good fortune to get left at Onsted, they should take our advice and tarry over night with Fred Deser ala.

CHICAGO LETTER.

EDITOR HERALD—Thinking that a few words from me might not come amiss, like the late lamented Josh Billings, I tune my faithful "liar" for a note to you.

A matter of interest that I wish to speak of through your columns is the proposed reunion of all late residents of Tecumseh now living in the city of Chicago and its suburbs. Several of the aforesaid citizens have talked over the feasibility of the thing and have agreed to make an attempt to carry it through. A preliminary meeting will be held shortly in the Grand Pacific hotel, where it is hoped that the reunion will be made an assured fact. Any one living in Tecumseh or elsewhere will confer a great favor by sending the names and addresses of all ex-residents of Tecumseh now living in this city or vicinity to me, or A. B. Cotton, 747 W. Monroe St., as early as possible.

I have just made my first visit of this season to Lincoln Park, and note a number of improvements. The commissioners have built a fin menagerie building, and the animals placed therein seem very proud of their new home. Multitudes throng the park every Sunday, and standing at the main entrance yesterday I wondered how even this spacious park could hold all who came for a few breaths of pure air. Only those who have lived within the close walls of a large city can know what a boon this grand park system is. The mammoth Auditorium is approaching completion, and will soon be occupied by its tenants. The Chicago Conservatory of Music and Drama will will find ample room within its walls, and a grand stage for the popular conservatory matinees.

Mrs. M. K. Elliot, (Minnie Spalding,) has been selected to deliver the address at the Oakwood Cemetery part of the decoration day exercises, and her hearers are thus assured of an able speeh. Mrs. Elliott has steadily grown in public favor until now she is the most popular lady speaker in this city.

Yours Truly,
LAVERN F. WHEELER.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH, Mich
Council Room, May 20, 1889, 7.30 p. m.

Regular session.

President:—President Heesen. Ames, Elliott, James Kenedy, Smith. Heck and the recorder.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. James, chairman of the electric light committee, asked for further time and on motion the request was granted. The chairman of the fire committee reported that he had as yet been unable to find the contract with the builders of the new water tank.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The marshal reported that B. J. Bidwell and John Sutfin had not veneered their buildings as ordered and that H. S. Lee had not built the sidewalk ordered. Report accepted and placed on file.

NEW BUSINESS.

The council received an invitation from the Decoration Day committee to participate in the Memorial exercises on May 30, 1889. The invitation was, on motion, accepted

The following claims were read and referred to the Finance Committee:—Jackson Fire Clay Co. $13.75; and the following for street labor—L. Youngs $19 50, Geo Snell $20 75 Jas. O'Riley $7.50, Bert Bartholomew $14 13, Alva Kent $14 13, Charles Moody $2.50, Chas. Bartholomew $7 88, Bert Prichard $6 63, James Gordon $2.50, A Hubbard $3. 5 ; R VanDuser, $1.25, E. A. Hodges, $24.00

Moved and supported that the marshal order B. J. Bidwell and John Sutfin to comply with the ordinance. The yes and nays being called for, the roll was called and the motion was carried by the following vote:—Yeas—James. Ames, Kenedy, Smith, and the recorder.—5.

Nays—Elliott, Heck.—2.

On motion the council passed the following resolution:—

RESOLVED, That the Common Council of the village of Tecumseh do hereby require that a new sidewalk be constructed along that portion of the north line of Pottawatamie street in this village, which lies along and adjoining the south line of that parcel of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, known and described as follows, viz. That part of lot 53 of the original plat of Tecumse village, which is bounded north by an alley; east by Oneida street; south by Pottawatamie street; and west by Forrestall's lot. Side walk to be 4 feet in with, of sound pine plank 1½ inches thick, and not exceeding 6 inches in width, laid lengthwise and well spiked down on sound burr or white oak stringers 2x4 inches in size and placed not more than 2½ feet apart and double at the joints in the planking, under the supervision of the marshal and to be completed within ten days from personal service upon the owner or occupant of said above described land of a copy of this resolution; and in case of any default in the construction and completion of said walk as herein directed, the marshal is hereby ordered to construct said walk, and payment therefor shall be required of the owner of said above described land, and the expense thereof assessed and levied upon said land in the same manner as other taxes.

The marshal was instructed by the council to inspect the sidewalks and report at the next regular meeting.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The finance committee reported favorably on above bills as read. Accepted and adopted and orders directed drawn. Council then adjourned.

CHAS. F. FIELD, Recorder.

Humors run riot in the blood at this season. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels every impurity and vitalizes and enriches the blood.

Strewn With Corpses.

They Fairly Litter the Valley of the Conemaugh.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED DEAD BODIES,

Less Than One Day's Work of the Searchers at the Annihilated City of Johnstown.

The Drifts and Silt Full of the Ghastly Work of the Unprecedented Calamity—Dreadful Sights Among the Wreckage of Homes.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—In the presence of a calamity like that which on Friday last strewed the valley of the Conemaugh with the bruised, bleeding, and mangled bodies of hundreds of all ages and conditions—from the infant in arms to the gray headed—mankind stands appalled, stunned and crushed—overwhelmed with the manifestation of the tremendous and awful energy of nature when she exerts her strength; and of his utter incapacity to control or confine her powers.

A Triumph of Engineering.

The dam, the bursting of which wrought such dreadful havoc on life and property, was a structure to the building of which all the skill and resources of the engineer's profession had been brought. It was of solid masonry, built in a chasm rock-founded and flanked. Its thickness at the base was 380 feet and at the top thirty-five feet. Men whose lives have been spent in calculating how to safely dam up the waters had pronounced it as safe as the everlasting hills. It was regularly and frequently inspected, and every precaution that the skill of man could devise was used to make assurance sure.

Rage of the Waters.

In the fancied security of this splendid work the people of Johnstown and the other desolated places lived, little thinking of the dreadful doom that but awaited its time to burst upon them. Friday afternoon was the time. In a moment, without warning, except the awful roar of the coming destruction, thousands of men, women, and children were swept into a terrible shoal, after hurling them about, the sport of the mad waters for a time, sucked them under or cast them on the banks bruised, mangled corpses.

An Unparalleled Catastrophe.

Language is inadequate to convey even a conception of the awfulness of this catastrophe. It stands unique in the history of the [illegible] disasters. It [illegible] yesterday [illegible] years. The [illegible] 10,000. There [illegible]—[illegible] who [illegible] what the [illegible].

It was [illegible] of them [illegible] and poverty stricken [illegible] with each [illegible].

Fifteen Hundred Bodies Recovered.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 3.—Adj. Gen. Hastings is at Johnstown, telegraphs Governor Beaver that 1,500 bodies have been recovered and that a large number of persons who were either drowned or buried to death are yet missing.

JOHNSTOWN REACHED AT LAST.

The Valley of Death and the Horrors Disclosed to the Relief Party.

PITTSBURG, Jun 3.—The first force of rescuers and press representatives, who have been making every effort for several days to gain an entrance into the valley in which was located the city of Johnstown, accomplished their purpose just as the light of yesterday morning's sun broke over the mountain tops surrounding the place of desolation. The news received in this city during the day confirms in almost every detail all of the gravest fears, statements and conjectures that have been entertained. All reports received agree that the city is literally a ruin, the description of which is simply impossible.

Towns Annihilated.

The towns of Woodville and Conemaugh borough, above Johnstown, are swept as clearly off the face of the earth as if they had never had an existence. Of Woodville's population of 1,500 souls barely half a dozen have been accounted for.

The Wreck of the Railway.

From Johnstown to Mineral Point tower the Pennsylvania roadbed has been completely swept away. For a distance of one-fourth of a mile the road is uninjured, then comes another complete wreck to a point above South Fork. Twenty-seven Pennsylvania railroad locomotives and an unknown number of both freight cars and passenger coaches are lying in the river bed under the debris of Johnstown at the stone bridge.

A Ghastly Work Begun.

The work of exhuming the dead at Johnstown has only begun, but already more than 100 bodies have been carried out of the ruins. Eleven car-loads of finished coffins and thirty undertakers arrived during the day and the work of interment which began yesterday afternoon will rapidly progress under the direction of a specially organized force of men.

Nineveh Is a Charnel House.

Nineveh will hereafter be known as the city of the dead, for at this point the Conemaugh has given up a large portion of its dead. When the waters receded from the fields and bottom lands over which it had flowed, the stiff, strong, and naked, bruised and mangled bodies of men, women and children, from the aged to the infant, lying in the soft mud, was a most horrible scene making heart-sick those who witnessed it.

The Faces of the Dead.

Nunnemacher's planing mill was used as a temporary morgue, and it was there that the blood-stained, swollen, and disfigured remains were first placed for protection and identification, if such thing were possible. Some of the faces were wreathed in dimpled smiles; upon others death stamped looks of agony and horror, that spoke the inexpressible language of the soul while struggling with death. Most of the bodies recovered at this place were Roman Catholic, and around their necks hung emblems of their religion. The attire and features of a majority showed them to be of the lowly class, yet there were many bearing evidence of culture, refinement, and prosperity.

Corpses Are Everywhere.

Directly across the river in Indiana county there are 215 bodies reported lying in the open air unattended to. The officials of Indiana county sent word that they would attend to the recovery of these bodies during the day. The probabilities are that a large majority of the victims will never be identified, and will fill nameless graves.

In the Ruins of Johnstown.

During the day several persons succeeded in making a tour of what is left of Johnstown. On the upper floor of the club house, the best preserved building standing, five bodies are lying, unidentified, one a woman of fine appearance. Here and there bodies can be seen sticking in the ruins. There is no doubt but what, wild as the estimates of the loss of life and damage to property have been, it is even larger than there is yet any idea of.

A Frightful Crematory.

More than 2,000 residences lie in the confused mass of burning debris lodged above stone bridge at the lower end of the town. The ruins are reeking with the smell of decaying bodies. Near the edge of the ruins the decaying body of a stout colored woman is lying, like the uncovered remains of an animal. Six blackened skulls, from which the flesh had been burned, can be seen protruding from the wreckage just above the east end of the bridge. They are close together.

Extent of the Desolated District.

The flooded districts include the entire valley of the Conemaugh river from South Forks to Blairsville, about 32 miles. Several towns from 6,000 to 8,000 population were entirely submerged.

THE SEARCH FOR THE DEAD.

Ninety-Nine Per Cent. Crushed in the Ruins—Progress of the Work.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—The recovery of bodies took up the time of thousands all Sunday. The theory now is that most of those killed by the torrent are buried beneath the debris, and the events of the day's work in the ruins in a large degree justifies this assumption. Six bodies were taken out of one pile of rubbish not eight feet square yesterday morning. The truth is that bodies are almost as plentiful as logs, only the swirl of the waters put the bodies under and the logs and boards on top in the general stacking up of the animate and inanimate.

Killed by the Crashing Debris.

The rigidity of arms, standing out at right angles to the bloated and bruised bodies, shows that death in 100 out of 1 cases took place amid the ruins, that is, after the wreck of houses had closed over them. Dr. D. G. Foster and others report that most of the victims were killed by coming in violent contact with objects in the river, and not by drowning. Three hundred bodies have been recovered up to this morning.

Fifty Dead in One Street.

LATER.—In one street in Main street, there lie within the waters for most nearly fifty distinctly, and in which they left the wreckage of wrecked houses, fallen trees and lost logs in a greater degree than in any other portion of the city, has been cleared. The remains of over fifty taken out in the portion cleared. All over the town the searchers have been equally successful.

Awaiting Identification.

As soon as a body is found it is placed on a litter and sent to the morgue where it is washed and placed on a board for several hours to await identification. The morgue is the Fourth ward school house, and it has been surrounded all day by a crowd of several thousand people. At first the crowd was disposed to stop those bearing the stretchers, uncover the remains and view them.

The Rescuers Unmanned.

But this was found to be prolific not only of delay, but also scenes of agony that not even the bearers could endure nor the thousands stand up under. Now a litter is guarded by a file of soldiers with fixed bayonets in charge of a sergeant, and the people are forced aside until the morgue is reached.

List of Identified Victims.

The authorities have published the full list of identifications so far as follows: Charles F. Butler, assistant treasurer of the Cambria Iron works; Emil Young and George Randolf, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Harvey Barber, Jonas Murtha, Conemaugh; J. G. Cox, Philadelphia; Mrs. A. W. Jones, Porter Miller, Elmer Binkley, S. D. Eldridge, Mrs. Mary Barbour, Mrs. George Woodward, Jacob Wild and his wife and child, Kate Sinhart, Robert Baldwin, P. McNally, Frank Dimond, William Penrod, P. McAubury, John Steiner, W. L. Davis, Mrs. Deifraunce, the two Misses Deifraunce, Ellen Harrington, Charles A. Marshall, John Burns, John Andrews, C. H. Wilson, Mrs. A. M. Jones, M. Little (of Sewickley), the three Misses Hamilton, Charles Wilson, John Andrews and Mrs. O'Connell. These represent only a small portion of the bodies sent to the morgue.

The Deadly Work Well Done.

It is astonishing to find how small a number of injured are in the city. Few survived. It was death or nothing with the demon flood. It is true that not a few escaped, but they got off almost unhurt.

THE INCREASING HORROR.

A Vast Funeral Pyre—Wholesale Cremation of Bodies.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—The magnitude of the horror increases with the hours. It is believed that not less than 2,000 of the drowned found lodgment beneath the mass of debris in the triangle of ground that the Conemaugh cut out of the bank between the river proper and the Pennsylvania railroad bridge. There was the greatest funeral pyre in history. The victims were not upon it, but were parts of its horrible constitution. Whole houses were washed into the apex of the triangle. Hencoops, pig-styes, stables, the refuse of the gutter, the contents of the sewers, whole lumber yards, boom upon boom of logs, composed the mass.

A Burning Sacrifice.

When the upsetting of a cook-stove ignited the mass and the work of cremation began it was a costly sacrifice to the demon of the flood, being a literal breast of fire. The smoke arose in a huge, funnel-shaped cloud, and at times it changed to the form of an hour glass. At night the flames would light up this misty remnant of mortality.

Ashes and Calcined Human Bones.

It was with a feeling of absolute loathing that all people hereabout yesterday morning awoke to find nothing but a mass of ashes, calcined human bones, stoves, old iron, and other approximately indestructable matters from which only a light-blue vapor was arising.

Immediate Burial Necessary.

The work of burying the dead began yesterday morning and was kept up till late last evening. The bruising of the bodies by logs and trees and other debris, and exposure in the water, tended to hasten decomposition, which had set in, rendering interment instantly necessary. Bodies are buried as rapidly as they are identified. The work of undertakers in embalming the dead has rendered it possible to keep all those embalmed two or three days longer, but this is only desirable in cases where indentification is dubious and no claimants appear at all.

Putting the Cars to a Sad Use.

The cars sent out from Pittsburg with provisions for the living, were hastily cleared yesterday in order to contain the bodies of the dead intended for interment in suburban cemeteries and in graveyards handy to the city. Formality is dispensed with. In some instances only the undertaker and his assistants are present, and in others only one or two members of the family of the dead.

The Debris Still Burning.

The massive accumulation of debris extending from 800 to 1,000 feet along the south shore of the Conemaugh and immediately above the bridge is now in complete possession of the flames, and will be until the arrival of further relief from Pittsburg fire department is received, so that another gang is added to those who had hoped to rescue the remains of friends and relatives from the debris.

Not Enough Living to Bury the Dead.

At Woodvale the dead bodies of hundreds are lying in the debris relatively as numerously as they are in Johnstown. At Conemaugh the same condition of things prevails. The scarcity of the living at both places makes the recovery of bodies very slow work.

A Heroine Dies at Her Post.

Msr. Ogle, the manager of the Western Union Telegraph office at Johnstown, died at her post. She sent messages until swept from her instrument. After she had warned every station of the coming torrent, she wired South Fork: "This is my last message," and they were her last words on earth.

Of 57 Only 10 Left.

At the Hurlbut hotel here the afternoon of the disaster there were fifty-seven people. They were in the house when the mountain of waters came down upon it. They had but time to give good-bye to each other. Ten only were saved.

SHORT WORK WITH MISCREANTS.

Robbers of the Dead Quickly Strung Up—Their Atrocious Work.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—A party of searchers saw two men robbing the body of a woman yesterday. The thieves were caught. In one of their pockets was found a lady's ear, entire, sliced from the head with a sharp knife. In the ear lobe was a sparkling diamond ring. The captors placed ropes around the necks of the villains and strung them up to the nearest tree until they were dead. They then cut them down and buried them.

Further investigation of the contents of the pockets of the fiends brought forth large quantities of jewelry and the mutilated finger of a little girl on which was a gold band ring.

Another Scoundrel Shot.

In the afternoon C. L. Dick, ex-Mayor of Johnstown, and several other gentlemen, while patrolling that part of the city known as "Tiny Town," discovered a man of Italian looking the loot and robbing the bodies of the dead. The party had no guns with them, but Mr. Dick leveled his revolver at one of the plunderers and shot him dead. He fell into the river and no further attention was paid to his remains. Thieves are guarded very closely over and special officers.

Driven Into the Water and Drowned.

A [illegible] of Italians [illegible] farmers surrounded [illegible] Hungarians who were robbing the dead, and after a lively battle with clubs and stones, in driving three of them into the mouth of the stream, where they sank beneath the waves to rise no more.

WAS SICK OF CANADA.

W. J. McGarigle Returns to Chicago, Surrenders, Is Fined and Released.

CHICAGO, June 1.—About noon Friday W. J. McGarigle, the fugitive ex-warden of the Cook county hospital, walked into Judge Shephard's court and announced that he wanted to give himself up. He was accompanied by Francis Adams, his attorney, and State's Attorney Longenecker. The latter said that he would let McGarigle off with a fine. In conversation with a reporter the fugitive said: "I came back because I was just sick of Canada and wanted to live in Chicago."

McGarigle was allowed to plead guilty to a charge of conspiracy, and a fine of $1,000 was then imposed.

The fine and costs in the case were at once paid by E. J. Lehmann, and McGarigle was free.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark, says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample, bottles free.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. Noyes, 149 Powers block, Rochester, N. Y.

A Woman Who Can Perform Marriage.

CLEVELAND, May 28.—The Rev. Mrs. Ellen Rinkle, a regularly ordained minister of the United Brethren church at Wooster, Ohio, is probably the first woman ever authorized to perform marriage ceremonies. The Rev. Mrs. Rinkle made application to the probate judge of Wayne county a short time since for a license to perform marriages. The judge refused to grant it until he had consulted the attorney general of the state. That official refused to give an opinion, and the judge being unable to find any law prohibiting the issuing of a license proceeded to grant one. Mrs. Rinkle will tie her first nuptial knot within a few days.

Will Be Lynched If Caught.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 25.—The Journal's Mason City, Iowa, special says: C. B. Griswold, representing Montgomery, Ward & Co., of Chicago, made a criminal assault upon a 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. W. H. Lyman Wednesday. Griswold immediately disappeared. He is likely to be lynched if he is caught.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public.

Merit Wins

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Improved Champion Mower

The MOST PERFECT and PRACTICAL Piece of Farm Machinery

THAT HAS EVER BEEN INTRODUCED.

The mechanical principles embodied in this Mower are entirely new, and have made it possible to remedy the defects that are well known to exist on the old style machines. It will pay any farmer who is in need of a Mower to examine the IMPROVED CHAMPION—the most perfect and practical of machines—

AND IT IS SO WARRANTED!

The DRIVE WHEELS are high and wide apart, insuring steadiness of motion and light draft. There is NO FRAME WORK hanging down in front to bunch up the cut grass or run into obstructions. There is NO FLY WHEEL LOW DOWN on which the grass can wind. This is a serious objection to the old-style mowers. The POWER IS APPLIED DIRECTLY and without a joint from the main gear to the pitman, and ALL OF THE POWER is used in cutting the grass,—none is wasted on loose joints and fast-running gearing. THE PITMAN WORKS ON A STRAIGHT LINE, AND THE POWER APPLIED AT ONE END IS ALL TRANSFERRED TO THE KNIFE. The CUTTER BAR can be folded while the knife is in motion, which is very important where there are stumps or trees. The Cutter Bar may raise or lower at either end, and yet the knife will work perfectly free without binding or extra friction or wear. This in a measure explains why there are no broken knife heels and no broken pitmans on the CHAMPION Mowers.

REMEMBER that the parts that have given the most trouble on the old-style mowers ARE WARRANTED NOT TO BREAK NOR WEAR OUT on this wonderful mower.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The members of the Kalamazoo Cooking club finding more satisfaction in eating than cooking, have eliminated the latter feature of the organization—and disbanded.

Some Lombard poplars that are supposed to have been planted at St. Ignace more'n 200 years ago by Pere Marquette, and have long stood in front of a church of that city, have been cut down. They had become so badly decayed as to be no longer safe in a standing position.

Buren county ruralists are turning their attention to the cultivation of the grape, 300,000 roots having been set out this spring.

Seventy-five new buildings will be added, this season, to the 300 that already adorn the Methodist camp grounds at bay view. The Chautauqua assembly convenes there July 31.

There's no profit in taking a tumble on a Lawrence sidewalk. A lady of that town tried it, but only succeeding in squeezing $20 from the village treasury.

John Calvin is the name of a "Soo" bartender who's just been hauled up at Bay City for appropriating $600 worth of his employer's funds. What's in a name—anyway.

Rev. G. C. Squire, a North Branch parson, has 417 conversions chalked up to his credit during the past seven months, and is still in the ring.

C. E. Plugge, the Grand Rapids jeweler whom the Netherlanders wanted on a charge of forgery, has been released at New York, the demand for extradition having been denied.

The appointment of a clergyman to supervise the imparting of rural instruction at the state agricultural college has caused no little comment among the farmers of this commonwealth; but it may prove to be a case where faith issupplemented by works.

Lansing captures the permanent location of the state fair by donating the grounds of the local Fair association, comprising some seventy acres of land and the buildings hereon. The site chosen is certainly centrally located, while the grounds are ample. But how about the hotel accommodations of the capital city?

Michigan railways took in $11,185,951 during the two months of '89, an increase of $178,294 over the corresponding period of '89. The interstate commerce law doesn't seem to have diminished the people's ability to pay fat railway charges.

The state dental association of tooth pullers will convene at Grand Rapids, June 4, for a three day's session.

High license seems to have wearied the majority of Eaton county saloonists out of business, only twelve having paid for the necessary credentials for the vintage of '89.

George W. Taft, the son of a Paw Paw clergyman and graduate of Kalamazoo college, goes to Japan to wrestle with the benighted heathen of that portion of the orient.

Frank McLean was a St. Joseph sojourner before he went to the Grand Rapids bastile at Uncle Sam's expense. An alleged naughty letter to a young lady was what got him into trouble.

The prevailing low prices for wool will likely cause the bulk of the clip to be held by Michigan farmers in the hope of a better market later in the season.

Grand Rapids' new exposition building will, when completed, cover a strip of earth 135 feet one way by more'n a tenth of a mile the other, costing over $110,000.

A Flint poultry fancier is crowing over the somewhat remarkable feat of a Brahma hen that lays eggs which go four to the pound. That's full grown hen fruit, and no mistake.

Three Rivers folks having become somewhat weary of an inadequate water supply, and not being exactly satisfied with a poor article of "booze," are casting about for a better and more wholesome beverage.

More than one-third of Saginaw's $243,000 tax levy is used for school purposes, and yet a large majority of her citizens have never mastered the Volapuk language which was going to sweep the country with a rush—in the mind's eye of a few over-zealous reformers.

A Bay City woman applied to the county clerk for a limited matrimonial license, good for two years. When the applicant was informed that a partnership of this class was a life job, she concluded not to invest, and so departed without the consort credentials.

Ionia county jail was empty the past week for the first time in its history, while not a criminal case was tried at the recent session of her circuit court. Does this signify that the millennium is about to dawn?

Flint folks imbibe about $40,000 worth of milk annually, while the wind mill sales are said to be unusually active.

In this aid of fashionable weddings, a long array of bridal gifts and the subsequent divorce, how to dispose of the duplicate presents has long been a problem. But an upper peninsula couple has solved the vexed question by raffling off the "surplus" at so much per chance. Great scheme.

Eleven Ingham county couples are anxiously waiting for the local divorce mill to begin to grind and break the silken matrimonial bands asunder.

Charlie Stevens is a 15-year-old Paw Paw youth of an inventive turn of mind, who recently swapped a half interest in an electric fire alarm of his own divising for $1,000 spot cash. That's more money than a majority of the full grown inventors of the country have ever seen from their patent devices.

A Lake Linden woman was recently fined $20 for pummeling a full grown man of that burg. There may have been giants in those days, but there must be giantesses in these.

It is reported that Gen. Alger will cut something like 70,000,000 feet of pine logs from his upper peninsula possessions per year, for the next decade, and float 'em down to the mills at Bay City. If this proves correct, 'twill keep the saws of that section a-humming for that period at least.

Bay county must whack up $8,000 worth to Joseph Kelley for injuries received by that person in taking a tumble from the swing bridge at Bay City.

A Jackson libel suit that's been worrying the courts and the participants for the past two years, has at last culminated in a verdict for 6 cents damages. Sometimes one's honor is vindicated by a very close shave.

During a recent thunder storm, the barn of Hon. William Hamilton, a Flint farmer, was struck by lightning, burning it and several adjoining buildings, together with several blooded horses, involving $12,000 loss. Insurance $3,500.

Ionia will pay $500 to whomsoever will catch the chaps who've been illuminating the town with incendiary fires, and then hold 'em long enough to get 'em safely lodged behind the prison bars.

Homer kids are having a high old time. The high school building at that place has been pronounced unsafe, and that's why the kids are merry.

Muskegon folks are hustlers. The county clerk issued a matrimonial license at 4 o'clock on a recent afternoon, and an hour later had received the marriage return from the officiating clergyman.

The switch engine used by the Michigan Central at Kalamazoo has played a somewhat conspicuous part in the history of that city. Thus far it has a record of having ground the life from nine Celeryville citizens, while the juggernaut is still quite healthy and in a fair state of preservation.

The English brewing syndicate that gobbled up Detroit's brewing shops, is now turning its attention to those of other cities of the state, and it begins to look as though the whole outfit would be captured. But there'll be this consolation to the drinker—the beverage will be English, you know.

Fred Woodin is a Flint somnambulist who sleeps in a second story, some twenty feet from the ground. Now Fred doesn't desire the earth, but walking out of his bed room window the other night, he got a piece of it and a broken leg. He's since concluded that sleep walking isn't such a wonderfully delightful accomplishment as some people imagine.

WANTED HIS MONEY BACK.

A Deserted Husband Runs Down His Wife and Her Paramour.

FLINT, Mich., May 23.—Three weeks ago, Mrs. Armanda Barden, of this place, deserted her family and eloped with William Copeland, a prominent business man of Mount Morris. Mrs. Barden took with her several hundred dollars which her husband had given her to bank. When the husband discovered that his wife had fled he was nearly heartbroken, but when he discovered that the money was likewise gone he was furious, and immediately set out to find the guilty pair. He traveled from one end of the state to the other, and at last traced them to Alpena. Barden returned to this place, swore out a warrant, and put it into Detective Byrnes' hands for service. The officer, disguised as a tramp, visited Alpena, found Copeland and the Barden woman living together as husband and wife, and, when he had thoroughly satisfied himself that there was evidence sufficient to convict, he arrested them. The guilty pair were brought here and are now in jail, unable to get bail. The household goods at Alpena will more than reimburse Barden for his monetary loss.

Michigan Legislature.

LANSING, Mich., May 22.—The house in committee of the whole yesterday approved bills authorizing the introduction of kindergarten methods in the public schools where two-thirds of the tax-payers in the district so vote, and prohibiting the dumping of sawdust and other refuse in rivers from which fish are taken.

LANSING, Mich., May 23.—The senate passed a bill yesterday making kidnaping punishable by life imprisonment; also the bill requiring local boards of health to take quarantine action in cases of contagious diseases among cattle without waiting for the state board. Four senators were arraigned at the bar for "skipping out" to attend a base ball game, two of them having been found hiding under the grand stand. The house passed a bill authorizing churches and colleges with expiring charters to reincorporate, and it was also rushed through the senate. The house passed a new game law which makes the open season for deer in the upper peninsula from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1.

LANSING, Mich., May 24.—The house yesterday passed a resolution for final adjournment June 20. Two-cent fare bills were reported to both houses by the railroad committees, but without recommendation. The house ways and means committee reported the university appropriation bill. The total amount asked for is $206,789 for the next two years. A senate bill which passed the house authorizes corporations to purchase the franchise and property of other corporations.

LANSING, Mich., May 25.—The house yesterday took up and passed by an almost unanimous vote a bill fixing the legal fare at 2 cents in the lower peninsula and 3 cents in the upper peninsula, and also a senate bill requiring the sale of 1,000-mile tickets for $20 and amended it by adding the exact provisions of the preceding bill in regard to 2-cent fares. The senate deliberately knocked out the amendment by an almost unanimous vote. The bill amending the charter of the Lake Shore so as to require it to pay 3 per cent taxation on its earnings instead of 1 per cent, failed to pass in the senate, and a motion to reconsider was filed.

A GENEROUS OFFER.—The celebrated Dr. Gleason, after a practice of forty years, having during all that time made the cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption his special study, has in this time so perfected his treatment as to be able to cure nearly all who suffer from these complaints. Having reached the age of seventy years, he realizes that the time is near at hand when these valuable remedies must be in other hands or become lost to the world. Desiring that his Home Treatment should be within the reach of all, he has placed the prescriptions with the Hall Chemical Company; this company, knowing the wonderful success of the Home Treatment in the cure of all Throat and Lung Troubles, have decided to send the full treatment ON TRIAL to any one who wishes to try it. Dr. Gleason has also written a valuable treatise on these diseases, which is profusely illustrated with finely executed wood-cuts, showing the Head, Throat and Lungs as they are when diseased; it discusses in an able manner the cause and cure of these complaints; it is printed on heavy super-calendered paper and handsomely bound. This book, together with full instructions how to order on trial, will be sent free to all who will write and ask for it. Address

JNO. FINZER & BROS., Louisville, Ky.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

DECORATION DAY.

Whether the weather clerk is a confederate brigadier or not, we can't say, but he seems to have some kind of grudge against Decoration Day. Two years ago the weather was very fickle on that day; one year ago it was stormy; last Thursday it just rained 'n rained 'n rained. But the rain was such a God send to all spring crops that the veterans and all others interested bore their disappointment in a philosophical spirit. They took to heart the old adage. "What can't be cured must be endured," and made the best of it. The committees in charge saw at noon that an out door procession would be impossible, and so they hastily improvised a program which was carried out as well as circumstances would admit of. The ladies had made up a fine lot of bouquets during the forenoon, and at two o'clock, the decoration committee proper (consisting of J. D. Shull, Thos. Hanley, Wm. C. Jordan, Jas. Ingersoll, Geo. Chidester, and H. W. Stevens) proceeded to the cemetery in a covered carriage and armed with umbrellas and flowers, fitly decorated with floral emblems every soldier's grave. At four o'clock, the G. A. R. Post and the Relief Corps together with a fair number of citizens assembled at the Opera House and listened to an excellent program of literary exercises. Prof. E. A. Wilson officiated as chairman and the program was presented in the following order.

Music by the Band.
Quartette by the Club.
Prayer by Rev. J. S. Joslin.
Music by Band.
President's Remarks.
Quartette by the Club.
Memorial Services by Commander of Beer's Post.—J. D. Shull.
Music—"Cover Them Over." By the Club.
Oration by P. S. McKinnon.
Music—"America."
Music (dirge) by the Band.
Benediction by Chaplain of Post.

The Vocal Club was composed of T. D. Strong, Chas. Keyser, Spencer Lester and H W. Stevens with Miss. Agnes Stevens as pianist. Their selections were very appropriate and finely rendered. The popular interest in this holiday is increasing year by year and we are glad that such is the fact. In the entire calendar of American holidays, none appeals more strongly to popular sympathy. We can only hope that better weather may be vouchsafed to us on the next anniversary.

OBITUARY.

The subject of this obituary, Mr. John Orr, was born at Ballymena, Antrim Co., Ireland, Nov. 5, 1825. He came to the United States in the spring of 1851, being 38 years here Wednesday, June 5, 1889. He came directly to this state and to Tecumseh, and from that time, this has been his home. After his first year here he returned to his native land, making a visit of about three months.

He was married here March 9, 1855, to Miss Hessie Cupples. Here they commenced housekeeping and made their home and have reared a family of five sons, all of whom with the wife and mother survive him. About two years ago he was quite ill for awhile, then rallied, and was able to be about and attend to his own business affairs and home wants. He was taken ill again in March of this year, and was confined to his house most of the time until May 25, when he was suddenly taken worse and kept growing weaker until Tuesday noon, May 28, when the summons came and he passed away into the realm immortal. The funeral services were held at the home Thursday, May 30, at 5 o'clock p.m., Rev. W. H. Babbitt officiating, being the pastor of the wife and other members of the household. Rev. J. M. Getchell, by request, offered a few words of comfort to the bereaved, and in memory of him as a husband and father, citizen, neighbor, friend and brother. His departure was peaceful. He met the messenger of death without a murmur or struggle, for he realized its approach and so arranged his business, made plans, for the future of the home, even desiring his own sons and only surviving brother, man grown, to bear his remains to the beautiful city of the dead. His last words were not many, yet touching, and will be to the family for all the years of time, like jewels of rare beauty, and as the oracles of Heaven. The attendance at the house was large, many standing without who had come to pay their respects to his memory, and to mingle their sympathy and tears and prayers with those so deeply grieved.

He was an everyday man, not given to display or the outer demands of mere fashion. His word was his bond and his virtue, business integrity, the welfare of his family, and his sympathy and kindness for his friends and the friendless and the unfortunate. Imperfections were his, but he lamented them, and hoped that the future of his own noble sons would be manly, more perfect, graced with nobility, rectitude, gratitude, prosperity, and godliness.

How rapidly the old settlers are going. Soon we shall look about and find none to respond to our call, or answer to their names. How many bodily rest in our beautiful cemetery, and we read there upon monument or simple marble slab the date of their birth and death, and then a few tender words of remembrance and love. Now another is added to the list of the departed and it admonishes us to be faithful, cherish their virtues, strive to nobly and divinely live, that our daily life may be glorious and our going to sleep peaceful. We tremble, not in fear, but in tenderness and affection as we write these closing words. Who will be the next to follow him who has just gone, and some other name besides that of John Orr's be the last upon the list of those we have followed as to the gateway of Heaven?

THE NEW ORGAN DEDICATED.

When Mr. Hamill was putting up the new organ at the M. E. church a few weeks ago, our worthy citizen, J. S. Strong, Esq., seemed to take considerable interest in the affair. As Mr. Strong has been the leader of the Presbyterian choir for more than 40 years, and has long been recognized as one of our leading musicians, no special importance was attached to it at that time. It was but natural that he should take an interest in musical matters. Gradually, however, the rumor began to gain currency that Mr. Strong's ambition and generosity had been excited, and that he had contracted for a new mammoth organ "on his own hook" to be placed in the Presbyterian church. The truthfulness of the rumor was verified about three weeks ago when the new organ arrived. The instrument is from the well known manufactory of S.S. Hamill, of East Cambridge, Mass., and is the largest church organ in the county. It has two manuals and a full pedal of 27 keys. It has 23 registers and over 800 pipes besides combination pedals and other modern improvements. It is enclosed in a handsome black walnut case; is gothic in design and made to harmonize with the architecture of the church. It is 12 feet wide, 8 feet deep and 21 feet high, has 24 richly decorated pipes in front and presents a bold and imposing appearance. It stands on an elevated platform in the center of the auditorium, immediately behind the pulpit, filling the recess where the pulpit platform formerly stood.

Mr. Hamill, the manufacturer, superintended the setting up in person, and he has been assisted throughout by Harry Tansley.

THE CONCERT.

Last Friday evening was the time chosen to dedicate the new organ and a program was presented at that time, which, in musical merit, has never been surpassed in this village. The organ itself filled the large auditorium with its rich deep tones. Prof. Greene is an expert artist and he handled his selections admirably. The violin solo by Miss Mabel Hayden was executed in her happiest vein. The songs by Mrs. Bidwell and Miss Grayson were fine vocal renditions, and the anthems by the church choir were of superior merit. The fine soprano voices of Mrs. Bidwell, Miss Lulu Jones, and Miss Grayson, Mrs. Morley's rich contralto, Mr. Strong's superb tenor, and Mr. Conkling's basso profundo formed a sextette that could not be excelled for vocal music. A large audience was in attendance notwithstanding the inclement weather, and they were enthusiastic in their approbation; and their words of praise did not overrate the concert in the least. That those, who were unfortunately absent, may judge of its character, we give the program in full as presented.
